It was certainly a day for the ladies' mess. Beginning with Mrs. James Blaisdell's luncheon party, which was the most elegant affair that ever graced the social columns of the Bayhead Weekly Times, and ending with Mrs. Hatty Maggie's tea, which was the most elegant affair that ever graced the social columns of the Bayhead Weekly Times, there was a continuous round of social activities that left the ladies of Bayhead no time for anything else. Even Mrs. Maggie's own daughter, Miss Emma, had been invited to both affairs, and was looking forward to them with the keenest pleasure. Mrs. Maggie, however, would have preferred that Emma had not been invited to Mrs. Blaisdell's luncheon party, for she knew that Emma would be conspicuous there. Mrs. Maggie was not a snob, but she was a mother, and she knew that Emma's clothes were not in the same class with those of the other girls who would be present. Mrs. Maggie's own clothes were not in the same class with those of the other ladies who would be present, for that matter, but Mrs. Maggie was not worrying about herself. She was worrying about Emma. Emma had been invited to Mrs. Blaisdell's luncheon party, and Emma had nothing to wear. Mrs. Maggie had worked at the table for hours every night, and had spoken to the dressmaker about it, and had even gone to the length of buying a new dress herself, but Emma had refused to have anything to do with the dressmaker, and had insisted on making her own dress, and had spent all her spare time for a week working on it, and had even refused to let her mother see it, and had locked herself in her room when Mrs. Maggie had tried to get a look at it, and had even refused to let her mother see it when it was finished, and had insisted on wearing it to the luncheon party, and Mrs. Maggie had not dared to say a word against it, for Emma was a high-spirited girl, and Mrs. Maggie knew that if she opposed Emma in anything Emma would have her own way, and Mrs. Maggie would have to put up with the consequences, which would be a sullen and disagreeable daughter for a week or more. So Mrs. Maggie had said nothing, and had even refused to look at the dress, and had left Emma entirely to herself, and had even refused to look at the dress when Emma had finished it, and had even refused to look at the dress when Emma had put it on, and had even refused to look at the dress when Emma had left the house in it, and had even refused to look at the dress when Emma had returned from the luncheon party, and had even refused to look at the dress when Emma had gone to bed, and had even refused to look at the dress when Emma had got up in the morning, and had even refused to look at the dress when Emma had left the house in it again

The Federal Elections

Indications are quite evident on campaigns for speakers to declare that the coming election contest is the most vitally important one ever held in the history of the country. To some extent this statement is correct, because, as time passes and the country grows in population and wealth, coupled with the onward march of civilization, national issues and problems become more complex, and naturally more important. But, after all, the underlying principles of government do not change from what was the case in years gone by, and the fundamentals remain the same.

Every country has a weather vane that indicates the way the wind is blowing, and which is an important guide to the man who is about to venture his capital in any enterprise. Usually the people of a country are the best judges of what is required for the most advantageous development of the country, and the wisest statesmen are those who are most responsive to the wishes of the people. It is now over forty years since the Dominion of Canada was launched upon its career as a nation, and during that period there have been many opportunities for the people to express their views as to the kind of government they desired. In the last general election in Canada, three issues were put up for consideration, and this placed a small part with the electors in the fall of 1911. The next election will be held in the midst of a world war issue. It occupies the minds and hearts of the people to the exclusion of everything else. It overshadows all party lines and broke party allegiance in the recent by-elections. Tariff, financial administration and economic problems of all kinds were thrown temporarily aside and the issue of the war became the one paramount question that occupied the minds of the people, practically to the exclusion of everything else, was whether the Military Service Act should be enforced or not.

Thousands of Conservatives who in 1911 voted for Liberals and thousands of Liberals who voted for Conservatives, have now voted for Conservatives and Conservative candidates, and in so doing some all of them would be given an opportunity to express their views on purely domestic questions. After years has passed since the opening of the Panama canal, long waited opportunities have now come. For the first time in the history of Canada the people of Canada will on December 6th next declare if or will in regard to measures and administration affecting purely domestic affairs. A question of war, or foreign policy, is not directly involved in the present contest. The issue can be decided with an eye and mind having regard to domestic matters concerned what is best for Canada as a purely domestic issue.

During the years that have elapsed many things have transpired which cannot help but affect the minds of the people of Canada. The war itself, and the sacrifices of the Dominion in connection therewith, have left an indelible mark. In 1911 men only enjoyed the right of the franchise, and on December 6 next women will be given the right to cast their ballots on a basis of full equality in citizenship with men. Questions vitally affecting the material welfare of the Dominion are to be decided, but there has arisen a new conception of the duty of government towards the social and moral well-being of the people who in these days constitute the nation.

In 1911 middle-aged men and women in the walks of many Canadians owned vast wealth, whether all with a honest reputation. But the war seriously affected the financial standing of the people of this Dominion. The great majority of the people of Canada, as well as British born in the East and the West, have had their fortunes depleted, and thereby rendering a great many unable to carry on business as in the past. Many of the leaders of business in this country, and any man who tries to resurrect it will prove himself a traitor to Canada and a mighty poor politician.

For these reasons alone it is well within the bounds of truth to say that the approaching election day is a most momentous one in the history of the country, and probably the most important since the dawn of Confederation. It presents an opportunity for the exercise of good citizenship for which all Canadians have been crying and warning. Old party lines have been shattered and party leaders have been tried and found wanting. Old party lines have been shattered whether for good or ill time will tell, but the fact remains that fundamental forms and methods are prevalent; the franchise has been broadened to its utmost limits; new party leaders are direct to the affairs; a new national conception has been awakened.

It, therefore, behooves every man and every woman not only to exercise the right of franchise, a fundamental birthright, the marking of a free ballot, but to perform that duty after the most careful study of national problems. It will be necessary for all to sink the welfare of Canada above the interests or personals of the individual candidate in voting, but the voter cannot wisely be guided by that alone. He should look a bigger, broader look ahead and consider opposing policies in the light of present day conditions and needs and the prospective requirements of the future. Party enthusiasm has waned but let there be a new, greater and better enthusiasm on election day an enthusiasm for Canada itself.

Expressing An Opinion

Old Salt Resented Being Called Fancy Name

"I've got a good mind to punch you in the nose," said the irate old salt to the effete landlubber. "I'm not a fancy name, and I'll have you to know it!"

"Calm down, my friend," said the landlubber. "Let me explain. I merely used the word 'Bahama' as a synonym for 'Panama.' Surely you would not call a Panama hat a fancy name, would you?"

"Oh, do you?" snorted the old salt. "Well, then I'll tell you that I'm not wearing a Panama hat. I'm wearing a Bahama hat, and I'll have you to know it's no fancy name either."

Expensive Special Train

King George Said It Was Unnecessary Expenditure

A special train has reached the Indian capital, Delhi, bearing the King Emperor and Queen Mary on the first visit of a reigning monarch to India. The train was specially constructed at a cost of £60,000. It is a matter of some interest to know that Thompson the King has not received any share of the money. The train was built at the expense of the Indian Government, and it is to remain in India as a permanent addition to the royal trains. The British public will pay for it, and add the Daily Sketch, endorse His Majesty's new gift.

New Canal Needed

Panama Will Soon Be Too Small for World's Commerce

It is proposed that the American continent should be cut through again.

The present Panama Canal is used by an ever-increasing number of ships, and all the authorities are agreed that in fifteen years' time it will be quite inadequate for the world's commerce.

There is a possibility that, instead of making a second canal at Panama, the Nicaraguan route may be followed. This was the original plan of the American nation; they took over the French works at Panama, and as far back as 1826 a survey was undertaken there on behalf of a British company.

Owing to climatic causes ships would have to spend 43 hours more on the Nicaraguan route than by way of Panama, but against this the distance to San Francisco and New York ends of the Nicaraguan Canal would be 700 miles shorter than from the ends of the Panama Canal.

CANADA SECOND IN WHEAT PRODUCTION

Canada is now the second wheat producing country in the world according to 1921 statistics. We produce about half as much wheat as the United States, but they, it must be remembered, have ten inhabitants to our one. Russia, once an important factor in this fundamental industry has apparently fallen by the wayside, for she does not appear in the 1921 list. The C.N.R. has carried this season—September 1st to November 15th,—41320 cars or approximately nine and three-quarter million bushels. For the similar period in 1920 the number of cars handled was 21,454.

CAPTURING A NEW MARKET

Canada is to be the standard of the world. This is pretty generally admitted. The writer above is one port of the United States, who, on every visit he makes to Canada, carries home some striet instructions regarding the purchase of horses for himself and customers that no breed is suitable in the United States can approach that made from Canadian stock. As an instance of the tremendous popularity of Canadian draft horses, it is interesting to note that Dr. A.H. Stafford, born in Winnipeg but for some time past domiciled in Jamaica, repeatedly said that until the Steamships "Canadian Forester" and "Canadian Fisher" of the Canadian government Merchant Marine came into Kingston last spring, every pound of flour came from the United States. Now it all comes from Canada. This very valuable market for Canadian products has been captured by three ways. It plainly affirms Peel, the fact that Canada had ships to deliver it there; second, the quality of the flour is good and third, the fact that the people of Jamaica desire closer commercial and social relations with the people of Canada.

C. N. R. EMPLOYEES WOULD MAKE A GREAT CITY

If the 55,000 employees of the C.N.

WIDER AGRICULTURAL POSSIBILITIES

It were domiciled in one spot instead of being spread from one end of the country to the other, they would constitute a city large, than Hamilton, Calgary or Halifax. For it must be remembered that it is not only the people who actually work for the C.N.R. that are was aided by it, but their wives and families. This tremendous body of workers are interested by but one motive, to make the C.N.R. the most successful publicly owned enterprise in the world. To run it as purely a business enterprise divorced entirely from politics

The sooner wheat, oats, and barley cease to be regarded as the "be all and end all" of agriculture the sooner will the small farmer come into his own. The smaller the acreage the greater should be the intensity of the farming. Fewer weeds, more land free from weeds can be more profitably employed in seed production, whereby it be become a mecca for seed buyers. Than in wasting the freshness of his growth in producing stock feed from indifferent seed.

The man with a few acres will find it more profitable to buy oats at their present price, and to grow certified seed potatoes, peas or clover in order to sell them at the considerably enhanced prices which these commodities fetch. Growing such profitable crops will encourage him to cultivate his land more carefully, while the disposal of his produce will bring him in touch with men who talk intelligently about rotations, and whose practice of better farming methods have given them modern ideas and whetted their ambitions.

The Alberta Crop Improvement Association provides a way for a careful farmer to get out of the rut of the grower class. The fascinating story of growers of famous varieties, bring ing the initial seed with them in the seamed bottom of their trousers, is symbolic of the track that great accomplishments have small beginnings, but by listening to these stories the public are apt to forget the subsequent years of careful crop nursing and diligent endeavors to eliminate foreign seeds

Success comes from patient efforts intelligently governed and organized, and the man who will leave the beaten path of mediocrity has a good chance to discover an unused trail over which he can advance rapidly and unhindered to success.

HOSPITAL RE-OPENING

Through the co-operation of the Provincial Government, the Red Cross has been able to complete plans for the re-opening of the hospital at Vermilion. This institution was closed owing to crop conditions in that district and the people required the Red Cross to take over

The Provincial headquarters of the Red Cross are this week sending nurses and supplies and the institution, which has a capacity of nine beds will be re-opened under their administration.

The Provincial Headquarters is still busy sorting and dispatching clothes to the a ras where relief is needed. Officials said today that further donations of old clothes will be thankfully received at all times. They should be sent to the Provincial Headquarters, Red Cross, O'Sullivan Block Calgary.

GOLDEN WEDDING CELEBRATED BY MANNVILLE COUPLE

Bride and Groom were Recipients of Numerous Presents

Mannville, Nov 19.—About two hundred guests gathered at Shirley hall to celebrate the golden wedding of Mr and Mrs. C. Hill. The hall was tastefully decorated. Shortly after 4 p.m. Mr. and Mrs. Hill entered the hall to the strains of the wedding march played by the Stellaville orchestra, and took the seat of honor under the customary wedding bells from which was suspended the auspicious numbers of 50, a rare treat in a new country

Then came the singing of the golden wedding by the guests after which Rev. E.H. Webb on behalf of those present offered Mr and Mrs Hill their congratulations, expressing the hope that they might be spared for many years to come Then followed the programme of songs and recitations among which was a trio entitled "Silver Threads Among the Gold," sweetly rendered by Miss Margaret Hedmer, Miss L. Scott, and Master C. Scott.

Also suitable selections were given by Mr. and Miss Cox. Beautiful bouquets were presents by Violet Watling and Lucy Scott and Mrs. Hill carried away a very handful of rosebuds and daisies. The occasion was certainly at home and happy in what they considered their pleasant duty, and their music was inspiring. Guests assembled from far and near, among them coming from a distance was Mr. and

Continued Deflation Of British Prices Is Feature Of Development

Washington—Renewed efforts on the part of the British Government to stabilize conditions in general and give an impetus to trade is the outstanding features of the recent economic development in Great Britain, according to a cable to the United States commerce department from its commercial attache at London.

The effort, he said, consists of the bill now before the House of Lords providing for government loans to assist capital enterprise up to a total of £25,000,000. Although the Labor party is not fully satisfied with the provisions of the measures, he added, it was generally believed it would become a law.

Continued deflation of commodity prices in Great Britain, he mentioned, was another feature of the economic development of the past month, all commodities, except cotton in October, showing a falling off in wholesale prices

Both imports and exports showed a decline in value of about 7 1-2 per cent., as compared with the month before, he continued, but the total foreign trade by quantity did not show a decline.

Manitoba Exhibit

Brandon—Eleven head of the finest show cattle in the province were sent to Chicago, where they will be displayed at the International by the Manitoba's exhibit. The car contained four heifers and seven 1st steers. Two carloads of horses are to be exhibited at the show were picked up at Winnipeg.

Foundry Shops Close

Montreal.—The shops of the Canadian Car and Foundry Company at Saint Pierre Aux Liens and at Turcot, near here, have practically shut down. The shutdown is said to be temporary and it is expected that the plant will be opened the end of December. The plant employs about 1,000 men when fully employed.

Experimental Farm For Ontario

Ridgetown, Ont.—The Ontario Government has bought the 180 acre farm of A. D. Brien, well known livestock breeder, at a figure understood to be $40,000, and will proceed at once to convert it into an experimental farm for the development of specialized crops, for which this section of Ontario is becoming noted.

British Disposing of War Supplies

London—The British government is disposing of the large amount of war stocks' surplus stores worth £475,000,000 have consisted of since the armistice. Liquidation is practically completed on the continent, and it is hoped shortly to close down in Egypt.

Be fair to your local merchants. Ask to see his goods and compare prices before sending your money to the mail order houses You will find that it pays.

Believes No Danger Of Indian Revolution

Detroit, Mich.—Belief that there is no foundation for reports of an impending revolution in India was expressed by Bishop H. L. Smith, of India, one of the speakers at the National Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church. Lack of friendship between the Mohammedans and Hindus would tend to prevent such a movement, he said. Bishop Smith declared British control of India must be continued, "if anarchy is to be averted."

Opposed to Dole System

Ontario Boards of Trade, Support National Scheme for Unemployment

Brantford, Ont.—As a substitute for the unemployment problem, the Associated Boards of Trade of Ontario, which opened their ninth annual convention here will suggest to the Dominion Government the working out of some big national scheme, to be shared by all the provinces, cities, and towns, and municipalities interested. At the same time, the members of the boards of trade went on record as being opposed to the dole system of handing out charity as it was felt that some systematized form of investigation should be carried out

Plan to Combat Smugglers

Recommend Fast Launches to Capture Rum Carrying Launches

Seattle.—Fast going launches capable of traveling 30 miles an hour and armed with one-pound rapid firing guns will be recommended to combat liquor smugglers from British Columbia ports, it was learned that they have decided to recommend the immediate equipment of such boats, prohibition enforcement authorities and customs officials say that ordinary consigned vessels can not compete with the smugglers for speed. Crews of the fast boats will be instructed to stop or sink any suspected craft in the sound

Montreal Has Many Unemployed

Montreal.—There is more unemployment in Montreal this year than there has been for many years past and indications point to a very severe winter, and more many unemployed. All charitable institutions are filled to capacity, while the number of applications for work has never been equalled

Loyalists Object to Treatment

Declare Ulster Will Not Submit to Sinn Fein Authority

Belfast.—Two thousand Lloyalists in three meetings emphatically protested against the British cabinet's treatment of Ulster. Great enthusiasm was displayed. The Lord Mayor of Belfast, presided over the principal meeting at the Ancoats Hall, declared that Ulster never would be the tool of a Sinn Fein parliament. Resolutions to this effect were adopted unanimously. These included a resolution confidently relying upon the Liverpool conference to repudiate the idea of placing Ulster under the dominion of an all Ireland Parliament. The mention of Mr. Lloyd George's name was greeted with groans.

A resolution was also adopted endorsing the action of Sir James Craig, the Ulster premier, and his colleagues in the peace negotiations

Saskatoon Provides For Unemployed

Men Will Be Given Work On Municipal Rock Pile

Saskatoon, Sask. To relieve the unemployment situation here, the city council decided to provide all men in the ran show to the satisfaction of the medical health officer that they are destitute and have a family with work on a municipal rock pile Rocks have been taken from the river and the men will be engaged in breaking them. In return they will be given cards which will be honored at various local business places in the city.

The situation is not serious here, and this scheme is regarded as a temporary expedient. The number of unemployed in the city is probably between two and three hundred

Rebels Attack British

One Officer and Three Men Killed by Rebels

London—A Reuter cable from Delhi, India, says a company of the Khaisk Rifles, marching along the Pandikhad pass, had a sharp engagement with 2,000 Mopiah rebels, who had been pursued from the hills of the rebels were killed, while one British officer and three men were killed and two wounded. Two guns and a number of knives were captured The record of other operations also disclosed the use of artillery by the rebels

China Wants Chance To Play Her Part In World Advancement

Washington—Presentation of "certain[illegible]" and political and administrative independence" together with preservation of the open door policy and a restitution as to certain treaties in the Far East were included in the Chinese proposals at the Armament Conference on Far Eastern questions

China in return would agree not to alienate or lease any portion of her territory to any foreign power, and all special rights, privileges, immunities or concessions, now held by China by foreign powers are to be carefully re-examined.

All existing limitations upon China's political jurisdiction and administrative freedom of action would be removed and jurisdiction made the future conferences from time to time for international discussion of the far east ern situation

The Chinese proposals provide for full respect for China's rights as a neutral in all future wars to which the nation is not a party and for peaceful settlement for international disputes in the Pacific and the far east.

Dr. Wellington Koo, who presented the Chinese proposals, said they were made in the interest of all powers involved in the Far East as well as of China and if adopted would pave the way toward solving some of the perplexing problems in bring a permanent foundation of the Pacific and Far East

China is anxious to do her part, not only in maintaining peace, but in promoting the material advancement and the cultural developments of all the nations She wishes to make her vast natural resources available to all peoples who need them, and in return to receive the benefits of free and equal intercourse with them In order that she may do this, it is necessary that she should have every possible opportunity to develop her political institutions in accordance with the genius and needs of her own people China is contending with certain difficult problems which necessarily arise when any country makes a radical change in her form of government

These problems she will be able to solve if given the opportunity to do so. This means not only that she should be free from danger of threat of foreign aggressions but so far as circumstances will possibly permit, she be relieved from limitations which now deprive her of autonomous administrative action and prevent her from securing adequate public revenues

BIG LIBERAL RALLY ON TUESDAY NIGHT

H.V. Fieldhouse, K.C., of Wetaskiwin who was prospected into the political arena of the Battle River constituency by the Provincial Liberal Executive at a meeting held in the city of Edmonton on Monday, November 21st, the eve of nomination day as a Marketing Bloc candidate, addressed a good meeting of the electors of the district in the Columbia Theatre on Tuesday night of this week. President Haines of the G.W.V.A. Vermilion branch occupied the chair and introduced the speaker at the evening, who was well known to many as a former resident of this town. Mr. Fieldhouse is a clear and forcible speaker and held the close attention of his audience during the course of a two hours oration. While his main attack was turned against the government, he did not scathing denunciations were leveled against T.A. Crerar, leader of the Progressives or Farmers party owing to the shortness of his remarks, the Liberal candidate will be considerably handicapped in presenting his plea for support to the mass of the electors in so large a riding, embracing as it does between 25,000 and 27,000 voters.

Mr. Fieldhouse, who was the only speaker, expressed his pleasure in addressing an audience in the town of which he had been a resident for a number of years and practised his profession. He took part in no municipal organization, each part of the constituency waiting for the other part to act. Regarding the Manitoba Pact, a convention was called waiting till the last minute, to prepare to the details demands from all parts of the Battle River riding that a candidate be prepared in the field. When this convention was called he was in Edmonton on business, the day the nomination was made and was called up to go over to Vermilion some, where he was told he had been selected as the candidate. He had stated he had no political aspirations and would prefer not to stand as the Liberal candidate, but as the only candidate and have the privilege properly at and returned to Ottawa to work for the betterment of the farming day he put it his duty to go and was to have kept candidate for the by-election, as he had been selected as the candidate. He also stated that no pledges were made to any party, but to stand on the platform of the Liberal party. He then proceeded to give a resume of the history of Canada, where was a tariff and field crop in the first place. First he dealt against duty with question as between liberals and conservatives as to politics. The people in this country are so [illegible] that they [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

Winter Egg Production

To Get Best Results Proper Feeding Is

If satisfactory profits are to be obtained from the keeping of hens, it is necessary that eggs be produced during the season of scarcity and high prices.

Eggs laid in November and December will usually fetch from two to three times the price of eggs laid in April and May. Supplementary feeding, however, for such eggs is necessary, towards the production of winter eggs. Science experts have largely upon the care and feed which the hens are given. There are other points to be added the grain and water considered, but, that are essential if hens are to produce in the expected. The most important of these are the exercise and good ventilation. Hens will not if kept in the warmth, confinement and the same environment throughout the winter months. Exercise is essential to the production of eggs. Exercise is essential to the health of the hens. Exercise is essential to the health of the hens. Exercise is essential to the health of the hens

THIS WOMAN'S MISERY

Ended by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Remarkable Recovery of Mrs. Church.

Smiths Falls, Ont. — "I suffered with falling of my organs, pains around my heart and in both sides down my legs, a smarting in my face and head, and that terrible shaking feeling. I felt that I could not live and — and — my home in the country was dear to me, would be impossible if I dropped dead in the night. My husband went to the druggist to get the best remedy he had and he gave him Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took six bottles and felt a lot better. I will always recommend the Vegetable Compound, and you can use these facts as a testimonial." — Mrs. J. H. CHURCH, Box 85, Smiths Falls, Ont.

The success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made from roots and herbs, is unparalleled. It may be used with perfect confidence by women who suffer from serious prostration, backache, nervousness, inflammation, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, bearing-down feelings, faintness, indigestion and dizziness. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the standard remedy for female ills.

If there are any complications about which you need advice write in confidence to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

Government Candidate

Replies to Criticisms of Progressive Speakers

J. W. G. Morrison and A.F. Ewing, K.C., Address Big Meeting

VERMILION Nov. 26—Seldom if ever has there been such an interesting and stimulating attack upon civilization as political opposition as was drilled on J. W. G. Morrison, the government candidate in the Battle River at the meeting held in the Odeon Theatre last night. Mr. Morrison was back in his old form and the rooster crowing of applause which greeted the speaker indicated an entirely sympathetic audience. There was a large number of farmers present and they responded in the reception accorded the candidate. At the outset Mr. Morrison said that he had also been in Vermilion in the interests of the government on a Saturday night but his objective was to the address which had been promulgated on their behalf by the Council of Agriculture at Winnipeg. He further said it at his reference would be wholly from the political and not the personal standpoint. He wished that to be understood clearly. I am not going to waste words nor time on those who be said by way of preface to the real exposure of the machinations of his opponents. He spoke at that theatre a few evenings previous. He would say that pose some attention to Mrs Gunn who was the author of the speech on that occasion. "It is well" he said "to be accurate when making public statements but it is later still to be honest and Mrs Gunn was neither one nor the other in the political sense of the word. Mrs Gunn dealt with certain items of the tariff schedules if she could not understand the facts she could have gone to the customs office at Vermilion and had ascertained exactly what those schedules were. She preferred not to do that and not wanting them on her persons must have been a case of misrepresentation deliberate and knowingly or she merely repeated parrot fashion what some person had given to her and admitted that she recite it a little bit of it. "Mr Gunn made another speech on the same subject and the reason only, to create a prejudice in the minds of the electors against the government. Why manner we be fair and discuss the issues that are before the people sound and share-headed." Grape-fruit Mr. Gunn declared came in duty free because the identical stone could all of it. "Little we know farmers all of know in London juniper upon which a per a duty of 33⅓ per cent." What are the facts? Grape-fruit pays a duty of one cent per pound and the London pound" not two-thirds of a cent per pound. I admit the remark and that stuffed prunes came in with a tax of 25 per cent but whenever board of trade's present being a common commodity at the breakfast table" The whole thing was the case of Mrs Gunn misunderstood and stuffed the act speaks for and she thought she could get away with it Then Mr Gunn declared with much pathos that prune prune for free trade with Can and in the years, yet if she had them were only now in England and because don't which had a stone are also held have to pay a duty on the value of five per cent of the value of the loft, but people are not buying dolls at all now every one of the year and which they do be taken is inhabitants by small compared to dian and what about diamonds? The stone in which diamond name in true sub sect to a sales tax of 4 per cent but if Mrs Gunn or anyone else wishes to import a diamond already set a duty of 35 per cent is collected "And you would walk up and down the street with an uncut or rough diamond on his person" Children's clothing, cotton fabrics and so on are dutiable but are those being purchased every day in the year by any individual family rather those articles are made by the thrifty wife to extend over longer periods than the the speaker would have us believe But why were those comparisons made unless to inflame prejudices and direct attention from a discussion of larger issues that are before the people.

The speaker then turned his attention to the speech of his opponent, Mr Spencer. Where in that address did the speaker discuss the larger issues—the main issues of the campaign—the tariff? He gave it a passing attention but he devoted a great deal of his time to R.B. Bennett than $600,000,000 twelve years ago? hett. Mr. Bennett, declared Mr. Morrison, is not an issue in this campaign nor is the survaville matter, which Mr Spencer had also referred and why discuss them The survaville matter was built at a time when the cost of labor and material was high just as farmers were building their homes which they now are not today of half the value it price they paid for them. And the survaville mills is serving the district by giving its existence. It is carrying Canadian goods to every quarter of the globe and has established British Columbia alone to increase her shipments of lumber during the first nine months of the year to 72 million feet of lumber whereas her average export in previous years was about 45 million feet and besides it has supplied to fourteen ports over six million dollars worth of the products of that province. The speaker then referred to present system of federal taxation Mr Spencer declared that they want to change the indirect system of taxation to the direct The millions of dollars we now raise through customs and excise duties will be paid by people in a direct tax and the only source of revenue left now was land and direct taxation of that land. The tax on our lands increased to 25¢ on fifty per quarter section in order to grant to the rural municipalities 40 per cent of all Agricultural Mr Morrison then stated that we had collected nearly $140,000,000 in customs duties during the six and nearly $120,000,000 under the present tariff and those were taxes of direct taxation But did they forget that there had been a war and that the government had been forced to millions of dollars for the returned men and that our national debt was increased by $1,200,000,000 during that conflict" Yet the only reference Mr Spencer made to it was that the debt should be paid now we have the land If that were true who did the "making" but the speaker denied the statement made by Mr Gunn that under the Soldier Settlement act, for pensions, $274,000,000 and asked if there were any criticisms against the new settlement on this count? Were there any charges of graft or corruption in this campaign against the government in the administration of the act? None whatsoever. Then why turn it out of office? Had it not a splendid record of achievement"

Mr Morrison then dealt with the privileged classes and the big business and to the big corporations which Mr Spencer had referred in the closing wings of the tariff. In dealing with this the speaker pointed out that the Canadian Council of the farmers' party was bound of one of the biggest corporations we had in Canada and if there was any section of power who would be disposed to injure the party of the country if it were not the United Grain Growers' company and the Winnipeg Grain Exchange. The speaker gave the sworn testimony of Rice-Jones regarding the profits of the Export Company, a subsidiary of the U.G.G. and the Export company where he admitted a profit in one year alone of $250,000 on a capital of $500,000 and in addition a bonus of 50 per cent. Mr Spencer declared that the Canadian people had lost this war by the relation to a country more likely protected than we were" is that what he meant by "Borden" Then he declared the speaker in order for us to consider our revolution and be prosperous and that we have to be on a level tariff equival-ent to that of our neighbors to the south. To the country, he asked, on the government's own shown an agricultural wealth for a population of less than 8 millions, of over seven and a quarter billion dollars with over three billion dollars invested in manufacturing industries employing products of nearly 4 billion dollars in value and employing an army of nearly 700,000 workmen" Is Canada going down when her people in 1920 had nearly 3 billion dollars on deposit in our banks, and when our total trade was almost two and a half billion dollars as compared with less Why the workers' tyre in the political life of this country could have given these illuminating figures to the speakers or they could have easily ascertained them for themselves if they had chosen to deal with the growth and development of Canada fair and above board. But why go on? Why follow those in the criticisms against the government when his opponents know that the challenge to the government was in the tariff, and this issue they had failed to discuss or deal with intelligently they did not care to; it would not suit their purposes. What they desired most was to inflame the minds of the people against the government: that was their policy and that was their issue. Concluding the speaker said that the one and only issue of the campaign was the tariff. It was of the making of the farmers party and the government has accepted the challenge. We are asked to lower our tariff walls when every country in the world is raising them. In this we are asked to have free trade with England because she is a free trade country" We are asked to have foodstuffs and farm implements placed on the free list without any guarantee that these will be any cheaper and we have to pay the direct tax on top of that" We are asked to let the foodstuffs of other nations into the country in competition with our own local products while ours are barred from the markets by a high tariff wall, as a fact we are asked to take Canada from thumping ground of the protected countries of the world and they are all in that category now, to the disadvantage and destruction of our own industrial and agricultural producers and activities. Is it fair; is it reasonable, is it in the best interests of Canada? Yes that is the very thing you have to decide on the 6th of December. Study it out for yourselves and not be stampeded, and be vexed and they could come to no other conclusion than that they should support the government party.

A.F Ewing, Esq. K.C., ex-M.L.A., Edmonton, followed. He devoted his time to an analysis of the tariff and the policy of the government as compared with that of the farmers' party. An able discussion of this issue by the able-minded The Progressives had challenged the government on the question of the tariff and they propose an a substitute" They propose free trade with England in five years and the abolition of the tariff on implements and foodstuffs on the first list. That is what they want. When they do all that there is very little left—you have practically free trade all the way round. We shall then be in a condition to dictate terms to any country in the world can ship their products to Canada without any tariff barrier and with the country receiving any revenue while their trade doors are closed in our favor. Will the people be willing to have the value of labor or the farmer whose dependence upon the home market is more important than the needs of the city? When we import all our manufactur Canada, our farm implements and so on there is no market for the manufactory based and the manufacturer is out of business. We cannot compete with the high-class American manufacturing industries of Great Britain and the United States. The farmer sells his at a price in the local market but you know Chinese eggs, Danish butter and New Zealand mutton have been sold on the Canadian markets cheaper than ours even at the present moment. Under industrial peace when our doors are thrown open. We will want to see the farmer get his share of the trade interest of any government to see him at that time; the farmers should disburse the tariff and the duty governments legislate against them and against their interests. A country is great only when its basic industry agriculture is great. That is what we want in Canada and our agricultural wealth shows that it is by agriculture neglected or on the decline. The proposal o fthe government is that we should continue our present system of moderate protection so as to enable us to collect in addition to the other forms of direct taxes, by the industrial system sufficient revenues for the needs of the country, at the same time protect our own industries and thus create a home market for the produce of the farm. Canada now does not trade Canadian and Canadian to Canadian.

Met with the result that we annually import millions of dollars worth of foodstuffs which in the market we ship to retain but we cannot do that if we wipe out the protective tariff we have to-day and allow those commodities to come in free"

Mr. Ewing then dealt with the wheat question. On this Mr. Meighen had a definite policy. It was that he would if returned to power, create by legislation a minimum price which the government would handle such trade as was given to it by the producers. It would then take this grain paying the regular market price and not over every dollar to which he was entitled. The government would retain only the actual handling expenses and the profits would go to the farmer. In this connection Mr. Crerar's policy was co-operation among the farmers themselves in such government assistance as would be justifiable. What this meant can well be understood when the farmers' party in the United Grain Growers' grain company and the Winnipeg Grain Exchange. Further, Mr. Ewing stated that parliament that he was opposed to government control of the grain trade and it was only natural that he should. The farmer can easily see what each of the two policies he should support. For Mr. Meighen there is but one proposal to offer Apart from all other considerations the speaker felt that apart from the policy of the government with that of the farmers' party. An the direct elevation of this issue by the able-minded The Progressives had challenged the government on the question of the tariff and they propose an a substitute" They propose free trade with England in five years and the abolition of the tariff on implements and foodstuffs on the first list. BIG LIBERAL RALLY TUESDAY

...rol the returned man to go back on the land. High prices were paid for land, stock and equipment was bought on long terms, and the soldier was compelled to buy these at the end of the soldiers on the land, he could, without any fault of his own, be compelled to pay double the original value. He stood for the re-valuation of all land. He would not hesitate to re-establish the man who will not want to go on the land, why should land, for the speculator believed that they could have granted the soldier $2000 apiece and have been better off today. Nothing could be more disastrous to Canada than the present policy of the soldiers. If elected or not elected, I am willing to do all in my power." Mr. Cross read a statement on this question.

Progressive Party

The Progressive Party platform is entirely different from what they are standing for. They claimed free trade and direct taxation was the only solution of the farmers' problems, yet they are not going to have free trade but a revenue tariff for years to come. The farmers, however, have all along been in their attitude and were commencing to drop themselves from the ...en wiped out of existence. Mr. Field-house framed the history of the Grain Growers organization in the West as well and Mr. Partridge of Manitou, Man., a dairy man, spoke. Mr. A. A. Crerar, head of the United Grain Growers was using the farmer today the same as the capitalist line compose and he did not and that he could any more for his grain than was paid by any other grain firm. The liberal candidate gave a concrete instance where a Crescent farmer shipped 2 cars of grain in October 1920 to the U.G.G. with instructions to hold until ordered to sell. He learned after being charged interest and storage on the grain for some months, that it had been sold 3 days after it was shipped from Crescent. The farmer was willing to increase his duties on the necessities of life in order to relieve the burden of taxation on the farmers' party was bound of one of the biggest corporations we had in Canada and if there was any section of power who would be disposed to injure the party of the country if it were not the United Grain Growers' company and the Winnipeg Grain Exchange. The speaker gave the sworn testimony of Rice-Jones regarding the profits of the Export Company, a subsidiary of the U.G.G. and the Export company where he admitted a profit in one year alone of $250,000 on a capital of $500,000 and in addition a bonus of 50 per cent. Facts For Electors

The adoption of the Farmers' platform means an increase in the taxes on land without any guarantee that the imports from the United States or England will be and will not be lessened in the sense of removing the customs duties on the farmers' products. If will be optional with the farmer to sell or not to the government Crerar is opposed to government control in every sense. He will not support the government. Mr. Wood, president of the U.F.A. frankly ...continue to see no solution but thinks Meighen's proposal ...ion. Mr. Crerar favors co-operation among the farmers ...ich governments are justifiable. Premier Meighen has pledged himself that if the government is returned to power it will ...ial wheat pool will handle the 1922 crop. This is the government ticket.

Why should Canada increase the tariff when every country in the world are increasing theirs? Why should not Canada be the only two countries who have not increased their customs duties since 1914?

Crerar is opposed to the grain inquiry. If elected to office, there will be no further investigations.

If Crerar knew they could not "get him" under any inquiry the government would not appoint one. Some of the best business of his company was above board, why stop the investigation?

The fight of the farmers' party is being wholly carried on by the grain growers and the Winnipeg Grain Exchange. Further, Mr. Ewing stated that parliament that he was opposed to government control of the grain trade and it was only natural that he should. THE ONLY HOPE FOR WESTERN CANADA IS LIBERAL POLICY

To The Electors

Battle River Riding

Ladies and Gentlemen

Having been honored with the nomination for the forthcoming Federal elections to uphold the banner of Liberalism, I beg to solicit your vote and influence on Tuesday, December 6th next.

The principles for which I stand are the well tried and fully-proved ones of Government of the People, By the People, For the People, principles under which our beloved country has in the past made the greatest advances, and our people have become most prosperous.

Canada, especially Western Canada, is suffering today from the aftermath of the Great World War and from overtaxation in the form of High Tariff, High Freight Rates and High Cost of Living. These combined with the low prices of farm produce have made it difficult for the Western Canadian to make any progress.

Our hope lies in the opening up of new or wider markets, and the reduction of Tariffs, Freight Rates and Cost of Living which will insure to the producer a proper profit for his work.

Never was Canada more prosperous than under the former Liberal regime, and the Liberal policy is the same today as then—a tariff for revenue only freight rates at a fair minimum, free trade in farm products, and the opening up of all available markets for Canadian goods.

The issues of the day are, without doubt, being purposely befogged by clauses and groups for ends which are hard to realize, but the principles of true Liberalism—the government of the whole for the good of the whole—are the only ones which will assist our country, populate our territories, advance our status before the nations of the world, and assist each and every Canadian to become individually prosperous, and for those and many other reasons I would ask you to VOTE FOR

Yours respectfully,

H. V. FIELDHOUSE.

V. Y. P. A.

The second devotional service of the Vermilion Young People's Association was held in the Presbyterian church Sunday, the 27th day of November, when approximately seventy of the young people were present. Prayer and effort combined made the service most beautiful and helpful. The meeting was conducted by the president, Mr. Jones and opened by hymn and prayer. Carol's anthem "Victory" was sung by the choir which consists of about twenty girls. Another special musical item was a duet by Miss G. Hutchman and Tom Watts "In Jesus." The Bible reading together with a few inspiring remarks was given by Miss G. Craig. Addresses were presented by Mr. Hive, Mr. T. Kibblewhite and Miss F. Medjo; "Service" being the subject upon which the addresses were based. The V.Y.P.A. is justly proud of the ability which their membership and for the spirit which holds away in the organization. The spirit of service is, without a doubt, the foundation of the organization and with such a foundation success of the most fair standard which is upheld thereto is certain. The meeting was closed by an hymn and prayer.

On Monday night a special meeting of the V.Y.P.A. was held by way of a social drive given the association by their president Mr. Jones. The sleighs were filled, one box having a four-horse team. About seventy-five young people took advantage of this treat so kindly given and drove to Dowell, where the school had been generously opened for the games and supper. The spirit of effort and service was again brought to the fore by the members who made the games and music a success, no little effort being put forth during the evening. The young people wish here to thank the members who so generously supplied teams for transportation. The young people also wish to thank the musician who accompanied the old time songs, and the president who remembered that sweets were a splendid course following the cedve and sandwiches, and supplied chocolates and candy in such abundance. A speech of appreciation was made Mr Jones by the Vice-President, Mr. A. Moore on behalf of the sleighing party. Mr. Jones was voted "alright" and sung as Jolly Good Fellow; God Save the King was sung, and the return trip closed the p [illegible] evening

LABORITE LAUDS MEIGHEN

Peter Wright on Elections

OTTAWA, On., Nov. 24.—Peter Wright, the famous British labor leader who recently concluded a tour of Canada, has written a sensational letter to Premier Meighen. The letter written on board the Empress of Britain while Mr. Wright was returning to England, follows:

"Empress of Britain, Oct. 6, 1921.

"To Right Hon. Arthur Meighen.

"My Dear Prime Minister—I went to Montreal for the purpose of attending your meeting but failed to obtain admission to the hall. I was greatly disappointed but I was delighted after perusing your speech and desire to congratulate you on your firm and definite stand at this particular period when the world is passing through a stage of transition. The old political shibboleth must be scrapped and only by hard thinking and honest dealing are we capable of surviving the terrible financial aftermath of the world war.

"I am convinced in my own mind that the policy for which you stand is the only practical solution at the moment in the Canada through this crisis. Otherwise, Canada will become a mere adjunct of the purpose of dumping the surplus commodities of the U. S. A., which means poverty and starvation of the industrial classes and a bitter experience for which you in Canada will have to pay an awful price.

"At this moment in Canada, it is absolutely imperative to combine the forces of common sense and honesty and rally as a united force against the warring elements, that will lead into chaos 'politically' and land you on a lee shore amongst the wreckage of democratic fallacies that will not bear the test of time.

"If democracy is to survive and stand the test of time it must be based on science as well as sentiment. Anyway, it is all in the lap of the gods at the moment and I pray that your health will stand the terrible ordeal of this strenuous contest of a general election and I feel promoted that your honesty and the sense of sportsmanship that you have display ed so far, will be recognized by the Canadian people and eventually place you in the position of a great leader to make Canada take her place amongst the great nations of the world and our empire and become eventual ly the happiest place on your great continent. This is my wish and the sincere desire of one who loves Canada.

"I wish you God speed in your noble efforts for a united Canada. No good-bye. Yours sincerely,

(Signed) "Peter Wright."

Great Interest Taken In Developing Clubs For Boys And Girls

It is only a few years since boys and girls of rural Canada established the first clubs devoted to poultry, calf and canning projects. These clubs are now numbered by the hundred and the membership by the thousand. It is now generally known, however, that much of this work was made possible by an act passed by the Dominion Parliament in 1913, which provided ten million dollars for distribution among the provinces to finance in agricultural work on the basis of the agricultural community. From that time the development and spread of such clubs was very marked and they continue to increase in size here and there as activities peculiar to any district developed under governmental subsidies, rural communities entered into the spirit of the thing, subscribing money for prizes, and showing their appreciation by attending the school fairs (also at comparatively recent origin) at which the livestock and other products were exhibited. Women's institutes took part, babies served to add zest to the boys' and girls' contests as well as for the original livestock purchased. Livestock contests, meat packing contests and feeding exhibitions took the matter up and offered inducements to the competitors. From the local schools fair the exhibits and competitions extended to the larger exhibitions, and classes are now being provided in the prize lists for exhibits of pigs, calves and poultry reared by boys and girls. A great part of the money allotted to the purpose by each of the provinces is both coming from the funds derived under the Agricultural Instruction Act, and according to the passing of the act of the measure in Manitoba this movement has been very successfully assisted, and the same is true in Saskatchewan and other Western Provinces, where although the development has not been so rapid perhaps as in the province first named, it has nevertheless been substantial and is leading to equally good results. By means of these practical undertakings boys and girls are being developed to make use of their talents and abilities in a way that will add to their success and usefulness not only on the farm but in whatever calling they may eventually undertake.

One On Van Dyke

School Children Thought Fire Drill Instruction Applied to Everything

The principal in a certain school pedaled him one day last week while his pupils were at their fire drill. When he had finished he would have a little talk with them and explain why they had gone through the exercises. One day Dr. Henry Van Dyke was to lecture to the pupils. In introducing him the principal asked: "Now children, what would you do if I told you that Dr. Henry Van Dyke will become here today?"

And these little ones, quick to act in response to the command, promptly ran away as fast as they could, then quietly, very quietly, doubled back as quickly as possible to their seats in the room.

Want Auto License Plates Changed

Those Used In Manitoba Are More Easily Remembered

That the Saskatchewan motorist would prefer license plates which, at some chance for the better, in respect to being more readily visible and more easily remembered, was a suggestion made at a meeting of the directors of the Board of Trade held in Regina. It was pointed out that the license plate used in Manitoba were much better in this respect than those in Saskatchewan, the numbers in that province being hyphenated.

White Gloved Executioner

In Austria the public executioner wears a pair of new white gloves every time he is called upon to carry out a capital sentence. He discards them directly after the execution has been carried out, and there is often great competition among curiosity hunters to secure those worn when dispatching notorious criminals.

Treaties With Russia Prove Unsatisfactory

Economical Conditions Getting Worse and Gold Supply Decreasing

Foreign Minister Karnebeek told the Netherlands Parliament the other day that England, Germany and Norway were greatly disappointed over the results of their commercial treaties with Russia. He said that Russian production was so unimportant that it [illegible] impossible that the economical conditions in Russia were so disorganized and that the Russian rouble was [illegible] depreciated.

The minister was skeptical about opening diplomatic relations with Russia, says that the Soviet Government had never superseded the Czarist Government for providing the money for prizes, and showing their appreciation by attending the school fairs (also at comparatively recent origin) at which the livestock and other products were exhibited. A Time For Courage

There is no doubt at the present time, through out the Western Provinces of Canada, a spirit of pessimism is creeping and taking its toll in the form of hard times and poor business. Our country, Canadian Prairie Provinces are not exempt from the effects of the depression of other countries throughout the world. There is, however, no real reason why the people of the West should lose heart and indulge in blue ruin pessimism. The country is well developed, has efficient operate to further increase its resources and productions.

Present conditions in the West are bound to be of a temporary character and one must look ahead. It will be a rapid recovery in the immediate future. We must encourage production and overcome it after another plan of having with agricultural production and industry. We must have a policy of encouraging families to remain on the land. Let us realize that money is not all in the east, and that we have vast resources in the land and the people of Western Canada and the United States that is best. Let us stand together in a spirit of unity and determination to face courageously the present difficulties and thus establish a new and broader basis of prosperity and happiness for the future. Let us unite as a united and comfortable husband. Let this experience thank as apparent by many hopeless, and see that those will which the people of today are confronted.

The next few months will put the courage to certain qualities to all people. First and foremost, there must be fashioned up the courage, determination and energy, the greatest possible effort to meet and overcome existing difficulties. Then, a renewed turning away from the dark side of things to the bright side, and a more hopeful outlook and contemplation of all the brighter and more hopeful features of the situation. Secondly there is need for the development of a spirit of helpfulness, a spirit of personal sacrifice and unselfishness, a spirit that will make for the greatest good to the greatest number of the less fortunate. Thirdly there is need for the development of a spirit of co-operation. In a word, there must be fashioned up the courage, determination and energy, the greatest possible effort to meet and overcome existing difficulties. Then a renewed turning away from the dark side of things to the bright side, and a more hopeful outlook and contemplation of all the brighter and more hopeful features of the situation. Secondly there is need for the development of a spirit of helpfulness, a spirit of personal sacrifice and unselfishness, a spirit that will make for the greatest good to the greatest number of the less fortunate. Thirdly there is need for the development of a spirit of co-operation.

While nobody can control circumstances, it must be remembered that it is in that hard school that really strong men and women are developed. When everything in life moves smoothly, without any great difficulty or obstacle to overcome, there is little room for self-help initiative, decision, resource and self-reliance. It is the struggle to overcome, to achieve, to win, that makes real men and women. Those who have been through the school of hard knocks, the university, have a finish and a depth about them that is a failure even under normal, settled conditions. But this man worth while in the end, and it is the struggle that makes him worth while. As he is the man who will triumph in the end, and in the more successful and brighter days to come will look back with grim satisfaction and a deep joy to the dark days in which he struggled and achieved, and won not only worldly success, but strength of character to meet whatever life might bring to him.

Canadian National Giving Reduced Rates For Home Visitors

At the Christmas Holiday Season approaches many people in the West look forward to spending some time with relatives and friends in the East. Taking this into consideration, the Canadian National Railways have made arrangements to issue tickets at greatly reduced rates from stations in Alberta, Saskatchewan and Winnipeg West in Manitoba to any points in Eastern Canada. These tickets will be sold from December 1st, 1921, to January 10th, 1922, and are good for return within three months from date of issue. Any Canadian National Railway Agent will be glad to supply information in connection, and, if you desire, will assist in planning your trip.

THE CAUSE OF BACKACHE

Only in Rare Cases Does Backache Mean Kidney Trouble

Every muscle in the body needs constantly a supply of rich red blood to nourish it and to help it do its work. The muscles of the back are under a severe strain and in but little rest. When the blood is thin they lack nourishment, and backache is the result of pain in the muscles. Sometimes this pain is caused by the kidneys trouble, but the best medical authorities never has anything to do with backache. Many cases of backache have been progressed to a serious state without developing a pain in the back. This being the case pain in the back should always lead the sufferer to look to the condition of the blood. It will be found in most cases that the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People will stop the sensation of pain in the disordered muscles of the back. How much better it is to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for the blood than to give way to the unfavorable alarm about your kidneys. If you have backache, and if the kidneys are to blame tests in ten minutes that will prove the fact, or tell you the reverse. But in any event to be perfectly safe, you should keep the blood in good condition and for this purpose Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are unequalled. Sold by all dealers or by Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Mother! Clean Child's Bowels With California Fig Syrup

Even a sick child loves the "fruity" taste of "California Fig Syrup." If your little tongue is coated, or if your child is listless, cross, feverish, full of cold, or has colic, give a teaspoonful to cleanse the liver and bowels. In a few hours you can see for yourself how thoroughly it works all the constipation poison, sour bile and waste and the little one will then have a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers keep "California Fig Syrup" handy. They know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

Drudgery In The Home

BY LORETTO C. LYNCH

An Acknowledged Expert in Matters Pertaining to Household Management

By the time I cook three times a day for my cleaning and the laundry work and dress the children for school and change them when they come home I am tired that I do not want to do anything but fall into bed. I cannot afford a maid, or even a girl more a week; but life does not look good to me any more, and I am eager for some practical, not theoretical, suggestion."

Off hand, I think you cook too often and too much. The fact that so children old enough to go to school should be dressed by anyone sure himself. It takes patience to teach a child to dress, but it is time well spent. Get rid of things that require much cleaning. Either send your washing to a commercial rough dry laundry, of which there are many everywhere doing as well—often at reasonable prices, or, if you must do it yourself, invest in a washing machine and mangle.

To reduce time and effort spent in cooking you must plan your meals on paper. Since you want something definite suppose you look carefully at this plan for three days:

Saturday

Breakfast.—Stewed oranges, oatmeal, milk, toast, butter, coffee or cocoa.

Luncheon.—Cream of potato soup, bread and butter, baked apple, tea or milk.

Dinner.—Roast Hamburg loin, baked potatoes in half shell, creamed carrots, cold slaw, cake, coffee.

Sunday

Breakfast.—Baked apples, top milk, ready-to-eat cereal, toast and butter, coffee

Dinner —Vegetable soup, roast lamb, mashed potatoes, canned peas, fruit gelatine, coffee.

Monday

The meals will be left-over from both Saturday and Sunday.

When cooking the oatmeal cook enough to serve on Saturday morning and again on Monday morning. When baking, plan to use the oven to cook two dishes. Bake enough apples to serve at noon Saturday and at breakfast Sunday morning. Bake potatoes and have Hamburg roast and the lamb in at the same time. In preparing potatoes for the cream soup, boil enough to be made into mashed potatoes for Sunday dinner and salad for Sunday evening. Make enough cake to serve two days. Cut it in half. Serve the cake iced one day and the other half might be served plain or sprinkled with powdered sugar the second day.

The baked potatoes should be cut in half lengthwise and allowed to cool. The white part should be scooped out with a spoon, mixed with butter, chopped parsley and sufficient milk to moisten, as well as salt and pepper. This can be packed lightly back into half the number of shells, to be reheated when the lamb is put back into the oven for warming over for its last twenty minutes of roasting.

Thus, by cooking for two hours or so on Saturday morning, you accomplish, by planning, the preparing of sufficient fod for six or seven meals. Breakfast may be made on Sunday, cooked and chilled in the refrigerator, to be reheated in a moment on Sunday. And one does not want a Sunday off to go to church or out for a walk or for enjoying a concert or a picture show! Try planning and cooking less often. You will be surprised how much free time this plan gives you.

The ease with which cocoa and starts can be removed by Holloway's Worm Exterminator is its strongest recommendation. It seldom fails

Charity

Weary Hobo.—"May I eat your crust for a meal, ma'am?"

Lady of the House.—"Oh, don't trouble to eat it. You're welcome to eat it on the ground."

Creation Of Prairie Provinces

Organization First Started After Riel Rebellion in 1870

When Riel's first rebellion was put down in the latter part of the summer of 1870 and the government of the new Province of Manitoba organized, Fort Garry was made the provincial capital and the place was given the name, Winnipeg.

After the creation of the Province of Manitoba, the prairie country beyond was known as the North-West Territories to which in time a limited form of self-government was granted, and the seat of government was established at Regina, the name being the Latin form of the word queen.

In 1905 the southern part of the Territories was erected into two provinces. Regina became the capital of Saskatchewan, and Edmonton the capital of Alberta. Edmonton had long existed as a trading post. Today the new North-West lies beyond Edmonton.

Presume Dr. McKay Died in Arctic

Last Seen in February 1914 Bound for Wrangel Island

Edinburgh probate court has given leave to the heirs of Dr. McKay, a member of Stefansson's Arctic expedition party, to presume that the doctor is dead. McKinley, a surviving member of the staff of Stefansson's party, testified before the probate court that when the vessel was wrecked in the ice north of Wrangel Island, the party separated into two bodies and started for the land.

Dr. McKay's section was seen on February 16, 1914, bound for Wrangel Island, witness stated, and no further news of the members had been received. Undoubtedly, he said, they had perished in the storm.

Making a Speech

A Scottish minister was once asked how long he would require to prepare a speech. "That depends," he said "upon how much time I have to put in its delivery. If I am to speak for a quarter of an hour I should like a week to prepare; if I am to speak for half an hour, three days will do; if I am to go on as long as I like, I am ready now."—Belfast Weekly News.

DO YOU SMOKE TOO MUCH?

There are many men on whose heart and nervous system tobacco produces the most serious results. It causes palpitation, pain in the heart, irregularity of its beat, makes the hands tremble, sets the nerves on edge, causes abstinence of breath and loss of sleep.

To counteract this demoralizing influence on the heart and nerves there is no remedy to equal

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS

They make the heart beat strong and steady, restore tone and vigor to the nerves, and remove all the evil results caused by the tobacco.

Mr. Frank Lister, 11 Terrace Hill St., Brantford, Ont., writes:—"I had been troubled with palpitation of the heart for a number of years, and by spells it would bother me a lot. The doctor told me it would stop on me sometime if I did not cut out tobacco. When I would get a spell my heart would pound, and I would get out in a perspiration, and get so weak I would have to sit right down and quit my work; also in the night I would wake up and my heart would be going. I should say, about 120 beats a minute. About three years ago I got a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, took them, and found that they did the job. I am feeling fine and have gained over 20 pounds in weight."

Price, 50c a box at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Governor-General Given Degree

Lord Byng Honored By University at Toronto

The honorary degree of doctor of laws was conferred upon Lord Byng, governor-general of Canada, by the University of Toronto. Following the ceremony, Lord Byng expressed appreciation of the honor and said that in the universities of Canada more than in any other place, were to be found all that was best and most inspiring in the rising generation.

Civilization and modern material needs Lord Byng said had advanced past the time when faith and a strong arm were all that was required of a man. He emphasized the importance of science and declared he believed the present University of Toronto, was doing a fine work in developing self-help initiative, decision, resource and self-reliance. It is the struggle to overcome, to achieve, to win, that makes real men and women. Those who have been through the school of hard knocks, the university, have a finish and a depth about them that is a failure even under normal, settled conditions. Money Not Saved

Figures Show That Americans Do Not Hoard Money

A Washington statistician reports that against $110 out of the receipts they spent for the army $750,000,000 has gone on candy and chewing gum. Between the divorcement with military expenditures, does it not?

And $12 went for soda and other soft drinks and $820,000,000 for perfumes, jewelry, silk stockings and kindred luxuries. And the pin money frequently expended on theatre and movies. Taking this comparison a week and baseball was $497,000,000. French dancer is powerfully a counterpart of her walking in parties. Figures don't lie, but they do tell a story.

Doubtless these fatures tend to prove something, one knows not what. They certainly show that Americans are not excessive hoarders and ought to bring a little more sense of proportion to ordinary taxpayers. THE BISHOP ELECT OF SASKATCHEWAN

The diocese of Saskatchewan is to be congratulated on its choice of a Bishop. It would be a very difficult matter to find a man more suitable for the responsibility than Dr Lloyd. His knowledge of Western conditions and the peculiar problems of this diocese, his zeal, vision and outstanding ability as an organizer, and his zest in the furthering of the work of the Church of Christ, his unselfishness on the utmost value and will undoubtedly greatly assist in the building up of the Anglican Church in the diocese to which he has been elected.

Dr. Lloyd has been an outstanding man in Canada for a great number of years. He received his university training at Trinity College, Dublin, and in that place, in 1904 he became chaplain to the Bury County which was being organized in Saskatchewan. During the following year accompanied it to the West. His perseverance and self sacrifice in that connection is well known. Shortly Lloydminster stands as a monument to his labors. In 1905, at a time when the diocese of Saskatchewan was in its infancy, Dr. Lloyd was appointed Archdeacon of the diocese and he was instrumental in the establishment of settlements with the ministrations of the church. In order to accomplish this he went to England and back again out 60 men to act as Catechists until such a time as they could be ordained for holy orders. He then revived Emmanuel College which had been a land for many years and by unceasing efforts obtained a Dominion charter and the College became known as the University of Saskatchewan. He then proceeded to raise funds for the building of a permanent stone building. Not only were the funds raised but the stone building was erected at Saskatoon and moreover it was filled to overflowing with students preparing for the ministry. At this time a province all university was in process of construction in the city of Saskatoon. The University of Saskatchewan was transferred to the provincial institution and Emmanuel College became affiliated to the University of Emmanuel College. At this time Dr. Lloyd resigned his position as Archdeacon and became principal of the College. Under his regime the College flourished until the outbreak of war when it with all the other students volunteered for active service in 1914 he founded the Fellowship of the Maple Leaf and became the Director. Since that time he has been providing Canada, the country of the West with a view to inculcating principles of British and Christian citizenship in the rising generation of Canada.

COMMUNICATION

Dear Editor,

In your issue of November 3rd in the report of the meeting held by St. Fieldhouse, liberal candidate for the Battle River constituency now appears the following paragraph, "Mr. J.F. Harvey, President of the local branch of the G.W.V.A. introduced the speaker."

I wish to draw to the attention of the Writer and to the public at large, and the public generally, that the G.W.V.A. is a non-political association and has no connection with any political party. I shall be pleased if you will kindly insert this letter in your next issue, as I personally [illegible] should have been consulted with it in this manner.

"Well, she is," nodded Benny. "She told me to get Beau to go outside. Pen wouldn't work. But Beau—why, you've given him—"

"Benny!" Mr Smith's voice was sharp. "I'll not have you bothering Miss Maggie with your pets. Now, run along."

"But, Father, I—"

"Benny!"

"Yes, sir," sighed the boy, turning away.

"Now, well, as I was saying, Miss Maggie, I'm sorry to have troubled you. I'll see that Benny—"

"No, no, you didn't trouble me at all," interposed Miss Maggie sharply. "I merely pointed out that—that—"

"Yes, yes, I know," broke in Mr Smith, with a frown. "I'll see that Benny—"

"Oh, but you didn't take any of that Benson gold mine stock!" interrupted Miss Maggie sharply.

"No? Why, no, I didn't, Miss Maggie. Why should I?"

"Why, indeed?" Miss Maggie's voice was...relief. "I'm glad you didn't. I was afraid you might have been induced to do so, since I'd invested my own money in it. But I'm glad you didn't. I'm sorry I troubled you. Benny, I'll see you at supper. Good-afternoon, Mr Smith."

"Good-afternoon, Miss Maggie," bowed Mr Smith, as the door closed behind the spinster.

"Father, what's a gold mine?" asked Benny, as soon as he dared.

"Why, it's a—a mine, where they get gold, of course," answered Mr Smith, with a frown.

"Oh, I know that. But what's gold?"

"Why, it's—it's money, of course!" cried Mr Smith, with a sudden flash of anger.

"Money!" Benny's face fell. "Then Beau can't go to Europe, can he?"

"Benny, I've told you—"

"Yes, sir, I know," sighed the boy, turning away.

"Benny!" Mr Smith's voice was sharp. "Come back here. Now, what's all this about Beau going to Europe?"

"Why, he's got to go, Father. He's got to go to a boy's camp up in Vermont. Mellicent, she's goin' to a girl's camp. Did you know that?"

"Yes, Benny, I did know that," answered Mr Smith, with a frown.

"Well, she is, anyway," nodded Benny. "She's invited to get Beau to go, too. But Beau can't go without money, and—"

V. S. A. NOTES

The debate which took place last Friday evening at the weekly Lit. meeting was a good beginning for the winter's work. The debate, resolved "That final examinations are conducive to the best results in the school of agriculture" was handled in an able manner by the debaters Mr. McCue, Miss F. Donnelly and Mr. Miles for the affirmative with Mr. McCue as the leader and Mr. Collier, Miss I. Collier and Mr. Clarke for the negative, Mr. Collier being the leader. The judges decided in favor of the negative, gaining six points.

Ah interesting and we hope, valuable experiment in poultry fattening was begun on November 8th. Ten four students under the able supervision of Mr. Buckingham are responsible for the actual feeding of the birds. When we consider the immense opening for poultry raising in this province, the results should prove of inestimable value to all concerned.

At a meeting of the student council it was decided to give a dance on the 9th inst. The dance to be an invitational affair. With the committees now working on the dance, this the first dance of the season, should be a marked success.

DEAR FRIENDS:—

Christmas is a most important event in your life and ours, and it's almost here again. It is something regarding Christmas that we want to tell you about.

At Christmas time most everyone is puzzled with the problem of deciding what gifts would be best and most suitable to give to Father, to Mother, to Sister, to little Folks and others that are usually remembered at Christmas.

In order to be of most help to each of our friends, we have studied, planned and worked for many months to make this store the best place to purchase Christmas gifts. Now everything is ready and it's a holiday display of desirable goods that we believe you will want to see.

In our assortments are scores of splendid gift articles, suitable as gifts for Men, for Women, for Boys and Girls, and we shall be glad to help you if we can, in choosing things that will be most appropriate and most appreciated.

You are cordially invited to make this your "Christmas Store" and it will be a pleasure to supply your holiday needs, but you are under no obligation whatever in accepting this invitation to come and see all of the Christmas goods which are now ready for your inspection. We are pleased to add that prices this year are considerably lower than they have been for several years past.

Hoping that this will be the Merriest Christmas that you have ever had, we are

WHEN NERVES ARE NEAR EXHAUSTION

A Tonic Should Be Taken To Enrich the Blood

When you become so exhausted after a day's work that you cannot sleep, you may be sure that your nerves are calling to you for help. Failure to look after your health at once means a steady drain on your health reserves, which eventually in but one thing a nervous breakdown.

Do not wait for a breakdown. The first symptoms that appear enough to tell you do not let your condition become too far advanced. Your nerves depend upon the nutrition of the nerve cells, requiring an effective tonic. And the nerves have to be nourished by the blood, the vital fluid must be built up. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills act directly on the blood and with proper regulation of the diet have proved of the greatest benefit in nervous troubles.

Mrs. Mary McAdam, Sydney Mines, N.S., is but one of the many who have proved this tonic treatment she says: "I was all run down and completely gave out. I was all run down and my nerves were so weak and exhausted that greatly alarmed me. I often had nervous headaches, and at times nervous pains in the region of my heart. I felt as though I would never be well again. My husband got me a supply of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and before I had taken them all finished I began to improve, and under a further use of the pills I felt as well as ever. I would advise all weak and nervous women to give this medicine a trial."

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail, post paid at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co. Brockville Ont.

COULDN'T DO HOUSEWORK, HEART WAS SO BAD

Many women get weak and run down and unable to look after their homes hold children owing to the heart action becoming impaired or the nervous system shattered.

Nature intended women to be strong, healthy and happy instead of sick and wretched. But how can a woman be strong and healthy when day and day out all the has to go through the same routine of work, sweeping, dusting, cooking, washing, etc. Is it any wonder that the heart becomes affected and she gets irritable and nervous, has hot flashes, faint and dizzy spells, smothering and sinking spells and can't sleep at night?

To all women whose heart is weak and whose nerves are unstrung we would recommend

as the best remedy to tone up the system and strengthen the weakened organs.

Mrs. Daniel Beasnon, Lonaville, Que., writes:—"As I was failing rapidly, a weak heart for nearly two years I was willing to tell you what your great remedy, Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, has done for me.

My heart was so bad at night I could not sleep, I would take smothering spells, and was so weak I could not do my housework. I tried, two doctors, but got no results. A friend advised me to try your pills. I used six boxes and am completely relieved. I think they are the best remedy for heart trouble there is."

Growing Timber on the Farm

All Land Has Spots That Can Be Utilized

Timber is certainly a poor land crop. Steep slopes, poor soil, rocky land, unusual corners, gullied and wooded tracts—all these afford opportunities for growing timber profitably. A careful survey of the average farm will reveal a surprising number of spots of this sort which can be utilized to advantage. Trees for shade or ready have trees planting them with the proper varieties will materially increase the value of the land.

Miller's Worm Powders were designed to promptly relieve children who suffer from the ravages of worms. It is a simple preparation of the most stomachic and intestinal worms without shock or injury to the most sensitive system. They act thoroughly and painlessly and though in some cases they may cause vomiting, that is an indication of their powerful action and not of any nauseating property.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

This is a Short Letter, But It Proves the Reliability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Bothwell, Ont.—"I was weak and run down, had no appetite and was nervous and could not sleep. I read how Mrs. [illegible] was cured of [illegible] by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and now I am getting along splendidly. I recommend your medicine to all my friends and you may use my name."—Mrs. W. J. Brady, R. R. 1, Bothwell, Ont.

The reason why Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is so successful in overcoming woman's ills is because it contains just the right medicinal elements to act directly and gently on the female organism. Women from all parts of the country are continually testifying to its strengthening, beneficial influence, and as it contains no narcotics or harmful drugs it is a safe medicine for women.

If you want special advice write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read, and answered by women only.

Oh, Money! Money!

By

FLEANOR H. PORTER

Printed by Special Arrangement with Little, Adams, Brown & Co.

"Yesterday Jessie Kendall was ill. I'm willing to see Hattie. She'll be sick and to death. She always looked as that Frank had a grocery store, too! You know, and of course he'd have plenty and she's been going with the thing! Instead of Jamesboro, she'll be in Chicago, and—and—Oh, I don't know what all! I'm sick with envy! I'm sick with disappointment! I'm sick with—with—Oh, I'm sick with everything! I'm sick of Jamesboro, and I'm sick of Mrs. Smith! I'm sick of—of—Oh, I'm sick of everything!"

"Why, Miss Mary!" Miss Maggie's voice was very gentle. "They're going to the Welcome Home Park and the Lions' Club and the Red Cross and California. And that's another thing I wanted to see you about. I've got money for those Red Cross tickets. Mother sent me money for those Red Cross tickets for you. I'll pay for them, you know, and—"

"Pay for them!" Miss Mary turned with dignity. "Indeed you will not! I'll pay for them myself. I'll have you understand, Miss Maggie, that I am not a pauper, even if I am a spinster! I'll have you know that I have a very comfortable income of my own, and I'll thank you to remember it."

But what is Peter going to do with himself? demanded Miss Mary Ellis. Why, he'll be lost! I'm sure I don't see how you can think of leaving him out that way!"

Between the lines it could be seen that Miss Mary was not at all sure that Peter would be lost without her, and Miss Maggie smiled. Miss Mary was very fond of Peter, and Miss Maggie knew it. Miss Mary was also very fond of Miss Maggie, and Miss Maggie knew it. Miss Mary was also very fond of Miss Maggie's mother, and Miss Maggie knew it. Miss Mary was also very fond of Miss Maggie's mother's son, and Miss Maggie knew it. Miss Maggie knew, too, that Miss Mary knew that she knew it. Miss Maggie knew, too, that Miss Mary knew that she knew that she knew it. Miss Maggie knew, too, that Miss Mary knew that she knew that she knew that she knew it. Miss Maggie knew, too, that Miss Mary knew that she knew that she knew that she knew that she knew that she knew that she knew that she knew that she knew that she knew that she knew that she knew it.

Miss Maggie smiled—but she frowned, too.

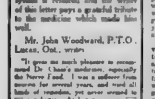
"Why, Miss Mary, what do you mean by that?"

"Oh, where she's been this summer she's mourned up, of course, while



Got No Sleep

But now the worries has gone, the pains have ceased, the nervous system is recovered and the future of this letter pays a grateful tribute to the medicine which made him well.

Mr. John Woodward, P.T.O Lucan, Ont., writes:

"It gives me much pleasure to recommend Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, especially the Nerve Food. I was a sufferer from insomnia for several years, and tried all kinds of remedies, but never seemed to get any better. At last my nerves got in such a terrible state that I got so I could not sleep. I thought not being able to get any rest at all was at night for years, which mostly used to take me as all parts of the body and feet. My nerves would twitch, and my whole body would seem to jerk right up as I lay in bed. Almost at the point of despair, I decided I would get Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, which I did, and after taking twenty boxes I believe myself almost a normal man. I also had a few of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills ago found, and for the past year I seem to enjoy my usual health."

IS YOUR NOSE PLUGGED? HAVE YOU CATARRH?

If Subject to Colds, Here is Real Good Advice

Don't load your stomach with cough syrups. Get healing medicine right through the nostrils—send it into the blood—that's the way to drive colds and Catarrh. Easy to do this with CATARRHOZONE, which is breathed in two minutes. Even to the lungs goes the healing vapor of Catarrhozone—all throat troubles, bronchitis, sore throats and air passages—everywhere a cure is sure. Inhalation cures Catarrh because follow. You don't have colds, sore throat, hoarseness, bronchitis, or throat trouble if Catarrhozone is used. Get it—don't be aware of dangerous substitutes meant to deceive you for genuine Catarrhozone. Large size, two months trial—lasts over a year, $1.00; sample size 25c; all dealers or the Catarrhozone Co., Montreal.

she would not think of coming down and helping them, and ordered an expensive wreath. Frank and Jane Hamilton, and all "three" of their children, and of course Peter and Miss Mary.

Mr. Smith helped—it is every way that he should help, Miss Mary said, and this that he was a social romfort, and that Miss Hattie was a stranger in the market and make millions. So some one had to help him, Miss Flora was positive, and at last the Scotland had days were over, and the Hamiltons hadn't been there long before nominal millions again.

Miss Flora was right. Mr. Smith was very, and she went often to drive or for luncheon. Miss Flora in fact, gather that explored cemeteries for Mr. Smith, what a certain Mr. Smith was not Mrs. Hattie one day, for Mrs. Hattie was furnishing a house and greeted him cordially, but Mrs. Hattie was painfully upset over something that technically was Miss Maggie, as soon as he entered the room she knew. Miss Mary told her the matter with Mrs. James Hamilton.

"Oh, yes, I remember," Mrs. Hattie had discovered that a hundred thousand dollars isn't a million."

"Why, do you mean to say that?"

$30 A WEEK MECHANIC JUMPS TO $750 A MONTH

Just in Cheltville, Washington, R.F.D. No. 1, Box 1, Mr. Edward Fitzgerald, "Cheltville isn't much of a town, somewhere between Seattle and Portland, and Fence doesn't pretend to be a Seattle or Portland, but Fitz knows by experience that it's a good place for any man. But his income is the "talk of the town" and Fitz's great pride is in it. While the books of the Electrical Parts Company show that a new profit of $750 a month.

Fitz never says himself, that he never dreamed of earning so much money, but he would have helped them, if he was making $30 a week and wondering if he'd ever get ahead enough to have a pocket book would let him buy every. He wasn't, like he now is able to do.

OWES SUCCESS TO ELECTRICITY

Fitz himself credits his present big success. He isn't that kind But when he began to study Electricity and the great future which it holds for men with "the right start," he "put his shoulder." Without any reservations he gave all credit for his amazing success to the thorough Electrical training which he has received in spare time during the past few months.

Did the Person tell him any thing? Read his letter dated October 9, 1912, to the Chief Engineer of the Chicago Engineering Works:

Dear Mr. Cooke,

Three years ago this year I was an ordinary mechanic earning $25 to $30 a week. Today I am making my own "Electrical Expert." In business for myself and making over $750 a month.

My Success, Mr. Cook, is due entirely to the help you have given me. I am now during the past few months, Electrical Expert, and have secured through your Employment Department, a splendid position with the Electric Parts Company, a new and rapidly growing concern.

Electricity has made me financially independent, and has given me a respected business man in this community.

Sincerely yours,

W. E. Person.

For 15 years Mr. Cooke has been training men at home during their spare time, for Big Pay Electrical positions, and has thousands of testimonials of letters like this.

His system offers every man, regardless of age, education, or previous experience, the same opportunity to become a "Big Pay" man in Electrical Work that he himself has had.

Complete particulars and actual proof of the great demand for "Electrical Experts" is contained in a booklet entitled, "How to Become An Electrical Expert," which may be had with out cost by writing Chief Engineer Cooke, Chicago Engineering Works, 1918 Lawrence Avenue, Chicago, U.S.A.

people a great deal richer than she. And she doesn't like it. Here in Jamieson her hundred and two hundred-dollar dresses looked very grand to her, but she's discovered that there are women who pay five hundred and a thousand, and even more, for very cheap and poverty-stricken now, therefore, in her two hundred dollar gowns Poor Hattie! If she only would stop trying to live like some-body else!"

"But I thought—I thought this money was making them happy," faltered Miss Maggie.

"It was—until she realized that somebody else had more," sighed Miss Maggie, with a shake of her head.

"Oh, well, she'll get over that."

Perhaps."

At any rate, it's brought her husband some comfort."

"If you, it has; but—"

"What do you mean by that?" he demanded, when she did not finish her sentence.

I was wondering—if it would bring him any more."

"They haven't lost it?"

"Oh, no, but they've spent a lot—as I Hattie is beginning again her old talk that she must have more money in order to live 'even decent.' It sound very familiar to me, and to Jim, I suspect, poor fellow. I saw him the other night, and from what he said, and what she says, I can see pretty well how things are going. She is going to get some of her rich friends to give Jim a better position, where he'll earn more. She doesn't understand, either, why Jim can't go into the stock market and make millions. So some one has to explain that it's always a matter of luck, and that she's just got to have more money to live like that on the rest of the legacy rooms.

To Harness the Jordan

Engineers Planning to Utilize Waters For Power Purposes

The waters of the River Jordan have been regarded in song and story throughout the ages as sacred. It is interesting, therefore, to note that in future this river is frequently referred to in the Bible, is to be harnessed and its waters utilized by engineers for power purposes. It is well known that the Sahd has been carried away in great quantities to the four corners of the earth for baptismal rites. Perhaps a good many of the older generation will think that the present suggestion to utilize the waters commercially is tantamount to sacrilege. But people long ago used to worship the sun. Egyptians in the days of the Pharaohs considered crocodiles sacred and refused to kill them even when they carried off their children. The sacred bees of Ephesus have not been implored in any way through the waters being cut to a proper commercial use.—Montreal Gazette

Liberal Party Is Returned To Power By Large Majority

THE NEW PREMIER

Hon. William Lyon MacKenzie King, Leader of the Dominion Liberal Party.

Ottawa.—After ten years in opposition, the Liberal party is again returned to power. In the new House, Hon. W. L. MacKenzie King will have a clear majority over all others, and the three parties the Progressives stand second and the Government party third. In the three provinces of Prince Edward Island, Nova Scotia and Quebec, the Liberals swept every seat. The new National Progressive party, by securing sixty seats, will become a factor in Dominion politics. The Progressives did not secure the support that was expected in the east, but in the provinces of Alberta, Manitoba and Saskatchewan they made almost a clean sweep.

The government has retained little more than a third of the seats it held at dissolution. The prime minister was defeated in his own constituency and with him were defeated eight members of his administration. The defeated cabinet ministers are:

Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, prime minister.

Hon. L. P. Normand, president of the privy council.

Hon. Rodolph Monty, secretary of state.

Hon. L. G. Belley, postmaster-general.

Hon. A. Fauteux, solicitor general.

Hon C. C. Ballantyne, minister of marine and fisheries.

Hon. E. K. Spinney, minister without portfolio.

Hon. James Wilson, minister with out portfolio.

Two of the defeated ministers—the prime minister and Mr. Wilson—were defeated in Provincial seats which they were beaten by Liberals.

One woman was elected, Miss Mac Phail, the Progressive candidate in Southeast Grey Ontario. She will be the first woman to sit in the Canadian House of Commons.

Crerar Issues Statement

Is Well Pleased With Showing Made by Progressive Party

Winnipeg—Expressing satisfaction with the party's first campaign in a general election Hon. T. A. Crerar, leader of the National Progressive party, made his first public statement since election day, in which he declared that the practically clean sweep by the Progressives in the prairie provinces was "a very clear and definite number the opinion of West ern Canada."

The following is the text of the statement as issued to the Canadian Press Limited:

HAY WANTED

The "Hay Movement" has begun We are buying timothy hay. We have a market for hay of good quality. There is a tremendous amount of feed in the country, and—while prices are firmer—there is no rush of orders. But, we have secured a moderately steady market and expect to ship on an average five cars per week.

Let us hear from you because if we have it for you we will also sell it for you, and you will be sure of a market through us.

Our charges are the lowest possible, and we are prompt in doing the work and in settling for the hay we ship.

THE HIGHWAYS COMMISSION

It is announced that at the forthcoming municipalities convention, Premier Greenfield will make an announcement with respect to the proposed Highway Commission, this being one of the planks in the platform of the farmers party at the last provincial elections. The Commission will mean an advanced piece of legislation and as long as it will be placed beyond the pale of political cavil, should work out to the benefit of the province There is nothing new to the premier in the idea. It was a plank in the platform of the Conservative party of Alberta as long ago as 1907 when it adopted this as one of its main policies. It has ever since been urged by the Conservative opposition along with other advanced legislation in the provincial house but natural, without fruition. There were demands, who voted for this commission in July that persistently voiced against it as previous elections by the Conservative party has been almost wiped out as a political force in this province, it must be a matter of gratification to its leaders that the party now in power proposes to adopt a road policy that it had promised upon the legislature assembling after session and upon which it appealed to an indifferent electorate in days now past. The Greenfield Government then can only be congratulated on having the opportunity to put this legislation upon the statute books of this province, as suggestion ably it will, and not mean being the party that actually initiated it.

OUR TOWN AFFAIRS

Those who attended the municipal meeting of the ratepayers held over a week ago did not come away with any too rosy a prospect of immediate relief from the ever increasing burden of taxation Mayor Morrison was quite frank about it, as a fact some two years ago he plainly told the people that if they wanted public improvements, they must be prepared to pay for them. The public were insistent in their demands for one civic form of improvement or another. They told the council if they were paying taxes they were entitled to consideration and justice, but the paper must be paid Everybody knows that after the fire of 1919, the town stood with the business interests, suffered severely Practically the entire fire equipment went overboard, and for three or four years previous there was a consciousness of energy in a far as municipal matters were concerned. It is admitted that matters had about reached a climax when the present administration came into office and not to say fault or neglect of previous councils put in general conditions arising from the war and the conflagration of 1919. Certain civic improvements had become imperative the fire department, electric light plant and sanitation laws were in a decidedly bad shape The council of 1919-20 went ahead to remedy these and what was to come from improved admirably it secured the consent of the Utilities Commission to sell debentures and to have these improvements, but then came the slump in the money markets and to this day council has been unable to dispose of those bonds. There was only one source to which it could turn, and that was to overdraw accounts The physical of the fire department into the effective fighting force it is today had to be financed from current account, so also had the construction of the water tanks. The improvements to the power plant and pole lines In addition to all those the schools called for an enormous sum of large sums of money, though those expenditures appear in a separate column. The point I wonder is that our taxes are not higher than they are, and credit must be given this and previous councils for their economic administration of our town affairs, and this is the warning that Mayor Morrison sounded at the meeting, that only with the severest economy could the town hope to enlarge out of its present financial difficulties. We should, in view of these circumstances, congratulate ourselves that we are not worse off than we are, our outstanding liabilities are small; our debentures are fully met and we have ceased to borrow from the banks in this perhaps lies the secret of our troubles. Had the banks in years past been less generous and had councils pulled us to stand more on our own resources, we probably today would be in far better shape financially than we are.

In the civic elections just closed, Mayor Morrison's hands are again strengthened by the selection of men who will to every respect guard the interests of the ratepayers. If our taxes go higher we can rest assured it will be because the council has no other possible alternative; we hope however for a reduction. There are carping critics in every corner, but the bounden duty of every citizen is to back up the council in its administration of our civic affairs and note above all else that only in the prompt payment of their taxes can we possibly hope to secure that relief from high taxation, which we all so urgently desire.

RED CROSS NOTES

The Red Cross Hospital at Peace Coupe is now open and some tenderers patients are being treated. Miss Collins is in charge and Miss McDougall is her assistant.

The Chicken Red Cross has been reorganized and is making plans to care for the relief in that district On the executive are members of the U. F.A., U.F.W.A., the Women's Institute, the Board of Trade and other local organizations.

The Hospital at Foremost has been re-opened under the management of the Red Cross. The Society is co-operating with the Red Cross to maintain this hospital.

The Provincial Headquarters is still getting in many calls for cloth ing. Old clothing donations are very welcome. They should be sent to the Red Cross, O'Sullivan Block, Calgary

There is a steady demand for children's mitts and stockings from the districts where the Red Cross is distributing relief

Emergency organizations of the Red Cross will be established in every province in Canada. They will be ready to function by one day's notice when relief is needed at a particular point in a hurry.

The U.F.A. at Penoka has offered the Provincial Hospitals and Charities in Calgary a carload of vegetables for distribution in Southern Alberta

Send in the latest town to announce an old clothes drive for the Red Cross. The clothes is sent to Calgary where it is sorted, cleaned and mended, then shipped off for distribution.

The Alcario Hospital has just completed another successful year during which time 90 patients were treated. The annual report shows that 18 maternity cases were treated during the year.

The British Red Cross Society have appointed Sir Benjamin Robertson, the famous Indian famine expert, as an Empire Commissioner in Russia to supervise the distribution of all relief sent to that unfortunate country by the British Empire. Donations may be made through the Canadian Red Cross

The Junior Red Cross is busy now that Christmas is coming, arranging that all the sick and crippled children under their care enjoy a real Xmas treat.

A suitable reward will be paid for the recovery of Cattle branded on the right ribs

DEATH OF LITTLE MARIE KEYS

Marie Elizabeth, youngest daughter of Mr and Mrs. Fred Keys of Vermilion, died on Monday morning last following a few days illness, at the age of 5 years, 6 months and 20 days. Marie was a bright, lovable little child and her early death is mourned by a large circle of friends, whose sympathy is extended to the bereaved family in their heavy sorrow. The funeral services were conducted in the Methodist Church by the Rev. M. L. Wright this Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The hymns were sung by a choir of six little girls comprising Vera Craig, Mary Trimble, Helen Baker, Jean Baker, Betty Baker and Viletta Wright, the pall-bearers being Charlie Deering, Knox Foreman, Walter Pomeroy and Hiram Robinson. The little casket was buried under a wealth of floral offerings from— Family, Glen Hryark, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Ivy, Daisy Wood, Mr. and Mrs. John Kerr, and Mrs. Fred Ivy, Canadian Girls in Training, Ladies of the Methodist church, Royal Bank of Canada staff, Britannia Rebekah Lodge and I.O.O.F. The remains were laid to rest in the Vermilion Cemetery. To Mr. and Mrs. Keys, Clarence and Ethelyn the Standard extends heartfelt sympathy in their bereavable loss.

Few people realize that 26,415 Canadian air service men have been established on the land and are nearly all making good: that Canada's water-power development represents an investment of $175,000,000, while the power produced would require 18,000,000 tons of coal yearly; or that nearly 85 per cent of the world's supply of asbestos comes from the province of Quebec. MACKENZIE KING MAY SURPRISE ALL BY TAKING WIFE

Tells North York Elector He Means He'll Soon Get Married

Newmarket Ont., Dec. 13.—During the reference extended to the premier elect by his North York constituency here yesterday Tom Clark of Lemonville expressed the hope that Mr. King would get a wife now that the election was over.

"I do not know that any more than I do," said the premier-elect "I have not even suggested it."

Canada Has Attained World's Second Place In Wheat Production

Canada has risen to second place among the wheat growing countries of the world, according to the estimates of the International Institute of Agriculture, and is now surpassed in this regard by the United States alone. The vacant lands of the British Empire" has come into its own. The expansion is evidenced by the increase on fields of the Canadian West are going a long way toward supplying the needs of the entire world.

Canadian wheat and wheat flour are now exported to the United Kingdom, United States, Belgium, British West Indies, France, Gibraltar, Italy, Netherlands, Newfoundland, Portugal, Spain, Malta, San Domingo, Sweden, Turkey, Venezuela, Bermuda, British Guiana, Brazil, Chile, Cuba, Dutch Guiana, Dutch West Indies, Egypt, French West Indies, Hayti, Newfoundland, Panama and many other countries

The history of the growth of Canadian agriculture and wheat exports forms a marvellous record of national progress. In a very few years of time the territory which so many said could grow no wheat has become the second in the world in which that staple is produced and the first in quality. Since the Confederation of the Canadian provinces in 1867, in which time the history of the Dominion as a nation may be said to have begun, the yield of wheat has increased from 15,000,000 bushels to 231,000,000 bushels. This has trebled the value of the field crops has more than quadrupled that of her animal products has risen twenty times, which is illustrative of the healthy state of agriculture and forms an optimistic basis for the country's suffering at the expense of the rural sections in the building of urban centres.

The value of all field crops for 1915 was $474,000,000, of which $234,000,000 was the wheat crop $14,993,245. In 1920 these values were respectively $1,485,000 and $457,000,000. In 1921 the Dominion obtained for the first time in her history a billion dollar crop, more than trebling the value of the crop grown a decade previously.

Agriculture is Canada's first industry and though the development of national activity are rapidly increasing in importance, the pursuit of farming maintains a lengthy lead which it will no doubt maintain for many generations to come in spite of the extensive exploitation of resources which assuredly lies in Canada's immediate future.

Of the rich fertile plains of the Canadian West only about one-fifth of the area which has been declared fit for cultivation is occupied, and roughly, 300 000,000 acres west of Lake Superior await percolation out into the towns and homesteads for the millions of immigrants to come.

The estimation of this area at the same rate of production which gave Canada an annual wheat yield of something round 1,400,000,000 bushels, or twice that of the present production of the whole of the United States.

Canada's rate of settlement and development is the only determining factor of the time when she will have obtained the world's first place as a wheat producer both in quality and quantity.

Queensland, Australia, Not a Desert

Premier Hughes Corrects Article in English Newspaper

Sister's correspondent at Melbourne, Australia, says that Premier Hughes, speaking in the Australian House of Representatives, recently resented an article in an English newspaper describing Queensland as a desert. He said the statement was an infamous lie and those who made it or they would be flung off the territory mentioned, declared the premier, was well fitted to carry a large white population and raise wheat from those states had trend splendid service in the war.

Summer Home In Giant Flask

Is Three Stories High and Has Modern Conveniences

At Pike Pond Lake New Hampshire, there is a summer home in the shape of a flask. It is three stories high and has all the modern conveniences. Doors and windows have been cut in the curved sides, and an addition of bungalow shape has been built on at one side to afford a conventional kitchen and living room. Inside the main cage, there is another cage of wire, established and provided with such conveniences as electric light and telephone service. The bottle formerly was an amusement park advertising sign for a cereal drink and now has taken on a different kind of usefulness.

X-Rays in Industry

Used During War to Detect Defects in Materials

X-rays in the manner in which Roentgen rays were made use of during the war, says a scientific correspondent. They were used for instance in locating hidden defects in shells or any kind of material that was under the building of aeroplanes. Nevertheless, it has already been successful in certain outside ranges of surgical applications are boundless, and for that reason the recent development of Radiology in London is a project which deserves every possible support.

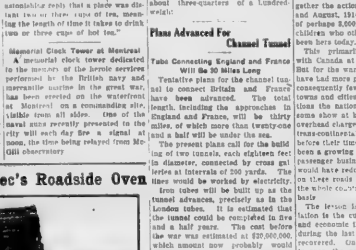
The Spell of Quebec's Roadside Oven



By courtesy of the C.P.R.

A Quebec Roadside Oven.

No housewife in America is so independent of the price of coal and oil as the habitant woman of Quebec. She has an out-door brick oven at her back and call.

These roadside-ovens — and nobody knows exactly what white or hazy possessed the Canadian habitant for carrying his baking apparatus on far from home, unless it was fear of the early settlers that he might not up in order to bake the urge upon him of bread sometimes — are to be many months of the grande famille — are not only landmarks in Quebec but traditional figures of hearth and hospitality. They seem to say to the passer by, "Now you know you are in Quebec and that's Quebec and this is home made bread." Mais oui. "Then over yens. For a more sung Madame with red cap and black shawl and big bring out a pitcher of milk." Oui, the grand oven is undoubtedly the symbol of home life and it is finally to look about these old wayside ovens with interest out of the fact that they are the product of the hand and heart by with the landscape and the scheme of life of the people living in the province, as pre-eminently the land of the home-made.

Not in many months of tramping in Quebec we have encountered scores of these ovens. But because they are home-made, each one is different. Each architect builds to suit his own fancy or else to come into the pearl bitties as to shape and size contain of in the material at hand. Looks are overcome with smudges of plaster and added coats of whitewash, till the dear oven often resembles a frosted cake. Or else an extra roof is attempted with bits of old board, and then the oven resembles some queer little mansion — a doll's house for the children to play in, or a large kennel for a chien that draws the little cart. Seeing these ovens for the first time one is reminded irresistibly of the quaint Old World. But then a similar fancy seizes you about everything in Quebec province, which is atmosphere, in fact, sign and discovery. On all occasions you make a discovery of Quebec in fact. It sits men, he said, would be needed for the climbing party.

The whole apparatus is reported to be very simply constructed and easy to instal, while in its way hampers the pilot. It weighs about three-quarters of a hundred weight.

Plans Advanced For Channel Tunnel

Tube Connecting England and France Will Be 30 Miles Long

Tentative plans for the channel tunnel to connect England and France have been advanced. The total length, including the approaches in England and France, will be 30 miles, of which more than twenty-one and a half will be under the sea.

The proposed plans call for the building of two tunnels, each eighteen feet in diameter, connected by cross galleries at intervals of 200 yards. The tunnels would be worked by electricity.

Iron tubes will be built up as the tunnel advances, precisely as in the London tubes. It is estimated that the tunnel could be completed in five and a half years. The cost before the war was estimated at $20,000,000, which amount now probably would have to be considerably increased—to $150,000,000, or even $175,000,000. The working expenses before the war were calculated at $1,000,000 annually, the income at $7,750,000, but both estimates probably would now have to be revised.

Stabilizing Device For Aircraft Made

Invention Prevents Airplanes Being Diverted From Proper Course

Successful trials of flights between Paris and Amsterdam of a new stabilizing device for airplanes, indicates that another remarkable advance has been made in the direction of securing greater safety for aerial transport. The new stabilizer, which is the invention of Georges Avellino, himself a practical aviator, consists of two distinct appliances, of which one is used to control the wings and the other the rudder. It is claimed for the new invention that if the airplane enters a fog or thick clouds and is thus prevented from keeping to its right course, the stabilizer at once comes into play and automatically brings back the machine to its proper line of flight.

For use during night flying there is an arrangement of lines of tiny electric lights, the change in levels of which at once indicates to the pilot

The Need Of Canada At The Present Time Is Increased Population

For the five years 1909 to 1914, Canada received about 1,261,000 immigrants from all sources, or an average of 373,000 a year. If this rate had been maintained the succeeding seven years would have brought the Dominion over 2,500,000 new citizens from outside. If for domestic reasons the pace had somewhat slackened, the increase in population during and since the war would surely have exceeded 2,000,000.

But the war intervened and the tide of immigration ceased to flow. The influx of newcomers fell off to a mere dribble. Great Britain and the continent of Europe were practically eliminated as sources of population and the stream of American settlers dwindled to a minimum. During the whole seven-year period we received only about 650,000 from all sources, or 2,000,000 fewer than might have been expected had the world's peace not been undisturbed. Nor must sight be lost of the fact that the outbreak of war and the progress thereof caused great numbers of newly arrived foreigners to leave the country. Tens of thousands joined the colors of the allied armies. Others and thousands fled to the United States to escape service. And Canada's entry thereinto cost overseas and the children that should have been theirs. Altogether, the census taken in June and August, 1914, has robbed Canada of perhaps 3,000,000 men, women and children who otherwise would have been here today.

The primarily is what is wrong with Canada at the present moment. But for the war the Dominion would have had more people on the land and consequently fewer people in the towns and cities. Under such conditions the nation would have made great strides ahead, since with the overhead charges imposed by two new trans-continental railways constructed before that time. There would have been a growing volume of freight and passenger business which naturally would have received the heavy deficits on the whole country and a sound financial basis.

The lesson is plain. More population is the cure for Canada's fiscal and economic ills. The leeway lost during the last seven years must be recovered. Once the general election is over, the government of the day must devote itself solely to the settlement problem. Let all the world know that Canada is open to 500,000 or even $125,000,000. The working expenses before the war were calculated at $1,000,000 annually, the income at $7,750,000, but both estimates probably would now have to be revised.

Spider's Web Fish Nets

New Guinea Natives Find Mesh Very Strong

Spiders webs are used as fishing nets in the natives of a little village called Waley in New Guinea. The nets are about the size of a small hand net, but its dark and fairly brown legs spread to almost two inches. The web is spun in about six feet in diameter and is practically strong. The natives say long horsehair twist ever into a cord at the end, and in a very short time the spider weaves a web on these lines kindly left for him, and the Papuan has his net made while he waits.

The mesh at the outside of the web is about one inch square, and gets smaller until near the centre it is only, perhaps, one-eighth of an inch.

Boring Power Of Ants

Engineer Found They Had Eaten Through Lead Cable

An extraordinary instance of the boring power of white ants comes from New South Wales.

An engineer who was repairing a buried lead-covered telephone cable found that the ants had eaten their way inside. They had first bored through an outer covering of timber, which had been purposely steeped in arsenic, then through a layer of soft paraffin, and finally through the lead covering itself.

In spite of their difficult journey and their meals of arsenic and paraffin, the ants were full of life when they were discovered

HEALTHY CHILDREN ARE HAPPY CHILDREN

The well child is always a happy child—it is baby's nature to be happy and contented. Mothers, if your little ones are cross and peevish and cry a great deal they are out well and they are in need of medicine—something that will set their bowels and stomach right. There are a few drops of Thorvah laxative which regulate the bowels, sweeten the stomach and tone and strengthen the complexion; break up colds and simple fevers and make the baby healthy and happy. Concerning them, Mrs. Albert Hamel, Pierreville, Que., writes: "I find Baby's own Tablets are the best medicine I know of for little ones. They relieved my little girl from constipation when nothing else would, and I can strongly recommend them to other mothers." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

A Life Et of Thue

Measuring a Thousandth Part of a Second

What can happen in the thousandth part of a second?

This question comes to the mind when a hear of the accident in the most delicate child watches a pendulum in motion.

Between the two extreme points of its oscillation the pendulum describes a certain number of vibrations per second, and the time of each vibration is measured by the thousandth part of a second.

A wireless signal will travel 186 miles in a thousandth of a second. A ray of light will do the same; an express train travelling 60 miles an hour will cover just under one inch in the time

It is for registering with great precision the time of any signal that this wonderful instrument has been made. It is an electric device for recording the movements of a tiny spot of light on a moving photographic film. These very minute measurements are becoming more important every day, as is only by studying the infinitely little that knowledge of the big things can be attained

RHEUMATISM?

Health is the Most Valuable Asset You Have. You cannot Afford to Neglect It

Crofton, B. C.—"I was troubled for years with inflammatory rheumatism and often was quite helpless for a time. I tried several remedies without benefit. My health became run down, but did not improve. I had been in the hospital for months, being unable to walk. A friend advised me to try Dr Pierce's Anuric Tablets.

After taking the first bottle I began to improve, and after taking six bottles I had no more rheumatism. I think Dr. Pierce's Anuric is the most wonderful medicine that any one can take for rheumatism. I have recommended these tablets to several of my friends and they, too, have found it helpful to them."—Melville Collins.

People are realizing that the kidneys, just as do the bowels, need to be flushed occasionally. The kidneys are an eliminative organ and are constantly working, separating the poisonous matter from the blood and barbs up into the system, causing rheumatism, neuralgia, dropsy and many other serious disturbances.

This can be avoided by stimulating the kidneys to increased action, and because of its tonic effect on those organs any one would do well to get Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets which are to be had nowadays at almost any drug store or send 50c to Dr Pierce's Laboratory in Bridgeburg, Ont., for trial package and write for free, confidential medical advice.

An Acknowledged Expert In All Matters Pertaining to Household Management.

"A vendor came to my home the other day, asking me to buy some foods which he said he was selling on commission for a wholesale house. I felt very sorry for this man, and so I bought a number of things from him. We did my neighbors. We never heard of any of the brands before, and so we are wondering if they contain adulterants. I am enclosing a list of the foods. Could you tell me of any simple method by which a housewife can detect adulterants?"

So writes a woman who probably tried to help in the problem of unemployment and put has the health of her family at heart.

To detect adulterant in ground coffee shake some of it into cold water. Pure coffee usually floats, while the average adulterant sinks. Chicory colors the water a brownish red

To detect alum in baking powder put some powder to burn in a small earthenware dish, cover with water and bring to a boil. Throw the mixture away. Do this three times, then save the fourth extract. Fill a test tube half full of water and add the last teaspoonful of the baking powder you to wish to test

Warm it and shake it until effervescence ceases. Add a few drops of two of hydrochloric acid to make the solution acid. To this solution add four or five drops of ammonium oxalate. A bluish red color indicates the presence of alum. A yellow color would show that there is a small bit of alum dissolved in water to become familiar with the color you should look for.

To test for artificial coloring in jellies be the same method. To test for artificial colorins in candies Place some of the sample in water and boil to dissolve it. Dissolve his liquid a few pieces of white woolen yarn and boil for five or ten minutes, stirring occasionally. Remove the yarn and wash in hot water. If it remains brightly colored the presence of artificial dyes is shown. To make the test more certain, boil the yarn so colored in diluted ammonia for five minutes. If the color disappears the dye will dissolve in ammonia

If this is colored, add hydrochloric acid drop by drop until the solution is acid, as tested by blue litm. paper. If the solution now gives a pink (red) white yarn and boil Remove and wash in water If the yarn is color fast the presence of artificial dyes is proved positively.

The chemical test takes three hours, but the other method can be applied by anybody who has a few simple tests can be obtained for a few cents at any drug store As also said lump test be absolutely a sure one, but if gas is not available. Further tests are described in Bulletin No 10 of the Department of Agriculture, United States Department of Agriculture, which may be obtained by application to the Superintendent of Documents, Washington D.C.

Crerar Lays Mackenzie King's Offer Before Meeting At Saskatoon

Gossip Has It Ex-Premier Stewart Is Slated For the Cabinet

Saskatoon, Dec. 12.—Progressive members-elect of parliament for the three western provinces met here today to decide whether or not they shall form an alliance of some kind with the Liberals to carry on the government. They adjourned at 12.25 o'clock. The session will continue this afternoon.

Hon. T.A. Crerar said on adjournment that he had no statement to make. Other members interviewed refused to comment on what had taken place. It was obvious that they were under a pledge of secrecy.

Mr. Crerar is believed to have presented in detail the plan outlined to him as the basis of the proposed co-operation of the Liberals and Progressives. It is understood there was little opportunity at the morning session for the prosecution of views of the private members, which will come this afternoon. At any rate, no agreement has been reached. Mr. Crerar will leave for Winnipeg at 5 o'clock this afternoon if the work of the conference is done.

It is understood that these proposals are exact in nature, and contain all the essential details of a Progressive-Liberal alliance, as regards co-operation and policy of a government to be formed with Hon. Mackenzie King at its head, and with Hon. T.A. Crerar, Premier Drury of Ontario, Hon. A.B. Hudson of Winnipeg, form er Premier Stewart of Alberta, Hon. W.S. Fielding and Mr. E.A. Lapointe among its outstanding members.

Up to the Members

Undoubtedly there is a division of opinion among the members at this time, some believing that an alignment with the Liberals under Hon Mackenzie King offers the best prevent means of putting into legislation what are considered the most vital of the Progressive principles, while others are firmly convinced that the Progressives should stand aloof from formal co-operation with the Liberal party and from any share in the responsibility of administration.

It is reported without any official authority, that Mr. Crerar himself favors an alliance with adequate safeguards for the preservation of the identity of the Progressive party and its fixed beliefs. No person or political standard would predict at noon today what the result might be.

The situation is entirely in the hands of the members.

Saskatoon, Dec. 17.—According to dispatches from England, Dr. C. Rigton Lloyd, the newly elected bishop of Saskatchewan, will be sailing some time in February. Dr Lloyd, who is head of the Fellowship of the Maple Leaf, a society that sends out teachers from England for Western Canada, had intended personally to conduct a large group of teachers sailing Dec 17. Under the ecclesiastical law of the province of Rupertsland, however the name of the bishop-elect must go before the house of bishops for ratification, three months being allowed in deference to this procedure that Dr Lloyd has altered his arrangements, which were made before he was notified of his election

"The rest of the legacy," explained Mr Smith. "Good Heavens does that woman think that Mr Mellicent stepped with the air of one pulling himself back from an abyss.

Miss Maggie laughed.

"I don't wonder you exclaim. It is funny—the way she takes that for granted, isn't it? Still, there are grounds for it, of course."

"Oh, are there? Do you think she'll get more, then?" demanded Mr. Smith, almost savagely.

Miss Maggie laughed again.

"I don't know what to think. To my mind the whole thing was most extraordinary, anyway, that he should have given her anything either to strangers as they were. Still, as Hal he says, as long as he has recognized their existence why he may again of course. Still on the other hand he may have very reasonably argued that, having willed them a handsome thousand apiece, that was quite enough, and he'd give the rest somewhere else."

"Humph! Maybe," grunted Mr. Smith.

And he may come back alive from South America."

"He may."

"But Hattie isn't counting on either of these contingencies, and she is counting on the money," sighed Miss Maggie, sobering again. "And Jimmy Jim—I'm afraid he's going to find it just as hard to keep caught up now—as he used to."

"Humph!" Mr Smith frowned. He did not speak again. He stood looking out of the window, apparently in deep thought.

Miss Maggie, with another sigh, turned and went out into the kitchen.

The next day on the street Mr. Smith met Mellicent Hatfield. She was with a tall, manly looking young jawed young fellow whom Mr Smith had never seen before. Mellicent smiled and bridaled adorably. Then, to his surprise, she stopped with a gesture.

"Mr. Smith, I know it's on the street, but I want Mr Gray to meet you and I want you to meet Mr Gray. Mr Smith is—is a very good friend of mine, Donald."

Mr Smith greeted Donald Gray with a warm handshake and a keen glance into his face. The blush, the hesitation, the shy happiness in Mellicent's eyes had been unmistakable. Mr Smith felt suddenly that Donald Gray was a man he very much wanted to know a good deal about. He chatted affably for a minute—he went home and straight to Miss Maggie

The Kidneys

The office man and the outdoor worker suffer alike from derangements of the kidneys.

Backaches and headaches are among the symptoms. In some cases Bright's disease soon develops, others suffer from bladder, blood pressure until hardening of the arteries sets in.

Mr. A. D. MacKinnon, Kirkwood, Inverness county, N.S., writes:

"I can highly recommend Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills to all suffering from weak kidneys. I suffered from kidney disease for a long time. I only take my last box of five doses I can nearly pronounce troubled with headaches, and no treatment seemed to do more than relieve temporary relief. I was finally told of Dr. Chase's Kidney Liver Pills, and after using a few doses was completely relieved. I have also used Dr. Chase's Ointment with the best results, and never fail to recommend these wonderful remedies."

"Why," Donald Gray, pleased?" he demanded.

"Oh, those children!"

"But who is he?"

"Well, to begin with, he's devoted to Mellicent."

"You don't have to tell me that. I've seen him—and Mellicent."

"Oh!" Miss Maggie smiled approvingly. "What I want to know is who is he?"

"He's a young man whom Mellicent met this summer. He plays the violin, and Mellicent played his accompaniments in a church entertainment. That's where she met him first. He's the son of a minister near their camp, where the girls went to church. He's a fine fellow, I guess. He's hard hit with Mellicent. He came to Hillsboro at once, and has gone to work in Hammond's real estate office. Do you see he's in earnest?"

"I should say he was! I liked his appearance very much."

"Yes. I did—but her mother doesn't."

"What do you mean? She—oh pshaw!"

"Decidedly! She says he's worse than Carl Pennock—that he hasn't got any money, nor any money."

"Money!" ejaculated Mr Smith, in great amazement. "Does she mean that she's really letting money stand in the way of Mellicent's happiness with him?" Why, it was only a year ago that she herself was bitterly resenting Mrs. Pennock for doing exactly the same thing in the case of young Pennock and Mellicent."

"I know," nodded Miss Maggie. "I'm afraid she seems to have forgotten that."

"Then's on the other foot this time."

"It seems to be."

"Humph!" muttered Mr Smith.

"I don't think Jane has done much by way of opposition, you know. As they only reached home, and she's found out about it. But she knows me she shouldn't let it go on not for a moment. She has since heard that Mellicent"

"Shall I be—meddling in what isn't my business, if I ask what they are?" snorted Mr Smith sidelong, as Miss Maggie paused. "I'm sure I don't know. I am very much interested in Mellicent."

"Not a bit. I'm glad to have you. Perhaps you can suggest a way out for her," sighed Miss Maggie. "Of course I see that Jane wants Mellicent to marry Hibbard Gaylord."

"Shucks! I've seen young Gray only once, but I'd give more for his little finger than I would for a cart load of Gaylords!" flung out Mr Smith.

"So would I," approved Miss Maggie. "But Jane—well, Jane feels otherwise. To begin with, she has much flattered at Gaylord's attentions to Mellicent—the more so because she's left Rosalie—I beg her pardon, Elizabeth for her."

"Then Miss Elizabeth is in it, too?" "Very much in it. That's one of the reasons why Hattie is so anxious for more money. She wants clothes and jewels for Rosalie so she can keep pace with the Gaylords. You see there's a wheel within a wheel here."

"I should say there was!"

"But as I can judge, young Gaylord is Rosalie's devoted slave—until Mellicent arrives; then he has eyes only for her, which pigues Rosalie and her mother not a little. They were together more or less all summer, and I think Hattie thought the match was as good as made. Now, once in Hillsboro, back he flies to Mellicent."

"And—Mellicent?"

Miss Maggie's eyes became gravely troubled.

"I don't understand Mellicent. I think—no, I know she cares for young Gray; but—well, I might as well admit it, she is ready any time to flirt outrageously with Hibbard Gaylord, or—or with anybody else, for that matter. I saw her flirting with you at the party last Christmas!" Miss Maggie's face showed a sudden pink blush.

Mr. Smith gave a hearty laugh.

"Don't you worry, Miss Maggie. If she'll flirt with young Gaylord and others, it's all right. There's safety in numbers, you know."

"But I don't like to have her flirt at all Mr. Smith."

"It isn't flirting. It's just her bottled up childhood and youth bubbling over. She can't help bubbling, she's been repressed so long. She'll come out all right, and she won't come out hand in hand with Hibbard Gaylord. You see if she does."

Miss Maggie shook her head and sighed.

"You don't know Jane. Jane will never give up. She'll be quiet, but she'll be firm. With one hand she'll keep Gray away, and with the other she'll push Gaylord forward. He—Mellicent herself won't know how, as a rule. But it'll be done, and I trouble for the consequences."

"Hm-m" Mr Smith's eyes had lost their twinkle now. To himself he muttered. "I wonder if maybe—I hadn't better take a hand in this thing myself."

"You said I didn't understand what what you said," murmured Miss Maggie dombrally.

"Nothing, nothing, Miss Maggie" replied the man. "Then, with her nose-like alertness, he lifted his chin "How long do you say this has been going on?"

"Why, especially since they all came home two weeks ago. Jane knew nothing of Donald Gray till then."

"Where does Carl Pennock come in?"

Miss Maggie gave a gesture of despair.

"Oh, he comes in anywhere that he can find a chance, though, to do him justice, Mellicent doesn't give him—many chances."

"What does her father say to all this? How does he like young Gray?"

Miss Maggie gave another gesture of despair.

"He says nothing—or, rather, he says, half aloud, 'Oh, well, it'll all come out all right in time. Young folks will be young folks!'"

"But does he like Mr. Gray? He knows him, of course."

"Oh, yes, he likes him. He's taken him to ride in his car once, to my knowledge."

"His car! Then Mr Frank Hinkdell has—a car?"

"Oh, yes, he's just been learning to run it. Jane says he's crazy over it, and that he's tending her to go all the Mrs. She says he wants to be on the move somewhere. Where's Moline? He's taken up golf, too. Did you know that?"

"Well, he didn't—"

"Oh, er, he's joined the Hillsboro Country Club, and he goes up to it in his car every morning. Did you know that?"

"I can't imagine it—Frank Hinkdell playing golf!" "You forget," smiled Miss Maggie, "Frank Hinkdell is a retired business man. He has time on his hands now, you see."

"Humph!" muttered Mr Smith, as he turned to go into his own house.

Mr Smith called on the Frank Hinkdells that evening. Mr. Hinkdell took him out to the garage (very large it was) and showed him his shining new car. He also showed him his lavish supply of golf clubs, and told him of a "nifty links" he was having these days. He told him, too, of his plans for a summer trip, and that there was nothing like travel to broaden a man's mind. He said a great deal about how glad he was to get out of the mill and the office and counter—but in the next breathe he declared that he had never been a store man down by young Gray and asked him many questions about the store. He was so interested in visitors, she said (they waited supper), and seemed wonderfully pleased for about five minutes, that is, with new that his silence was shifting more and more from Mellicent and Gray's courtship to Mellicent and Hibbard Gaylord, when Frank Hinkdell's voice

Mr. Smith apparently lost interest in young Pennock's fish story then. At all events, another minute found him leaning above Mrs Hinkdell's instrument in violin—but with this difference: while in the chatter with Mrs Hinkdell he became a victim to the courtesy with which one bores his hostess, he became at once, in the violin, a master. Mrs Jane herself could not have told exactly how it was done, but she knew that two minutes later young Gray and Mellicent were at the piano. The low, tender and happy crooning of a tentative bow across the strings; then, as both chimed eyes and happy, giving him "a" on the piano.

Mrs. Hinkdell enjoyed the music very much—so much that he begged for another selection and yet another. But Smith did not appear to realize that Mellicent, Donald and Gaylord were passing through sham interest and frank boredom to disguised silence. Equally obvious was he of Mrs Jane's efforts to substitute some other form of entertainment for the violin playing. He shook hands very hearty, however, with Pennock and Gaylord when they took their somewhat haughty departure, a little later, and, strange to say, his interest in the music seemed so on with their going, for as soon then he turned to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hinkdell with a very animated account of some Hinkdell idea he had thought of only that moment.

Great Resources of Alaska

New Governor Plans to Exploit Country's Natural Wealth

The vigorous new Governor of Alaska, Mr. Bone, has discovered that that northern territory is a "big land entirely surrounded by a red tape

Governor Bone proposes to cut the red tape and promote exploitation of Alaska's great natural wealth. Since the discovery of the early gold rush the white population has fallen off. The Governor will encourage colonization for the development of the rich mines and timber lands and the great agricultural resources. The climate of Southern Alaska is not so vastly different from that of New York and the Territory is said to be capable of supporting fifty times its present population.

If he can succeed in opening up this great natural storehouse of wealth he will accomplish a valuable constructive work.

Mr. Balfour's Winnipeg Investments

It is not generally known that Mr. A. J. Balfour has many investments in Canada, including a number of buildings in Winnipeg. In 1901 he sold Strathcona, a Scottish estate of 70,000 acres, for $500,000. His father died when he was nine years old and his inheritance accumulated during a long minority. So, Mr. Balfour is quite a wealthy man.—From the Citizen Journal.

"YOUR TEETH"

THE HUMAN JAWS

By DRS. PROCTOR, McGEE, D.D.S., M.D., Editor of "Oral Hygiene"

If any bone in the body is fashioned to stand the particular strain that comes to its own zone.

The shape and strength and blood supply of each bone is just right for that bone, just as a well balanced piece of machinery must have every part fitted to do its work and must have every part strong enough to last without too much weight or bulk.

The bones of the jaw have as a prime function from the presence of chewing only a very thin membrane composed of periosteum and mucous which we call the mucoperiosteum.

The teeth are set in sockets, properly called alveoli, which are simply holes in the bone that fit the roots of the teeth.

There is a membrane that lines the socket and at the same time covers the tooth root. This is a double fac ed membrane which protects and nourishes both the bony surface and the surface of the tooth root. The jaws have transmitted to them the pressure that is made upon the teeth in chewing and the only thing that differs from solid stomach. Sometimes I felt like a solid smasher, and my heart would palpitate so I was afraid I had heart trouble. My barber spared no manner in providing me with the best of treatments, but nothing benefitted me and, as I said, I was told my case was beyond the reach of any medicine."

"Major Park's statement about what Tanlac did for him convinced me there might be a chance for me, so I gave it a trial. It was simply marvelous the way this medicine brought back my health and overcame all my troubles. I feel like a different woman, not anything without fear of the comfort afterwards and I have gained ten pounds in weight. It is simply wonderful that a medicine could do so much good My life is no more like what it was than a bright sunshiny day is like a dark, rainy one. I am a well and happy woman and it's all due to this great medicine."

She Thought She Had Heart Trouble, Says This Winnipeg Woman

"I was told no medicine in the world could help me, but Tanlac did what they seemed to be impossible, and I am feeling better than I have in many years," said Mrs. Walter J. Saunders, of 645 Rosedale Ave., Winnipeg, Man.

"About a year ago my health broke down completely and I had to take to my bed. I had a regular siege of it and only after many weeks was I able even to do so much as sit up. Nothing I took gave me any strength and I just wasted away.

"I barely ate enough to keep alive, and what little I did eat caused great distress from acid stomach. Sometimes I felt like I would smother, and my heart would palpitate so I was afraid I had heart trouble. My husband spared no manner in providing me

Mother! Mother!

Child's Bowels With California Fig Syrup

Hurry mother! Even a sick child loves the "fruity" taste of "California Fig Syrup" and it never fails to open the bowels. A teaspoonful today may prevent a sick child tomorrow. If constipated, bilious, feverish, fretful, has cold, colic, or if stomach is sour, tongue coated, breath bad, remember a good cleaning of the little bowels is often all that is necessary.

Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

Buy Canadian Books

Recently there was inaugurated a Canadian Authors Week during which the book buying public were urged to buy the works of Canada's own poets and authors. In all the larger centres of population the booksellers made splendid displays of the recent works of Canadian authors, which many of the more prominent publishers and engravers were good enough to lend. Well known Canadian writers, and the newspapers were devoted to reviews of Canadian books of verse and prose.

In recent years the output of books from the pens of Canada's writers has enormously increased. The advance has been not only in quantity but quality, and to-day that Dominion can boast of some of the most talented authors to be found in the world of fiction but of poetry and prose as well. Results of the books created by the Canadian Authors Week proved a veritable revelation of the wealth of high-class reading produced by Canadians during the past few years. Last year for example many prominent writers' output, quantity and quality good but not what it has been in this year.

Unquestionably the movement of Canadian Authors Week had the effect of directing the attention of thousands of Canadians to the work of their fellow citizens, and it undoubtedly has resulted in a largely increased sale of Canadian written and made books, and a deeper interest in Canadian literature.

To all lovers of Canada this cannot be otherwise than a most gratifying development. It is a well recognized fact that the literature of a country plays a profound and lasting part in influencing the thought and national life of a people. All students fully recognize and appreciate the truth in the sense which the literature of England has had on the national life of that country, but of late years the literature of the United States has also had a great influence on the national life of that country, and the works of the great English and American essayists and authors have been treasured.

In the Dominion of Canada splendid literature is an undeveloped field. There are many rich fields of literature which are awaiting the touch of the husbandman, and the harvest will be a bountiful one. To encourage native talent in the production of such literature as will depict in a manner strong and true national spirit finds its reflection in the works of its writers.

The study and appreciation of Canadian literature is, therefore, a matter for Canadian pride and a beacon of hope for the Canada of the future. Our Canadian writers should receive all possible encouragement, and the best and most practical encouragement than for Canadians to buy books written by Canadians and made in Canada. The number of Canadians who boast of libraries of their own is very limited indeed. But those Canadians who should have one can easily establish the nucleus of such a library by buying one or two books by Canadian authors before the end of the year. Nothing could be more worth in the years to come as a more lasting Christmas gift can a Canadian make a fellow Canadian than to present him or her with a book by a Canadian author.

The Made in Canada slogan can be overdone, and its use twisted to the encouragement of inferior articles of manufacture and undeserving character. Merely because an article is made in Canada is not sufficient reason why Canadians should buy it in preference to other articles. It must have merit and it must be as reasonable in price as similar articles made elsewhere. But granted that it has equal merit and is reasonable in price the Canadian made article should command the support of Canadians.

Insofar as books by Canadian authors are concerned, they meet both these requirements. Until recently it is only Canadian writers who can truly and most sympathetically interpret Canada to Canadians. The writers of other countries cannot be expected to do this because they are lacking in that love for Canada which is essential to a true interpretation of Canadian thought, ideals and national aspirations.

Therefore, be it resolved, Canadians by buying and reading the works of our own Canadian authors will be the proud possessors of a choice selection of books by Canadian poets and authors. A number of volumes of Canadian verse can afford may not be large, but it can always be added to, and in a comparatively short time a really creditable little library will result.

THE CAUSE OF BACKACHE

Only In Rare Cases Does Backache Mean Kidney Trouble

Every muscle in the body needs constantly a supply of rich, red blood to do its work properly. This work it does. The muscles of the back are under a heavy strain and have little rest. When the blood is thin they lack nourishment and the result is a sensation of pain in these muscles. Some backache. Sloan pain in the back means kidney trouble, but the best medical advice is not to treat backache as seldom or never has anything to do with the kidneys. Urgency kidney disease may have progressed to a cri- tical stage without developing a pain in the back. This being the case pain in the back should always lead the sufferer to look to the condition of his blood. It will be found in most cases that the blood is thin and pale. Pink Pills to build up the blood and thus strengthen the nerves and the tired muscles of the back. Dodd's Kidney Pills to build up the blood Pink Pills for the blood that to the kidneys. Egypt Refused British Terms

Nationalists Want to Get Control of Suez Canal

Announcement is made that the Egyptian Nationalists have refused the terms of the Unionist cabinet of Great Britain, because Britain declared a right to maintain troops in Egypt to protect the Suez Canal. Because the Egyptians desired control of the Soudan, and were not getting it in the negotiations, they refused to make the difficulties which are causing bitterness and bloodshed in many parts of the world.

The Egyptian Nationalists are demanding the independence of Egypt and the Soudan, and unconditional withdrawal of British troops. Britain declares that it will not withdraw its troops from Egypt, because the Soudan was not conquered by the Egyptians, and because the Egyptians are not Britons, nor even like the Egyptian breed; but the Egyptians want the Soudan.

THE STANDARD

VERMILION, ALTA. DEC. 21, 1921.

To the many friends whose patronage we so gratefully appreciate, we extend the Season's Greetings with wishes for a Happy and Prosperous New Year's trade.

The year 1921 is fast drawing to close. It has been a hard year as nancial and business worries go, but, nevertheless a year in which the country as a whole has kept pretty well to windward. Internationally it was a year marked with big events in the conference now going on at Washington alone being of stupendous importance. The internecine warfare in Ireland appears to be gathering to an end with another star or two added to the British crown. The scars left by the war are gradually being healed up and the outlook is for peace and prosperity for a year in which to exercise them. The advent of the winter has brought with it a chill to many, but the advent of ideas would seem as if they had reached their high water mark and with their recession should come seasons filled with plenty. It has been a year of great political upheavals in Canada. The federal government, a government standing unique in the history of the country, went down in defeat with scarcely a tear shed upon its bier. The masses are unsettled, they want a change—It is coming and no longer, it is revolution no matter from what angle it may be viewed in this province a government with a very creditable record bent its head beneath the storm and it lies shattered on the sands of the forgotten. Government reports for the year indicate great progress and prosperity throughout the nation and there are drifts out leaving us in far better shape than most countries, although we are both to believe it. No nation is any more prosperous than to individuals and while we are obsessed with the illusion that we are downtrodden and poverty stricken, the records of the country with their unparalleled riches stand against us. We are better off than we were a year ago.

Locally we have striven along during the year and have made remarkable progress. The hard times were felt here as elsewhere but we have struggled through and indeed with a considerable measure of success. Our population is steadily increasing. There is more money in circulation and credit is on a sound basis. The call now is there are hard times to be encountered but we know of no locality where they are not likely to be in the spirit abroad that essentially we will come out alright and that in the spirit which will mean through successfully. Times may be hard but why make that your daily bread? Have you nothing else to think about and talk about except hard times—no money; no collections and no work. Is it a mite thing to do so? If we could only always look on the bright side of things and there is no dark cloud without its silver lining, how beautiful and serene our world's life would be. As the year 1921 fades into the realms of the past let us resolve that 1922 shall be a brighter and better year for the town and district of Vermilion. We have room for the achievement of great possibilities. Let us work together for the betterment of all concerned; let us put forth a united effort for the welfare of the community in its entirety give our business avenues wider areas reach out for the things that are in store for us forget petty jealousies, differences and strife or other prejudices, and fight for the interest of all the year and see if 1922 another banner year for Vermilion.

When we say the effective manner in which the Prince Rupert did the work assigned to her during the three days this past week we realize more than ever that we are entitled to a reduction in pension rates to what they were when the electrical fad to be man hobby and the only source of water supply was the C.N. tank from which practically no pressure could be obtained. We have made enquiries from Mr. Stevens and he will be respectfully back the mill rate as it is and we are not to be asked to increase it. Let us hope that the residents will be more liberal in their views and not have to resort to [illegible] January.

In keeping with the general good [illegible] the season of [illegible] British Columbia, in turning over to the Municipalities the profits of the liquor business. The sum of $40,000 from this source has already been handed to the city of Vancouver and Victoria will receive $30,000 on its share. All the municipalities throughout that province will also receive proportionate amounts. What a blessing it would have been to the municipalities of Alberta if it had had a government possessed of a like mind. The financial struggles now being combatted would have had a fair measure of being overcome. It is a golden opportunity for the government headed by Premier Greenfield to adopt some such measures as our sister province has done and by so doing reverse the policy hitherto extended in Alberta of taking all and giving none.

It is expected that the Meighen government will resign this week upon which W.L. Mackenzie King will announce his cabinet. According to the late press reports it would appear as if efforts were being made to form some sort of a coalition with the Progressives. The Progressives are holding out for at least three seats in the treasury benches and it is very doubtful if they can be allotted this number. There is a desire to have Premier John the ministry it will be remembered that during the campaign the charge was made that there was some understanding between Mr. Crerar and King in the event of the latter being returned to power. This charge was indignantly denied by both the parties, but it does not seem to be so wide of the mark after all when by a report that the Quebec Company are asking for Crerar's retirement. This is pure camouflage. The plain issue question now to be asked of the thousands of electors who cast their ballots for the progressives sincerely and honestly, if they do not stand a chance of being betrayed by the bishop-cast in this alliance [illegible] Crerar will be guilty of one of the greatest political deals ever perpetrated in Canada.

There is a concerted move to have Alberta represented in the King cabinet. It should be but precisely how it is to be done is the question. Hon Frank Oliver is being mooted by an Edmonton delegation while Hon. Duncan Marshall is being forwarded by other Liberals. The latter seems to defeat their own ends in the beginning. The policy of the party is opposed to representation by way of the senate; there appears to be no way for willing to place his sectional indemnity on the altar as a sacrifice and there is no Liberal tough enough to move it once import [illegible] and what is to be done. All waiting for a liberal—he so declared himself only a few short years ago, [illegible] that he was to be a liberal why be him? No one need question his political faith; he is thought to be a very sensible gentleman who has considerable wealth and was elected by the farmers of South Edmonton on the U. F. A. platform, which, with principles of which he did not always agree. Mr. Warner has all the qualifications, again, why not? In the course if the liberal party merely want a treasury bench cushion for Mr. Oliver or Mr. Marshall, then he is different. A move with that purpose in view however, is decidedly objectionable. And no one knows that better than those who are connecting his candidature. All the same it is very unfortunate that Alberta should not be represented in the next cabinet, but have we not to take our political misfortunes as well as fortunes?

CLAYSMORE
(From our own Correspondent)

The annual meeting of the Claysmore Local No. 556 was held on Dec. 11th. The following officers were elected for 1922 Pres. W. J. Daley; Vice-Pres. D. A. McLaren; Directors, J.H. Foster, J. Duffy, Ed. Hart, W. B. Williams and G. Freeman. Sec-Treas. G. C. Dunsmore.

There has been much competition for prizes at the Claysmore weekly whist drives Mrs. Frank Pubic was the winner of the last.

W. B. Williams has been appointed Municipal poundkeeper for Township No. 53, Range 7, W. 5. We understand this appointment is temporary until a permanent poundkeeper can be secured.

Mr. Williams has been doing some contract work in town for the last few weeks, but is expected back on the farm soon.

Lloyd George Tells Of His Part In The Irish Settlement

London.—Contrasted strikingly with Britain's regal pomp and splendor displayed in the House of Lords, was the scene in the House of Commons a few hours later when, without ceremony, but with evident conscious ness of powers and influence, the members heard the Prime Minister render an account of his stewardship and the Government's part in the Irish settlement.

[illegible] an hour and three-quarters Mr. Lloyd George spoke to crowded benches and jammed galleries. The only touch of color in the ancient legislative chamber was the [illegible] red-coated uniform of Col. Sir Samuel Hoare, who moved the reply to the speech from the throne.

It was on occasion like that of October 31, when the Premier, having been challenged, presented to the country the alternative of war or negotiation with Ireland and won the day by, a division overwhelmingly favoring the Government's policy; his role today was one simply narrating the problems faced by the delegations with a description of the way they were handled.

Every line of address Mr. Lloyd George silenced those who sought to [illegible] him. When an Ulster member interrupted him on "allegiance" Mr. Lloyd George having said that the status of Ireland was that of a free state, with allegiance to the King, he turned and faced the Ulsterite and declared emphatically: "Yes, allegiance to the King and swearing allegiance to the King." He then asked if this member to refrain from interruptions, as his task of exposition was difficult and one which he disliked. The Prime Minister was deeply impressive as he came near the end, when he also comes and seemed massive, he drew a picture of the British Imperial War Cabinet which a year ago met and was waiting for Ireland and looked to the future when Premier Lloyd George, Ireland's salvation, and Britain's victory, Ireland's joy

Suggests Direct Wireless Service

Plan For Direct Communication Between Britain and Australia Being Investigated

Melbourne.—The Federal Parliament has appointed a committee with authority to investigate and approve a plan for the establishment of direct wireless communication between Great Britain and Australia. Interest in the wireless idea was stimulated by the facility with which Australian stations received President Harding's [illegible] and wireless and cable and by the fact that the press associations received without relay, messages sent from Carnarvon, Wales.

London Except when atmospheric conditions are unusually bad, wireless speech messages are now being received daily from Australia by way of the post office station at Leafield, the first station of the British wireless chain.

The postmaster-general points out that the experts who are advising the Government in regard to the construction of additional stations of the Imperial chain oppose the opinion that greater reliability and cheapness would be secured by the use of intermediate stations about 2,500 miles apart which would be able to main tain communication when direct service is impossible.

British Miners Working Overtime

Greatest Rush of Business Since Pre-War Days

London.—Scottish coal mine owners have a rush of orders at present that has not been equalled since pre-war days. Steamers are loading coal day and night and the miners are working overtime. The situation in South Wales is similar to that at the Scottish mines

In consequence of the rush of business, coal prices are stiffening considerably. The increase is largely due to continental and other foreign orders for coal

Investigate Condition in West Indies

Toronto.—A commission, headed by Major Wood, has been sent here by the British Government to investigate economic and political conditions in the West Indies. The coming of the British mission has created considerable interest in view of the frequent discussions about possible sale of the West Indies to the U.S.

Predicts Dominion Status For India

Washington—Within the next ten years India will speak as an equal partner with Canada and Australia in the British Empire, the Right Hon. V. S. Srinivasa Sastri, India's representative in the British delegation in the armament conference, predicted in an address before the City Club. The speaker also predicted that possibly recent Irish developments would "quicken even his estimate of ten years," adding that "Britain will be wise if she gives Dominion status to India more easily than she had given it to Ireland."

Lively Debates in Saskatchewan Legislature

Question of Hon. J. A. Maharg's Resignation is Discussed

Regina.—Correspondence between Hon. J. A. Maharg and Premier Martin in connection with the former's resignation as Minister of Agriculture was a feature of a session of the Legislature last week. Mr. Maharg based his resignation on the Premier's action in supporting Hon. W. R. Motherwell as Liberal candidate for Regina in the recent federal elections. Mr. Maharg stated that he was prompted the sympathy of the different members of the Government in his free to support the Progressive party in the federal campaign. Premier Martin denied having promised the support of the Government to the Progressive party. He stated that on several occasions he publicly announced his opinion that the members of the Government should be free to follow their own dictates in federal affairs. Mr. Martin expressed his regret at the resignation of Mr. Maharg, as he had hoped to have his assistance in carrying on the Government of the province in a manner satisfactory to all the people.

Harris Turner strongly advocated the abolition of the party system of Government by the Assembly. He thought the party system was an evil one, and resulted in the expenditure of money for party purposes to keep the party alive. Mr. Martin, in reply, stated that the party system had been built up as the result of experience of centuries. It was impossible under British constitutional practice to carry on Government without party lines. He would like to see a good strong opposition, as such opposition was a good thing for the Government.

The questions of grain marketing, Hungarian relief and other important matters were discussed by the Premier in debate.

At the instance of Geo. Corbburn, Independent, the correspondence in connection with the resignation of Hon. Geo. Langley was laid on the table, the contents of which created a mild sensation

The House adjourned on Friday for the Christmas holidays, and will reassemble Tuesday, Jan 10th

Financial Conference Would Benefit Europe

Allies and Former Enemy Countries Should Participate

London—The Daily Chronicle, which is regarded as being especially close to Government sources of information prominently displays a special article concerning the proposed financial conference to follow adjournment of the present conference in Washington. In its editorial columns the newspaper says: "This gives practical shape to the idea of doing for Europe what the Washington conference has done for the Pacific."

Declaring that it is not suggested that the United States should be asked to take the initiative in calling such a conference, it adds:

"The United States should be asked to take the initiative in calling such a conference, it adds:

King George Gives Speech From Throne

Special Session of Parliament to Consider Irish Question

London.—The special session of Parliament, called to consider the Irish peace settlement was opened by King George. In his speech from the throne he said: "It is my earnest hope that by the articles of agreement now submitted to you, the strife or enmity [illegible] may be ended."

The text of the King's speech was as follows: "My lords and members of the House of Commons I have summoned you to meet at this unusual time in order that the articles of agreement which have been signed by my ministers and the Irish delegation can at once be submitted for your approval No other business will be brought before you at the present session.

"It was with heartfelt joy that I learned of the agreement reached after negotiations protracted many months and effected not only the welfare of Ireland but of the British and Irish races throughout the world. It is my earnest hope that by the articles of agreement now submitted to you the strife of centuries may be ended and that Ireland as a free partner in the commonwealth of nations forming the British Empire will achieve fulfillment of her historical ideals

The New Year

Happy New Year! With each recurring new year this seasonable greeting and wish is extended by millions of people to each other. In some cases, no doubt, it is done as a mere matter of form, but probably the vast majority of people do sincerely hope that the incoming year may bring a larger measure of happiness and a greater prosperity to their friends and neighbors, their community and the world.

The extending of this old-time wish, "Happy New Year," is in a sincere wish implies much more than the utterance of the words. It imposes an obligation. If we sincerely wish that the new year may be a happy one, it is our duty to put forth the best that is in us to assist in bringing about a realization of our desire. And if all our New Year greetings and early handclasps are accompanied with a resolve to interpret them in definite action throughout the year following, the slightest question but that the new year will be a happy one would disappear.

There is every reason why 1922 should be a prosperous year. In the province of Alberta, for instance, the crop of the Western Canadian Provinces should represent a record of the highest value, and the agricultural producers thereof will benefit. Several years of poor crop in various sections of the country calculated the past as a very unsatisfactory one to the whole of the agricultural industry, but this year the acreage sown, and the yield to the producers the costs of production. Large volume as the crop proved to be, it was a debt-producing crop rather than a debt-paying crop. Such a condition is not likely to be repeated in 1922.

In general conditions seem far more favorable during the year now closing, with the trend of business in Canada distinctly better than in many other countries, there was unemployment. The consensus of opinion now seems to be that the worst is behind us, and that we have passed the period of depression. We look forward to a steady improvement.

While taxation must for some years continue to be heavy in order to pay the war bills of the nations, the cost of living is steadily falling, so that the wage earner and the heads of families can look forward to a larger measure of comfort in this score.

A survey of world conditions is also hopeful. The dark cloud which has been hanging over our Empire in connection with Ireland seems about to lift, and while a storm of civil war and strife seems about to be inaugurated in other lands, stories of turmoil, agitation and strife in Britain appear to be on the eve of a period of settlement.

The much talked-of World Conference of the nations on the limitation of naval armaments has been a wonderful success, a miraculous success. The nations have found a basis of agreement to end the costly and dangerous race for naval supremacy. The probability of future wars is greatly lessened, and along with the removal of that threat, which was paralyzing the financial, industrial, commercial and political world, confidence is returning and with it renewed business activity is certain. The reduction in the Burden of Taxation will likewise be considerable and will become more and more apparent as time passes.

All these circumstances, and others, make it reasonable to suggest the greeting "Happy New Year." What the world has long lacked is confidence. Let confidence be restored, and economic conditions will soon right themselves. It should, however, be borne in mind that each individual citizen can exert a powerful influence in the right direction. Never more than now was there a time when the wicked tale should be allowed to injure its detail. Rather, like St. Paul, the Canadian people should forget those things which are behind and press toward those things which are before.

Pessimistic things should be left severely alone. Hate ruin talk rapidly a coded Expressions of confidence and words of hopefulness and encouragement should flow from every mouth, and our actions should be in keeping with our words. If a person finds himself or herself relapsing in pessimistic feelings, and the language of discouragement and despair, such an attitude should be checked immediately. Such an anti-public mental condition is extremely serious. It is a positive detriment to progress, destroys confidence, and is a constant source of unhappiness.

Begin the new year right by cultivating a cheerful and hopeful disposition. It will make for happiness, your own and others. It is the basic foundation for a "Happy New Year."

Exports From B.C.

Exports State Canned Milk Trade Is Expanding Rapidly

British Columbia is making rapid forward strides in exports and the sale of condensed milk to other trade is number and canned salmon, there are now large quantities of various products passing through Vancouver port. Recently a heavy shipment of canned milk to France for distribution in Germany was made by a Vancouver concern and this trade is reported to be expanding rapidly. A large shipment of boot shooks and spools has just been sent to the Fiji and Friendly Islands, and herrings and wheat to the Orient, and food to France

Liverpool's New Cathedral

When Completed Will Be Larger Than Westminster Abbey

Liverpool Cathedral, the first portion of which is nearing completion, will be larger than York Minster and richer than Westminster Abbey when the great building is finished. It stands on a commanding site, 153 feet above the Mersey, and will occupy together with the Chapter House and Lady Chapel, over 100,000 square feet, which exceeds the area of any other English cathedral. A congregation of 2,500 will be able to assemble in the choir and eastern transepts, while the entire building will accommodate 9,000

THE HEALTHY MAN HAS THE BEST CHANCE

Is Always Full of Life and Energy—Failures Are Weak and Bloodless

Some men seem to have all the luck. If there is any good thing going these men seem to get them. They are always happy, they are successful, if they are workmen they get the highest pay, if they have the power of influencing people.

Many of these men are not clever. Some have the charm that makes men popular, but others are neglected, but this is not luck. It is due to a personal power that is in the blood of them as this sort are never weak, puny invalids. They may not be big, but they are full of life-and energy. The whole thing is a matter of good blood, good nerves and good health. Everyone would wish to be like this and the question is how can they get life and energy are purely a matter of health. By building up the blood and the nerves, sleeplessness, want of energy, weakness of the back, headaches and the ineffectual sort of presence which you possess in common with many can be rid of. Dr Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People make new, rich blood, strengthen and many pale dejected looking men and women are attractive, by improving their blood and toning up their nerves. If you are weak, low spirited or unhealthy, try Dr Williams' Pink Pills and note their beneficial effect

You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Catch Correct Time By Wireless

Jewellers in Paris Have Instantaneous Small Outfits

Fifteen hundred small wireless outfits have been installed in Paris jewelry watch and clock stores to enable the jewellers to catch the correct Greenwich mean time as it is sent daily at ten o'clock by the Eiffel Tower. Formerly the exact time had to be obtained from the observatory by telephone.

The installation is simplicity itself. The outfit, about nine inches in diameter is hung on a nail in the cellar or stood on a water or gas pipe to serve as a "ground wire" while the rest of the bulb from a nearby electric light and the fixture with a contact ring take the place of an aerial. It can be done in five minutes.

The outfit can be regulated to keep everything that is sent out from the Eiffel Tower. The correspondents listened in when the press matter was being sent out one day, and the signals were clear and easily heard

To Reduce Rents

BY LORETTO C. LYNCH

An Acknowledged Expert in All Matters Pertaining to Household Management.

Every last one of us is interested in lowering the cost of living. Yet, according to a recent news item, it took Isidor Berger, general manager of the Greater New York Real Estate Association, to give many of us a serious jolt when he says that we cannot have any more reduced rents if we become better housekeepers and keep our homes in better condition.

To quote Mr. Berger, "The owner of the average flat house finds that the returns on the rentals from such old buildings is usually insufficient, due, not so much to low gross income, but to the carelessness and cost of repairs necessitated by the tenants' unsanitary and physical upkeep of their apartments. It is the constant repairs that help swell the monthly expense account of any particular house."

Children, as a rule, are not restricted in their pleasures, and exercise the full use of the many tools against the equipment of the apartment, wrecking glass, plaster and plumbing fixtures

I was amazed at a strong speaker who insisted that women would have to GET TOGETHER if they were to obtain certain rights. She did not say we would have to learn to respect the RIGHTS of others. But she did NOT practise what she preached, for when she boasted to me how she had "put one over" on the landlord. She described how she let the pan run over so that HE (the landlord) had to put in a new ceiling for the tenant below.

A woman with the proper civic pride should be more than sympathetic through some fault of hers, the sink clogs up, necessitating the expense of a plumber, not to mention the inconvenience to many others. It is not alone civic pride or personal pride that should cause us to take care of the home we rent—in the last analysis it is collectively, more expensive to be careless.

Then, the home is supposed to exist so that the children may become good citizens. Some of the first evidences of the good citizen is to respect the rights and property of the other. How, then, can a mother believe she is doing her duty by her children when she allows them to deface and destroy the equipment of a rented home?

Some children are even ENCOURAGED by mothers to write upon walls and in other ways deface and destroy the home, because—"It's the landlord's don't belong to us. That has a bad moral effect upon children.

The really worth while mother tells her children that the house in which they live represents the combined efforts of many others—the builder, the architect, the mason—labor both of the head and the hands. The mother who is bringing up a good citizen never permits her child to delight in helping to keep up that home he is privileged to live in. In all this mother's household school what Mr. Berger has said For we all desire lower rents.

Railroad Man Says Smothering Spells Have Disappeared

"I had just about given up hope of ever getting well, but Tanlac has done me up fine and I want to pass this good word along to others," said Bernard Breen, well known clerk for the Grand Trunk Railway Co., residing at 293 River Ave., Winnipeg, Man.

"Two years ago I had an operation, and after that it seemed that I just could not get to feeling right again. I was very weak, and indigestion had me in a bad way. I was actually afraid to eat. I just had to force down enough to keep me alive, and after each little meal I had such awful pains and cramps it nearly drove me crazy. Gas would form in my stomach and bloat me until my heart actually quivered and I could hardly get my breath. I had awful smothering spells and had to sit up night after night and fight for breath and suffer agony every minute.

"Well, I tried so many medicines without getting any help I was pretty badly discouraged. Then I came across a Tanlac testimonial which described my case so well I decided to give the medicine a trial. My appetite picked up, and now I'm eating heartily of just anything I want and never have a bit of trouble with my stomach. I sleep like a log every night and always get up feeling fine. I certainly feel thankful for the good Tanlac has done me."

Tanlac is sold by leading druggists everywhere.

Armistice Day at Covent Garden

Man Who Forgot to Observe Silence Had Some Explaining to Do

When the silence fell on Covent Garden Market on Armistice Day, portions were still beneath their piled baskets, barrows were halted and hats were removed. The only sound that of the hooter, was distinctly and threwing cabbages two by two from his wagon to a costermonger with his barrow. "Pretty-pretty-thirty-thirty," rang clearly through the garden. It was too much for the man, who called in a constrained voice: "Hi!—you with the cabbages—have you no sense?" The man of the hooter, unmoved. "I'm sorry—I forgot," and sat down to his cabbages. Then, with twinkling whirling his cap. The silence ended "Chirp" came the call with an other cabbage.—The London Daily Telegraph

FOR SALE
DAIRY COWS—One Ayr. land of choice Ontario cows, the pick of the best Holstein herds in Canada —all to freshen within next 2 or 3 weeks. Price $125.00 each.

PAGE HAND-POWER MILKERS—Price $185.00 payable $25.00 cash and balance in one year. We have 50 Milkers to put out in new districts—one in each locality—at a reduction of $50.00, making this special introductory price $135.00, cash or easy terms. Shipped in 30 days.

CHOICE IMPROVED DAIRY FARMS—We have for sale a number of extra choice barnains. Those are Restricted Soldier holdings which have reverted to the Soldier Settlement Board. They are complete homes ready for occupation, and the price in most cases is a substantial reduction from what the Farms are worth in the Eastern division. The Vegreville district may get to Lamont on Thursday, January 5th, fifth to raise the valuation in the Western division. The schedule for the Eastern division has been practically completed, and all three teams are satisfied with the valuations as regards playing strength. The Pine Braves, Mannville and the fifers will be out to make a clean sweep during the past two days whipping their combinations into strong play for form and they expect to get good results. Bert Smythe has given the Black and yellow clad team some tal ing with regard to the game and has the legedis at stiff work outs and he announces that the Acadians will be in the best shape of the tournament Gus De Mannuve packs pieces will be forced to travel at a rate of the time to keep up the previous games to come out on the winning end of the score.

Hayley Gladue has been hard at work at the difficult task of lining up a championship contender to sport Fleming colors this season. Hayley is no doubt but he will be found on deck with a crack aggregation that will strike fear to the heart of every time to beat out.

Billy Lenge of Mannville is keep his string of sharpshooters on their toes and expects that when they meet the Vermilion Bankers on the ice at the press rink they will be able to make things have for their opponents. Billy is a hard man to beat.

It is generally understood in dominion Lacrosse circles that Vermilion will be represented in the Provincial finals at the Pavilion at Alberta next month. The citizens of Mannville are giving their team royal support in order to enable the Ukrainian village tribe to cop the championship honors of the eastern division in their first year in the league. Should they do so they expect to be the club to beat out for the league honors the succeeding season.

As the battle will be one of the best in the season's game of the championship competition, the city should be a real crowd on hand. Up to the time of writing the club has not been definitely decided upon, but it is likely that they will have become selected

HAY WANTED
The "Hay Movement" has been on for many days. Farmers have not got it on the best or best of good quality. Hay is being shipped in from all parts of the country, and while the weather has been fine in the past few weeks, it has been in the form of rain. But we have secured a number of orders which we will fill as soon as we can get the hay. Any hay not suitable for our purposes will be refused. If we have your hay, because it is unsuitable for our use we will also sell it for you and you will be sure of a fair price.

He did not appear to notice that the strain of the past had become more than big but still continued to work a great deal of hay each day between the seasons. He seemed to enjoy Mr. Blaisdell, and I know that Mrs. Blaisdell found a keen interest in me, born in 1776, and who had lived to see Scott's note gradually rise in value. Her husband never seemed to mind the weather. He would come in from the fields tidy and of course his clothes and face and hands were always as much to match his tidy appearance.

Mrs. Maggie Smith was the only one who failed to appreciate the old man. She used to watch Jennie comb his hair and comment upon how much it was falling out. She would say that she believed he was losing his mind, and that she had noticed that he was getting more childish every day. Then she would laugh and say that, after all, perhaps it wasn't surprising, when he was in a family of children.

The first time I saw Mrs. Smith I had a notion she was going to be a trial to Mr. Blaisdell, but I soon found that he could take care of himself. He would listen to her complaints and then go his own way, and I never saw that they affected him in the least.

Mrs. Maggie was a large, handsome woman with a good deal of color, and a voice that could be heard a block away. She was very fond of dress, and I remember that she was always wearing a big hat with a bird on it, and a fur boa around her neck. She was very fond of Jane, and I used to wonder how she could be so fond of her when she was so different in every way. Jane was so quiet and gentle, and Mrs. Maggie was so loud and coarse. But I suppose Jane was the only one who ever paid her much attention, and that was enough to make her love her.

Mrs. Maggie was very much annoyed when Jane first began to go out with Fred Goodwin. She said that Fred was not the kind of a young man she wanted Jane to associate with, and that he was not good enough for her. But Jane went her own way, and Mrs. Maggie finally gave in, and said that Fred might come to the house. I think she was afraid that Jane would marry him and go away, and she could not bear to have her leave home.

Mrs. Maggie was very much interested in Mr. Blaisdell's health, and used to watch him closely. She would say that he looked pale, or that he was losing flesh, and would insist that he should take more exercise. She would tell him that he ought to go out in the air more, and that he ought to have a change. She said that she believed that what he needed was a vacation.

The first time I saw Mrs. Maggie was at the table at which Miss Mac and I were sitting. She was talking very loudly, and I could hear what she was saying. She was telling Mr. Blaisdell that he ought to have a vacation, and that he ought to go away for a month or two. She said that she believed that a change would do him a great deal of good, and that he ought to go to the seashore or to the mountains. Mr. Blaisdell looked very much annoyed, and I could see that he was trying to change the subject, but Mrs. Maggie would not be silenced. She said that she knew that he could afford to go away, and that he ought to do so. She said that he was getting old, and that he ought to take care of himself. She said that she knew that he would not do so unless she made him, and that she was going to do so.

Mr. Blaisdell looked very much annoyed, and I could see that he was trying to change the subject, but Mrs. Maggie would not be silenced. She said that she knew that he could afford to go away, and that he ought to do so

ECZEMA IN RASH CUTICURA HEALS
Very Itchy and Burned. Troubled Six Weeks.

"One day Ione's face came out in a rash that we were told was eczema. Her cheeks got sore and she was troubled with big loss of sleep. The breaking out was very itchy and burned so that I had to be given on her hands to keep her from scratching. The trouble lasted about six weeks before I used Cuticura. I saw one large box of Cuticura Ointment with two cakes of Cuticura Soap when she was healed." (Signed) Mrs. H. Burns, Rural Route Rd., Dack, Ont. A Whistling Mouse

Only One Known That Can Mimic Birds

The town of Orie in Ozark County, Mo., makes a bid for fame with a whistling mouse, the first of its kind.

Whether this mouse has been imbibing too freely of Ozark "corn likker" or whether it thinks it is a mocking bird, is not clear.

It was discovered in the home of W. H. Hampton, a merchant at Orie, and apparently had wandered in from the woods for the winter

The mouse can mimic a quail, mocking bird or any other bird, according to the Rev Walter E. Fish, missionary for the American Sunday School Union of Springfield, who vouches for the authenticity of the story. It keeps up a continuous whistle and chatter all day and night, proving only when it hears strange voices in the building. Fortunately, the Hamptons are not superstitious, and attach no significance to the mouse's performance

A "balanced diet" may sound confusing to many people
The facts, as explained here, are simple.
The secret of a "balanced diet" is to have food containing all the elements needed for proper nutrition. These elements are protein, to nourish the tissues; starch and sugar to furnish energy; fat to supply heat; and mineral salts to provide the material necessary for building nerves, brain, and tooth and bone structure.
Grape-Nuts, the nourishing cereal made of whole wheat flour and malted barley, served with cream or milk, is a complete food for young and old alike.
Go to your grocer today and get a package of Grape-Nuts. Eat it with milk or cream for breakfast; or with stewed fruit, jelly or jam, as a delicious dessert for lunch or dinner.
Every member of the family will relish this palatable and nourishing food—

The Newspapers Win

Results Show There Is No Better Advertising Medium

Value of newspapers for advertising has once more been demonstrated by an extensive survey made by United States army officers to find out what publicity used last summer to secure candidates for the citizens' military training camp at Plattsburg. Each candidate who attended the camp was asked how he learned of the camp and the responses from these answers have been carefully checked In the date for candidates every possible means of publicity was used, including show cards, addresses in public schools and personal solicitation. The survey of results of these means of publicity shows that newspapers influenced nearly 50 per cent of all candidates.

Faith Cures and Faith Diseases

Imagination Plays Large Part In Health and Sickness

"There are faith cures," a doctor said, "and there are also faith diseases. You believe you're cured, and so, you are cured You believe you've got a disease, and so, you've got it. Faith does the trick

"Every medical man knows the story of the hospital patient whose nurse told him, for a joke, that the patient preceding him had had small pox. Smallpox hadn't visited that locality for years, but the joke victim took it and died of it in three days.

"Another hospital patient was one day told that a potion to be applied to his arm would burn him pretty severely. By mistake water was applied instead of the potion, but the patient grimaced and groaned in pain, and in a few minutes large white blisters developed where the water had touched

"Faith! Faith is a marvellous thing, and to say that it will remove mountains is no great exaggeration either all."

Happy New Year! /

"Manager Pillbo is putting on one of the best pictures of the season for Friday and Saturday nights, with Saturday Matinee — "Don't Ever Marry" with leading star cast.

A voluntary contribution was raised for the benefit of Mrs. Fred Grey and her son, by the business men and other citizens of the town and they will be pleased to know that the amount raised—$215.50—has been deposited in the Canadian Bank of Commerce, to Mrs. Grey's credit, and a savings book presented to her. Great honor and praise is due to the promoters of this contribution as well as to the generous contributors.

Health, Police and Fire protection, sidewalk and street repairs, street lighting, office expenses are all over head costs of operating a town. To meet these expenses funds had to be procured from the bank, now can obligations to the bank must be paid and the only source of revenue a municipality has is by taxes. Therefore, for a town to exist taxes must be paid. Have you done your part?

A most enjoyable time was spent Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Hay, when a number of the girls gathered to do honor in the form of a surprise, to one of their former school teachers, Miss A.S Hutchison. Miss Hutchison is a guest of Mrs. Hay during the Christmas holidays

The monthly meeting of the Women's Institute will be held on Wednesday, Jan. 4th at the School of Agriculture at 2 p.m. Mrs. Prince will give a paper on "Our attitude towards those who stammer." All welcome. Please remember this is the beginning of the New Year and start well by paying your dues. New Members welcomed

Wednesday, January 11th, at Union Hall there will be a dance, with games, auto and other races to help pay Santa Claus' expenses when he visited the kiddies on Friday night, Dec 23rd. Ladies please bring cakes. Gents 50c. Ladies without cakes, 25c for supper.

"Don't Ever Marry," the big matrimonial nightmare, is the attraction at the Columbia Theatre Friday and Saturday. Prices 25c and 50c.

POULTRY AND SEED GRAIN EXHIBITION

The Agricultural Society are holding a Poultry Exhibition in connection with the Feed Grain Fair early next year. Although the arrangements have not been completed we understand that an exhibitor will be allowed to show as many birds as he or she wishes, the idea being to get the birds placed so that prospective purchasers may have their choice. This will afford all the chance to procure good stock birds and should receive the support of all poultry men in the district. We presume that the owners will be present and selling or trading and birds after the exhibition will take place.

HOROSCOPE OF HORRORS

London, Dec. 19.—The year 1926 is destined to shake the world to its foundations, both physically and politicaly. It is to be a succession of plagues, famines, floods, shipwrecks, rioting and revolution. So says the British Journal of Astrology, which has drawn the horoscope for that year, when the planets Mars and Mercury will be in conjunction.

REVENUE FROM PROV. SECRETARY'S DEPT INCREASES

Auto Licenses More Than Thousand Over Last Year, Showing Continued Growth

Revenue from the provincial secretary's department including theatres, automobiles and corporation taxes has increased considerably during the past year. The number of automobile licenses issued dropped just short of the 60,000 and the actual number issued was 59,571 compared with last year's 58,915 licenses. The revenue from this source was $717,937 compared with $682,278. This is an increase advance since 1906 when there were just 61 registrations. The big percentage of increase was in 1917 when the registrations jumped from 9,707 to 20,824.

Money received under the Theatres Act including amusement tax and licenses was $195,000 compared with $170,000 last year. The Pantages was closed part of the year and the theatre business has not been so good as usual, but the increase is very satisfactory.

Taxes on corporations amounted last year to $240,000, this year to $95,000.

VERMILION FARMERS WIN OPENING GAME OF BIG SIX CIRCUIT FROM MANVILLE

Farmers Played a Classy Brand of Hockey and Took the Visitors Into Camp by Score 7-2

VERMILION, Jan. 3.—Before a crowd of spectators approaching several hundred people the Big Six hockey league opened here yesterday afternoon with the Vermilion Agrarians and the Manville sextette, the former winning by seven goals to two in a fairly fast and exceptionally clean exhibition of hockey.

The first period was one of open playing, each side doing up the opponents style of stick handling. The only score made was by Billy Barr from a mix-up in front of the visitor's net. The second period developed speedier stick handling on both sides. Ten minutes after the opening of the session Bradbury served on a pass from Pilkie which he cleverly carried through the defence line to the net. Scarle shot another a few seconds later from a close ice front of the goal. The third period saw the fastest skating of the game, with Manville playing a brilliant defence and the Agrarians rounding down in an offensive play. Shortly after the opening Billy Barr caught the puck and made a rush, carrying the disc the entire length of the ice to add to t. score. The visitors then rejected, Turnbull making a drive from right, catching Holland in the net badly napping. This was followed by C. Barr adding another for the farmers from a pass from Pilkie Turnbull gave the visitors their second score of the game. The farmers added two more, one by Billy Barr and the other by C. Barr, both being neat plays.

The Agrarians play, a better combination, were heavier players and knew more about the game. Manville was a lighter team but composed of fast skaters and clever stickhandlers. They lacked combination as this was the first game they had played together.

Vermilion Defeats Innisfree Six to Four in Clean, Fast Game

VERMILION, Dec. 30.—Harry Gid bs's young Innisfree, the Vermilion Firemen hockey sextette, journeyed to Innisfree on the 28rey this afternoon, where they played an exhibition game and vanquished the Innisfreigsters by a score of six to four. In the closest contest staged on inside free ice in ten years. The fire braves played an excellent game all round, Burns, on the right side of the boards directed the play, and the result was a nice combination.

The red and yellow clad team are showing up well as being a well balanced aggregation, and their style will improve as the season progresses. Innisfree appears to have a much stronger team than last year, and with a little practice and experience will prove real contenders before the championship of the big six hockey league is decided. The Vermilion players were Mackenzie, Bennett McKeon, Curtis, Burns and H. Ford. Subs.—Glanville, Gannon and Winters.

R. R. Man Says It Kept Him On The Job—Was Nearly Down And Out

"It's all due to Tanlac that I am able to be on the job today for I was not about down and out when I began taking it," said Harold Bamberger, a well known railroad conductor on the Canadian National Railway, residing at 320 Donald St., Winnipeg. "My sleep at night did me little good, and I could wake up in all hours of the morning. My appetite was [illegible] I had no desire for food, and what I did eat would lay on my stomach like a lump of lead. I was in a miserable condition generally, and was so nervous I was afraid to go to sleep for fear I would have a nightmare. I was also troubled with pains in my back and limbs, and my whole system was badly run down. I was in such a bad shape that I was hardly able to do my work, and was constantly losing time. I was finally persuaded to try Tanlac, and after taking a few bottles I felt like a new man. My appetite returned, I began to sleep like a child, and my nerves became steady and strong. I have taken altogether six bottles of Tanlac, and am now in the best of health. I have gained twenty pounds in weight, and am able to do my work with ease. I am glad to recommend Tanlac to my friends, for I know it will do all that is claimed for it."

Tanlac is sold in Vermilion by Vermilion Drug Co.

Canada's Needs

No 1—Population

In this the first of a series of articles [illegible] given to the subject of the needs of Canada, [illegible] of many other [illegible] happen upon the [illegible]

We people may challenge the statement that Canada's most pressing need is population, but [illegible] more important than population is the righting of certain social wrongs and the raising of the moral and religious life of the nation.

There is of course, much truth in the statement that before any country can amount to anything, and before there can be increased employment and a high standard in life, there must be adequate population to develop the natural resources. Churches, banks, factories, railways, and so forth, do not make a country. It is people who make a nation. Without population the finest and best railways, banks, factories, churches, etc., are but poorly spent, or all help one another, or of their confederation they all must have it out with Mr. herself in her new incarnation a [illegible] misery, disappointment and [illegible] France with her static [illegible] Dudgeon, we with our genial host [illegible] and we [illegible] another worthless mark, Belgium with her sour racial grumbles, are all necessary to the [illegible] common people a common front, the pertinacious attacks of war in her economic aspect, [illegible] Canada, [illegible] and [illegible] Manchester [illegible]

Mother! Clean Child's Bowels With California Fig Syrup

When a sick child loves the "fruity" taste of "California Fig Syrup" you can't realize how it cleans, or if your child is listless, cross, feverish, full of cold, sore throat, colic, give a teaspoonful to cleanse the liver and bowels. In a few hours all the sour, fermenting food passes out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers keep "California Fig Syrup" handy. They know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! you must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

Londons' New Dock

A new deep-water dock, sixty five acres in area, has been opened to commerce near the Royal Albert dock in London. This dock will have a depth of water 34 feet eight feet and almost 10,000 lineal feet of quayage, with large sheds and railway lines. There will also be arrivals 1,000 feet long, and a new dry dock 750 feet long, 100 feet wide and 33 feet deep on the block.

General Scouts' Advice

Nations Will Prosper If People "Keep Their Heads"

As General Smuts said, our present troubles will leave us stronger later on. It is better to fight through them now even at some sacrifice, than to let them sit and have to deal with bigger ones in the future. Germany is adopting a seemingly safer course this is proving a temporary relief in many activity by depreciating her currency and trying to live upon paper values. But imperial expert is convinced that she is merely postponing the evil day, and that a gigantic crash is inevitable. In the course of inflation never lasts long. Suddenly it vanishes and reveals the deceit. Then comes sober heads, and [illegible] economic bankers and traders and the people generally. It is the only sound and sane thing to do. Only a change world conditions and make of the nations prosperous in a moment. But we can at least refrain from making our own position worse by needless extravagance and artificial [illegible] resources.—The Johnstown Times.

On The Marriage Day

The Aftermath of War

Nations Have Common Enemy to Fight Against

In a great war the nations involved fight first against one another. But after the war is over, they all have another war to fight too. In the second war they are all on one side—the enemy is common to all. Whether they now squabble or agree among themselves, they have to unite to fight their previous groupings, or all for nearly apart, or all help one another; whatever sort of their confederation they all must have it out with W. herself in her new incarnation a [illegible] misery, disappointment and [illegible] France with her static [illegible] Dudgeon, we with our genial host [illegible] and we [illegible] another worthless mark, Belgium with her sour racial grumbles, are all necessary to the [illegible] common people a common front, the pertinacious attacks of war in her economic aspect, [illegible] Canada, [illegible] and [illegible] Manchester [illegible]

WHY BEAUTY FADES

A Condition Due Entirely to Poor, Watery Blood

The girl who goes home from school or from work thoroughly tired will be fortunate if she escapes a physical breakdown, because this girl has lifted away a multitude of the first warning symptoms of a thinning of the blood. Pale complexion, loss of appetite and nervousness are all signs of poor health to be preserved.

When the blood becomes thin and impure the patient becomes pale, lose and emaciated. She does not get enough nourishment from headaches, palpitation of the heart, dizzy spells, loss of appetite and a tired feeling will go from bad to worse, if prompt steps are not taken to enrich and purify the blood supply. To do this Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the right medicine. They act directly on the blood, filling the glob of health, no other medicine has ever equaled. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills it gives a fair trial their use brings the rosy tints of good health to the pale and sound aptitude. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have made thousands of pale, languid girls active and strong. It is the first sign of poor, thin blood mothers should insist upon their daughters taking a fair course of these pills. They will not only relieve the present ill and [illegible] but will [illegible] for life.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills can be obtained from any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

You're headachy! You have a bad taste in your mouth, your breath is sour, your skin is yellow, your lips parch. No wonder you feel lousy. Your system is full of bile not properly passed off into the bowels. You need a cleaning up inside. Don't continue being a bilious nuisance to yourself and those who love you, and don't resort to harsh physics that irritate and injure. Remember that most disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels are gone by morning with gentle thorough Cascarets—they work while you sleep. A 10-cent box will keep your liver and bowels clean, stomach sweet, and your head clear for months. Children love to take Cascarets because they never gripe or sicken.

A Dying Island

Scientists Believe Land Soured From Rapid Vegetation

A good sized island in Puget Sound is apparently dying of old age.

It was recently observed, says a correspondent, that every fir and cedar on the island was dead. About the water's edge vegetation appeared withered, and a thin vapour hung over the island during the day.

Never inhabited, and about 100 acres in extent the island has for years been used for the growth of wonderful trees. Fire three feet in diameter grew so thickly as to make travel through the almost impossible. Both cedar and alder flourished.

The ownership of this tract has been in litigation for some years, and the timber could not be touched.

Another theory is that the soil rests on a rock base, and the roottets of the plant have reached down through with the brine of Puget Sound to such an extent that the salt has burned out the plant life. The latter supposition is favored by decaying vegetation.

Birds keep away, as insects are few in dead timber.

WHY BEAUTY FADES

A Condition Due Entirely to Poor, Watery Blood

The girl who goes home from school or from work thoroughly tired will be fortunate if she escapes a physical breakdown, because this girl has lifted away a multitude of the first warning symptoms of a thinning of the blood. Pale complexion, loss of appetite and nervousness are all signs of poor health to be preserved.

When the blood becomes thin and impure the patient becomes pale, lose and emaciated. She does not get enough nourishment from headaches, palpitation of the heart, dizzy spells, loss of appetite and a tired feeling will go from bad to worse, if prompt steps are not taken to enrich and purify the blood supply. To do this Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the right medicine. They act directly on the blood, filling the glob of health, no other medicine has ever equaled. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills it gives a fair trial their use brings the rosy tints of good health to the pale and sound aptitude. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have made thousands of pale, languid girls active and strong. It is the first sign of poor, thin blood mothers should insist upon their daughters taking a fair course of these pills. They will not only relieve the present ill and [illegible] but will [illegible] for life.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills can be obtained from any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Cost Or Worker?

A new French estimate of the world's water power resources credits the United States with 20,000,000 available horsepower; Canada with 25,000,000; Norway with 7,500,000; Sweden with 6,750,000; Austria Hungary district with 6,750,000; Italy and Spain with about 5,000,000 each; Germany with 4,500,000; and Switzerland with 1,000,000, have a supposed compensating advantage in their supplies of coal.

British Columbia Developments

Canadian National Railway Official Speaks Optimistically of Outlook

Osborne Scott, general passenger agent, Canadian National Railways, Vancouver, who was in Winnipeg recently attending a conference of officials of western lines with C. A. Hayes, vice-president in charge of traffic, and H. H. Melanson, passenger traffic manager, Toronto, retires with respect to future business activities.

Speaking of progressive development in his territory, Mr. Scott was in an entirely optimistic mood. He spoke of steadily increasing land settlement in the Peace River and Dawson districts, of the [illegible] of Central British Columbia traversed by the Grand Trunk Pacific and also in the valleys of the Thompson and lower Fraser Rivers. Considerable land is already under cultivation in the more recently settled sections and production has reached substantial totals. The fruit output in the southern part of the province is, of course, the outstanding feature of land production. The increased attention of improved varieties and exercising constant vigilance in combat with pests, the only real enemies of fruit in British Columbia to Anti podean countries and to Japan is an other interesting feature of the agricultural progress during the past two years. Fruit shipments were [illegible] satisfactory and large repeat orders are now coming. The dairying industry is also expanding fast, the [illegible] of outdoor grazing being a big advantage

Lumber is the chief export of the province today, our splendid timber products finding ready markets in all parts of the world. Mr. Scott predicts, both raw and manufactured, are claiming attention of overseas purchasers to such an extent that a company, known as the Canadian Producers Corporation Limited has been formed with an authorized capital of $1,000,000 for the purpose of purchasing and exporting the output of British Columbia mills. Coal fields, oil fields and mines to all parts of the world. This company has already secured options on [illegible] and Occident. In connection with growing export business, Canadians will be glad to learn from Mr. Scott that the ships of their Merchant Marine are playing a very important part in carrying our goods to the world's markets. The flag of our merchant fleet is now found on the seven seas and in every port, and wherever it goes Canadian trade goes too. With respect to the lumber business, Mr. Scott states that exports this year to August 31st, amounted to 160,604,256 feet.

As all year round resort of tourists, holiday makers and seekers after health and pleasure, British Columbia is a favorite, Mr. Scott declares, and community and other organizations are taking advantage of the opportunity to [illegible] and entertainment of the many visitors. Vancouver is providing a new attraction in the form of a [illegible] way of an immense pavilion for winter salt water bathing and water sports. It will be located at Kitsilano beach and the water will be heated to the proper temperature. Visitors from the prairie provinces, Mr. Scott states, increase each succeeding season, have their own social organizations and have enjoyable gatherings and receive fine amusements.

The Wise Spider

Knows That Wet Weather Makes Encouraging Threads Useless

The spider is an excellent weather prophet. Henri Fabre, the wonderful old man who found out so many of the secrets of insects and birds, has learned that the threads of the spider's web used for catching its prey are useless by too much dampness. These threads, so tiny as to be [illegible] invisible, are [illegible] hollow tubes filled with sticky fluid which oozes through the walls and clills whatever touches the thread. This fluid readily absorbs the moisture from the air and would soon lose its sticky nature in the rain or fog. So the wise spider, loath to waste precious material, waits until the wet weather is virtual ly over before working the curious threads. How it knows what the weather is to be is still one of the mysteries.

Thanks For the Suggestion

A committeeman went to London to interview Sir Alfred Mond about the rights. He remained until pastmen upon the part of his hosts, a meeting people, had ceased to be strictly "Don't you think, my dear fellow, I remarked the latter, "that one does that your wife and children must miss you?" "No doubt Thanks for the suggestion; I'll send for them."

Simple and Sure—Dr Thomas' Eclectric Oil is a simple remedy but one that a child can understand the instructions. Used as a liniment the only direction is to rub and when used as a detention in the throat. Directions are so plain and unmistakable that they are readily understood by young or old.

Mr. Smith, however, did not appear to notice it.

"Yes, I'm home early for once, thank Heaven!" he half groaned, as he dropped himself into a chair.

"It has been a strenuous week for you, hasn't it?" Again the tinge of something not quite pleasant in Miss Maggie's voice.

"Yes, but it's been worth it."

"My cousin?"

Mr. Smith turned deliberately and looked at Miss Maggie. Their wary, alert eyes met. Then the eyes of the latter apparently honest and unwavering, dropped. Miss Maggie's painful countenance, he turned away with a low laugh.

"Why, no, Maggie. I've accomplished nothing."

"Then you've a right good reason for looking so pleased," Miss Maggie's voice was biting. But Mr. Smith, relaxed in his chair, was apparently too much engrossed in his own thoughts to notice it.

"Maggie, I've been thinking of what you said one day last week—when a love affair is—in all settled."

"Yes, I remember. I suppose it Mr. Smith looked pleasantly, but without encouragement. It does in love affairs, of course, only—well, I had hoped it was the exception."

"Maggie laughed. Then she sighed.

New Jersey Bans Poppy

Horticultural Board Says Blooms Are A Nuisance

New Jersey's fields of red poppies will not see another spring. The New Jersey horticultural board has ordered the poppies destroyed by owners of the institutions of the late war destroyed on the ground that they are a nuisance and a menace to health.

The Jersey poppies were brought over from France by troop ships returning from the front in the early days of the war and were planted about the various camps and in the unappropriated fields of France and Flanders. Their ultimate crop has been so prolific that they smothered out other flowers and vegetation.

The experts were right, it seems, in their warnings. Even those about the poppy after Colonel McRae's fine poem, in Flanders Fields," bean in the spring of 1919 to be a menace to the sentimental affair. Now not only does the action take in New Jersey alone but the entire state of Virginia, who did again over sentiment, but it is evidence now more that the is over.—Indian Commercial

And, who admitting it, will be blind to its implications? A Brilliant Interpreter

Frenchman at Washington Conference Is Proficient in English

Camerlynck, the brilliant French interpreter who has been assigned to the Arms Conference at Washington, and is always the source of the most frequent admiration among those who have to depend upon him to follow the proceedings when English and French are spoken at the time. A French Premier, M. Briand made his address before the conference, he has hardly taken his seat before M. Camerlynck was on his feet interpreting in the English tongue. He did not falter and was never at a loss for a word in English to convey the exact meaning which M. Briand desired. But he went even further than this. He put into his voice the same tone and tongue and we literally the same gestures as the Premier.

But though Miss Maggie did not participate in the gay doings she heard of them. She knew that Mr. Smith's video, except from Mr. Smith, and on all sides she heard of it. To the credit of Mr. Smith to Miss Maggie, she reluctantly that this was the reason why Mr. Smith himself was so silent. Miss Maggie was disappointed and distressed. She was also very much puzzled. She had supposed that Mr. Smith understood Mr. Herbert and young Gray cared for each other and she had thought Mr. Smith had fully approved of the affair between them. Now to pass himself off as the author of this absurd fashion and try to cut everybody off—that was ridiculous. It seemed she never would have been rid of Mr. Smith in the world if she was disappointed too. She liked Mr. Smith very much indeed. He considered him to be a man of good sense and good judgment. And she liked him herself said, not so long ago that he believed heart was in the right place, age, nature and habits. And yet here now he was!

And there could be no mistake about it. Everybody was talking about the thing. The Martin girls brought it home as current gossip. Mrs. Martin was highly exercised over it and even Harriet had evinced interest. Of course Miss Maggie would have nothing to do with that mad old woman's wild scheme, either. No, there was no mistake. Sunday, did she know, Mr. Smith had gone all the way to Pennock to call on Mrs. Gaylord. Everybody knew that Mr. Smith was done very shy and evasive, and that when he was at home at meal-time he was silent and preoccupied, and not the himself at all.

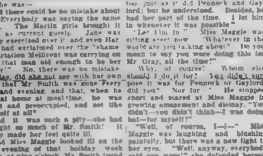
And it was such a pity—she had thought so much of Mr. Smith. It really made her feel quite ill.

And Miss Maggie looked ill on the last evening of that holiday week when, at nine o'clock, Mr. Smith rose, her sitting idle handed before the stove in the Methodist.

"Why, Miss Maggie what's the matter with you?" cried the man, in the weirdest concern. "You don't look like yourself at all!"

Miss Maggie pulled herself up hastily.

"Nonsense! I—I'm perfectly well I'm just—tired, I guess. I've been busy, my Smith." In spite of her self Miss Maggie's voice carried a tinge of something but quite pleasant



Could Not Eat

Constipation is caused by a torpid condition of the liver. Dealing with salts, castor oil, etc., to move the bowels, cannot afford more than temporary relief.

If you are to rid yourself of this ailment and the worry of annoying symptoms and disorders which come in its wake, it is necessary to get the liver right by such treatment as is suggested in this letter

Mrs. Alvin Richards, R. R. No. 1, Seeley's Bay, Ont., writes:

"For two years I was afflicted with indigestion, and in the morning when I got up my breath was bad. I had a poor appetite, and just felt like eating certain foods. I used many different remedies on a number without benefit, and for doctor's medicine did not help me at all. Finally I used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and found them better than anything I had ever used. I can highly recommend them to anyone troubled with constipation or bad my trouble."

"Help you?—about Miss Flora?" he asked, in evident surprise.

"Why, yes, I thought—I don't tell me she isn't happy." There was a strong note of almost despair in Miss Maggie's voice. "Hasn't she a home, and clothes and everything she can possibly want? And yet she's actually ruining her health and her looks with it."

Mr. Smith's face cleared. He gave a low laugh.

"Oh, is that all? I'm glad you're not worrying about anything serious, Miss Maggie. Why, that's easily remedied. Let her have a little—surprised, for instance, but I'm very fond of candy myself."

"Why, yes, but—for you. Isn't one always fond when—when a love affair is—in all settled?"

"Why, I was not aware that Mr. Smith looked pleasantly, but without encouragement. It does in love affairs, of course, only—well, I had hoped it was the exception."

"YOUR TEETH"

TOOTHACHE

By DR. PROCTOR McGEE, D.D.S., M.D., Master of "Oral Hygiene"

It is true that those who have the greatest dread of having their teeth worked upon are the ones who are the greatest sufferers from toothache.

The Primitive have of man were all based upon Taboo," or as we call it, fear.

The things that people did that always resulted in pain or trouble were forbidden or tabooed. At first, every violation of the taboo brought its own punishment. For instance, if the tribe lived in a cave and at one dark spot a rock protruded so that a man would bump his head if he walked there, the medicine man declared that that taboo and all who broke the taboo bumped their heads and suffered. When laws became more complicated the natural penalty did not always work, and so penalties had to be provided to make the taboo good. We work under this system now in most of our laws, but the teeth still carry their own penalties.

If you neglect your teeth you will surely get the penalty without a judge or a jury

A tooth aches for two general reasons First, if the pulp is exposed it is inflamed and causes intense throbbing pain from the actual irritation of the nerve In this kind of toothache it is better then anesthetic within the tooth

When the pulp is dead there can be no pain within the tooth, the pain is all due to the infection and gas pressure in the bone surrounding the end of the root.

It is this kind of an inflamation that is called "gum boil" or "abscess" and means that you have a point or focus where poison may enter the blood stream.

Aspen Man In Parliament

Expected That Elected Representatives Will Help Livestock Industry

Mr. Harry Lauder, of Portage la Prairie, Manitoba, who defeated Premier Meighen on the Progressive ticket, has been a prominent member of the Canadian Aberdeen Angus Association and a leading breeder of Aberdeen Angus cattle. In the Dauphin constituency Mr. J. W. Ward, the successful Progressive candidate, is also a leading Aberdeen Angus breeder in his own territory. Both men will go to the Federal House of Parliament with a full understanding of the needs of agriculture and animal industry in the west. While it is not expected that they should be say sense be the special representatives of the Angus breed in parliament, they can with the help and assistance of other prominent breeders of the different breeds of livestock, who have been elected as Progressives, Liberals and Conservatives, do a great deal for the livestock industry in general when questions of fiscal policy or foreign markets are being discussed

Curtiss Awarded Invention Honor

In a decision, epoch making in the history of aeronautics, the United States circuit court of Appeals holds that Glen H. Curtiss was the first person to invent and operate a flying boat, and issued an order awarding him the broad patent for hydro-aeroplanes.

The decision reversed the lower court's decision in favor of Orville Wright, patent rights to Albert S. Janin, an inventor at Staten Island.

In order to abet out the din of the city, Herbert Spencer used to wear cotton wool plugs filled with gum which effectively closed each ear.

Model Village In Scotland

Cousin of Italy's King Has Made Improvements For Natives

The Duke of the Abruzzi, cousin of the King of Italy, Polar explorer, mountain climber and distinguished naval officer, has achieved fame in a new direction. He has come to be regarded as a pet of and by the natives of Italian Somaliland, in which African colony he is taking a profound interest. His built a model village in the Benadir region, with everything for their comfort and improvement, including schools, a hospital and a library. The Somalis, who treat him with the greatest veneration and affection, have asked that the settlement be called the Duke of the Abruzzi Village.

After raising $4,000,000 Hre a year ago for the development of Somaliland he went out there to disburse it and has sent home to Italy for more material and supplies for railway building and the promoting of agriculture.

An Old Agriculturist

Englishman Worked In Fields Until After He Was 130

An extraordinary instance of longevity is that concerning an agriculturist, named Thomas Parr, born in Shropshire, England, in 1483. He was engaged in agricultural pursuits and worked in the fields till after his one hundred and thirtieth birthday At 120, according to authentic records, he married a second time and became the father of a family. At 152 he was introduced to the court of Charles I. by the Earl of Arundel as a remarkable prodigy, but the change of air and mode of living caused his death A post mortem examination of his body was made, but no internal symptoms of decay could be discovered. The coroner of Thomas Parr died in Shropshire at the age of 120.

Fo Prevent Soil Drifting

System of Farming Which is Designed to Obviate This Trouble

The soil drifting problem must be attacked in two ways, first, temporary measures to make possible the present crop, and second, the more permanent laying of a crop and, second, measures that aim to get at the cause of the evil and remove it. It is to the latter of these that attention will be directed in this brief article.

Soil drifting is the result of a lack of cohesiveness or the ability to stick together in the soil. Some light sandy soils will blow the second or third season after being broken from prairie. Such land should never be farmed in a dry windy country. To keep it in its place and grow grain is an impossible proposition. Only no-wise man will attempt. It should stay in grass. But the average prairie soil does not blow when first cultivated nor for many years after. This is because it is held together by the fibrous roots of the grasses that were in the prairie sod. When it does begin to blow it is because cultivation and the growing of only annual crops has grouned up and decayed the tough fibrous roots that bound it together. It is the result of a lack of crop cover nature and grow grasses again.

To get grasses to grow again on land that has become troublesome with drifting, requires some attention to the crop that is grown on it. Favorable condition. Failure often results where grass seeds are sown with grain on land that is dry for moisture and full of weed seeds. In order to have conditions suitable for the grass seedlings to grow, there must be a rather summer fallow Should the condition of the soil be such that spring sowing of wheat would likely be destroyed by drifting, it would be advisable to sow fall wheat, fallow about September 1st or earlier it would make sufficient growth to hold the soil in the spring. The grasses could then be sown in the spring among the rye.

The growing of grasses to return fibre should be worked into a regular crop rotation, so as to systematize the operations and benefit in a few years the whole farm. The following is suggested as a practical rotation (one or more fields cannot be grown), sown with grass.

1st year.—Fallow or partly corn.

2nd year.—Wheat (or fall rye if corn cannot be grown), sown with grass.

3rd year.—Hay.

4th year.—Hay or pasture, ploughed

5th year.—Wheat.

6th year.—Barley.

This provides for seeding down one-sixth of the land every year and it breaking up one-sixth annually. It brings the seeding down on fallowed land. It allows time for the fibrous grass roots which is enough under present conditions.

As to choice of grasses to grow to per acre cutting, brome grass is certainly the most effective It produces a larger amount of fibrous roots and withstands drought the best. Where drifting is a menace brome grass is the best to use. The following mixture is enough under present conditions.

Explanation As Given By Pullman Agent Shows Complication

The man had just informed the Pullman agent that he wanted a "lower berth."

"Upper or lower?" asked the agent.

"What's the difference?" asked the man.

"A difference of fifty cents in the rate," replied the agent. "The lower is higher than the upper The other is higher than the upper. The higher price is for lower. If you want it low, you'll have to go higher. We sell the upper lower than the lower. In other words the lower or the lower Most people don't like the upper, although it is lower as to the count of its height. When you occupy an upper you have to go up to bed and get down when you want to get You can have the lower if you pay higher The upper is lower because it is cheaper. If you are willing to go higher, it will be lower."

Nine Years' Trance

A Johannesburg lawyer is reported to have been in a trance for nine years, has awakened in possession of all her faculties. Her memory is a trifle but distinct, and when asked on awakening what she would like for breakfast, she replied: "Sardines on toast." Many faith-healers claim credit for the girl's recovery, but there seems no doubt that this was due to the efforts of the staff at the Rietfontein Institution for the Chronic Sick.

Canada's Copper Deposits

Account for Four Per Cent. of World's Production

Canada has many and valuable known copper deposits which, it is at present purely partial state of development are already estimated to be four per cent of the world's copper production. Native copper occurs in Canada in a number of different localities, widely spread over the Dominion. It has been found to occur in Ontario, in the east coast of Lake Superior. It has been found in Central British Columbia and in Quebec, especially in the Eastern Townships, numerous occurrences of copper sulphide minerals have been discovered. More recent explorations have confirmed old information of important deposits along the Arctic coasts of Canada, near Coronation Gulf and Victoria Land. None of these deposits are being exploited commercially.

Rue's Counsel

The leading counsel for the defence in the famous trial of Louis Riel at Regina in July, 1885, was Mr. Charles Fitzpatrick, Q.C., now Sir Charles Fitzpatrick, Lieutenant-Governor of the Province of Quebec. Mr. Fitzpatrick was specially retained by him in the defence was Mr. F. O. Lemieux, also Quebec, now Sir Francis Lemieux, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the Province of Quebec.

Winter Workers

Profits From Trapping Keep Men All Through Summer

Canada, in general, has more summer occupations than winter ones, but in trapping she possesses a purely winter pursuit which can only be followed when the snow has fallen and the denizens of the wild have arrived at the full growth and luxuriance of the clothing which Nature gives them for protection against the inclemency of the winter months. On the American continent trapping has come to be almost exclusively a Canadian line of activity, followed each year by a host of men with a satisfying profit.

Each fall, as the days decline and signs of the inevitable approach of winter are imminent, in the north of the Canadian provinces, there is an Out 'n Done army of men, who have lounged and hased through the summer months on their winter's profits, who begin to look once more to their traps, repair their snowshoes, prepare their bait, lay in provisions and ammunition, and investigate the territories for their winter's trapping operations The antithesis of the farm hand and harvest helpers, they are winter workers whose activities begin with the first snow and cease when it begins to disappear in the spring, and whose calling is profitable and remunerative enough to keep them handsomely without work for the remainder of the year.

Business Prospects In Western Canada

Marked Improvement Shown and Outlook is Bright

Business is picking up in the west, has picked up, as a matter of fact, and is looking to better times as the months roll along. Recent surveys show that a total volume of goods sold equals previous years, but naturally, with reduction in prices, the value of the total sales is less. There is no doubt, so far as the west is concerned, that a marked improvement is taking place along all lines. In addition, there is the added confidence which comes with the brighter out look and the knowledge that with the turn of the year, capital is likely to branch out again and recommence developments.

Many problems have had to be faced and dealt with during the past summer and fall months, but the average people appear to have the happy faculty of meeting difficulties, and seeing that they are satisfactorily settled.

Sport and Health

School Programme Should be Revised to Include Recreation

Nothing would do more toward the solution of our social problems than a thorough revision of our schools and harmonizing of curriculum and recreation. The way to do this may be best with difficulties, but the true principle seems to be through the schools.

The cultivation of good taste in play and other amusements would do something, but practical results will be more likely to follow the extension of physical training for good sport and healthful plays and a revision of our school programme in the direction of the Danish system. In which sports and play are an integral part of the school curriculum.—Fort William Times Journal.

1922 AS YOU MAKE IT

The year 1922 will be as you make it. We must never get away from the idea so well put by Shakespeare that "all the world's a stage and all the men and women merely players." We may think ourselves very important. In fact, we can hardly know what the people would do if we were suddenly called out of it. Oh, yes, the world would go on just the same; men and women will rise to take our places and our exit would scarcely create a flutter. The year 1921 has failed its wishes if we have not experienced real and prosperous in our lives. To the business man it should be a year of broadening out, of expansion, of striking out of an unholy rut, of new methods of business, of new ideas and new actions. Let him carry the field around about them. Let them survey their premises and inquire if there is something lacking in having. We are not even suggesting that there is—we know it and they know it. The best assurance of people that are going out of the town and district of Vermilion every year and which we cannot do much or nothing about is some our business men are keeping behind the times they lack the initiative the broadening out policies, the ventures and that grasp of public sentiment to enable them to counteract the larger attractions from outside centres. They tell us they cannot compete with the big stores in the cities. Have they actually tried—not by production of prices so much as by other attractions; people like to go to the end more economical to shop at home than abroad? Advertising pays. The big mail order houses all advertise—They believe in printers ink and ocean of it too. We are not visiting this business, but did it ever occur to our business interests how much more really they could bring to the attention of the buying public what they have to sell than they actually do. It's been a real lift to the Standard when in trouble he goes to see his solicitor, why should not the business man go to see his advertising manager. Let our business people get together and discuss the situation in our every midst of trade. The farmers that thousands of dollars are going out of the district and district every year that could just as well be spent in the stores of Vermilion. We are not wanting to do anything to close the senders, we are the ones in trouble. It is up to us to remedy the grievance for it is a grievance with us. The year 1922 will be just as successful as we make it.

COUNTRY HOTELS

(The Conservator Port Saskatchewan)

Occasionally, particularly after meetings of commercial travelers, there appear in the daily papers, suggesting that the country hotel is sadly in need of improvement and that certain organizations, particularly the wholesalers, are using to make an effort to assist in bringing about the required improvement. So far the said, since has come no farther than by criticism and knowing to attempt to put the hotel keeper into a knowledge of his deficiencies. The local commercial traveller, the kind we entertain from Edmonton, say, and back again in a passenger at the art of knowing the half of the bed and sleep. The fact is a matter of fact, if the country hotel is run with a selfless income to unusual English standard people engaging in the business is not to disappear, more than criticism must be in evidence. Many cases have already fallen into the hands of the very present Christmas—more will do so. What is really required is the assistance of municipal and provincial governments. The hotel must be recognized as a kind of public institution engaged in housing and entertaining the travelling public. Its function is an important one, and any town without a respectable stopping place will look for visits of people whose business is of value to everyone in the locality. It the Province of Ontario, once the bar was done away with, the Provincial Government at once set about giving assistance to the good hotel man which would enable him to maintain a decent stopping place. Legislation passed enabling him to secure a license to carry on certain privileges; no one in the town not having a license can, for example, sell soft drinks. The municipality could if it wished, remit the taxes to him with the exception of the school tax. Other privileges of a worth while character ensures to him as to some extent enables him to make a profit on his business. In the Province of Saskatchewan, hotels are freed from the payment of the usual business tax. Unless some action of this kind is taken in Alberta very soon, the travelling public will have to adopt some other form of recreation than damning the hotel accomodation—for this will have become a thing of the past.

Owing to unavoidable efforts that have been put forth from certain quarters for sometime past, the Standard is in a position to say that there is every possibility of there being a substantial reduction made in the mercantile insurance rates now prevailing in the town.

France Remains Firm On Broad Plans For Submarine Building

Washington.—Efforts to limit the naval strength of the powers in submarines and auxiliary warships ran into an abrupt and utter they had drawn the French and British arms conference delegates into a plain spoken exchange over the possibilities of a future war between France and the British empire.

The French, acting under renewed instructions from their Government, told the conference naval committee, with an air of finality, that France must remain free to build a submarines fleet nearly three times as great as that the new possessions and to construct, in addition, cruisers, destroyers and other auxiliary craft up to a tonnage of 339,000 tons.

To the proposal the Japanese, Italian and United States delegates replied with expressions of surprise and regret, while the British charged openly that such a building programme must be regarded as a menace to British shores. Right Hon. Arthur J. Balfour added that he had no doubt, if occasion arose, Great Britain would be equal to it, but only if she reserved complete freedom of action as to the construction of all types of small arms which might be useful against submarine attack.

Agreeing that further argument would be useless, the committee turned its attention to collateral subjects, including resolutions for future use of submarines, proposals for limitation of the size and armament of individual auxiliary vessels and details of the agreement already reached in principle regarding capital ships.

Improve Conditions On the Farm

Nothing More Worthy of Men of Science and Education, Clifford Sifton Says

Toronto.—Addressing a session of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, Sir Clifford Sifton emphasized particularly the necessity for improving conditions of life on the farm. So important did the former minister of the interior rank affair that he declared:

"Nothing is more worthy of the attention of the men of science and education than the amelioration of the conditions of the average farmer and his family by inventions and appliances which will facilitate as far as possible the performance of the ordinary work of the farm, and which will improve the productivity of the soil.

"Without going into further details I would put as the very first requirement in the development of natural resources, the duty of the state that the most important resource is agriculture and the improvement of conditions of life on the farm, so that the exodus from the farm may be stopped and farming carefully readjusted more easy and comfortable, continued Sir Clifford Sifton amid applause.

"I am quite certain that the movement from the farm to the city is largely due to the fact that many farmers' wife and family assistant of slavish labor which they have to do and this, overall by Domestic Supply amply justified by the conditions. When it is said that the interests of the country depend upon legislation as a movement to get people to go back to the farm the answer is that what is wanted is to make farming life something that will render life upon the farm more tolerable.

"It is not for nothing that the farmer has gone into politics. The basic industry of this country is very low cost for help and the labor that is required is not subsidies and not overburdening. It is about what will place the work of the farm upon a better and more comfortable and more remunerative basis. The successful carrying out of the latter in Canada depends on the farmers work in the farmers himself, and herself."

May Oppose Harding's Shipping Plan

Washington.—President Harding's shipbuilding plan, though not fully worked out, will be ready to offer to Congress soon after the holidays. It will provide for a heavy expenditure in direct subsidies to ocean vessel owners, it is already developing in Congress and it is generally regarded as doubtful whether it can be forced through even under administration pressure. Agricultural interests are likely to oppose it.

By making your purchases from your home merchant you are contributing direct to the prosperity of the community in which you live.

A Scene of Splendor

Calcutta. — Amid scenes of splendor and the presence of enthusiastic crowds the Prince of Wales opened the Victorian Memorial, dedicated to the Queen-Empress Victoria, whose memory is held in the highest esteem throughout India. The building is in the form of a vast marble palace and is of rare architectural beauty. It required 15 years to erect it. The building comprises a museum, commemorated to India's glory. It contains portraits of the old emperors of Delhi and of famous men who labored for India during the Victorian era. The ceremony was carried out in full state.

Rush For Gold Claims

Activity Greatest Since the Opening Up of Northern Manitoba as Mineral Belt

The Pas, Man.—Known staking of mining claims in the new Elbow Lake gold camp, north of here, is the most active since the opening up of Northern Manitoba as a mineral belt. The action of the Hollinger Mine of Porcupine in taking an option on the Murray Brothers' claims has caused every prospector in the district to head for the new camps.

Sales of claims are numerous, and the price has advanced from $500 to $1,000. One small group of claims, seven miles from the Hollinger properties has been sold for a net sum for $3,000 cash, and a banker here was handed $2,500 for one claim and the sale of another for $2,000 quite a distance from the Murray claims. Most of this money comes from Montreal and Toronto interests

NEW TOWN COUNCIL MET TUESDAY NIGHT

Mayor Morrison Announcates Policy For Current Year---Initial Meeting of Routine Nature

At the first meeting of the 1922 Council Tuesday night Mayor Morrison after the new representatives had been sworn in, addressed the council, outlining the policy which he intended to follow in the coming year. He said, "In entering upon the work of the new year, permit me to extend a welcome to the new councillors to our Council Board. To the retiring councillors we wish to express our appreciation of the splendid service rendered by them in the interests of the town. I have no doubt any of these citizens for the coming season will be available to the town and be as helpful members as they have been in the past. The elections showed that the people were taking an interest in civic affairs. As far as I could gather no criticism was levied against the administration, but it was generally agreed that new blood on the council would tend to the better interests of all concerned.

Having regard to our exceptionally financial status I believe we are accomplishing a great deal of good for the whole work during the past year. Our financial position is even much better than it was a year ago, and I think we are by no means out of our difficulties. It will take at least two years or more of rigid economy before we can consider ourselves on a safe financial ground. I trust that nothing will happen in the meantime to impose upon us any great financial obligation.

"As to the programme for the year 1922 this will have to be carried out with an eye to our ability to pay. There should be no ordinary sane and sweeping what we absolutely have to incur. Obligations should be incurred only when there is no other way out. I would impress upon all the council need to have full control for it. More money is needed and the men should be qualified properly to understand the needs of the town.

"I would urge upon the Council to use every effort to secure for the town a substantial reduction in our insurance rates. There was no reason why this should not be had.

"The matter of dis-posing of our unsold bonds should also be taken up early. If we could succeed in doing this it would help out considerably in reducing our taxes.

The business transacted at the meeting was more or less of a routine nature. The various standing committees for the year were struck. W. Boden was appointed representative from the south side on the Health Board. The public works committee was requested to look into the condition of the well at Kennedy's corner. Asked as to the tax receipts during this month as yet, the secretary said he did not say the specific amount received, further than that the monies paid in were far from adequate to liquidate outside indebtedness. Councillor Long was appointed Deputy Mayor for the three months of the year. It is expected fin.ncial matters will be given fuller discussion at the next regular meeting of the council.

Members present: Mayor Morrison in the chair, Councillors Long, Brimacombe, Duncan, Craig, Wiebe and Cooper.

CLAYSMORE
(From our own Correspondent)

A public health nurse will speak on School Inspection, Child Welfare Work, The Child of Pre-school Age, Infant Feeding, etc., at Claysmore school on Friday evening January 6 The other farmers have organized a hockey team and are holding some strenuous practices on our own rink. Jack Williams, manager, Lyle Hobkirk, Captain and Tom Rideout secretary. This team is open for games with any other rural team

Don't forget that Oyster Supper at Claysmore on Friday evening January 13th Supper will be served from 6.30 to not later than 10 o'clock

W. D. Williams has been confined to bed for the last few days with a severe cold

Well, now that we are definitely assured that Lord Jellicoe's are not going to join the King cabaret you will notice that the weather is now appreciably milder---in fact we feel much milder ourselves

Last week's Standard says: "May 1922 be rich in blessings to all our readers." In the same column he gives us King's address. What we want is hope in, was the first sentence a blessing or a petition.

COMMUNICATION
IF EVERYBODY WERE A "BOOSTER"

(By H. Boeeman, Vermilion, Alta.)

You will always notice that the man who "knocks" is the man who fails to succeed. He "knocks" because he has failed, but he does not know that every time he "knocks" on to adding to his own handicaps, and throwing away his chances of future success, and building up for himself a chronic condition of failure. But it is so. Every "knocker" is "knocking" himself. There are wonderful forces at work inside of every man---invisible forces which are as powerful and unfailing as the law of mathematics. One of these forces is The Law of Attraction, and whatever a man thinks the thought attracts its own kind; the thought gives form to the surrounding ether and makes that many circumstances. The circumstances are material form, and so the thought becomes a setic reality. Thus, if a man habitually "knocks," and thinks failure universal, he is creating an almost failure circumstances, which in turn materialize and make him a failure. He has "knocked" himself [illegible]

By the Law of Attraction we can attract to ourselves every good thing we want, and every evil thing that we do not want---just by means of our thoughts---Positive Thoughts and negative Thoughts. The Positive Thoughts are such as Success, Health, Happiness, Hope, Love, Courage; the Negative Thoughts are such as Failure, Sickness, Unhappiness, Despair, Hatred, Fear, Envy, Jealousy, etc.

We should guard our thoughts, and every time we find a negative thought intruding itself we should quickly shut it out of our minds by thinking a positive thought, for negative thoughts are our worst enemies, working havoc and ruin to our finances, health, domestic relations, poisoning our system and shadow our very nature, even bringing death.

Acting upon this Law of Attraction, if we were all to think only Positive Thoughts,---if we were all to think, for example, Success Thoughts, and were then all shaping the surrounding ether into Success shape or circumstances, afterwards to become our own real, solid Success, what a wonderful wave of Prosperity we should at once experience! This prosperity is ours and may be had for the taking. All success is made in the mind first. Material achievements are the result of thought. St. Paul's Cathedral was once a Thought in the architect's mind. It was completely built and finished in even the minutest details in the architect's mind, and the material mason was then "fixed" with measure, so a photographer "fixes" a negative.

Thereby is room for preaching than most of us suspect, and our lives and fortunes are shaped by our mode of Thought. We should, therefore, study to only allow ourselves to think the right kind of thoughts. In "boosting" our district we are developing our life trict in the way in which we desire to see it develop. Already our thought has built it up prosperously in the ideals of our minds We can make ideals become "real" by believing in them. This is psychological fact Thought is like a boomerang it comes back to the sender "Knock" your district and you "knock" yourself "Boost your district and you "boost" your own prosperity, and being it to pass. Your thought is the "blue-print" to which you are building your career. You can make of yourself what you will. Change the thought, change the man. If you have been a knock er" and have had failure, and ill luck, and hardship and disappointment, just try being a "booster" and you will surprise yourself by the manner in which everything begins to come your way. That Law of Attraction is unfailing. You can bank upon it. As a man thinks so is he. Success or Failure are in the man, not in his circumstances. Try Right Thinking and Quit "knocking" and begin to "boost." You will find that the law of miracles is not past, for prosperity will come to you.

POLITICS

Sir:

No Newspaper in Canada can ribuld more to the detest of the Meighen government than the Toronto Mail and therefore its editorial of the 22nd inst. makes very interesting reading when it says: "There is no time in the time in the history of Canada when men who are neither schame" nor afraid to be "Conservatives" were so desperately needed in our public affairs. Canada needs the Conservative party today Wherever there is a Conservative he should bear the same name and rally to the standard. Whenever there is a citizen, Simpson or the prompest of experimenting with the fundamentals of our national prosperity, disgusted with such nauseating adventuring as we have already suffered, he too, should hasten to rush to the "Conservative" banner and shower his confidence upon the leaders with fellow citizens of like convict ions in order that the Dominion be rescued back as soon as possible the tried and reliable paths which have hitherto guided it toward a splendid destiny.

There is no business nor ambiguity about what constitutes the essentials of Conservative policy. The Conservative party is and always has been a party of progress, but of progress firmly founded on broad based "conditions whose stability past success has proven The Conservative believe in growth by evolution, not by revolution The Conservative have courage and faith enough in all conscience it was the Conservative party which flung the daring line of the Canadian Pacific across an empty prairie and trackless mountain range to join their almost unknown Pacific Coast

It was the Conservative party which called Canadian indust as we know it, into being The Conservatives believed that Canadians could be more than hewers of wood and drawers of water to the Australian country succeeded hire of industry growing so rapidly to the south.

It must be perfectly obvious to every serious student of public affairs that this party of stability, of sober, common-sense, of respect for experience and a rooted dislike to ex pect "quack remedies", [illegible] and government [illegible] is doubtedly the [illegible] public need of our safety and stability [illegible]

It is the plain duty of those who believe in Conservative principles to see that this party of stability, of sober, common-sense, of respect for experience and a rooted dislike to exp

Remember the Revival Campaign

H. R. Parker is in attendance at the Alberta Schools Inspectors' Convention, being held Wednesday and Thursday this week in Edmonton.

Miss Elsie Rosaire who spent the holidays with friends in town, returned to Calgary Monday night.

A Box Social and Dance will be held in the Morrison school on Friday evening, January 6th. Ladies bring box each provided. Music by Cameron's orchestra. Proceeds in aid of the Hall.

Miss Goldsmith, who had been a patient at the Lamont hospital, returned to her home in Manitoba last week. She was accompanied by her father.

The many friends of Mrs. Jas Durnin who has been a patient at Lamont hospital for the past few weeks, will be glad to learn that she has had her leg restored and is now able to move around with the aid of a cane. The trouble was one of some fifteen years duration and during the past five years has caused much suffering.

A benefit dance and tea social for Mr. Ernest Parley who has been ill for the past year and a half and a patient in the Vermilion Hospital for the last two months, is to be held this Friday night in the Pelican Lake schoolhouse. The money is being donated by the Lunden orchestra and Reed Brothers and all net expenses for the dance and the proceeds will be turned into worthy hands.

On Sunday evening at the Presbyterian Church, the subject of the Rev F. Chilton will be: "A Good Conqueror and a Spirit-Filled Preacher," or How Men are Saved? Come early for a seat.

INFORMATION WANTED as to the whereabouts of Charles Eriksson alias Carl Arvid Andersson, who came to Canada in 1902. Last heard of in the Vermilion District. Enquiries made by his father. Notify A.P.P. Wells Vermilion, Alta.

The regular meeting of the Britannia Rebekah Lodge will be held on Monday evening, January 9th installation of officers.

BORN—At Vermilion, Alberta, on Tuesday, January 3rd, 1922, to Mr. and Mrs. H. Gidley, a daughter.

An Oyster Supper and Dance is to take place at the Clearmore school on the evening of Wednesday, January 11th. The Stettlerville Orchestra has been secured for the occasion and the event will undoubtedly be a great success. Costs $1.50 ladies free.

At an executive meeting of the Vermilion Citizens' Band held on Thursday last the resignation of the Conductor, Mr. W.A Fallow was presented before it and accepted. Owing to the general indifference displayed by the members for the past several months the executive deemed it better to disband than to try and keep things going under the present conditions. The members are directed to bring in all instruments, music, music stands and equipment the property of the organization.

DEATH OF LITTLE DOLLY CROWELL

The death took place on Monday last of Dolly, the little six year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. V. B. Crowell of town. The child has only been ill since Thursday with a severe attack of diphtheria and though at the end of the week her condition was improved, Sunday she became worse, death taking place Monday. The funeral was held on Tuesday, the Rev. J. H. Smith of the Anglican church conducting the service and interment made in the Vermilion cemetery. Dolly was a sweet, lovable child of a most attractive disposition and was loved by everyone. Her death is mourned deeply. To Mr. and Mrs. Crowell, who lose their only child, public sympathy is extended. It is learned with regret that Mrs. Crowell has since been taken ill with the same disease.

—COMING—

Commencing the second January 16th a ten days Revival Campaign will be conducted at the Salvation Army The Evangelist will be Envoy T. Michelin. He is a man of many years experience in revival work and it's great power for good everywhere he goes, a great blessing is in store for all that hear him; he is one of the real old-fashioned kind of evangelist, with a message from God that will stir the unsaved, and appeal to the reason; his object is to lift men and women out of the plane of spiritual life, and to a greater and more useful service for God.

Don't forget the time and date of the meetings; entirely undenominational—everyone is welcome, and a good time is assured.

The opening services will be held in the Army Hall although this is expected to prove too small a building before the campaign has advanced very far. Further announcements will be made later.

FARMERS 10. FIREMEN 1

VERMILION, Jan. 9.—The Vermilion Farmers stepped in the running for the championship of the Big Six hockey league by defeating the Firemen here tonight in the arena rink in a super brilliant hockey contest

The Agrarians were at the top of their form and proved that they deserved all the good things said about them in the last few weeks Each of the eight men who were on the ice went into that game and played it through as if their very lives depended on the issue.

The game was staged before a crowd of nearly eight hundred rabid enthusiastic fans, who were kept at a high pitch of excitement throughout the strenuous sixty minutes of play. It was dazzling hockey from the face off until the end. The Firemen and Agrarians are rivals in every sense of the word and both aggregations were out to win.

It was a great game for the Farmers to win for they were being watched by the largest crowd that backed itself into the box palaces this season, and was a hard one for the Firemen to lose for more than 500 loyal supporters were on hand to see them play and they cheered their players to the end.

The result was great to watch. Splendid displays of skating, stickhandling and shooting were dished up on both sides, and practically every man on the ice starred at one time for another. The Firemen infused hard to avert the disaster and were fighting hard and desperately for the verdict when the final bell rang as Referee Smith took the ice. The Farmers were quicker to take advantage of every opening offered in the first and second periods, and when the teams appeared on the ice for session num ber three they had acquired a comfortable lead of 3 goals to 1.

Resuming their dashing exploits of the second stanza, the Farmer lads sailed through the Firemen's defence for two more tallies in the final ten minutes of the spasm and assumed a lead that that put beyond doubt the result of the duel. The last session saw the Firemen at their best, but their over-due rally was insufficient to sartise the situation.

In fact, so well the agrarians had the edge, while the Firemen lacked the fire and dash and vigor which characterized the Farmers' play and their efforts were captured in the necessary art of checking back. The strength of the Farmers lay in the all round merit of the team not a weak spot being found in the whole array Holland's work in goal was excellent while Pilkie and H. Barr broke rush after rush and back Up the attack in effective style, Billy Lepage of Mannville handled the game in a very satisfactory manner and kept rough tactics to a minimum George Beaubier played his wing and Percy McKinnon on defence for the winners smashed and aided with clever work which was a constant source of worry to the losers.

Fred McQueen of the Fire Brutes was perhaps the most effective man on the ice, and certainly the life of the Firemens' attack Bennett and Burns also played a good game for the red and yellow tribe. The Firemen had their moments in the early game and maintained a fast pace throughout. Generally speaking the fans were highly pleased with the snappy contest, the play being much more even than the score would indicate. The Fire Brutes with the exception of McQueen and Bennett as a team failed to click, and were up to stiff form in the early game before the crowds

The lineup and officials:

Firemen	Position	Farmers
Holland	goal	McKeon
Pilkie	point	Barr
McKinnon	defence	McKeon

Last previous to the game John C. Taylor, manager of the Farmers, had got a protest declaring that Fred Macqueen had played out with the Edmonton Eskimos in the winter of 1919 had received his amateur certificate yet omitting him to play amateur hockey

The Agrarians manager also claims that Macqueen is not eligible to play with any club in the Big Six circuit, as he has not been a bona fide resident of the town of Vermilion since the first of August preceding. To date in the first game it is claimed that Macqueen has been living in Nickel Siding and in a few days can likewise, it is not expected anything will come of the protest As the protest has to be in the hands of Secretary Inside of 48 hours, it was sent dignified on Tuesday morning

THE STANDARD
VERMILION, ALTA., JAN. 11, 1922

Following the announcement in last week's paper that a substantial auction was about to be made in the mercantile line for fire purposes on the Standard is able to announce at the Board of Under writers have set out a card to all local fire insurance agents containing the new rate placable to the town, which amounts to six per cent. on over over the former rates. Taken collectively upon an amount of fire insurance premiums paid by business men of the town annually ,the reduction means approximately fifteen hundred nollars a big monster in six years to the local ,ustiay in connection with the installation of the present modern and lighting equipment owned by the town

So long as the world lasts we will have our doubting Thomases, and there were many who shook their heads as to the successful outcome of any attempt to secure a reduction in fire rates , individual effort, wisely directed and persistently followed up is to be credited in a very large measure with the reduction and, while in the course of time a further reduction had been made in our rates, to the direct efforts of W.E. Sutton is to be credited the action taken by the board of fire underwriters.

Presbyterian Church

Rev Frank Clifton will take for his subject on Sunday evening "the Child of Our Religion" (or, Do Men Believe in Miracles?)

Gospel Hymns. Bible study as usual on Sunday morning at 11 a.m. Every body welcome.

The "Western Guardian" Eholand in its issue of December 8th, contains the following notice of death of Colin Wood, ex Lance Lance a brother of Mrs. R. A. Pibb of Vermilion The deceased who was 27 years of age, was one of three brothers to join the colors shortly after the outbreak of war, on one of whom some months ago. His old est brother, Joseph, was killed in the Dardanelles and his second brother, Harry, who is now a police officer at New Mill, was wounded in German East Africa He was mentioned in dispatches and awarded the I.S.M. for gallant service in the Lake Victoria Nyanza.

Before enlisting on September 2nd, 1914, Colin worked at Whitwell Colliery, and in a very short time he found himself in France with the 8th Lincolns. He saw considerable fighting and was passed and wounded in July, 1915. On recovery he re joined the line and was again wounded and contracted trench foot, and also got gassed badly from shell-shock. Just before the signing of the Armistice he was taken prisoner by the Germans so that his cup of bitterness was filled. He reamined in England in January 1919, seriously suffering from the effects of his late, particularly the poisons gas He however, joined the Defence Force during the coal stoppage but constructed rheumatic fever, sciatic joint can be readily and permanently changed from it being a crying torture, if not even fatal Canadian people double they will give their soldiers sufficient fair and equitable share of the enhanced passenger and freight traffic of the country.

Eastern people, as a rule, do not know what "hauling to market" means. Western farmers, located miles from a railway, start out at dawn to draw a load of grain to an elevator. At long in town after dark, they have to board themselves and their team for the night at some expense. Next morning they deliver their grain at the elevator, do some necessary shopping and arrive back home after dark until—haying been on the road some 36 hours. The construction of the Canadia-n National Railways was a boon to thousands of such farmers, by bringing shipping facilities much closer to their farms —facilities cutting down the time necessary to deliver a load of grain from days to hours.

It is one thing for a man whose business or private requirements are covered by a payment of railroads to discuss casually the importance of the Canadian National Railways—but try the farmer or dweller in the small towns, the development and success of Canada's railways is a matter of transcendital importance.

The Red Cross branch at Sea Gull has now been formed. At the first meeting they raised the sum of $150 and undertook to prepare and look after the relief in their district. Neil McIvor was elected president and H Korr. secretary

The Lac la Biche local of the Red Cross has appointed a special relief committee under the chairmanship of Mrs. Watson. They will attend to the time exclusively to this feature of the

The Provincial headquarters are received many expressions of appreciation from all over the province for the Christmas cheer which they dis tributed in the different districts.

The need for old clothing is still very real and the Provincial headquarters in Calgary is glad of donations which come in from time to time. A very large quantity of old clothing has been cleaned, repaired and shipped off to the districts where it was needed.

Profitable Mining
Cobalt District Produced $200,000,000 Worth of Silver in 1921
According to statistics already published and estimates being prepared for 1921 it is evident that the value of silver produced up to the end of 1921, from Cobalt and the surrounding district, will reach an aggregate of close to $200,000,000. Total dividends from the silver mines will exceed $93,000,000, and with the treasuries containing surpluses, which, combined with disbursements actually made, show a net profit of over 50 per cent of the gross yield. This is an achievement without parallel in the history of any other metal mining camp

The annual meeting of the Presbyterian Church was held on Monday evening with a large attendance of members and adherents present. The reports of the different departments of the church work showed considerable progress and splendid prospects for the future. The board of management reported that the receipts for the year amounted to $6113.80 of which over $2000 had been collected for the purpose of paying off the mortgage on the church property. The Ladies' Aid showed receipts for the year amounting to $700.00, the Sunday school $161.71, the W.M. Society $215.50 and the choir $141.90. The different officials received hearty votes of thanks for their services during the year.

The population of the province of Alberta has increased from 374 663 in 1911 to 541 995 in 1921, an advance of 167 332 or 7.31 per cent. for the ten year period. Latest census figures show

Junior Hockey Game Saturday Night Vegreville vs Scouts. Be there.

The Scout hockey team journeyed up to Vegreville on Saturday and met the junior hockey boys at that town, pulling off a well-earned victory with a score of 2 goals to Vegreville's 0 The game was advertised with posters and some two hundred tickets sold, so that a splendid crowd witnessed the event. The Scouts' goals were credited to English and Cooper, scored in the first and second periods. There was not a slow moment, both teams playing ramsy hockey throughout and apparently being about evenly matched. The return game takes place at Vermilion Saturday night this week and it is hoped the boys will be well supported with a bumper attendance. The entire expenses of the Vegreville trip amounting to some $25.00 came out of the individual pockets of the boys, and the Standard asks that everyone turn out to the game Saturday night and boost the young hopefuls

GUP AGAIN BACK

The Blair Cup, elsewhere reported as being won from local curlers Saturday night, is again back in Vermilion, this time it is confidently hoped to remain for awhile Skips Walden Berger and Cameron of the V. The Midwestern Tractor Wheel Co., Detroit, Mich., is establishing a large factory at Abbotsford, Ont., where a site of 75 acres has been purchased for plant and dwellings for employes.

Advices have been received by the Provincial Government at Victoria, that the Dominion House of Commons will consider the proposal to settle 1,000 old country families in the Stuart Lake district, central British Columbia, at the next session of parliament, when a measure dealing with Imperial Land Settlement and industrial enterprises will be dealt with. The provincial government has offered a tract of land at a nominal price and agrees to expend all the money in building roads, etc. for the benefit of the projected settlement.

It is reported that the $400 sheep taken to Fort William, Ont., by an Alberta rancher to be fed on elevator screenings are thriving and will be in the pink of condition by spring. The screenings are supplied free by the elevator companies, the only charge being a nominal fee for switching cars. Other ranchers will probably follow the pioneer's example, and Fort William may become a stock feeding centre, as well as one of the great grain shipping ports of the world and a rising manufacturing

ARMSTRONG OPPOSES KING IN NORTH YORK

Premier King and Hon. G.P. Graham Will Make Conservative and Progressive Opponents

Ottawa Jan 14.—With contests certain in two of the federal ridings in which the by-elections for the return of ministers are being held on February 7 the holding of nomination meetings today are regarded interest. The announcement that F.A.M. Armstrong, former member of parliament for North York, would oppose the return of Hon. W.L. Mackenzie King, raises points that as a supporter said it will probably mean that the premier will cause Ottawa for Newmarket tonight and who speak at the nomination meeting there tomorrow afternoon. Hon. G.P. Graham is going to be the only other member of the cabinet against whom opposition is certain, the Progressives at South Essex having decided to contest his re-election

The ministers in Ontario who at present appear likely to be returned by acclamation are: Hon. W.C. Kennedy, North Essex; Hon. Charles Murphy, Argenti, and Hon. James Murdock, Kent.

Quebec: Hon. E. Lapointe, Quebec East, Hon. J. Bureau, Three Rivers, Hon. J.A. Robb, Chateauguay-Huntingdon, Hon. H.H. Beland, Beauce, and Sir Lomer Gouin, Laude Outremont

Even the maritime provinces there seems no definite sort of opposition to the three ministers who will seek re-election. Those are Hon. W. S. Fielding (Queens-Lunenburg), Hon. D. D. Tolmie (N.S. Cape Breton-Victoria) and Hon. P.J. Veniot, New Maryland

Hon. W.R. Motherwell appears to be assured of an acclamation in Regina, Sask.

Miss Maggie with a despairing gesture carried her hands to her head.

Miss Flora turned to Mr. Smith.

Mr. Smith, you surely don't think we do right?"

Mr. Smith grew very red—perhaps because he had to repeat the word again.

"Well Miss Flora, I—I'm sorry but I'm afraid I shall have to agree with Miss Maggie here, to some extent."

"But you didn't read the letter! You don't know how heartless it is!" she cried.

You told me and you say you told me that he made you own a post of five feet by an inch square. Surely you couldn't call that a home!"

I don't need to, Mr. Flora," broke back her head a little proudly.

And I'm glad I don't dwell as to how men and women are made and May ple Dell do!"

I don't need to, Miss Flora," broke back her head a little proudly.

And I'm glad I don't dwell as to how men and women are made and May gie Dell do!"

Whether or not you know what you're talking about, I'm sure I don't know anything about it, and you didn't ever get letters like this either of you, of course, anyhow, I don't care if he is rich, worthy of, I wouldn't let those and dress suffer, and I—I'm glad I sent it! I never in my life was so happy as I was on the way here from the post of fice th's morning!"

Without waiting for a reply, she turned away impulsively, but at the door she paused and looked back at Miss Maggie.

"And let me tell you that, however good or bad this particular man may be, it's given me an idea, Miss Maggie," she chided. "The haughtiness was all gone now. "I know now what I hasn't seemed right to be so happy. It's because there are so many other folks in the world that aren't happy. Why, my children and yours ought to choke me now if I didn't give some of it to—to all these others! And I'm going to—I'm going to!" she retorted cied, as she fled from the room.

As the door shut crisply, Miss Maggie turned and looked at Mr Smith. But Mr Smith had crossed again to the stove and was fussing with the damper. Miss Maggie, after a moment's hesitation, turned and went out into the kitchen, without speaking.

Mr. Smith said Miss Maggie saw very little of Miss Flora after this for some time. But they heard a good deal about her. They heard of her generous gifts to the families of her town.

A turkey was sent to every house on Mill Street without exception, and so much rapid given to the Allen family that half of them were made ill, hurt the Ostermeyer. Miss Flora, it was said, prodigal, and a private turkey to take her work. The Lees, by hard working and thrifty, and the Nolans for their laziness and their shiftlessness each received a ham and Colby cheese. Even the Widow Gray, always with both hands metaphorically clutched for gifts, was seen to be the proud recipient of Miss Flora's great kindness and liberality. But the darling of them all was Jane Filadelfia, impecunious relative, had very visible difficulties in making Miss Flora understand the gifts received as she believed the latter were more welcome elsewhere.

Every day, from one quarter to another, came stories like these to the ears of Miss Maggie and Mr Smith. But Miss Flora was seen very seldom. Then one day, about a month later, she appeared as before at the little cottage, breathless and agitated, only this time, plainly, she had been crying.

Mr. Flora, down in the world at the moment," cried Miss Maggie as she hurried her visitor into a seat, "you couldn't call 'em up very well!"

"Yes, yes, I know, but I'm not crying—that is much—and that's all right. I'll tell you just as soon as you get Mr Smith. It's only that I'm—I'm so glad, I suppose! Please get Mr Smith."

"All right, dear."

Miss Maggie, still with the disturbed frown between her eyebrows went to the door. Mr. Smith, however, as they sat down to hear Miss Flora's story.

"It all started, of course, from—from that day I brought the letter here—from that man in Boston with seven children, you know."

"Yes, I remember," encouraged Miss Maggie.

"Well, I—I did quite a lot of things after that. I was so glad and happy to discover I could do such things, that it seemed to—to take away the wickedness of my having so much, I know; and so I gave food and money, on, lots of places that I—I found everywhere 'most, that I could find that anybody needed it."

"Yes. I know. We heard of the many kind things you did," said Miss Maggie had the air of one trying to soothe a grieved child.

"Then I got—got—lots of 'em—all at once, one—then another and another, till lately I've been getting 'em every day, 'most, and some days two, or three at a time."

"And they all wanted—money, I suppose," observed Mr Smith, "for their sick wives and children, I suppose."

"Oh, not for children always—I thought it was them a good deal. But it was for different things—and such a lot of them. I never knew there could be so many kinds of such things. And I was real pleased at first—that I could help, you know, in so many places."

"Then you always sent it the money?" asked Mr Smith.

"Oh, yes. Why, I just had to, I—I way they wrote; and I wanted to. They wrote lovely letters and real interesting ones too. One man want ed a warm coat for his little girl, and he told me all about what hard times they'd had. Another wanted a brace for his poor little crippled boy, and he told me those things. Why, I never s'pose folks could have such awful things, and live! One woman got behind in her rent twenty dollars while she was in the hospital, and she had to—to give it to her. She wasn't a beggar exactly you s'pposed I'd send her that money" Of course I would! And there was a poor blind man—he wanted money to buy a Bible in raised letters, and of course I wouldn't refuse that! Some didn't beg, they just wanted to tell things. I bought a diamond ring to help put a boy through school and a ruby pin for a man who needed the money for bread for his children. And there was—oh, there was lots of 'em—too many to tell."

"And all from Boston, I presume," murmured Mr Smith.

"Oh, no—why, yes, they were, too, most of 'em when you come to think of it! But how did you know?"

"Oh, I guessed it. But go on I've haven't finished."

"No, I haven't finished. Instead Miss Flora, almost crying again. "And now comes the worst of it. As I said, at first I liked it all those letters—and I was so glad to help. But they're coming so fast now I don't know what to do with 'em. And I never saw such a lot of things as they want pensions and mortgages and chance, and educations, and wedding dresses and clothes to be buried in, and—and there were so many, and—and on queer some of 'em, that I began to be afraid maybe they weren't quite honest, all of 'em, and of course I can't send in such a lot as these are from, and I'm afraid I'm getting worried. Besides, I got another one this morning that I'm afraid I'm dreadful men that want to marry me. But I think that's the worst one for me. As I think I told you, this morning I got the worst of all." From behind a handkerchief appeared for a small portion of several chubby fingers appeared from a per "Look—look!" told you over and over I'm dreadful. Miss Maggie straightened the picture that had been turned face down and brought on a month ago, isn't it? Mr. Smith, I—I—I almost fainted!"

"Indeed I didn't!" The one I showed you, Miss Maggie, that I left at home. But I got this more. I'm afraid I'll have to go to—to Portland to see about it. But this more. I'm afraid I'll have to go to—to Portland to see about it. But this more. I'm afraid I'll have to go to—to Portland to see about it. But

Value Of Fall Rye As Dry District Crop Is Without Question

Owing to its adaptability to various soils, fall rye is coming rapidly into favor as many sections of the west

Although up until a comparatively few years ago this crop was largely grown only as a grain, its other uses have been partially responsible for its growing popularity. It is particularly useful in the drier sections of the west where wind damage is common and everywhere that livestock is a considerable factor in farming operations. Owing to the fact that it has possession of the ground at the time wind damage is most likely to occur, it is extremely valuable as it is large ly able to resist the destructive action of the wind even where no other grain crop would be failure. Its ability to stand pasturing both in late fall and early spring is one of the reasons for its popularity with stock raisers.

The method and dates of seeding vary greatly in the various sections of the country. In general practice, up to now at the title of the end of the season's work the middle of August would still have been worked as a summer-fallow up to that date. The advantages claimed for this method are that the land receives a partial summerfallow and, as a result, the yield both of pasture and grain is larger. Another advantage is that the crop is able to develop a good top before freeze-up, and the damage from winter is thus in practice lessened. While a bushel and a half is the usual rate of seeding at this time in the more humid sections, it may be increased slightly, especially if the intention is to pasture the crop very late or cut it for hay. In the drier sections it would be desirable to decrease slightly the amount of seed per acre. When seeding is delayed until after the last of September, it is very seldom that the crop develops a sufficiently large top to enable it to go through the winter without serious danger of damage from winter killing.

Another method which is rapidly coming into favor is the mixing of winter rye seed with the oat in the fall. This is done, in the way, enabling the land to produce two crops of oats at one time. As the winter rye does not shoot the first year it is sown, but merely forms a green mat about the surface of the ground, there is no danger of the oats containing winter rye when threshed, and the amount of feed made available in the stubble during the fall is almost unbelievable if not seen. The recommended method of seeding under this method is a bushel of oats and three pecks of winter rye per acre. Some good farmers recommend sowing the oats separately first, and, when they are about three inches high, cross-drilling with winter rye. Slightly more seed is used when this is done.

The value of fall rye as a crop for the dry districts and where wind damage is common and also as a pasture and hay crop is unquestioned, and fall rye is destined to increase in popularity as the good qualities become more widely known. By N. D. Markenzie

South Africa Wants Market For Maize

Collapse of German Mark Shatters Hope of Going Subirecon.

A Reuter despatch from Cape Town says: Increasing difficulty is being experienced in finding markets for South African maize, the production of which enormously exceeds local requirements. The chief grower are below Low's exports to South Africa and it is altogether impossible to find markets for export. The cheaper rate of exchange has not helped the farmer, but those were shattered by the collapse of the German mark and as a matter of fact a certain several consignments intended for Germany have been diverted elsewhere.

As a result of the embargo placed by South Africa's restrictions on the import of maize, the South African is appealed to [illegible] South African farmer, but those were shattered by the collapse of the German mark and as a matter of fact a certain several consignments intended for Germany have been diverted elsewhere.

Area of British Columbia

British Columbia has an area of 341,305 square miles which is only about seven thousand square miles less than the area of all Egypt, with the fertile districts of the Lower Nile Area in Delta country. Without the latter desert area, Egypt has an area of only 39,181 square miles, which is only 1,753 square miles greater than the area of Nova Scotia.

Sounds Which Animals Make

Phonograph Experiments Prove Our Ideas Are All Wrong

Experiments recently carried out in England by means of phonographs, in which several animals which usually do make, show that many of the popular ideas of the cries made by them are altogether wrong.

It is commonly supposed that sheep say "Baa." What the animals really say, according to a phonographic record is something like "Maa." A close examination of the mouth of the sheep shows that the animal cannot form the letter "B" at all. The shape of its mouth is all wrong for that.

How many people if asked to imitate a dog barking would say some thing like "Bow wow?" But the dog does not say this at all. On the phonograph the sound is like "Wow wow," without any suggestion of "B" at all.

Most folks think it would be quite right to speak of the growl of a tiger. As a matter of fact, this creature does not growl at all. Its ordinary cry in its native jungles has been shown to be a kind of cough. This resembles a sort of "Wouf wouf," although, as a matter of fact, it is very difficult to put the noise into words.

An attempt to take the so-called "cry" of the hyena proved interesting, on account of the fact that no one can be found to suggest words that would describe it.

Just two birds were tried in order to find what kind of a noise they made. Rooks and crows are said to "caw," but the sound they actually make re sembles a "Hoo" much more than it was shown that pigeons do not "coo." the cry they make being more like "hoo."

Cycling Across the Channel

Englishman Made Trip to Calais in Heavy Seas.

Of late, swimming the channel or crossing it on a waterproof has become a favorite stunt with English men. The latter feat these days was undertaken by one Harold Hayes. His machine was fitted on two large floats, with a propeller in front, driven from the rear wheel. He left Folkestone about 5 o'clock in the morning, accompanied by a motor boat, and soon encountered choppy seas and strong wind and, when in mid-channel, heavy rainstorm. For two hours after getting half way across Hayes fairly tore along at ten miles an hour, and although the waves were so rough that no food could be given to him. Sometimes he was almost washed from his machine, but he persisted, and rode into Calais harbor at 5 p.m. He had hoped to ride to France and return to Folkestone within 15 hours, but the sea off the French coast made that impossible

Things Which We Cannot Rub Out

Thoughts and Actions Leave Trace on Human Character

A wealthy young fellow was standing before a costly plate-glass window, idly scratching upon it with a diamond which he wore on his finger. A small street urchin, after watching him for awhile with evident signs of displeasure, finally said to the elder in a manner that was disfiguring the window:

"Don't yer do that no more; what d'yer call it, 'fun?'"

Why, what I do it? said the other. "Guess I shall do it if I want to. Why not?"

"Because," said the younger boy and his voice became earnest, "because yer can't rub it out."

Human character is the window upon which every thought, word and action is leaving its certain trace. And those of these scratches will rub out the marks which our daily lives are leaving upon our personal characters.

Moplah Natives Declare Home Rule and Confiscate Crops

An illustration of what would befall in happen in India were British control removed is given by a despatch from Calicutt telling of a fanatic of the Moplah outbreak. The rebels are offering Hindus the alternative of death or Islam. If they choose, the victims are ordered to dig graves and then if they still refuse to embrace Islam, they are shot dead and dropped into them. Complete Home Rule has been Hindoo Crops belonging to Hindus have been confiscated. The Hinds are fleeing; there are over 2,000 refugee at Pernbimanna.

India has sixty million Mahommedans, and while the Hindus far outnumber them, the followers of Islam are much the more virile breed.

A Simple Tipping Gear

New Solution Has Been Patented By British Firm

The number of devices invented for raising the body of a wagon so that its contents may be tipped out of it a dump is legion. Most of the forms adopted are slow in action if they are simple, and if the action is rapid the mechanism is very heavy and complicated, especially where side tipping as well as rear tipping is required. Some interest therefore will be taken in a new solution patented by a British firm. It consists simply of an ordinary jack fixed on the chassis immediately beneath the centre of the body, and operating in a ballard socket joint which enables it to tilt in any direction as the jack is raised or lowered. The body rests on hinges which can be adjusted for side tipping—to either side—or for rear tipping. When the wagon has to be tipped, all that is necessary is to arrange the hinges in a suitable way and operate the jack by means of the engine on the car. The jack in its new position is only very slightly outside where the hinges remain fixed The operation is quite rapid; and in the case of any breakdown of the power the mechanism can be operated by hand. The only additional weight which this invention involves is the weight of the jack and the gearing fitted it to the chassis.

Man Played "Home, Sweet Home" for Dead Son

A touching story of his experiences in connection with the world war comes to the Western Front was told by the Rev. S. H. Lloyd, naval and military secretary to the Church army.

An elderly man on reaching his son's grave produced a mouth organ, and knelt reverently by it, playing "Home, Sweet Home."

"I see her," he said, "my poor lad always liked to hear me play this song when he came home on leave, and I would like to play it to him just once more."

Alberta Hail Losses

Last Season Largest In History Of Province

The amount of hail during the past summer has proved the largest in the history of Alberta, according to figures now now furnished by the hail insurance board of the province.

Approximately the damage represents 11 per cent. of the total crop, or almost double what it has been in any year since 1912. The damage since the latter year is as follows: 1913, six per cent.; 1914, four per cent.; 1915, six per cent.; 1916, seven per cent.; 1917, 5.5 per cent.; 1918, 2.5 per cent.; 1920, four per cent.; and 1921, 11 per cent. These year give an average loss of $55 per cent

Two Canadians, father and son, have set up location claims upon great deposits of iron and coal in the Lake Athabasca district. This discovery place in the records of cheerful optimism. For the region is one that railroads could reach only after conquering hundreds of miles of quaking bogs. Outlet by water is impossible for bulky materials. The working season is only three or four months long. There are several vast reserves of fuel and metal in the world, some of the greatest being in the Antarctic continent, but their exploitation must follow the exhaustion of supplies in climates less rigorous. Beauty Will Be Rewarded

Contest Open to Women Between Ages of 18 and 35

Beauty will be rewarded in a contest open to women between the ages of 18 and 35 years, which is to be held in connection with the Canadian National Exhibition at Toronto, August 26 to September 9, 1922. Prizes totalling $1,000 will be awarded to the winners, and the contest will be conducted along the lines of the Miss America contest held at Atlantic City last year.

Entries will be received by the Canadian National Exhibition Association, Toronto, and will be closed on August 1. Contestants will be required to appear in person at the exhibition grounds on August 26, when the judges will make their selections. Contestants will be required to appear in bathing suits, evening gowns and street costumes.

When the Prairie Turns

Grass Will Be Planted Where Trees Were Felled

When the prairie farms of the middle west were developed, the lust of trees was felt. The clear sweep of the winds across the flat plains was a proved hindrance to agriculture, for the soil was dried out quickly by evaporation, and grain was lodged by the mechanical force of the wind. Windbreaks became the only remedy, and thousands of miles of them were planted along roads and farm division lines. The effect of this planting, though only gradually felt, was very much brighter; farming and living conditions became more favorable throughout the whole region.

Any body of trees which gives protection to buildings or crops may be called a windbreak. This article has to do, however, only with belts of trees planted about fields and farm buildings, especially for the purpose of breaking the force of the wind. The typical windbreak is a belt consisting of from six to eight rows of trees and usually from a quarter of a mile to a mile in length.

The influence of a timber windbreak upon air currents is purely mechanical. Its effectiveness depends, therefore, upon how it is made to operate it. The ordinary windbreak does not entirely check the movement of the wind; a certain amount of air forces its way between the branches and follows the lee of the belt. The movement of the air on the leeward side is not completely stopped but only greatly reduced. Two belts of trees composed of such trees as cottonwood become cold, wide openings are left between the trees at the base that wind gets through near the ground than higher up. Such windbreaks can be made effective by planting shrubs among the cottonwood with other trees or shrubs.

An ideal windbreak for checking wind currents would have the cos shape of a north dam. In the central rows would be planted the tallest trees. Such a windbreak would not be easily penetrated, and its broad surface would divert the air currents upward and relieve the horizontal wind pressure.

Breaking the mechanical force of the wind benefits the farmer most directly by protecting his grain crops The value of the windbreak in giving this protection is, of course, difficult to measure in dollars and cents, but where winds are at all frequent such protection alone may be equal to the rental of the ground occupied by the trees. In one case in Southern Min nesota a windbreak, 50 rods long and about 26 feet high above the field surrounded, afforded complete protection for a strip about 300 rods wide during a wind blowing at 50 miles an hour On the unprotected part of the field the wind blew the quilf of the corn and beat the remainder halfway, the dam age beginning at the edge of the 10 rod strip and increasing until it was greatest in that part of the field far thest from the windbreak. The corn was in the milk stage at the time of the high wind and did not produce more than a third of a crop on the damaged area. On the protected portion the total yield was 250 bushels to the full crop of 6 acres, whereas the windbreak occupied only 2 acres.

Movement of the topsoil also may be checked and dust storms prevented by breaking the force of the wind For this reason windbreaks are of no benefit in sandy regions or regions where the soil is very fine

Added to the crop and soil protection belts is value of fuel that can be derived from protection from wind about the farm and home and along public roads. Furthermore, a protected home is heated in winter more readily, and hence more cheaply, than one exposed to the wind.

Wireless Telephony

Edmonton Picks Up Concert Program From San Francisco

What is asserted to be a world's record for land transmission of wireless telephony, was achieved at Edmonton, when a concert programme being sent by wireless from San Francisco, was picked up and distinctly recorded. The two points are over 1,400 miles apart. This was accomplished by W. W. Grindley, wireless engineer for the Dominion Government, others present when the demonstration occurred were Bert L. Perry, president of an Edmonton electrical firm, and G. E. Mantle, of the editorial staff of the Edmonton Bulletin.

Mr. Grant was engaged at the time in making tests at Edmonton, where it is proposed to establish a wireless service connecting up the Fort Norman oilfield and other advanced posts in the north country. It is considered that such a service would be of the greatest value during the progress of opening up the resources of the north.

Songs and instrumental music were distinctly heard by the Hatcners at Edmonton, also some news items spoken by the chairman.

One Way Out

Settling Country's Waste Places Would Decrease Canada's Debt

Canada's debt is more than $2,300,000,000, which is nearly eight times the amount of the national debt in 1914. The annual charges on the obligation are about $1,000,000, or ten times the charge on the old national debt. We have acquired besides, a railway liability of $1,500,000,000, which involves a deficit of more than $75,000,000 a year. If we add to these national liabilities the debts of provinces municipalities which, combined, must reach several billions more, we obtain some conception of the tremendous burden that is borne by our population of less than 9,000,000 Now the whole trouble is that it does not take account of private investments in various enterprises and utilities which must be supported by that same public if they are to continue to exist.

There are only two ways out of this jungle. One is by the adoption of a sound and resolute policy of economy. The other is by settling the country's extensively waste places. Both processes must be carried on together.—Victoria Times.

Cattle Feed Impurities

Official Investigation Carried Out With a View to Bringing About Improvement

During the war not only did the price of cattle feeds of all descriptions greatly increase, but they also deteriorated in quality to a marked degree Dangerous as well as unpalatable feeds were reported. In an effort to improve the situation the Dominion Department of Agriculture undertook to obtain data which might serve as a basis for the resolution of the matter by legislation, which latshore been enacted. A bulletin dealing the results of the investigations has recently been issued. As a preliminary step, manufacturers of feeds and dealers all over the country were communicated with and samples obtained These were analyzed, dried for their purity and absence of injurious weed seeds, and then for their value in percentage of fat, albuminoids, hydrates (starch, sugar and allied substances), fibre (the least valuable of nutrients, consisting largely of woody matter), ash (a mineral matter taken from the soil by the plant, which in the animal assists in the digestion, some). The extent and thousandth sense of the work will be appreciated when it is stated that 67 samples of bran, 69 samples of shorts or mill dings, 5 samples of feed flour, 36 samples of barley and barley products, 14 samples of whole oats and 3 samples of hulled or hulless oats, 26 samples of coat feeds, 6 samples of Vim feed 21 samples of caramel, 3 of gluten feed, 11 samples of mixed chop feeds, 11 samples of Scotch market feed, 10 samples of Sampson feed, and varying quantities of calf meals, horse feeds, poultry feeds, oil cake meal and miscellaneous feeds, were analysed and determined for their nutritive properties. Details of which are set forth in the bulletin in tabulated form. Description is also given of the feeds and samples of the weed seeds frequently found in commercial feeds.

Discussing Dog Derby

Record Entry Predicted for Annual Race at The Pas

Cold weather came again revising The Pas 200-mile dog derby as a topic of conversation in this northern country, and prospects are for a record list of entries. While still many months away, February 28, 1922, being the date on which it will be run, enquiries have been received from many would-be entrants, and the line-up of eleven first-class teams is practically assured, but many more contestants may yet be heard from.

Many of this year's drivers, including Coyne, Dupas, Billy Winterton, Morgan, Bancroft, Larry McKay, Sam Swanson, and Bob Wood, have already entered. A new entrant will be Billy Bunich, of Lake Athapapuskaw, but every driver is known for the stamina of his team. Stev. Bjorkman, of Gladstone, who enters annually, but never wins, is another likely entrant.

An invitation has been sent to the Nome Kennel Club by the derby committee to send teams, and the Fairbanks drivers have also announced their intention of sending a representative.

Rye Growing in Alberta

Amongst the Rye Fields on the Noble Foundation, Alberta.

Seventy kernels of rye go some heads, and the average with from thirty-four to fifty-five kernels, is what the Rosen rye is producing on the Noble Farms in Southern Alberta. Some heads run to two inches long, and the grain bursting through the chaff, and look more like winter wheat than the coarser grain.

Just what the yield will be is still more or less of a surmise, which can only be verified after the crop is threshed. From present appearances, however, thirty bushels to the acre seems to be a conservative estimate over the whole acreage in some fields, fifty bushels appear to be nearer the mark.

In all, some 2,200 acres were seeded to this crop. Allowing thirty bushels to the field, 66,000 bushels will be harvested from present prospects. Under present conditions that would produce a fifteen to twenty bushel field of wheat, will produce [illegible]

Why France Keeps Her Army

Nation Feels Need of a Safeguard Against Germany.

The French army is maintained for one purpose only. It is maintained as a safeguard against Germany. Germany is disarming, and France is tardily convinced that the Germans, under the influence of Chancellor Wirth are really determined to fulfill the terms of the London agreement. But for all this Germany intends to give the benefits of military training to her unarmed army. An unarmed race, in so many words, Frans fears the Germans can, and will, prepare secretly enough to meet [illegible] Where [illegible] Whether [illegible] Whether [illegible] Whether

Announcement

TO THE PUBLIC:

We take pleasure in announcing that, effective January 20th., we are making a very substantial reduction in our prices on all grades of lumber. That reduction will vary from two to twelve dollars per thousand feet and when it comes into effect, taking into consideration the greatly increased freight charges, our prices will compare very favorably with those in effect during the years 1915-16. To those who, owing to high prices, were obliged to defer all building plans during the last five or six years this information, no doubt, will be very welcome and while we may meet with some loss in giving us to be able to assist so materially the effort which is being made in all directions to get business back to a normal basis.

We will be pleased at any time to draw up plans and furnish estimates on any class of building and on what business we are favored with during the year 1922 in addition to giving as good a price as anywhere obtainable we will endeavor at all times to live up to our motto of QUALITY and SERVICE.

Yours truly,
HAYWARD LUMBER COMPANY, LIMITED,
Douglas Jones.

ENTANGLEMENTS BLOCK VERMILION ROAD TO EDMONTON

C. Olmsteed Smashes Into Obstructions With Car

(Edmonton Bulletin)

Thirty miles east of Edmonton, on the Vermilion road, the highway is blocked by barb wire entanglements and trees dragged across the road by a local farmer. C. E. Olmsteed, sheriff's officer of Vermilion, who has just arrived in the city states that as a result there is great danger to the travelling public, and to autoists in particular, many of the latter having crashed into the obstruction Prior to reaching the blockade there is a short sharp hill, on topping which the auto driver has no time to halt his car before he is into the trees, which reach right across the road, and which it is impossible to miss. Coming from Vermilion, Mr. Olmsteed struck the obstruction with his car, the machine sustaining considerable damage as a result.

On the Edmonton side three large trees have been dragged across the road; on the west end there are four or five covered with barb wire entanglements, while the size of the trees may be gauged by the fact that a four horse team was necessary to get the blockade into position. On the side of the road there is a dangerous on coming fifty feet down, and Mr. Olmsteed is of the opinion that some bad accident will occur unless the blockade is removed immediately. The reason for the blockade is said to be a dispute between the government and Mannville. The author ities put a fenced road across one corner of the agriculturist's land; the arrangement evidently was not satisfying and he is retaliating by closing the highway.

In this particular section no other road exists, and to avoid the blockade it is necessary to travel a considerable distance out of the way, passing through eight gates before the main road is reached again. The provincial police have been notified. It is likely that the Alberta force will be on the scene shortly, but travellers are warned that in the meantime to be on the watch for this dangerous obstruction of the Vermilion road.

Have you ever stopped to think how this country would have to there who would supply the thousand and one necessities of domestic life?

Dear Sir,
Having organized a hockey team composed of single men of the town not represented in teams composing the Big Six League, we would like to arrange a game with the bachelors men of this town.
With this object in view we are nothing you to give publicity to this letter in your columns. We sincerely hope the business men will take this matter up, and notify the undersigned of any action taken towards arranging a game
Sincerely yours,

LETTER
(From our own Correspondent)
A very nice game in Mannville on the 12th. Since then the sports up there want odds of five to one when betting against the Farmers. We might say we don't approve of the three and four men defence style of hockey played by Mannville that night. It slows up the game
Dan McLaren, Norman Parker and Mrs F Goodgette are representing Claysmore at the U.F.A. and C.W.N. A convention in Calgary this week. Dan said he wanted to see the Tigers in action. "no see how they compares with the Farmers, I suppose."
The trustee board for the next term is composed of Ira Schurman, J. H. Foster and Fred Shore. Mr. Shore succeeded L. McCallum whose term expired this year.
W.D. Williams thinks he will make a good accountant after keeping the Municipal Pound books for a few months.
The oyster Supper was a success, and we think every one had a good time. Vermilion was well represented and we take this opportunity of expressing our appreciation to those attending. That Stellaville orchestra are all to the mustard. But we have got to hand it to those ladies of the district who contributed toward making the supper the success it was.
Last week Jim Foster was our idea of a hard luck proposition He was too late to come to the Oyster Supper and added to that he contribut d the price of admission Oh, well, he had some consolation, he caught cold watching the Farmers win on the 9th.
Five to one, oh that's not too bad. Is this the result of a change of management in the Five Draws camp? We don't think so We consider it is only the result of showing up the game by playing three men defence. We were pleased to note that the Farm ers did not do that even when the score was five to nothing in their favor. Nothing to it, those Farmers are the goods

FARMERS 5, MANNVILLE 1

Three Straight Wins For The Agriculturists

Vermilion, Jan. 12—Jack Tucker's highly touted Farmers kept in the hunt for the championship title of the Big Six hockey league, by disposing of Mannville's gifted puck-manipulators at the Royal rink at Mannville tonight in a game that was featured by rapid scoring rallies. The final tally was 5-1 and the Farmer huddlers had the large end of the counting owing to a rapid fire finish in the second period, when they doused the bumpus cards for 4 goals The tillers of the soil had a regular delirium in heating the tapestry in this stanza. This is the second time this season that the fast-travelling agriculturists have taken the Mannville sextette into camp, being their third consecutive win this season. A large contingent of hockey enthusiasts accompanied the team to Mannville to see their pets do battle. Several hundred fans were in attendance to see the match.

The agrarians showed a lot of the stuff that made them famous last year, and as a result the Mannville crew had to accept their third straight defeat of the season. At no time during the white and royal tribe look capable of bagging the contest. However, the white and blue wearers displayed a marked improvement over their last appearance with the Farmers, but were defeated by superior team-work on the part of the invaders. R. Williams of Innisfree acted as referee to the entire satisfaction of all concerned. The Mannville aspirants travel to Vermilion on January 19th when they clash with the Fire Braves.

Rosebeck and C. Barr played a splendid hockey for the Farmers. Loison and Walter Turnbull were the pick of the losers. McKinnon of the white sets was also effective, but Goodie Holland was the outstanding star of the game.

The first period was a thriller from start to finish and was the best played of session in the game. The boys treated at a sweaty clip from bell to bell and the wits enthusiastic rooters were on their toes pretty nearly every minute When the breathing spell came the score was 2—0 in favor of the white and blue wearers. If it had not been for the faculty young Master Rosebeck had of cutting in the way of likely looking shots, it would have been a sadder tale for Mannville fans when the ably manned sirens which they erected this season. It is certainly brilliantly halved up with Rosebeck. The writer makes the statement without fear of contradiction that Mannville's one of the finest and best laid out rinks for a town of its size in Alberta in our somewhere in the neighborhood of $1100 to build it.

Valuable Rosters

As to the Farmers' victory, we supported and encouraged it a fairer contingent of hockey fans never graced the season winning aggregation to stack laithfully in their colors.

"Your spontaneous generosity is much appreciated and is the event of a crop next year I will have no difficulty in collecting funds for the Party." This is the conclusion of a letter of thanks received by the provincial Red Cross Headquarters from one of the districts where the Junior Red Cross sent toys and other cheer in order that the children might enjoy a Christmas tree.

Miss Church, superintendent of the Junior Red Cross work throughout the province, has received many letters of thanks from the children and their parents in the districts where toys were distributed for Christmas.

FIREMEN FALL TO FARMERS

VERMILION, JAN. 16.—That Jack Tucker's fighting aggregation are invincible was clearly demonstrated at the Arena Rink here tonight when they crossed sticks with Harley Gadley's young hopefuls for the second time this season in a big six league fixture, and trounced the fire braves to the tune of six goals to nine. The game was staged before a crowd of 400 fans, who were treated to an exciting and strenuous sixty minutes of hockey. As far as the game went leaving the score out, it was as good as any exhibition this season. The Firemen new not quitters Even though the score was 5-0 against them after the second period they did not let up for one moment and they are good losers Although the aggregations were somewhat below their standard tonight, they put up a fast brand of hockey, which outclassed the Fire Braves in the second and third sessions. The fire-fighters that met defeat at the hands of the Farmers played fully fifty per cent better hockey than on that fatal occasion, but it was never equal to the irresistible combination of the black and yellow tribe, except perhaps in the first period.

The end to the first spasm saw the score 1-0 for the Farmers. In the second i riod, the farmers notched 4 tallies while the Firemen were unable to register a single goal. In the final period the Farmers registered one goal, and the Firemen one. Harry Smith of Innisfree handled the game in good style As a referee, Howes made a good impression with the local fans.

Fred McQuoe and "Silent" Curtis shared chief honors for the boys. Mc-Queen dazzled the fans with his tricky and brilliant stick handling, and made numerous openings for his team mates on some difficult plays. For the attack with grace and skill of a Duke Keane, and never hesitated to pass the rubber at any time. Mackenzie in goal gave a good account of himself. Pilkie, Scarfe and Rosebeck for the winners completed a great forward trio. McKinnon and Hamilton showed speed and dash, consentrating on attack while Wright endangered the Fire Braves' citadel. C. Barr and Howes were up to their usual form. Noland's sensational work between the posts was a star feature in keeping the losers from denting the bumper cards for more goals than they did. Jack Tucker's "Paddlers" can boast of an unbeaten record this season as their win Monday night made it four straight victories.

The teams lined up as follows:

Farmers	Position	Firemen
Holland	goal	Mackenzie
W. Barr	defence	Bennett
McKinnon	defence	McKenzie

One of the big problems which faces the Canadian Red Cross Society is that of getting in touch with residents of Canadians who are in Foreign countries. The greatest difficulty is experienced in this respect with Soviet Russia. In order to help Red Cross Society in Geneva however, it is hoped that better arrangements may soon be consummated with this country.

Canada's Needs

No 3—A World Market

In urging the view that one of Canada's needs at the present time is a world market, the producers of this country have become fatalistic and believe, but chiefly in fact, as has so often been the mark to many of Canada's needs national action by the Federal Government is looked for. The producers of this country in this connection have in mind a policy of a guaranteed price for the very things this Dominion requires to sell and can raise in abundance.

Of all the great producing countries in the world it is possible not to point to one that is naturally nationally favorable to the more backward of all in promoting trade in other countries. In the years before the war Germany under its clever guidance of its national government was pushing its way into every nook and cranny of the world. Great Britain has for long years been wide awake and alive to everything that is to be met in the world, and Government aids to trade and commerce have been a feature for the past half century. The sale of British made goods in countries not civilized and uncivilized. The United States too, only quite recently has it become of a lack of merchant shipping has developed enormously and if popular opinion counts for anything are active agents to encourage trade in other countries.

But Canada has done little or nothing in this direction. The efforts put forth have been puny and puerile, perfunctory and spasmodic, and the result altogether lacking in vision and totally devoid of real initiative and aggressiveness.

In Canada both manufacturers and producers have for the most part been quite content to adopt a policy of "let us alone" and be satisfied with what is handed to them. The world as a commodity is receptive that it has always taken more than it has given. Canada is no exception to the rule. It is controlled by the same principles. Its trade is made and retained on reasonable terms. Representatives in foreign countries to look after the interests of the country. Let the Government of Canada do what it will, it has a disadvantage and that is its national machinery is entirely inadequate to the aggressiveness as presented themselves could be put to its credit.

For a country that has recently been stated by a writer who showed facts and figures in support of the statements made that during the past year, when livestock were a drug on the Western Canadian market and where a prime cow could not be sold in some districts for the price of her hide, the demand at high prices existed in Mexico where because of the many years of revolution and political upheaval the livestock of the country was reduced to a minimum. In Mexico it was further declared was a ready market at high prices for the very animals which Canada had in abundance and was unable to sell.

In Mexico also high prices almost excessive prices were being paid for wheat and flour while the best price obtainable by our Western Canadian farmers for their wheat was less than the cost of growing harvesting and marketing the wheat through the elevators and railroads.

Why has Canada not built up a department of the national government which would, through its foreign representatives, be made immediately aware of such conditions, and which could put into act national machinery in motion to take full advantage of the opportunities thus presented? Instead, we have remained idle, trusting to Old World conditions to right themselves so that our wheat could flow with a profit to Liverpool and Europe, or dribble into the United States, and, with our live cattle shut out of Britain, we have disposed of our cattle at a loss in the markets of the United States and Chicago market.

Canada is a full fledged member of the League of Nations; our statesmen and politicians public men and newspapers speak of Canada as a nation. We may as a people be beginning to think nationally, but we have yet to begin the important work of acting nationally. Yet there is no country today in a better position to undertake a national commercial undertaking, and no country stands quite so badly in need of it.

Canada possesses a great system of national railways—the largest mileage under one management of any railway in the world—and it also possesses the greatest fresh water canal in the world, and the most efficient. Canada likewise owns and operates a national merchant marine with steamships plying on all oceans. The national railways and national merchant marine have been operated at a loss, but a national deficit of between fifty and one hundred million dollars. What they need is more business. The whole country is suffering for lack of markets wherein to sell its surplus products at a price which will yield a profit over production costs. Yet with its great national equipment ready to our hands, the Federal Government has not solved the opportunity of organizing a real department devoted to the development of foreign markets for Canada's products.

It is time Canada had a national trade organization with aggressive, expert representatives in all foreign lands offering even a remote chance of finding a profitable field for Canadian trade.

WHY BEAUTY FADES

A Condition Due Entirely to Poor, Watery Blood

The girl who returns home from school or from work thoroughly tired out will be fortunate if she escapes a physical breakdown because this getting in touch with mother nature is the first warning symptom of a thinning blood that must not be disregarded if her health is to be preserved.

When the blood becomes thin and impure the patient becomes pale, haggard and languid. She may study lives out easily but suffers from headaches, dizziness, loss of the bloom of health and a loss of appetite. This condition is due to the fact that when a prompt steps are not taken to increase the supply of blood, probably the make the rich, red blood that brings the glow of health to other tissues. You can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for it gives a fair trial there can bring back cheeks, bright eyes, a good appetite and good spirits. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills make rich, red blood, and so reach, languid girls active and strong as the full bloom of health. Mothers should insist upon their daughters taking a fair course of these pills. Then will not only relieve but will stay the further decline.

McGill Professor in a Good Farmer

Sir Andrew MacPhail Speaks Common Sense Words to Farmers

It is not generally known that Sir Andrew MacPhail, noted Canadian author, editor and professor, is a Prince Edward Island farmer. Much of his leisure is spent in the active management of his farm, and in common sense words, conducting experiments, analysing, comparing and superintending. Last year Sir Andrew gathered 425 bushels of potatoes to the acre, which is considered good even in Prince Edward. Three acres have reached the 500 bushel mark.

The Girl Proposes

The inhabitants of Illinois, in the Great Archipelago, are amazed at most entirely in sponge fishing When a girl desires to marry she first makes sure that she obtained the number of sponges from the sea that correspond with the number of years she has lived. Those she places in a silk net, which she presents to the man of her choice. Should he refuse, his chances of obtaining another bride are remote, as usually the Hindu maiden shuns him as a pariah ever after.

The Headless Home

BY LORETTO C. LYNCH

An Acknowledged Expert in All Matters Pertaining to Household Management.

She was wringing her hands disconsolately and bemoaning the unkind fate that had left her daughter—her precious daughter—away from home. She repeated again and again that it was such a good home.

And the question came to our minds —just what is a good home?

Good furniture and artistic surroundings do not make up a good home, although they of themselves are very desirable. For these our discontented friend had in the home she termed good. Yet one of the good chances I was privileged to know was not artistically furnished. But—the good home had a head.

In this case it was the mother, although it might have been the father. But every good home, whether in extents to accommodate one family, or a large number of individuals, must have a head. This head must be a sort of a court of last appeal.

It isn't so easy to be the head of a home. In the first place it requires patience and generosity and considerable of responsibility, but it requires love, patience understanding and a good moral and practical training in home-making as well.

The woman in question lacked the last requirement. She was a home without a head. Sometimes the father gave the children permission to do a thing after his mother had definitely told them they might not do them. Sometimes she went over the head of the father.

Often the girl came home from a hard day's work only to find the mother in a state of nervous prostration. There was no real family life since the family never met form a close and able—if there was any there was only—and then the other one or another never realized the most of value of having the family get to know each other by having at least one of the meals of the day together.

A good home is properly supported. Not only must there be provided sufficient funds to cover the necessities of life but this sum must be fairly spent to cover such items as food, clothing, shelter and operating expenses.

In the headless home, the item that usually suffers most is that of operating expenses. The allowance for food is often spent and drawn from such as lighting, laundry and sanitary cleaning.

Then, too, in the good home the mother has a keen appreciation of social life. Here the home is to which she mothers a little party now and then for the children—perhaps today or the children, and it shall be a real party. The girl does not go dashing about looking for the social center of unsociable home.

To be honest now, Mrs Mother, as we enter a new year, are you giving your family a really good home?

Perhaps you have a personal problem that is troubling you. Perhaps you could offer you a humble suggestion if you have, you'll you write me and tell me all about it?

For you may not be able to leave your children much money nor perhaps give them all the education you want to see them have, but if you leave upon them the memory of a good home you are leaving an invaluable legacy.

DO YOU SMOKE TOO MUCH?

There are many men on whose heart and nervous system tobacco produces the most serious results. It causes palpitation, pain in the heart, irregularity of its beat, makes the hands tremble, and the nerves so that causes shortness of breath and loss of sleep.

To counteract this demoralizing influence on the heart and nerves there is no remedy to equal

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS

They make the heart beat strong and steady, restore tone and vigor to the nerves, and remove all the evil results caused by the tobacco.

Mr. Frank Lister, 71 Terrace Hill Brantford, Ont., writes:—"I have been troubled with palpitation of the heart for a number of years, so that I feared it would bother me a lot. The doctor told me it would stay on me, but I did not give out but tobacco when I would get a spell my heart would palpitate so fast that I would get a perspiration, and get so weak I would have to sit right down and quit my work; also in the night I would wake up and my heart would be going. I should say, about 120 beats a minute. About three years ago I got a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, took them, and found that they did the job. I am feeling fine and have gained over 20 pounds in weight."

Price, 50c a box at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

CASTORIA
Fletcher's Castoria is strictly a remedy for Infants and Children. Foods are specially prepared for babies. A baby's medicine is even more essential for Baby. Remedies primarily prepared for grown-ups are not interchangeable. It was the need of a remedy for the common ailments of Infants and Children that brought Castoria before the public. Its merit, and no claim has been made for it that its use for over 30 years has not proven.
What is CASTORIA?
Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhoea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep. Giant Shell Of War

Heavy Explosive Has Just Been Dug Up Near Mons

A shell weighing two tons, dropped from a height of a mile on the village of Havar, not far from Mons, in the last year of the war, has just been dug up.

It did not explode when it fell, but made a hole in the earth about fifty feet deep. It is believed that the charge of explosive weighed nearly three-quarters of a ton, and the explosion would have been enormous had it work of great anxiety.

Peterboro, Ont.—"I can speak in the highest praise of Dr Pierce's medicines. I suffered for a long time from a terrible weakness, through which I became so run down, weak and nervous that I also had severe backaches, pains in my side and bearing down. I informed of Dr. Pierce's medicines and began at once to take them. I took two bottles each of the 'Favorite Prescription' and the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and they completely restored me to my work and rescued me to good health.

"At one time my husband became afflicted with a chronic cough which caused him to become all rundown. He got so thin he was almost a skeleton. He tried many medicines but did not get better until he took Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. By taking this medicine he was completely restored to good health I shall always speak a good word for Dr Pierce's medicines."—Mrs Martha Shuler, 379 Bethune St.

They Profit Most Who Serve Best

Heroic Example of the Power of Advertising

Somebody out of touch with truth, once said there is no sentiment in business. Another, out of touch with good sense, declared "They profit most who serve best."

All the year a concern that helped put Burlington, Vermont, on the map of national business, is celebrating fifty years of successful service of the womanhood of the world "Diamond Dyes" is half a century old and they are having a series of happy episodes to make the anniversary a noteworthy one.

"Diamond Dyes" is a heroic example of the power of advertising, for the plant of small beginnings now covers a city block. The business was built on "making good" the ad promise that has made "Diamond Dyes" a household word Possibly the greatest asset of this proved ad to economy. In the good will of families that run through generations Young women tell us that their mothers and grandmothers before them, were like wood Dye enthusiasts. They like the Diamond "service plan" which makes it clear that for a few cents it is easy to "dye old things new"

An Aerial "Ship Coach"

Motorless Airplane Can be Towed Behind Air Express

"All forward for Brussels, Ostend behind," may be a familiar cry in the future London air stations. Already a sort of aerial "slip coach" has been designed and shown on the continent by Fokker, the Dutch aeroplane designer, consisting of a motorless aeroplane that can be towed behind an air express and slipped over an intermediate air station.

Persons sitting in the rear coach are piloted to earth by the navigator who sits in the aerial trailer in this way one would be able on a voyage from London to Brussels to drop passengers at Ostend without the express itself landing

Thyroid Gland Rejuvenation

Operation Makes Old Man Like Mere Youth

A cable from London to a Toronto paper says:

The first authentic case in England of thyroid gland rejuvenation has been discovered in London.

"Edward Llardet, 76, a hotel proprietor who underwent treatment at the hands of Professor Voronoff in Paris, early in 1921, declares that he has had 40 years taken off his age.

"I am a boy and feel younger than I was build and my hair is now growing," he stated. "The rejuvenation did not actually begin until a month after the operation, but then it went forward speedily."

Llardet appears to the casual observer to be about 56, and exhibits biceps which would be no disgrace to any college athlete

"Dr. Voronoff will operate upon him again this year and then again in 1923, when he declares the cure will be complete."

No matter how deep rooted the sore may be, it must yield to Holloway's Corn Remover if used as directed.

WHY IS IT
that chronic skin diseases which have defied all other treatments yield to Zam-Buk?
It is because Zam-Buk is germicidal, and also has such power of penetration that it reaches disease in the underlying tissues and cures from the "root" up. That is the only way a permanent cure can be effected.
Mr. H. C. Buckley of 461 E. Broadway, Portland, Oregon, says: "For chronic skin disease there is nothing like Zam-Buk. For fifteen years I had eczema, and I tried as endless number of so-called 'certain cures' but nothing was capable of stirring the perfectly hard I used Zam-Buk. One third of your life is allotted to sleep. Do you get your share?
The most important period in the process of applying nutrition to the repair of the body is while you are asleep. For the most favorable transformation of digested food into nerve and cell tissue, so doctors tell us, sleep is absolutely essential.
Is it any wonder that those who suffer from lack of proper sleep are weak, pale and lacking in energy or ambition?
One of the causes of insomnia is nerve-irritation from tea and coffee drinking. Tea and coffee both contain caffeine, which has a tendency to cause undue stimulation. The irritating effect of caffeine often results in insomnia, depression, and a weakened nervous system.
You can easily overcome these troubles by drinking Postum instead of tea or coffee. Postum is a delicious, satisfying cereal beverage, and it is absolutely free from caffeine, or any other harmful substance.
Ask your grocer for Postum. Drink this delicious, refreshing beverage for ten days. Then see if you do not feel better and more clear headed, and if you do not sleep better at night—as so many other people have proved for themselves.
Postum comes in two forms: Instant Postum (in deal made instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages of larger bulk, for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared) made by boiling for 20 minutes.

School Beginners

Parents please take notice that the Department Clerk for all first, second and every start school February 1st.

Two rinks of visiting curlers from Manville were down last week to again try conclusions for the Blair Cup. Messrs. Waldenberger and Cameron, the successful Vermilion skips who brought the banner down here earlier in the week, defended the attack and was handily and as a result this emblem of curling skill still rests comfortably at Vermilion.

A grand St Valentine's Masquerade Ball will be held in the Wetlesdale schoolhouse on February 14th, under the auspices of the United Locals of the U.F.A. Please keep this evening open. Further information later.

The Vermilion Co-Operative Live Stock Shipping Association wish to announce that in future and commencing on Thursday, January 26th, shipments of hogs will be made from their Vermilion yards, in co-operation with Manville Assoc. Shipments will be made every second Thursday. Hog raisers who are interested in [illegible] getting the market price, please take notice.

NOTICE—The annual meeting of the Queenie Creek Stampede Association will be held in the Queenie Creek school house at 8 p.m. on Saturday, February 4th. General, business, Election of Officers. Amendments to constitution. All members are requested to be present.—Verdie Robertson, Sec. Treas. 35-7c

Mrs Wells, wife of W.C Wells, A. P.P. who has been visiting her sister at Spokane, Wash., for the past few months, returned home last week. On the occasion of the reception attended by Marshall Pinchby the city of Spokane Mrs. Wells had the honor of not only shaking hands with famous soldier, but enjoying a few minutes conversation as well

The Seed Fair and Poultry Show will be held in the Shaw Room of Mackenzie's Implement Warehouse on Saturday, February 11th, 1922. Exhibits to be placed by 11 a. m. Prize Lists may be had upon application to the Secretary of the Agricultural Society.

NELSON—DALE

A pretty wedding took place on New Year's Eve at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J.C. Dale, Tring, when their daughter, Frances Loraine, became the bride of Ralph Edward Nelson, of Unity, Saskatchewan. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore [illegible] her nieces' uniform (by special request of the groom), and the marriage ceremony was performed by the Rev J.E. Ball, only immediate relatives of the contracting parties were present. A dainty supper followed after which Mr and Mrs Nelson left for the East. After January 15th, the young couple will be at home to their friends in Unity Sask., where Mr Nelson is in the Delco Light business. The many friends of the bride in Vermilion join in their congratulations and best wishes for the future.

Salvation Army Notes

The festival services are definitely postponed till the later part of February.

Sunday Services will be conducted at 11 o'clock in the morning and 7.30 o'clock in the evening. A bright, cheerful and interesting time is assured all who attend.

The second part of the Illustrated lecture will be given on Tuesday the 23rd at 8 p.m. The service is complete in itself and is entitled "Triumphs of the Bible" Everyone is welcome to this really interesting lecture.

Edmonton Bonspiel opens on Monday next. Vermilion is likely to be represented by one rink at least, perhaps two. Dr. F. Day Smith is getting together a good bunch and is almost certain to take in the big event.

The Standard is pleased to be able to record a falling off in the number of diphtheria cases in the town. In conversation with Dr. F. Day Smith he stated that the epidemic was well under control and only one new case, and that slight, has developed in the past week.

RE-UNION OF VETERANS

Over 100 Were Present

The annual re-union and banquet of the Vermilion Branch of the G.W.V.A. was held Friday evening, January 20, in the club rooms of the association, considerably over one hundred members and guests sitting down to the tables which were loaded with appetizing viands. The rooms were tastily decorated for the occasion. President J.P. Harvey sat at the head table to his right and left being the guests of the evening and the honor table members of the association. At the conclusion of the dinner President Harvey proposed the toast of the King, which was followed by a toast to the fallen comrades during which the gathering stood for a few moments with heads bowed as a silent tribute to those who had paid the supreme sacrifice. The toast 'Our Association' was proposed by Comrade J. Wather upon and replied to by Mayor Morris on. In his response the Mayor took the occasion to stress the appeals which were being made shortly for relief to the people in the dry areas in Southern Alberta and also for the Armenian relief work. There were two great needs, the call in each instance was urgent and he felt convinced that the town and district of Vermilion would respond generously. Nothing less than a carload of foodstuffs and clothing should do for the appeal from the south and the committee in charge of the Armenian fund had proposed to contribute a carload of flour, milled from grain in the district and ground into flour in the town of Vermilion. The "Ladies Auxiliary" was proposed by Comrade Percy Searle and responded to in a very neat speech by Mrs. W. Barr and Mrs. H.A. Edwards responded to the toast of the press during which he emphasized the demand for relief from Southern Alberta and particularly from Armenia. He appealed for generous support to both these worthy purposes. The rest of the evening was devoted to a musical programme and dancing.

Mrs. Wild was the lucky winner of the cake donated by Mrs. Hayes

The re-union was in every respect a splendid success, members being present from all parts of the district The association has now an excellent membership of over 250 members, enjoys a well appointed Memorial Hall with library and reading [illegible] baths and all the modern facilities and conveniences.

YORKTON PUPILS MUST STICK TO THEIR STUDIES

Too Much Social Dissipation in High School Says Official

Winnipeg, Jan. 20—A report from the Free Press from Yorkton says today says:

In a conference with Principal Finlay, the collegiate board discussed the question of the social dissipations of many of the high school students and the staff has been asked to call it to their board's attention. It was especially as during the week the students with their parents will be asked to meet the board along with the principal. They will be brought face to face with that matter of the school and which calls the opinion of trustees and their wives are likely to suspend or expel from school any pupil, who upon investigation by the board is found guilty of conduct injurious to the welfare of the school. The principal has been asked to make this matter very clear to the students since the board is determined that the measures shall not be taken to "beat the Mill" for students who are wasting their time and whose influence is retarding the progress of others.

This announcement was made to the students Wednesday by Principal Finlay, and a very strong plea was made that students should put themselves on file before all other things and spare their homes the embarrassment and disgrace which must surely follow if the board is forced to take extreme measures

Premier Greenfield has issued an appeal to the people of the province to rally in support of the fund which will shortly be opened by the Red Cross in order to carry on the relief work in the districts of the province where people are destitute owing to crop conditions last year. The Red Cross has been carrying on this work since September, at the request of the Government, and has looked after some 2,000 individuals in that time

(From our own Correspondent)
The cheapest thing we have around here this week is mercury. It's going very low lately.
About that Manitoba-Western game last week. It was terribly slow, in fact we don't know how they ever got through a whole game in sixty minutes.
It's rather hard on the team to stand in the cold and watch one man struggle to get through six men on the opposing team while five men stand back on the defence and let him go to it. If this is the proper way to play hockey, why we think we had better organize a checker club and speed up a little. The individual play was good. Lesson being the fastest man on the ice. The Bruins did home on up a little in the last twenty and passed fair hockey. Bill, we think Mannville had not been without the services of C Twins and McKinnon they would pretty near have scored that game.
There was to have been a game last Saturday on our rink between a team from Pikwitonei and the Clays more Sea. A chinook but the cold weather interfered to the satisfaction of the game
Art Wharry has gone to the coast Rumor has it that Art will have sold out the Bendelite before he returns
Tom Ede-ell is the new's reader of the Claysmore juniors who is becoming a calf for the Edmonton Horse Show
Somebody says that it wasn't fair that Geo Reagbeck had to play right wing when his place is left wing Geo. should worry We notice he seems to find the net as often as anyone else and they range
Here is something but we hope will keep you guessing for some time to come — What will my about a hockey game that the Farmers lose

FIVE YEAR'S SENTENCE
Five years in the penitentiary at Prince Albert was the sentence passed upon Charles Green of the Vermilion district last week in the Supreme Criminal Court at Edmonton before Chief Justice Harvey when he declared was found guilty of the charge of arson. It was alleged at the trial that the accused set fire to his implements and grain the same being at the time under seizure by the Canada Bank of Commerce. The fire occurred in May of last year on the morning of the sale. When the sheriff arrived at the place early in the forenoon only the charred remains of the implements and burning grain were visible Too late was the burning Green was arrested shortly after on the charge of arson and of stealing grain under seizure. He was committed for trial. Mr. Morrison appeared for the Crown on the preliminary and H. C. McDonald of Edmonton for the accused. Green was indebted to the Bank in about $7000.00. The charge of theft of grain was dropped when Green was found guilty of the other offence

James Walker, manager of the bank in giving his evidence, stated that the accused was at one time a prosperous farmer, with half a section of good land, which the witness valued at $7,000, while he had stock, implements and furniture worth another $5,000 He had three or four successive crop failures, and the bank lent him about $4,000, which was last year increased to $7,000 as the bank for that having carried the accused so far, they must do their best to help him further
In May, 1921, however, the bank decided that action must be taken to protect the outstanding debt, and finally, proceedings were entered for seizure and sale of accused's chattels It was now alleged that a fire which burned the barn, destroyed the grain stock, and damaged a binder and other farm implements, was deliberately set by the accused, with intent to defraud.
The jury were: Messrs. R.W. MacCashan, J.E. Laney and F.P. Mogan of Edmonton; E.P. Rowe, Tofield; Hugh Wolfe, Wainwright, and A.W. Fraser, Vermilion. R.B. Cogswell for the crown, with Hugh C. MacDonald, K. C., for the defence

SAY IT WITH FLOUR!
A meeting of citizens was called by Mayor Morrison on Jan. 17th in the Council Room at 8 p.m. for the purpose of considering a letter from Capt Mundrigh with reference to the Armenian Relief Fund of Canada, and of devising means of co-operating with the Alberta Provincial Relief Committee.
This committee, among whom are Hon. Chas. Stewart, Premier Greenfield, the minister and deputy minister of agriculture, H.W. Wood, president of the U.F.A. and the presidents of the U.F.W.A. and Women's Institutes, is making a strong appeal for the immediate despatch of grain to the famine areas; and Mr. Kendrick's letter was to ask Vermilion district to help to the limit of its power.
It was proposed by Rev Edwards that as there was a good mill at Vermilion the grinding should be done here and a car of flour rather than of wheat made the objective. The idea was well received and the following committee were appointed to push the scheme: Chairman, J.W.G. Morrison. Secretary, Rev. Mead Iveys Edwards. Members of the committee, the Press of the Board of Trade: Messrs. A. McNeil, J.L. Ford, A. Sloan, W.C. Welbe, H.R. Calvert, Jas. Walker, Jos McKone and the Press and Secy. of the district association of the U.F.A.
It is committee will be known as the Vermilion Branch of the Armenian Relief Association of Canada, and it is the only organization in town so dealing with famine relief, since in order to prevent a divided interest the Link "Save the Children Fund" is also closed, and the balance of the had turned over to the new organization.
The Standard desires to back this association with all its influence. It will devote space to giving information as to conditions in the famine areas, and the progress of the fund Undoubtedly we ought to be able to send away a car or four from this district, and we appeal to all our readers to help. Both town and country residents can take part, for each contribution will be received and will be given to the purchase of wheat to be ground into flour for Vermilion's Car of Help. Grain donations may be made at either of the three elevators, or if more convenient at Webbe's Mill. Special receipt books are provided the elevator men for checking these donations. Cash donations may be made at either the Royal Bank of Canada, or the Bank of Commerce, Vermilion; or may be sent by mail to either the Standard or Link offices. All donations whether of grain or of cash will be acknowledged in the columns of both papers. The scheme is sound. The machinery is clean. It is backed by the Farmers' Government. Dr. Nansen, who is in charge of the distribution on the other side says: "I implore everyone who spends those lines not to hesitate or delay for a single moment. There never was a cause when minutes were so precious.....every day takes toll of thousands of lives."
Wheat, Oats, Rye, Barley. Money most of us have at least a little of one or another..... Send a little appeal for those who have none or any of them. For those who are dying by the thousand they have none. YOU can HELP TO STOP THEM DYING, if YOU WILL. Don't wait. Do it now.

The Vermilion Young People's Society met in the Lecture room of the Presbyterian Church on Sunday, January 22nd. Prayer and the Bible reading "The Good Samaritan" were given by Rev. Wright. Good old hymns were sung in opening and closing. Dr. Miss Wilbanks sang a solo "My Task" after which Lieut. Digge gave a beautiful address "Others." Some beautiful thoughts were brought forth in this address. This was followed by solo entitled "For Others" by Miss E. Ryckman. Members of the young people have stated that they have benefited greatly by these meetings. We trust that they will receive even greater benefit in the future

he 4—A Greater Use of Canadian Raw Materials

Men of all shades of political opinion are agreed that Canada's future depends upon the development of her natural resources. Some of these resources are already being developed, others are awaiting the touch of the magic wand of capital. Some of the latter are being held back by the lack of transportation facilities, others by the lack of markets. Some are being held back by the lack of both. Take the case of the pulp and paper industry. Here is a natural resource which is being developed to the limit of the available markets. Why? Because the markets are limited by the lack of transportation facilities. Canada has the pulp wood, the water power and the skilled labor to manufacture pulp and paper for the markets of the world, but

BOXING AND WRESTLING MATCHES

The Firemen's Hockey team are planning a wrestling and boxing exhibition to be held in the Columbia Theatre on Thursday evening, Feb 9th.

The boys taking part have started training and include being in good shape for this event. A real interesting programme is being planned and a full list of events will be announced later. Keep the date in mind.

The bouts will be conducted according to official amateur rules, and the boxing bouts will be limited to three rounds of three minutes each; the wrestling bouts to ten minutes.

An invitation is extended to any amateur boxers or wrestlers in the Vermilion district whom the committee have not been able to get in touch with, to take part in this exhibition, and any one desiring to do so is asked to communicate with O. Burns at the Fire Hall or R. Fischer at the Vermilion Hotel.

Vermilion has been asked by the Amateur Union to send representatives to Calgary in March to take part in the Canadian Amateur championship and if any talent comes to light it is planned to hold an eliminating contest and have the Vermilion district represented.

At the annual meeting of the Vermilion Board of Trade to be held at the G.W.V.A. club rooms on Friday evening next Mayor McAlmon will give a short address on the question of Municipal Taxation. The matter of assessment is of vital interest to everybody in town and the Mayor's views on the subject will be awaited with interest. The meeting is called for the election of officers and the receiving of the reports for the past year. A light luncheon will be served after the business of the evening is completed. It is expected that there will be a large attendance

COMPLAINTS OF UNDERWEIGHT

Would Not Appear To Be Justified Upon Investigation of Facts

In connection with the charges that were recently made against J. A. McLaughlin stock dealer who has been buying and shipping cattle and hogs from the Vermilion stock yards for the past two years, of cases of underweight on a shipment of cattle from here made on January 11th, the Standard has made personal enquiries into the matter and publishes herewith the facts of the entire transaction as he obtained them. The complaint of underweight was made by a number of Ukrainian farmers.

The facts elicited were as follows:

The number of hogs bought and paid for was 253 and the total weight of the lot according to the weigh tickets compiled by G.W. Robinson, amounted to 41,675 pounds.

The weights compiled by the Alberta Provincial Police amounted to 42,105 the Tale weight was taken on the following morning and after the hogs had consumed 10 bags of chop into approximately 1260 pounds of water.

The hogs were sold to Swift and weighed over their scales in Edmonton at 41,745 pounds.

Resuming up the above three statements relative to the transaction the following is a result [illegible]

Buyer's Weight—Hogs pounds.
Provincial Police Weight—42,105 lbs
Scale Weight [illegible]
Purchase Weight at Edmonton—125 pounds less than what Mr. McLaughlin paid for

In favor of these figures we can consider that three could not have been handled in fat hogs, on his train action

CAN THE DEAF BE MADE TO HEAR?

This question can be answered both ways. If the deafness is due to Catarrh, success is assured if the sufferer persists in the use of Catarrhozone—and thereby drives Catarrh out of the system. Penetrating through the passages of the ear, the soothing vapor of Catarrhozone relieves the inflammation, destroys the Seeds of Catarrh—and thus gives nature time to assert herself. For Catarrhal Deafness, Colds, Sore Throat, Bronchitis and all other complaints, Asthma included, Catarrhozone is unequalled. Two sizes, 25c and $1.00, at all druggists, or The Catarrhozone Co., Montreal.

Frankenstein: Being a Letter From John Smith to Edward D. Norton, Attorney at Law

My Dear Ned:—Wasn't there a story written once about a fellow who created some sort of a machine man without any soul that raised the very dickens and all for him? Frankenstein?—I guess that was it. Well, I've created a Frankenstein myself—and I'm dead up against it to know what to do with him.

Ned, what in Heaven's name am I going to do with Mr John Smith? Mr. John Smith, let me tell you, is a most healthy, persistent, insistent, impertinent person, with many kind friends, a fairly good position in the world, and no small degree of influence. Worse yet (now prepare for a stunning blow, Ned), Mr Smith has been so incon siderate as to fall in love. Yes, he has. And he has fallen in love as absolutely and as blindly as if he were twenty-one instead of fifty-two. Now will you kindly tell me how Mr John Smith is going to fade away into nothingness? And, even if he could the way to do that, shall he, before fading, pop the question for Mr Stanley G Fulton, or shall he treat to Mr Stanley G Fulton's being able to win for himself the love Mr John Smith fondly hopes is his?

Seriously, joking aside, I'm afraid I've made a mess of things, not only for yourself, but for everybody else.

First, my own future. I'll spare you rhapsodies, Ned. They say, anyway, that there's no fool like an old fool. But I will admit that that future looks very dark for me if I am not to have the companionship of little woman, Maggie Dell. Oh, yes, I—"Poor Maggie." You've probably guessed as much. As for Maggie herself, perhaps it's conceited, but I believe she's not entirely indifferent to Mr John Smith. How she'll like Mr Stanley G Fulton I have my doubts but, alas! I have no doubts whatever as to what her opinion will be of Mr Stanley G Fulton's man regarding Mr John Smith. And I don't envy Mr Stanley G Fulton the job he's got on his hands to put him next right with her, either. But there's one thing he can be sure of, at least. If she does care for Mr Smith, it wasn't Mr Stanley G Fulton's money that was the bait.

Poor Maggie! (There! you see already I have adopted the Hillerton vernacular.) But I fear Miss Maggie is indeed "poor" now. She has had several letters that I don't like the looks of, and a call from a shiftylooking man from Steelton—one of your crew, I believe (begging your pardon). I think she's lost some money and I don't believe she had any extra to lose. She's an proud as Lucifer, however, and she's determined no one shall find out she's lost any money, so her lunch is more than ever. But I know, just the same I can hear something in her voice that isn't laughter.

Now, Ned, what a mess I have made of it! I feel more than ever now like the boy with his ear to the keyhole. Those people are my friends—or, rather, they are Mr John Smith's friends. As for being mine —who are I, Smith or Fulton? Will they be Fulton's friends after they find he is John Smith? Will they be Smith's friends even, after they find he is Fulton? Pleasant position I am in, eh? What?

Oh, yes, I can hear you say that it serves me right, and that you warned me, and that I was deaf to all reason thereof. It does. You did. I was—but I can't. But, somehow, to-day, nothing seems of any use, any way. And even if she learns more and more, I don't see as it's going to do any good. I haven't got any friends now. I'm not fine enough yet, it seems, for Mrs Gaylord and all that crowd. They don't want me among them, and they show it. And all my old friends are so envious and jealous since the money came that they don't want me, and they show it, so I don't feel comfortable anywhere."

Never mind, dear, just stop lying to me as you think other folks want you to live, and live as you want to, Mr. Smith."

Mr. Hastie smiled faintly wiped his eyes and got to her feet.

Why, Maggie, I'm surprised Miss Maggie Dell, a sister [illegible]

I would if Miss Maggie's sister [illegible] Jim, Mr. Hastie said Mr Smith [illegible] Maggie and you, Mr. Smith. I'm much obliged to you, [illegible]

I have no doubts whatever as to what her opinion will be of Mr Stanley G Fulton's man regarding Mr John Smith. And I don't envy Mr Stanley G Fulton the job he's got on his hands to put him next right with her, either. But there's one thing he can be sure of, at least. If she does care for Mr Smith, it wasn't Mr Stanley G Fulton's money that was the bait.

Poor Maggie! (There! you see already I have adopted the Hillerton vernacular.) But I fear Miss Maggie is indeed "poor" now. She has had several letters that I don't like the looks of, and a call from a shiftylooking man from Steelton—one of your crew, I believe (begging your pardon). I think she's lost some money and I don't believe she had any extra to lose. She's as proud as Lucifer, however, and she's determined no one shall find out she's lost any money, so her lunch is more than ever. But I know, just the same I can hear something in her voice that isn't laughter.

Now, Ned, what a mess I have made of it! I feel more than ever now like the boy with his ear to the keyhole. Those people are my friends—or, rather, they are Mr John Smith's friends. As for being mine —who are I, Smith or Fulton? Will they be Fulton's friends after they find he is John Smith? Will they be Smith's friends even, after they find he is Fulton? Pleasant position I am in, eh? What?

Oh, yes, I can hear you say that it serves me right, and that you warned me, and that I was deaf to all reason thereof. It does. You did. I was—and then men especially skilled in the various parts of the machine that required especial training to understand properly.

Why not be as careful of your own body? The mechanical principles upon which you are built and by which you live are just as true as those upon which you run your automobile.

But as your body is the most complicated machine with which you will ever come in contact, it requires a specialist in the line of intelligence in the "garage man" to diagnose your troubles.

Passing of the Clay Pipe

Old-time Pipe is Becoming Extinct in England

The clay tobacco pipe familiar in many generations, is passing in England. The wooden pipe and greatly increase cost of clay are said to have killed the industry.

Preparations have been made for the closing down at Bristol, after an existence of 200 years, of a firm engaged in the making of those pipes and believed to be the oldest house in this country, if not in the world. Many years ago there were 14 manufacturers of clay pipes in one parish of Bristol. One by one they have dropped out.

"YOUR TEETH"

THE HUMAN MACHINE

By REA PROCTOR McGEE, D.D.S., M.D., Editor of "Oral Hygiene"

Have you ever considered what a remarkable machine you are?

Think of the wonderful mechanism of your hand, your wrist, your arm! Think of the powerful muscles, the slender tendons, the rigid bones, delicate joints, the efficiently distributed arteries and veins. All of these and the rest of your marvellously built body do their work at your slightest thought.

In addition to all of this, your body has a power which requires nearly all of its own injuries, takes care of its own growth and renews its worn-out cells. Nature makes a complete effort to provide you with a perfect means to carry on your business and to enjoy the pleasures of life.

In order for your body to do these things it must have fuel in the shape of food and it is up to your mouth to receive and prepare this fuel. If your food is of the very purest and most appetizing variety, carefully prepared and tastefully served, it would seem that that would be all that is necessary.

But if that same pure food is placed in an infected mouth and is then thoroughly corrupted, by having mixed with it many types of bacteria and of the poisons resulting from bacteria, would it not seem that the damage to your system would be very serious?

The condition known as pyorrhoea, from which many people who use their hands in highly trained work, such as telegraphers, typists, pianists, frequently suffer, is caused by overwork and infection. The overwork reduces the vitality and resistance of the nerves and their sheaths, and infection in the great majority of cases comes from gum disease about the teeth.

This is only one of the many painful and serious derangements of your body marvellous that can result from diseases in the mouth.

If you can find a fine piece of machinery that got out of order, you would call in, first, a good general machinist

Developing Grain of Wheat

In One Year a Single Grain Produced 3,822,000

An experiment to show the fecundity of a grain of wheat has just been concluded at the Official School of Agriculture at Valladolid, Spain, with the result that one grain produced in a year 322,000 grains.

At the end of July 100 grains were sown separately. At the end of September the grains had developed an average of 12 shoots each. These were pulled out and weighed by the end of October each cutting furnished an average of eight shoots, which produced sixty five ears each, and each ear gave an average of fifty grains.

A simple multiplication sum shows that each of the original grains planted reproduced itself 13 by 8 is 65 by 50, making a total of 322,000 grains.

New Swine Policy

National System of Grading Hogs for Marketing Instituted

The Dominion Department of Agriculture is taking immediate action to give effect to the national swine policy outlined at the conference of producers, packers and agricultural officials, held at Ottawa last November, according to a statement issued by the department.

All hogs marketed at public stockyards and abattoirs on and after May 1 next, will be sold according to official grades in which a minimum premium of ten per cent. will be recognized for select bacon hogs. The grading will be performed under the direction of the Dominion Produce branch, according to standards acceptable to producers and the trade.

It is stated that an expert will make a special study of the bacon industry in relation to the export trade, and of the requirements of the producers, and of the Dominion Department of Agriculture, is to be requested to study the various problems relating to the production and marketing of hogs and hog products, paying special attention to supply and demand in relation to prices in the home and foreign markets. Regulations respecting the grading of hogs are now in the course of preparation.

Headache

Recurring headaches usually come from exhaustion of the nervous system, and they do not disappear until the vigor of the nerve cells is restored by any rebuilding treatment as Dr Chase's Nerve Food.

Temporary relief by use of powders is often obtained at an enormous expense to the nervous system and the general health.

Mrs. W. J. Pearse, Nuns St., Cobourg, Ont., writes:

"My system became run-down and I suffered greatly with pain in my head. This was so severe that I would have to bend a cloth tightly around my head so that I could get my work done. A friend advised the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and after taking the first box I found quite an improvement in my condition. I continued using them until I had taken about seven boxes, and they strengthened and built up my system splendidly, completely relieving the pain in my head."

THE PITY OF IT

Though young in years, (many of them would barely take rendered walking age in more fortunate circles) the child finds much to interest and amuse him in the more immediate vicinity of the Advance office and in the cottage opposite. Though we are sometimes thoughtless enough to wonder where Lee's brother and sister pile, all of a row, on the top of the kitchen stove, and where the third baby is stowed away, we have the grace to refrain from asking questions. Those things are none of our business. Having a bit of red ribbon to show to the world is quite sufficient reason for the display of the baby's charms. This morning, as I sallied forth to the office, I met the two of them on the sidewalk. It was the work of a little red ribbon, about two inches wide, pitted and twenty feet long, that had attracted the baby's attention, and it was evident that the ribbon was the property of the elder child. Each had a firm grip on one end of the ribbon, and they were walking backwards, each intent on getting the ribbon away from the other. Both were smiling happily, and the baby was chuckling with delight. Suddenly the ribbon broke, and the baby sat down with a thump that shook the sidewalk. Then it looked at the ribbon in its hand, and at the ribbon in the hand of the child, and its face puckered up and it began to howl. The child looked at the baby, and then at the ribbon, and then, with a sudden impulse of generosity, it dropped its own piece of ribbon and ran to the baby, and began to pat it on the head and to try to console it. Then it picked up the ribbon and gave it to the baby, and the baby stopped howling and began to chuckle with delight. Then the

Explorers Will Find The Use Of Airplanes To Be Of Great Advantage

Regarding Mr. Francis Birtles' proposed trip of aerial exploration of Central Australia, by which he expects to gain more information in five weeks than the best equipped ground explorer could obtain in a year, Mr. Lee Walmsley, M.C., F.R.G.S., organizer of the expedition, says that there are few countries more suitable for aerial exploration than Australia. Large areas of the interior are unknown, and the physical features, such as mountain ranges, rivers, the boundaries of desert areas, and land suitable for settlement, are matters of much importance and interest.

The proposed machine is a Puss Moth, which has been specially constructed for the trip. It will be equipped with a wireless set, which will enable Mr. Birtles to send messages to Australian stations from any part of the country he may be flying over. The machine will also be fitted with a camera, and it is hoped to obtain a number of photographs of the interior. Mr. Walmsley says that the machine will be able to cover a distance of 1,000 miles without refueling, and that it will be possible to land on any fairly level piece of ground. Mr. Birtles will be accompanied by a mechanic, who will also act as wireless operator. Arrangements have been made for the machine to be met at various points by a motor-car, which will convey the mechanic to the machine and carry out any necessary repairs. As a result of the party receiving wireless messages from the machine, it will be possible to ascertain its position at any time, and the route can be altered if necessary. The machine will be capable of flying at a speed of 120 miles an hour.

In addition to the machine, there will be a tender, which will be used for the transport of petrol and other stores. This will be driven by a mechanic, who will meet the machine at various points, and will also act as assistant to the party. The tender will be fitted with a wireless set, so that it will be possible to keep in touch with the machine at all times. It is hoped to start on the journey in the middle of April, and the whole trip is expected to occupy about five weeks.

Mr. Walmsley, speaking to a representative of the Australian Press Association, said that the machine would be flown at a height of about 1,000 feet, and that it would be possible to land on any fairly level piece of ground. Mr. Walmsley said that the machine would be able to cover a distance of 1,000 miles without refueling, and that it would be possible to land on any fairly level piece of ground. Mr. Walmsley said that the machine would be able to cover a distance of 1,000 miles without refueling, and that it would be possible to land on any fairly level piece of ground.

GUARD YOUR HEALTH

You Can Do This by Keeping the Kidneys Free From Poisons

It is useless to tell a hard working man or woman not to worry. Every woman at the head of a household has a thousand things and hardships to contend with more or less every day. It is the duty of every woman to avoid every ill to save her strength as much as possible, and to do this she must keep the kidneys free and pure. To keep the blood in this condition Doan's Pills Pink Pills must be found most useful. They strengthen the kidneys, relieve backache and bring the glow of health to pallid cheeks, and restored energy to listless people. Women cannot always avoid backache, but they can keep up their strength through the occasional use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. This is shown by the case of Mrs. Minnie Smith, Port Stanley, Ont., who says: "A few years ago I was in a deplorable state of health. My blood was weak and watery and the slightest exertion left me breathless and short of breath. My appetite was poor and what food I ate gave me distress. I had a dull pain in my side all the time, and often my sickly spells, headaches, dizziness and backache almost laid me out. I was finally persuaded to drop doctor's medicine and take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. This I did, and at the end of two months for a couple of months I could do my housework with ease. My health was fully restored, I gained in weight. From my own experience I can recommend these pills too highly."

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills from any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50c a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Western Farmer Can Grow Wood for Fuel Within Six Years

Many of the species of trees which can be use on the prairies are very rapid growers, for example, cottonwood, willow, Russian poplar, and Manitoba maple. It is safe to say that wood large enough for fuel can be grown from any of these trees within six years. After that time a plantation will increase in value and productiveness year by year and will prove one of the best investments on the farm.—Norman M. Ross, in Ilsa Head Forest Nursery Station, is

Attempting Too Much

BY LORETTO C. LYNCH

An Acknowledged Expert in All Matters Pertaining to Household Management.

A thoughtful woman has written me a letter. She confesses that she has no time for play in other words, she has no planned for life that she has no time for recreation. To quote, she says, "I wonder if it is possible to live like this on a healthy basis? Let me place the facts before you.

"I have three babies. One is two years of age. While the other is almost one year of age. I do all my own housework in addition, sewing and ironing, as I cannot afford help. My husband helps me when he can, but he is interested and in business home for about one and one-half hours between 12 and 2 o'clock in the middle of the day.

In addition to my housework, I do preserving in season with the aid of my husband at night. Then, too, I make all my children's clothes as well as many of the simpler things for myself. I am trying in my spare time to knit a sweater suit each for the children. The bonbeer of my life, however, is interesting and to some extent

Mr. Home is a four room apartment. It is a very large block, inconveniently arranged, a nice bedroom and dining room and a very large living room. I am just considering putting the dining room furniture with the living room and making the dining room into a nursery for the children.

To sum up, I am going all day long, but I can never look around and feel satisfied that there is nothing to be done. In the most times I do not dare to look around.

"Am I undertaking too much? We are between 6 and 7 and get to bed most anytime in the evening. The children get to bed by 6.30, when we have our supper.

"I am not asking for advice nor any suggestions so that I too may have some leisure?"

Frankly, I believe this woman is attempting too much. Preserving foods at home for economy's sake is debatable. If the fruit or vegetables are raised in the garden by the husband as a pastime, or come as a gift, or are purchased at a real bargain price, it may save one money to preserve at home.

But if it must be purchased at city prices and the cost of fuel and labor and canning powder considered, the wisdom of a busy mother in doing preserving at home when she has other duties from her already tired husband. I believe the women would be better to purchase canned foods from first-class commercial firms.

There should be very little ironing to be done if the proper kind of materials are selected. If even gowns and night dresses, etc., has been selected, by the knitting of sweater suits is looked upon as a pastime and not something that must be done, it may be all right to put in the time doing this, but again I say, have you seen the elegant machine knit garments available and the shops are showing at a price little more than the cost of the wool as it is knitted at home?

There is hosiery on the market guaranteed absolutely against holes. Why not look into this if darning is such a bugbear?

The idea of making the little maid dining room into a nursery is an excellent one. Screen off part of the large kitchen and put your dining room furniture into it. Put your living room into perfect order and try to always have this one room so orderly that the mother coming to your friend husband or yourself to spend the evening hour there after dinner. Personally, I find it quite difficult to keep a combination living-dining room in good order. You must make a test of time. You must

Plastic Wood New Material

Very Valuable in Making Patterns for Casting Purposes

The name "Plastic Wood" is given to an extraordinary interesting material recently introduced by a British firm. It is made of very fine wood meal mixed with collodion so as to become of the consistency of soft putty. It can be used for filling and stopping holes in wood, as it is exceedingly tenacious and adheres firmly to wood of all qualities. One of its most valuable applications is in the making of patterns for casting purposes. It can be built up into any form and it sets quite hard so that it can be cut like ordinary wood or turned in the lathe. It has the valuable property of being waterproof, and it does not warp or deteriorate through damp. Plastic wood can also be polished with sandpaper in the ordinary way, giving a highly glazed finish. Nails can be driven firmly into it without cracking it. Perhaps the only drawback is that its adhesive qualities are so marked that it sticks on the hands of anyone using it. The manufacturers, however, supply a special solvent which enables it to be thoroughly cleansed off the hands

A Stitch in Time

Quick action is the only hope when kidney disease appears.

There is a whole train of dread-fully painful and fatal ailments which soon follow any neglect to get the kidneys right. Among others are rheumatism, lumbago, Bright's disease, hardening of the arteries and high blood pressure.

In Dr Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills you will find a treatment which is both quick and thorough.

Mr C F. Reynns, Lisdale, Alta., writes—

"I was a great sufferer from kidney disease and have had to quit work for a year. A friend of mine one day told me of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and seeing them he advised I used them. After I had taken one box I felt better, so I continued until I had used five boxes. By the time I felt as well and strong as ever, and am glad to recommend Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills to anyone suffering as I did."

CASTORIA

Fletcher's Castoria is strictly a remedy for Infants and Children. Foods are specially prepared for babies. A baby's medicine is even more essential for Baby. Remedies primarily prepared for grown-ups are not interchangeable. It was the need of a remedy for the common ailments of Infants and Children that brought Castoria before the public after years of research, and no claim has been made for it that its use for over 30 years has not proven.

What is CASTORIA?

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhœa; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep. Fine Ripe Tomatoes & Best Spices

CLARK'S TOMATO KETCHUP

Just a dash adds zip to the stew or fish, etc. The well spiced and seasoned fine ripe toma-toes of Mr. Smith was extra-vagant. Yet she could not tell him so, of course. He never seemed to realize the value of a dollar, anyway, and he very obviously did not know how to get the best out of it.

At his foolish generosity in regard to the board he paid her?

"Else Maggie wondered sometimes if Mellicent would be worry over money matters that was making him so sore and irritable on occasions now (Plaisir) he was very near the end of his work there in Hillerton. He was not getting so many letters on Bluh's evil matters from away, either. For a month now he had done nothing but a useless repetition of old Work, and of late, a good deal of the time, he was not even mailing perhaps one a being busy. For days at a time he would not touch his typewriter. That could mean but one thing, of course. His work was done—he seemed to be making no more inward depar-tures. Not that she wanted him to go. She should miss him very much when he went, of course. But she did not like to feel that he was dying simply because he had nowhere to go and nothing to do.

Miss Maggie did not believe in abso-lutely men who had nowhere to go or nothing to do—and she wanted very much to believe in Mr. Smith.

Who Are Canadian Authors?

Drawing the Line is Sometimes a Difficult Matter

Everything is in valid here no mat-ter in what form it may be. A Canadian poet became he an Eng-lishman and remained in Eng-land, or a Canadian artist mar-ried a Frenchwoman and lived in France, or a Canadian author be-came naturalized in the United States—in any of these cases he is lost to Canada, but somewhere there is a Canadian, but somewhere there remains to us the name and the fame. Scottish of the two. One consolation is that, there being no law to prohibit the dividing, we can claim anybody we please and no one will not be offend-ed. It seems one that although the poet Longfellow was born in Maine, he is claimed by Canada. No failure with Putnam's." The every where

Germany Building Ships

400 Vessels Are Built in Germany

One hundred vessels of approximate-ly 600,000 gross tons were built in Germany during 1921, according to in-formation compiled by the American Bureau of Shipping. Of this number 18 of 58,000 tons were constructed for the Hamburg American Line, which is developing passenger routes under agreement with the American ship-ping and Commerce Corporation ships now operated on Shaw Savage and Al-lan for the North German Lloyd

Low motorships were built, mostly all of them for German owners. The classification despite the persons be-lief that it remains was heavily re-duced by the motorship drive.

Figures obtained i-bureau show 272 215 tons were launched in Germany during 1921, which is considerably growing hurdle to the pre-war figures.

Ships under construction at the end of the year are not included in the table.

Save the bird in hand—
The others may be hard to catch

With enough money, enough time and enough luck, a man may get back the health he has lost—or part of it.

It takes patience, too.

And then there may be no success, or only a little.

It's better to save what you have than hunt for what you've lost—as the most successful health-restorers will tell you.

Much of the loss of health is due to faulty, careless diet. Wrong meals at all times and right meals at wrong times load the long-suffering digestive organs with elements of destruction, or starve the tissues and glands of needed elements.

Grape-Nuts is a delicious cereal food which has the qualities of scientific nutrition. It supplies the full richness of those splendid food grains, wheat and malted barley, together with the vital mineral elements, so often lacking in soft foods. Served with cream or good milk Grape-Nuts gives full nourishment without over-loading the stomach.

A splendid thought for breakfast or lunch, for those who would keep health—

MUNICIPAL FINANCE

By Mayor Morrison

We placed the weight of our taxation on property—real estate—instead of broadening out the basis of taxation to include luxuries and business, professional and otherwise, at is futile to continue a system of taxation that imposes taxes on property which we know will not be collected and makes property holders only carry the entire burden. Why should not luxuries—automobiles, driving carriages and so on—be taxed, having regard to the theory of benefit received?

The issue must be faced: It is quite useless to continue the false policy pursued at the present time. We are advertising no one but ourselves. An adjustment will impose a hardship on some but it will relieve others, but the hardship will be imposed upon those who receive the greater benefit. We must tax land according to its normal value, taxes should be imposed upon all kinds of business, professional and otherwise; an appeal should be made to the provincial government to enabling town to receive at least 50 per cent of all fines imposed and collected in the town one-half also of all automobile or other license fees collected locally by the government, and a substantial portion of the moneys collected by the provincial treasury; the income of it may be regarded as certain that the taxpayers of town debentures will be exceptional in the future. There have been so many deviations from the past few years that financial limits have ar-

fusing the purchase of municipal securities. We are thus thrown entirely upon our own resources. Bank loans also will be very insignificant for a long time to come, so that new forms of taxation become imperative.

The collection of taxes is left at most wholly to individual initiative. The only inducement a town has to offer is a discount upon payment before a certain date. A town however has the power to distrain for taxes as well as sue the taxpayer and levy under an execution. Our resource then is by (1) distraint (2) by judgment and execution and by (3) tax sales—suggest set and this last is no commendation as to be highly unsatisfactory. It is far from being an intelligent act.

Provisions should be made for the payment of taxes in monthly or other instalments. There should also be a change in the date of our assessment. It should be made earlier than previous so that all notices be sent out early in the year. As it is now, taxes do not become payable until the June or July, and in the meantime we are forced to live between hand and mouth.

The provision in our own act respecting the business tax is as follows:

"The council may by by-law passed at a regular meeting of the council held prior to the first day of May in any year, provide for the imposition of a tax upon all persons carrying on any trade, business or profession within the limits of the town, and shall in said by-law determine the basis of assessment of any such trade, business or profession, such as rental basis or floor space basis and may classify such businesses, trades and professions and may fix the business tax to be paid in addition to all other taxes levied by the council. The provisions of this section shall not affect the assessment of persons or of companies (doubtful about railways), lawyers, doctors, dentists and other professions, nor shall it affect an assessment on

Scouts are to meet at the Scout Hall Sunday morning at 10.15 in full uniform with exception of hose for inspection by the Provincial Commissioner, Bishop Grey, and parade to the Anglican Church. All members are requested to attend.

Y. P. P. A.

A Skating Party was held on the Vermilion Rink under the auspices of the Social Committee of the Y.P.P.A. on Tuesday evening January 31. About one hundred young people were on the ice and it was with reluctance that they received information that the time for adjournment had arrived. The electric lights were turned off and the sparklers lighted making a very pretty effect of shooting stars.

Shortly after eight o'clock the Young People gathered in the Methodist Church for a short concert and lunch. The programme consisted of the following: Several songs sung by all; Reading of the minutes and adoption of the same; reading by Miss Alison Ebbett; a short address by Mr. Skitch whom we were very glad to welcome from his circuit north at Manawille. That there is nothing more wonderful to the young than the Christian Life, was the outstanding point in this address, Mr. Skitch also gave a vocal solo "Rock of Ages." Other vocal solos were sung by Mrs. H.N. Stephens and Miss Ryckman. The meeting was closed by prayer by Rev Wright and the singing of the National Anthem. The next regular meeting will be held in the Presbyterian Church on Sunday the 12th of February. It will be a combination of Devotional and Mission. You are wanted at this meeting.

EXTRAORDINARY!

Four High Class Gramophones Given Away Absolutely free. To the one holding the largest number of votes in this Contest will be given a beautiful polished oak Gramophone, the selling price of which is $125; 2nd prize, a $100 instrument; 3rd, $75 instrument and 4th, a $50 instrument.

One thing we want to state emphatically in connection with this Contest, there will positively be no manipulation of prices to cover the cost of this Contest. We guarantee to sell goods at the lowest prices obtainable anywhere.

This is a straight business proposition so far as we are concerned; we are doing this in place of giving away calendars and because we think this a more beneficial form of advertising.

Voting contest starts Wednesday, March 1st., after that date we want everyone making a purchase in this store to save your coupons. These coupons will be given away on a basis of 100 votes for every dollar cash purchase; that is to say a 10c purchase gives you 10 votes, 25c purchase 25 votes, etc. Trading in Farm Produce, Furs, receipt on account, will all be treated as cash purchases.

We are advising the public of this Voting Contest a few weeks ahead so as to give ample time for the news to circulate throughout the entire district and thereby give everyone an equal chance to start the same day.

The Contest will last 90 days. The votes will be counted by three reliable and disinterested parties.

For further particulars write the Advertising Manager, Craig's Store, or come in and see Mr. Clanville, who is the man in charge of this Contest.

On and after March 1st, save your coupons from Craig's Store; if you have a gramophone yourself, save them anyway and give them to your neighbor.

SEED GRAIN AND POULTRY SHOW

VERMILION, Feb 11—The thirteenth annual seed fair of the Vermilion Agricultural Society was held here Saturday in the storeroom of W. C. Mackenzie's implement warehouse and was a marked success. The list of exhibits was quite large and considerable interest manifested. The fair was visited by several hundred people. The winners of the different exhibits were complimented by the judge, Professor Fryer, of the field husbandry department of the University of Alberta, upon the excellent quality of the seeds shown. It was quite a surprise to the visitors to see such splendid samples and qualities produced, all going to show that the district of Vermilion is a grain centre of great possibilities.

The prize-winners were as follows:

Spring wheat—1, A.F. Galloway; 2 A.F. Galloway; 3 I. Plachbeck.

George Hesnicks.

White oats, (long)—1, Simon Maxwell; 2, I. Plachbeck; 3, A.F. Galloway; 4, E. Meeks, Manville

White oats (short)—1, Henry Howard, Wildmere; 2, E. Meeks.

Six-row barley—1, E. Meeks, 2, D. B. Winters & Sons; 3, I. Plachbeck

Potatoes, (white)—1, Simon Maxwell; 2, D.B. Winters & Sons; 3, N. F. Bell.

Potatoes (red)—1, Simon Maxwell; 2, W.P. Daley; 3, D.B. Winters & Sons.

Western rye—1, J. E. Brown, Cuss

Poultry Show

In connection with the seed fair was also held the first poultry show of the society. The number of exhibits in this section far exceeded the expectations of the officers of the society, it being their first effort while there was some doubt as to how it would take with the poultry breeders in the district. The exhibits attracted great attention and made the exhibition very highly realized upon their exceedingly fine showing. It was the first show from the local point that the best show will prove a still greater attraction with a still larger number of exhibitors. That the quality is improving in the district received an impetus from this show is undoubted. It is destined to form a very important branch of mixed farming in the district. The prize-winners are as follows:

Plymouth Rocks

Cocks—1, Hall & Gilmore

Hens—1, Rev. M.L. Wright taking all prizes.

Cockerels—1, Gordon Dunsmore; 2, W.M. Reed; 3, and 4, G. Dunsmore

Pullets—1, 2, and 3, G. Dunsmore; 4, J. C. Taylor

Wyandottes

Cocks—1, A. F. Galloway taking all prizes

Hens—1, A. F. Galloway taking all prizes

Cockerels—1, John Wilde taking all prizes

Pullets—1 and 2 John Wilde, 3 and 4 A. F. Galloway

Rhode Island Reds

George Law taking all prizes

Orpingtons

Hens—1, Rev. M.L. Wright taking all prizes

Cockerels—1, Rev. M.L. Wright; 2, F. E. Gillett

Pullets—1, N. F. Bell; 2, Mrs. Geo. Law.

Cock—1, and 2, Rev. M.L. Wright

Hens—1 and 2, Rev. M.L. Wright

Cockerels—1, Rev. M.L. Wright; 2, and 3 Lowe

Pullets—1, Lowe; 2, Taylor

Cock—1, Taylor

Hens—1, Taylor

Cockerels—1, and 2, Rev. M.L. Wright

Pullets—1, John Wilde; 2, Rev. M.L. Wright

The judging was by Robert Graham of Vermilion who is an old exhibitor and breeder of poultry and was the first exhibitor of Plymouth Rocks in the district.

Address by Professor Fryer

After the show an address was delivered by Professor Fryer, of the University of Alberta, who complimented the district upon the excellent showing of grain and seeds that could be produced in the district. He advised the farmers to take up the raising of poultry in connection with their grain growing, as it would be found a profitable branch of mixed farming in the district. He also spoke on the value of pure bred seeds and the necessity of the farmers taking up the growing of pure bred seeds. He also spoke on the value of pure bred poultry and the necessity of the farmers taking up the growing of pure bred poultry

ROYAL YEAST CAKES

Canadian Made

As a health builder, Royal Yeast is gaining in popularity every day. It is a food - not a medicine. It supplies the vitamine which the diet may lack. Royal Yeast is highly beneficial in cases where the system seems "run down". Royal Yeast is the richest known source of vitamines, and when taken into the system acts as a corrective agent. Royal Yeast Cakes are recommended for their purity and wholesomeness. It is the purest, the most convenient and economical yeast on the market.

Two to four Royal Yeast Cakes a day will work wonders. A full day's supply can easily be prepared at one time by using one glass luke warm water and teaspoon sugar to each yeast cake. Allow to stand one night in moderately warm room. In the morning stir well and pour off liquid. Place in refrigerator or other cool place and drink at intervals as directed throughout the day.

Send name and address for free booklet "Royal Yeast Cakes for Health."

TWO MONTHS FOR FALSE BANK STATEMENT

(Canadian Finance)

A resident of Peddlesden pleaded guilty before Provincial Magistrate J. Medley in Prince Albert provincial police court to a charge of obtaining a loan from the Canadian Bank of Commerce Prince Albert, through a mis-statement of his affairs and was sentenced to two months imprisonment.

He had given a statement to the bank in applying for a loan representing that he owned a number of horses, cattle and sheep only a part of which it was afterwards discovered the Bank belonged to him.

It was found that a friend had entered into an understanding with him by which the accused would care for some cattle for the friend subsequently resell to him. The enterprise has not been a profitable one owing to losses during the severe winter of 1919-20, but the stock on which the accused had based his application for a loan was largely what his friend had owned.

MAY BE A SERIOUS SITUATION

In his charitable address to the Canadian Club on Monday the speech by Mayor Morrison strongly urged the housing of our citizens in better accommodation. He stated the fact that this had not been done was due to the fact that owing to the severe winter of 1919-20, but the stock on which the accused had based his application for a loan was largely what his friend had owned.

Next to Russia and the U.S.A., Canada has the largest forest resources in the world. Care is taken to preserve the timber supply by aeroplane scouting, wireless telegraph, portable tele-phones and power pumps, replanting forest product laboratories, state legislation, Dominion and provincial reserves, and greater employment of clay products for building purposes

MILLIONS MUST DIE — MILLIONS MORE NEED NOT

The news from the camps of the Russian famine refugees gets worse and worse. Never in the whole history of the world was there such a situation. The latest despatches from Dr Nansen are pessimistic in the extreme, people are dying by the hundreds of thousands. The dortest frankly admit that the catastrophe has got beyond their control, whole villages and districts are being wiped out, men, women, children, animals dying in search for food.

Cannibalism could have been prevented if the world had awakened to the tragedy earlier. The mind staggers at the holocaust that will befall Russia months before it can be succored immediately. Already they are burying them in pits from the camps for use of insufficiency of food. Before it if you have any imagination, the long stretching trails of suffering pitifully staggering towards the Relief Camp, only kept alive by the grass and roots, and the hope that there would be such help for them. Must it be for nothing? Are they to perish? WILL EVERY DOLLAR YOU GIVE AND EVERY DOLLAR YOU GIVE TO THE VERMILION BRANCH OF THE CANADIAN ARMENIAN RELIEF FUND, FIGURE THAT SOME ONE WILL NOT BE STARVED AWAY. Dont delay—you hesitate, you are signing someone's death warrant.

Mrs E.H. Moore, Islay $ 5.00
Mr. and Mrs. J.D. Stephens 10.00

Proceeds of dance and contributions of grain yet.

Either of the Vermilion banks will receive cash donations. Gifts of wheat, oats, rye and barley are also gratefully received and will be received at the Reverend Canon Applin's (a wheat man) at the Mill. The oats rye barley will be exchanged for cash and the wheat will be ground at the BARE VERY PRICE by the Relief Fund Committee desires to send away a carload of flour at the earliest date possible, and appeals to everybody to help.

No Comparison

Some criticism has been expressed of the appeal now on foot for the $2,000 million breach of the Armenian Relief Fund of Canada for Vermilion. Edwards was a car of flour for the leading of the Armenians, but unfortunately on the ground that help is needed in the two fields of human suffering.

WRESTLING AND BOXING BOUTS AT VERMILION

Firemen Put on Fine Programme on Thursday Night

VERMILION, Feb. 11. — Hitting weather of 15 below did not prevent a crowded house at the Columbia Theatre on Thursday evening and the first boxing and wrestling tournament staged by the Vermilion Athletic Association failed to a marked success. The different events were closely contested and provided great sport.

Some speedy workers exhibited their art in the ring and the contestants and kept Referee Fischer crowding time after time to where the weight of the gold laid. The main bout of the evening was between Bob Bryden of Vermilion and Brent McVish of Lloydminster, a draw decision was rendered by the referee. In the first round McVish was forced back and similar to punish each other. The second round was also very strenuous, each being pounding, particularly Bryden, the result of a left jab in the face in the third and last round Mc Vish showed a burst of speed and ran away the head of his opponent.

The preliminaries showed some fast boxing. Jack Kelly and Jack Challes put shaved clever work in the fifteen rounds they went. Kelly was given decision in the sixteen 3-pound class A nifty exhibition was given by Lang and Mollason in the eighteight class the latter getting the decision. The surprise bout of the evening was between Alex Bonesso and Ray Fowler, two boys who rounded it out on many occasions, while scarcely Bonesso started some heavy pound ing the minute the bell rang and the referee awarded him the decision. Bill Findley of Edmonton and Billy Basile of Landonville furnished plenty of thrills. The latter was given the decision on Morris for weight, but the latter fought hard, gamely and earned a draw.

Perry McKone of Vermilion and Leslie Gaston of Innisfree, school district were the principals in the main event of the wrestling tourney. Both showed considerable skill and cunning and the decision was a draw.

It is proposed to have another tournament in the near future or one or our weeks with an eliminating series in order to determine what guy to Calgary for the championship tourney next month.

THE "MAPLE LEAFS" ARE COMING SOON

An entertainment of a remarkable nature is promised at the Columbia Theatre on Monday, Feb. 20th, when the famous entertainment troupe of the Fourth Canadian Division, The Maple Leafs, will appear for one night only in their great overseas revue, entitled "Camouflage." This is the identical entertainment they soldiered for ears gave behind the lines in France, after they had all seen active service at the front, and which they also presented for two years in England before they returned to Canada.

With a record of fifty weeks of it's greatest touring through Canada, breaking records in many cities, playing two weeks each in Toronto, Winnipeg, and four weeks in Quebec's Theatre, Montreal, this brilliant organization will make its appearance locally under the direction of Capt. M.W. Plunkett, who is still the owner, directed the big productions of the Dumbells fame.

The cast is the cream of the profession among the critics, who have enjoyed the advantages of comparison, in that the Maple Leafs are in all respects the Dumbells, and in fact in a few features even surpass that excellent organization.

Elaborate and colorful stage-settings, brilliant costumes, original and thrilling feature acts, and individual merit make this show unique in the history of Canadian stage, according to the verdict of the leading newspaper critics throughout the country.

The entertainment is made up of skits, sketches, concerted numbers, dances, both spectacular and comic and a series of highly contrast and solo numbers,—songs, monologues and dances.

Among the individual members of the cast may be mentioned specifically; Harry Ashton, the leading female impersonator, whose work a declared to be equal to that of any female impersonator on the stage today; Jack Kelly who is said to make a genuinely irresistible ingenue; Pat Rafferty, an Irish comedian of rare gifts, Ben Allen, a character man who has made a big hit everywhere; Hughie Williamson, a veritable Thesba Bara, a vampiua, and also a remarkable dancer, Morley Plunkett, one of the best singers of the troupe; Ernie Petch and Bob Anderson, two clever interpreters of comic songs; and Jack Challes, Hughie Williamson and Jimmy Graham, dancers who present some novelties in terpsichorean art.

GOAL SCORING RECORDS

Manville Falls to Ebbett

Although the weather conditions were unfavorable last Monday night several hockey enthusiasts ambled down the hill to the Arena Rink, expecting to witness a real strenuous battle between the Farmers and Manville However it was a cut-and-dried game from the start, the Farmers game was rail-l off going to the wall for a 10-0 victory. In an attempt some general regret is being expressed here in hockey circles for Manville splitting the O.H.A. loop. Ever since Billy Letson left the team for the east, Manville seems to have been more or less discontented Billy seemed to be the mainstay of the team. There is no use in denying the fact that there are a number of good players in Manville this winter especially in the last three games they played as being tossed out by one goal in the three tussles The Manville boys have certainly proven themselves to be good sports and a clean aggregation on home ice and away from home as well

(From our own Correspondent)

Mrs. G. Freeman and two children have returned from visiting in Edmonton.

Mrs. F. Goulette is visiting in Summerland, B.C., the last few weeks

Manville seems to have lost interest in the hockey games They have two postponed games but don't seem in any hurry to play them off

We wonder if the Dueling and Weeping Boots last Thursday night it was a jovial party and a good time after half an hours searching Any other species has not yet been reported The boys were cleaning up the weather fairly well

In the first period Ebbett scored in the net for Vermilion and Bell shielded just what Thompson and Mc Lellan scored for Manville in the second period. The first period was uneventful

Ebbett is to be congratulated on his splendid play in the net for Vermilion

The return game will be played in Manville on Monday next. Come out and support the boys

Innisfree Juniors vs. Vermilion Juniors

Innisfree, Alta., Feb 13—A fast and snappy hockey match was witnessed by a large crowd of fans in the town yesterday evening when the Vermilion Juniors met the Innisfree Juniors in a combat to decide who would take the leadership in the group composed of Vegreville Innisfree, Manville and Vermilion As the result was a tie after half an hours overtime play, the question has not yet been settled The ice was excellent but the weather left much to be desired

Lloyd Lidstone, Carl Thompson and Gallacher of the Vermilion team starred for their team while Bell, Mc Lellan and Mc Donald starred for the Innisfree team

The Man Who Works Hard Should Follow This Advice

Perseverance and will power he should have but whether he has strength and vigor is another question. Hard working men often have tired aches and pains. They feel that life keeps on a treadmill. They keep on working but have no ambition. They are half sick. Their blood is thin and impure. They have no appetite. They are nervous and irritable. They have headaches and backaches. They are half sick. They are tired all the time. They are discouraged. They are blue. They are miserable. They are half sick. They are tired all the time. They are discouraged. They are blue. They are miserable.

CHAPTER XXII

With Every Jim a James

They chatted after Fred Blaisdell had returned from his mother. Jim somehow came to see Miss Maggie. Mr. Smith was researching the books on Miss Maggie's shelves and trying to make room for the new ones he had brought her through the winter. When Mrs. Blaisdell left, he relaxed and Fred confessed he expected to work at once and would have to "hustle" to get the stipend him with a scrapper.

"Then I won't know all about it anyway, and I'll just as soon you knew the rest. Then you can keep right on as you're doing. I came down to talk things over with Maggie. I'm sure I don't see what I'm going to do with I can't."

"Then you always can, dear mouth of Miss Maggie—briefly, handing her mother a fan and taking a chair near her.

Mr. Smith after a moment's hesitation, turned quietly back to his book shelves.

"Did I ever?" choked Mrs. Hattie I—I'm going away!"

"Away! Where? What do you mean?" cried Miss Maggie. "Not—not—"

"Yes. That's what I came to tell you."

Mrs. Hattie Blaisdell opened her mouth to speak, but no sound came. For a moment she looked as if she were going to faint. Then she sat up straight, and her eyes began to flash.

"Well, I declare! I'm—I'm—I'm—

OVER $400.00 IN INDIVIDUAL PRIZES

Vermilion's Annual Bonspiel opened Tuesday morning with a short and pleasant indication point to its being the largest attended of the most successful events of the kind held here in the past. With twelve local entries and the promise of at least ten more from outside points, the spiel should be a real boomer for the four days. Four sheets of perfect ice will be ready for the curlers which to combat for supremacy in the greatest sports game extant with four cups and sixteen sets of valuable prizes — besides the grand aggregate and hard luck, to contest for.

The value of the prizes for the events totals over $400 by and are valuable not in themselves to make any one want to curl. Curlers are expected from Edmonton, Vegreville, Mannville, Lloydminster and Lashburn.

His Lordship Bishop Grey of Edmonton preached to three large congregations at St. Saviour's church on Sunday last. Services to the 11 a.m. were Bishop Grey, who is Provincial Commissioner of the Boy Scouts inspected and addressed the local troop, which attended church in a body. At the confirmation services at 2 o'clock the edifice was filled to capacity, the Bishop Rev. Smith, presenting twelve candidates for full admission to membership in the church. This service was a most impressive one and the address delivered by the Bishop was filled with power of the Holy Spirit, fraught with eternal good to all. In the evening His Lordship delivered another powerful sermon to a large congregation The visit of the Bishop of Edmonton to Vermilion was a source of great pleasure not only to members of the Anglican communion, but to many others who have been acquainted with him for a number of years.

RED CROSS NOTES

"We have received your very well come parcel and it arrived at a time when we needed it most, just before it turned cold inside" writes a member of one of the many families which the Red Cross had helped with clothing relief this winter.

"As the children have not been able to get overshoes this winter," the letter continues, "they needed them more than anything else. It would have been impossible for the children to go to school if we had not got this help."

This is a sample of the many grateful letters which have been received. In appreciation of the great work which the society has done. Such is the demand that the funds have been drained considerably and more money is urgently needed to carry on this work. Donations should be forwarded to the nearest Red Cross unit, or to the provincial headquarters, O'Neill Block, Calgary.

Four High Class Gramophones Given Away Absolutely free. To the one holding the largest number of votes in this Contest will be given a beautiful polished oak Gramophone, the selling price of which is $125: 2nd prize, a $100 instrument; 3rd, $75 instrument and 4th, a $50 instrument.

One thing we want to state emphatically in connection with this Contest, there will positively be no manipulation of prizes to cover the cost of this Contest. We guarantee to sell goods at the lowest prices obtainable anywhere.

This is a straight business proposition so far as we are concerned; we are doing this in place of giving away calendars and because we think this a more beneficial form of advertising.

Voting contest starts Wednesday, March 1st., after that date we want everyone making a purchase in this store to save your coupons. These coupons will be given away on a basis of 100 votes for every dollar cash purchase; that is to say a 10c purchase gives you 10 votes, 25c purchase 25 votes, etc. Trading in Farm Produce, Furs, receipt on account, will all be treated as cash purchases.

We are advising the public of this Voting Contest a few weeks ahead so as to give ample time for the news to circulate throughout the entire district and thereby give everyone an equal chance to start the same day.

The Contest will last 90 days. The votes will be counted by three reliable and disinterested parties.

For further particulars write the Advertising Manager, Craig's Store, or come in and see Mr. Glanville, who is the man in charge of this Contest.

On and after March 1st, save your coupons from Craig's Store; if you have a gramophone yourself, save them anyway and give them to your neighbor.

30 RINKS AT THE BONSPIEL

BIGGEST IN HISTORY OF LOCAL CLUB

Many 13 End Games Being Staged

Vermilion's twelfth annual bonspiel which opened at 9:30 o'clock Tuesday morning, Feb. 21st, is proving to be the most successful in its history. With seventeen visiting rinks representing towns all the way from 82 minutes to North Battleford and thirteen local entries, the draw commenced over the Ice Every Curler and Skidley are wearing overtime to have the Bonspiel finished up by Saturday. Six draws a day are being play ed commencing at 10 a.m. and curlers are kept busy until 12 o'clock at night. Everything has gone smoothly in spite of the handicap of ice accumulation for so large a number of rinks, and the finals in the four big events will be wound up Saturday. The weather man is setting almost every day the ideal conditions and we now prevail, making this Spiel the greatest success in the history of the Club.

Rinks in Attendance

The following rinks are in attendance — Rae, Mc'Curry, Edmonton, Hart in Vermilion, Dafoe, McKinnon, Dr. Hollis, White & Tomlinson, Stan Smith, Manley, Hart, Davis, Dr. Cook, Dafoe, Dafoe, Hart, Hart, Stewart, Scott, Battle Creek, Alberta, Pyke, Mathews, Lawson, Nichone Copper, Hart, Dr. Boyle, R. A. Smith, Coughlin, J. Reed, Cole, Mabbitter, Carr, Parker, Mallett, Pat Lees, etc. etc.

Several close and exciting games have been played so less than ten ends before being on record. Notable among these was Hooton-Cooper to enter the finals of the Local Challenge. Hooton landed out in the extra frame. This was one of the best games of the series to date. Hooton-Cooper, Local Challenge finals, have been paired Lee-Dafoe, Mcmillan, Hooton, Vegreville, against Knight, Pattle, Ford, and Telford, Viroqua. In the semi-finals of the Alberta are Manley (Lloydminster), Hooton (Provost) and Dr. Hollis, Vermilion.

Stomach Treatment Futile For Catarrhal Trouble

Impossible to properly treat Catarrh in the nose or throat by douches or sprays. To end the system at once, and be healthy rather than a catarrhal sufferer, stammered Mr. Smith. "She's been—er—the happiest . . .

"Oh, yes, perhaps she has, when you come to look at it that way.

"But you wouldn't exchange this Mr. Fulton to leave her his entire millions?"

"Mercy!" laughed Miss Maggie, throwing up both hands. "Mind a sort dead away at the mere thought of it!"

"Then? Yes I suppose so." Mr. Smith turned on heel and resumed his walk, pausing from time to time to . . .

Once again Miss Maggie stood looking at Mr. Smith with dismayed eyes. Then, turning to sit down, she saw the face in the mirror. Mr. Smith imaged in the mirror.

"Why, I vow! I've done it, Maggie Gail," she whispered wrathfully to the reflection in the glass. "And you've broken his heart! He was—was no fool he pretended—I know that. And you! You've talked money, money to him for an hour. You said you loved money, and you told him so yourself; you had terms, still love of dollars. And you know . . . you know he's as poor as Lazarus, and that just now he's more than ever plagued with money! And you . . .

"Twenty millions of dollars! As if that enormous amount . . .

Just as sobbing cry Miss Maggie covered her face with her hands and sat down, huddled in misery.

CHAPTER XXIII.

Reflections—Mirrored and Otherwise

Miss Maggie was sitting in the table chair with her face in her hands when the door opened and Mr. Smith came in. He was very white.

Miss Maggie, dropping her hands and starting up, at the entrance, caught a glimpse of his face in the mirror in front of her. With a terrific, angry dab of her fingers at her hair, she fell to rearranging her tatter and photographs on the mantel.

"Oh, back again Mr. Smith?" she greeted him, with studied unconcern.

Mr. Smith shut the door and advanced determinedly.

"Miss Maggie, I've got to face this thing out, or course. Even if I had not started out on things at the very start, it didn't help any to—run away, as I did. And I was a coward to do it.

"It was only because I—I— But never mind that. I'm coming now to myself. Miss Maggie, . . .

"Oh, indeed . . . murmured Mr. Smith.

"He doesn't seem to have been very bad . . .

"No?" Mr Smith's eyebrows went up.

"Nor very good either, for that matter . . .

"Perhaps though I suppose he couldn't really be that—not very well —with twenty millions, could he? But I mean he wasn't very bad, nor very good. He didn't seem to be dissipated, or mixed up in any scandal, or to be particularly extravagant like . . . many rich men . . . on the other hand, I couldn't find that he'd done any particular good in the world. Some charities were mentioned, but they were perfunctory, apparently, and I don't believe, from the accounts, that he ever really interested himself in any one that he ever really cared for, any one . . .

"Oh, you don't!" If Miss Maggie had looked up she would have met a look of incredulous expression in the eyes bent upon her. But Miss Maggie did not look up.

"No," she proceeded calmly "Why, he didn't even have a wife and children to stir him from his selfishness. He had a secretary of course and he probably never saw half his begging letters. I can imagine his tossing them aside with a languid fin them up. James gives the creatures what they want, only don't bother me . . .

"He never did!" stormed Mr. Smith; then, hastily: "I'm sure he never did. You wrong him. I'm sure you wrong him."

"Maybe I do," sighed Miss Maggie "But when I think of what he might do— Twenty millions! I can't grasp it . . . can you? But he didn't do—anything—worth while with them.

"Worked?" hesitated Miss Maggie. "Er—that is, I mean perhaps she's made the best use of the hundred thousand." stammered Mr. Smith. "She's been—er—the happiest . . .

"Oh, yes, perhaps she has, when you come to look at it that way.

"But you wouldn't exchange this Mr. Fulton to leave her his entire millions?"

"Mercy!" laughed Miss Maggie, throwing up both hands. "Mind a sort dead away at the mere thought of it!"

"Then? Yes I suppose so." Mr. Smith turned on heel and resumed his walk, pausing from time to time to . . .

Once again Miss Maggie stood looking at Mr. Smith with dismayed eyes. Then, turning to sit down, she saw the face in the mirror. Mr. Smith imaged in the mirror.

"Why, I vow! I've done it, Maggie Gail," she whispered wrathfully to the reflection in the glass. "And you've broken his heart! He was—was no fool he pretended—I know that. And you! You've talked money, money to him for an hour. You said you loved money, and you told him so yourself; you had terms, still love of dollars. And you know . . . you know he's as poor as Lazarus, and that just now he's more than ever plagued with money! And you . . .

"Twenty millions of dollars! As if that enormous amount . . .

Just as sobbing cry Miss Maggie covered her face with her hands and sat down, huddled in misery.

CHAPTER XXIII.

Reflections—Mirrored and Otherwise

Miss Maggie was sitting in the table chair with her face in her hands when the door opened and Mr. Smith came in. He was very white.

Miss Maggie, dropping her hands and starting up, at the entrance, caught a glimpse of his face in the mirror in front of her. With a terrific, angry dab of her fingers at her hair, she fell to rearranging her tatter and photographs on the mantel.

"Oh, back again Mr. Smith?" she greeted him, with studied unconcern.

Mr. Smith shut the door and advanced determinedly.

"Miss Maggie, I've got to face this thing out, or course. Even if I had not started out on things at the very start, it didn't help any to—run away, as I did. And I was a coward to do it.

"It was only because I—I— But never mind that. I'm coming now to myself. Miss Maggie, . . .

"Oh, indeed . . . murmured Mr. Smith.

"He doesn't seem to have been very bad . . .

"No?" Mr Smith's eyebrows went up.

"Nor very good either, for that matter . . .

"Perhaps though I suppose he couldn't really be that—not very well —with twenty millions, could he? But I mean he wasn't very bad, nor very good. He didn't seem to be dissipated, or mixed up in any scandal, or to be particularly extravagant like . . . many rich men . . . on the other hand, I couldn't find that he'd done any particular good in the world. Some charities were mentioned, but they were perfunctory, apparently, and I don't believe, from the accounts, that he ever really interested himself in any one that he ever really cared for, any one . . .

"Oh, you don't!" If Miss Maggie had looked up she would have met a look of incredulous expression in the eyes bent upon her. But Miss Maggie did not look up.

"No," she proceeded calmly "Why, he didn't even have a wife and children to stir him from his selfishness. He had a secretary of course and he probably never saw half his begging letters. I can imagine his tossing them aside with a languid fin them up. James gives the creatures what they want, only don't bother me . . .

"He never did!" stormed Mr. Smith; then, hastily: "I'm sure he never did. You wrong him. I'm sure you wrong him."

Indoor Life

Spending more time indoors makes women far more subject to constipation than men.

The liver becomes sluggish and torpid, the bowels constipated and the system pounded by impurities.

If you would get away from the myriads of ills which result from constipation, it is only necessary to use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

The benefits from their use are as lasting as they are prompt and certain.

Mrs. John Barry, 18 St. Amable Street, Quebec, Que., writes:

"The a to rently that I was troubled for years with constipation and kept all kinds of medicine without relief. At last my husband suggested that I try Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I began to use them and they have given me and never any that do the same for I have also had that I have used Dr. Chase's Liver Pills with result that results."

A Cellar Dining Room

BY LORETTO C. LYNCH

Household Expert in Charge of Publishing Co-operative Housekeeping Magazine

For years Mrs. Leighton paid rent in a small city apartment. Then, without a word of warning, a relative left her a big return home in an attractive suburb.

Crowding the family of nine into a five-room cottage where the kitchen did double duty as dining and eating in the often disordered kitchen might not be so fortunate for one accustomed had to work at night and day, but—now that the children were older, some even grown up—Mrs. Leighton decided that if they were going to have adequate sleeping accommodations and an attractive dining room, so she decided to turn part of the large cellar adjoin the kitchen into a dining room.

The scheme may be used to turn any dark, unattractive room into a cheerful one. The floor which had been of cement was covered with a rough matting of rushes. The walls were painted in white and a light yellow cost position board much in vogue to-day.

The electric wiring was arranged for side lights. Full fashioned curtains of inexpensive scrim over electric can die-holders were chosen and orange colored shades were used.

Once again Miss Maggie stood looking at Mr. Smith with dismayed eyes. Then, turning to sit down, she saw the face in the mirror. Mr. Smith imaged in the mirror.

"Why, I vow! I've done it, Maggie Gail," she whispered wrathfully to the reflection in the glass. "And you've broken his heart! He was—was no fool he pretended—I know that. And you! A WOMAN'S WORK IS NEVER DONE

It Seems So in Many Cases and Good Health is Always Necessary

Viscount, Saskatchewan.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for weakness of the female organs I had pains in the back and nearing-down pains in the lower part and was in a general run-down condition. I could not sleep, could not work and was quite unfit to do even slight household tasks. A friend told me about your Vegetable Compound and it is my sure truly recommendation and I am better in every way. I do my own work, look after my children and go to chickens, now and by garden also interested it for young girls who are troubled as I was down in their monthly. Daughter has taken it and is quite her own boy self again." Mrs. Fred Wade, Viscount, Saskatchewan.

Upper New Horton, N. B.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's medicines and they have done me a world of good. First then I have been able to do my housework and I have a lot of work to do as I live on a farm. Seeing your advertisement in The papers was what made me think of writing to you. I hope this will help someone else."—Mrs. W. B. Kersey, Upper New Horton, New Brunswick.

Was Courageous and Determined in Face of Discouragement

Greater than all his discoveries in the interests of science, is the fullness of Sir Ernest Shackleton's life as example.

Somewhat threadbare and over worked may be the old saying that it is not what a man accomplishes, but the which he strives after, that is the measurement of his character and exploits. Shackleton had to his credit both striving and accomplishment in much richness and in the right direction.

His example to the world lies in his boundless activity along paths of duty, and his courage and determination in the face of great discouragements.

In his more leisure moments, "penguin fanatically and otherwise" to the delight of children and adults alike, he visited various parts of the Empire, rifling modestly yet thrillingly, of the old undaunted British spirit and the confidence that whatever men dare Britishers could do.

As he stood on a public platform in this city he was the embodiment of the highest product of the British race.

Canadians mourn the death of a man of British race, whose failures of life manhood, nevertheless he leaves behind the memory of a full-orbed life.—Winnipeg Tribune.

Canadian Wheat Wanted in India

Bombay Consumer Makes Inquiries Through Vancouver for Prices

The development of a market for Canadian hard wheat in India is foremost in advices from shipping concerns in Vancouver, received by grain sales agencies in Bombay.

It is reported by the Merchants' Exchange, Vancouver, that 5,000 tons of Canadian wheat are required by a Bombay concern and in this connection, price quotations are asked.

It is believed by authorities here that this demand may immediately precede the opening of a permanent market. British and Canadian flour, made from the usual blends of hard and soft wheat has been in increasing demand on the Indian market, according to trade figures. It has met with such a favorable reception that soft wheat millers in India are reported to be making preparations to secure Canadian hard wheat in order to blend a flour which can compete fully be marketed in competition with imported flour from the Dominion Great Britain and the United States.

TREAT RHEUMATISM THROUGH THE BLOOD

Liniments and Rubbing Only Give Temporary Relief

Rheumatism is a trouble extremely difficult to get rid of. If a tendency in rheumatism is established in the system it makes itself manifest by a return of the acute pains with every spell of bad weather. This is why so many people think the trouble is due to cold or damp. The fact is, however, to medical men, that will the appearance of rheumatism there is a rapid thinning of the blood, and that the rheumatic poisons are only expelled from the system when the blood is restored to its normal condition. This means that to drive them from the system it must be treated through the blood, and for this purpose Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have been very successful, as they build up and enrich the blood, thus easing the aching, swollen joints, and benefiting the health of the sufferer in other ways as well. Among the thousands of others who have found facts this medicine is Mrs. James Gillan Charlottetown, P.E.I. who says: "For three long months I suffered terribly from rheumatism. I was bed bad I could not do the housework, and even to attempt to walk caused me agony. I spent a great deal of money on liniments and other things, without getting the least benefit, and my condition was pitiable. At this stage my attention was called to Dr Williams' Pink Pills and I began taking this medicine and in a few days I could see that it was helping me. I persisted in the use of the pills and by the time I had taken six boxes I was entirely free from pain, and I have since been able to do my housework with ease. I am grateful indeed for what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done for me, and I am glad to recommend them to others."

You can get these pills through any druggist or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co. Brockville, Ont.

VERMILION, ALTA. FEB. - 1922

A fairly representative meeting of citizens was held Friday evening in the Fire Hall to consider alternative proposals to the pos. office question. The meeting was called by Mayor Morrison who presided and in his opening remarks gave a resume of the steps leading up to it. He called attention to the fact that in 1920 the government made an appropriation of $2000.00 to effect repairs to the present premises. Tenders were called last fall, but no action was taken. Upon receipt of the estimates from the provincial architect, which were considerably below those submitted by local contractors, a request was forwarded to the Department of Public Works asking authority to call for new tenders. Later a letter was received from the Deputy Minister of Public Works stating that the matter was left entirely in the hands of the local member of the Legislature, Mr. W. H. Hall, who had submitted a proposal to the effect that the contemplated erection of a new building be left in abeyance for a year or two in the hope that the Royal Bank of Canada would put up a two storey building on the corner of Main street and Mayor Morrison's property, the present premises to be vacated by the post office department and the same to be rented by the government for a further five years. Mr. W. Telford had a letter from the Royal Bank stating that they had no intention of putting up a building on the property mentioned. Mayor Morrison was quite willing to rent the premises to the government for a further five years, but he was not prepared to do so for a longer period. Mr. W. Telford stated that the question in question is one of the most important matters that has been brought before the citizens of Vermilion for some time. He was not prepared to express an opinion as to what should be done. Mr. W. A. Fulton read the report of the meeting held in Edmonton on Wednesday last, which was fully discussed.

CLAYSMORE
(From our own Correspondent)

Mrs. F. Goulette returned from Edmonton last week where she has been under treatment in the hospital for the past month. She is feeling much better now and is glad to be home again.

Dame Rumor thinks he is on a permanent ticket now that the municipal election is over, but he had a chance to play and could not get it our way.

We are that J. R. Boyle thinks it is useful for the government to have a publicity commissioner to send his letters to the farmers and the people of the country. We think the government should show a little consideration for the reading public.

At the nomination meeting in Manville last Monday, one returning boards up wanted to restrict any ratepayer to only 100 acres per year to sow his crop, then forty head of cattle. The fellow who brought up such a resolution was very much surprised when it did not carry.

Hurrah! The Farmers were beaten at Vermilion Tuesday night. Well, they were getting a little small for our head, but it is fitting better now that they are allied to office, no gain to sacrifice, no appeal is to cause, no the slightest pay for the work done. In our opinion the score should have been three to nothing as they let a couple of easy ones slip past. Still we think the Creek can yet win the Farmer manile place during 1922.

Mr. C. East is back from Edmonton and our new rural Weldon. H. is right out of the Empire of Action of the country. We hold to with it ourselves.

It was a grand game, senile read er. Testing out a hockey team that be r the ra-ma-ka or a real clean, manly outfit. Jack Tarzey's invincible Arrarians traveled to Vegreville last Thursday accompanied by a large bodyguard of enthusiastic rooters and were downed by the Vegreville sharp-shooters by a score of 5 goals to 0. This was the first game of the series in home and home games to decide the championship amongst of the Big Six hockey league, and for one man a coveted trophy donated by Col. Chain, President of the Big Six league. The fighting Arrarians went west fully confident of bringing the bacon home with them.

Attracted by the crucial nature of the game on which the premiership on of the Big Six Hockey league hinged, there were several hundred wild and enthusiastic fans on hand to cheer their respective teams to battle, and in the rink it proved that they had witnessed the best game seen in that man's town in social years and one of the hardest fought battles that has ever been staged in the rink at Vegreville. The large crowd was assembled by the rosy-cheeked and hearty ex-athlete that the two aggregations were

Vermilion players were complimented by their players and to pick a man who did not play. Vermilion's defence was strong in the nets, and in their team defeat in no hard a bat it was a hard pill to swallow for the Vermilion crew. The homesters visited the net in the opening period, but their efficient throughout was equal which has brought the team to the front in the league, and it will be had a lot to the play off. asked the Referee to call the game and while the disputed goal was not at all responsible for the defeat, it was the turning point which the Vegreville forwards would always be credited in the Battle Report. In giving him little chance to save young Eddie Powers in goal for the Green and white title was never in better adventure and to his efficiency and steadying judgment the Vegreville boys owe a great deal. Powers did try to use his stick proved the team's salvation on many occasions.

The result of the match put the Vegreville crew very much in the running for premier honors and although Vermilion has a chance to strike it, necessity for them to play that each harder in the last game on the ice. At the total number of goals shot by the home team, Vermilion's chances are slender and it is not likely that such can be scored will be shown in the decision game at the Arena for patrons next Thursday night.

The Farmers have a fetish a town this year. They never know when they are beaten and they are proud of that in many ways last Tuesday night. Although they were outplayed for most of the way, they stuck to the game and four goals in the closing every turn. It was an exhibition of hockey that one would go long way to see.

Jack Driscoll of Lac St. and A. Bourgault of Isbay acted in the capacity of referee, the latter being appointed by the home board for the home of the game.

The lineup follow:

Vegreville	Position	Vermilion
Powers	Goal	Hollett
Blazoff	Defence	Dilly Starr
Chalmers	Defence	McFarland
Baker	forward	Pitcock
Pattison	forward	Pilkie

ANOTHER INNOVATION IN C. N. R. PASENGER EQUIPMENT,

In line with the general policy of providing the travelling public with the most up-to-date improvements in passenger equipment to the convenience of its patrons, the Canadian National Railways are now installing in all their day coaches, tourist and standard sleepers, parlor observation, cars, etc., Pintsch drinking cup holders so as to permit passengers to readily secure individual drinking cups, when desired.

Cups will be provided by the Canadian National Railways to its patrons free of charge, and to ensure an adequate supply always being on hand in each car, arrangements have been made whereby the Pintsch drinking cup receptacles will be filled at divisional points, when necessary.

The Pintsch Drinking Water Cup equipment is another indication of the Canadian National Railways' desire to furnish the travelling public with the most modern improvements and efficient service.

What This Buffalo Physician Has Done For Humanity

The picture which appears here of Dr. Pierre of Buffalo, N.Y., was taken in 1890. As a young man Dr. Pierce practised medicine in Pennsylvania and was known far and wide for his great success in alleviating disease. He moved to Buffalo and began to prescribe his own form, his Golden Medical Discovery, for the well-known cure for the blood. This strengthening tonic is made from a formula which Dr. Pierce found most effective in diseases of the blood. It contains no alcohol and is an extract of native roots. Each of the ingredients is printed on the wrapper, these put no secrets, nothing to conceal. It is perfectly reliable for sore throat and other catarrhal affections, cures bronchial troubles, coughs, severe and lingering colds, and even consumption (or lung scrofula) in its advanced stages. It is the only blood-purifier sold by druggists, and is guaranteed to give satisfaction in every case or money paid for it will be refunded. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery clears away pimples and eruptions from the face, neck, arms and shoulders, and gives to deep-seated blotches, boils, carbuncles and even the worst forms of skin disease, such as scrofula, it is unequalled. Lloyd George Pays Tribute To Balfour For Conference Work

London.—Right Hon. Arthur J. Balfour was officially welcomed home from the Washington conference at a luncheon by the Government and Coalition members of both houses of parliament

Mr. Lloyd George, presiding at the luncheon, said a striking tribute to Mr. Balfour, saying that he had taken no part in one of the most notable contributions statesmanship has ever made for the sum of human peace and happiness."

At the beginning of his address, Mr. Lloyd George said Mr. Balfour's friends wished to express admiration "for the way he behaved while away from home."

"We are proud of him than ever," he continued. "The distinction and dexterity with which he handled the affairs of this country at Washington will add new hearts with real pride."

Mr. Lloyd George said that "statesmen who handle have missed their vocation; they should be horse dealers."

Attending to the situation in the Far East, prior to the Washington conference, Mr. Lloyd George continued:

"I am not exaggerating the danger there. There were whispered murmurs in the wind about preparations and projects, about what might happen here and would certainly happen there. Everywhere you had these rumors and suspicions. As a result of the Washington conference, all understandings have been removed and suspicions not nearly but completely removed. The Western horizon is clear and I need to be taught as a boy that when the skies lifted in the west a bright day would follow. Now, I believe the same thing will happen here again. Although the east is black and dark with clouds, the west is clear and the east will follow."

I am delighted," Mr. Lloyd George continued, "to thank the man who above all others helped to clear those skies. He was a statesman foremost, and notable was the part Mr. Balfour took in it."

Farming Industry Is Backbone of Canada

Speakers at Toronto Strongly Emphasize Raising of Livestock

Toronto.—That the live stock industry is the backbone of the Dominion of Canada, and the raising of livestock the principal revenue from agriculture, was the sentiment strongly emphasized at the numerous toasts and banquet here tendered to the visiting delegates to the livestock meetings by the Canadian National Exhibition Association. Incidentally, the event was also in celebration of the opening of the new million dollar livestock arena at the Canadian National Exhibition.

Premier Drury remarked that the livestock industry like other industries was passing through trying times but Ontario's position was not at all serious as only to utility types and keep what from the lands trend.

The country needed most the producer. Drury said that would best be met by production of milk, beef and wool.

Nervous Breakdown COULDN'T SLEEP NIGHTS

To those on the verge of a nervous breakdown the following message from Mrs. Mary Ann Gilbert, Sydney Mines, a feeling of depression first disturbed sleep, often troubled with irritable dreams, intolerance of crowded places, dread of meeting people, and inability to study.

When the nerves become affected in this way the heart generally becomes affected too, and in the first place by any weakness of the heart or nerves. Sooner or later some functional breakdown will result unless the nerves are restored to health. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is unequalled for this purpose, as it acts directly on the blood and nerves, creating new, rich blood and nerve tonic.

Should High Commissioner Have Title

London.—Regarding the speculations on the possibility of Peter C. Larkin, the new Canadian high commissioner, receiving a title, the Canadian Press learns from an authoritative source that there is no doubt such an honor would be readily extended if the Canadian Government decided to recommend Mr. Larkin. The initiative would rest with Canada, it is pointed out. If the Canadian Government does not amend its stand on the question of titles, Mr. Larkin will be the only high commissioner in London without a title.

That's Why This Man Praises Dodd's Kidney Pills

Mr. Carl Boutelier of Masson's Point After Four Years Suffering Took the Advice of a Friend and Used Dodd's Kidney Pills

Masson's Point, Heart of St. Maurice's Bay, N.B.—(special)—Mr. Carl Boutelier, a well known and highly respected resident of this place, is one more addition to the great mass of evidence that Dodd's Kidney Pills are the greatest of all kidney remedies.

"I was laid up for four years with kidney trouble." Mr. Boutelier said further: "One day a friend advised me to use Dodd's Kidney Pills and I made up my mind to give them a trial. I used just six boxes in all."

The result of health has thrown the kidneys. If they are kept strong and well all the impurities are carried out of the blood. But if they are weak and out of order the impurities stay in the blood and disease is sure to result.

Ask your neighbors if Dodds Kidney Pills do not make strong healthy kidneys.

Soil Drifting Problem

Wheat Growing Should Be Abandoned For Mixed Farming

Winnipeg.—Until farmers in districts where soil drifting is prevalent will abandon wheat growing to the exclusion of mixed farming the problem is the backbone of the Dominion and Canada, and the raising of livestock the principal revenue from agriculture, was the sentiment strongly emphasized at the numerous toasts and banquet here tendered to the visiting delegates to the livestock meetings by the Canadian National Exhibition Association. Incidentally, the event was also in celebration of the opening of the new million dollar livestock arena at the Canadian National Exhibition.

Premier Drury remarked that the livestock industry like other industries was passing through trying times but Ontario's position was not at all serious as only to utility types and keep what from the lands trend.

The country needed most the producer. Drury said that would best be met by production of milk, beef and wool.

Baltic Closed By Ice

Steamers Held Fast With 27 Passengers on Board

Stockholm.—The Baltic Sea has been converted into an isolated lake owing to the virtual closing of the Cattegat and the sound by ice. Five steamships, including the Thule from London, with 27 passengers, are held fast in the ice in numerous positions off the Hano Lightkeeper.

London.—The closing of the Baltic by the ice will not interfere with American relief activities in Russia, according to American administration headquarters here.

DEATH OF LITTLE HUNTER COMMON

The death took place on Saturday night last of Hunter, the only child of Mr. and Mrs. Jas Common, town. The little lad was unable to throw off the effects of a very severe attack of diphtheria, and although recovering sufficiently to go out and see his little playmates, he never retained his strength and complications setting in, death claimed the bright young life after much suffering late Saturday night. Hunter was not quite six years of age and a general favorite with all. His death is mourned generally. The funeral was held on Monday afternoon with service in St. Saviour's church at 2 o'clock, many friends and sympathizers attending. The Rev. J. H. Smith gave a short and touching address, and a hymn which the small child knew by heart, was sung. The little casket was covered with floral offerings among which were the following. Wreath, St. Saviour's W. A.; Cross Mr and Mrs. Ben Calvert; Hepatich, Eastern Star; Lily Spray, Women's Institute; Roses, Mrs A.B. Cooper, Primula, Mrs Magee, Mrs Rankin, Chrsanthm. Mr and Mrs Chesney, Primula, Mrs Nagen, Mrs Payne. The remains were laid to rest in the Vermilion cemetery, the pall-bearers being Mr A. B. Rankin and Mr. Lee Brimfield. Genuine and heartfelt sympathy is extended to the bereaved parents in their great sorrow.

RED CROSS NOTES

Under the chairmanship of Rev. L. R. McDonald, an enthusiastic meeting of Airdrie citizens recently formed a Red Cross unit and are making plans to look after the districts. The following officers were elected: Women's Institute, Ladies Aid and U. F. A. were represented.

The Red Cross hospital at Peace Coast is working overtime, according to a report received at Headquarters in Calgary. Many patients have been nursed after and relief has been forwarded there for the clothing relief in rural districts as the province is slow to assist. Donations are also asked to be made at Red Cross unit, or to the Provincial Headquarters, O'Neill Block, Calgary.

The following contributions have been received:

VERMILION PERMANENT PLAYERS STAGE BIG SUCCESS

It was a delighted audience that filled the Colonial Theatre last Wednesday evening after the comedy "Nothing But The Truth" staged by the Vermilion Permanent Players. From the raising of the curtain in the first act till the conclusion of the third, this versatile and talented troupe of local artists held the rapt attention of the packed house producing round after round of merriment as well as carrying the plaudits. The plot of the play was fully sketched in a previous issue and personal reference made to those participating. The foremost three pieces was fully verified a second number of the cast played their part in a manner quite equal to professionals. Mr. H. Alexander as Bob Dumont, it is no exaggeration to say, is without a peer in comedy and on occasion as this occasion took on to a burlesque; Mrs. Ockenden, in the role of the character of Gwen in her initial bow to a Vermilion audience, made a decided reputation as one deserving of a truly artistic temperament and the ability to interpret with a most pleasing charm the important role assigned to her; Mrs. Fielding as Mabel, and Mrs. A.W. Ribble, as Mabel, deserve great commendation for the effectiveness in carrying out the parts of two rather lax young ladies and inveterate gossips. Authentic spirit of Mabel Brimley contributed by the above personae was one of Mabel, sent everybody laid convulsions. Mrs. Edwards, who played the part of Mrs. Ralston, again exemplified her dramatic ability carrying through a most important assignment, lending in no small degree to the general success of the production. Edna played by Miss Bury, in her pretty frocks and new hair, was the recipient of most rude compliments. Percy Ralston, by Mr. Ed Smith (Van Dusen), acted their parts with considerable merit, while J. P. Bell as the Professor occupied a very large part in the success of the play. Although but a child in financial matters he was not only able to criticize his own work, but interest as well. Mrs. Fo. as parlor-maid and Mr. Richards as the grandfather's clock completed the company. While the attendance was large it was well deserving of a crowded house.

ELK POINT SWEPT FIRE; $20,000 DAMAGE

Village Forty Miles North of Vermilion Hard Hit on Saturday

TWO STORES, BANK AND HALL BURNED

Cigaret Butt Dropped at Concert Believed to Have Started Fire

VERMILION, Alta., Feb. 27 - Two large store premises, the Canadian Bank of Commerce building and the Veteran's hall were completely destroyed by fire at Elk Point, a village forty miles north of Vermilion on the North Saskatchewan river, shortly after 8 o'clock Saturday morning, causing a loss of nearly $20,000, partially covered by insurance. The buildings burned were the hardware store of Charles Hood with contents, including the post office and government telephone office; the new bank building of the Canadian Bank of Commerce with all the fixtures, the implement warehouse of Charles J. Markstad with contents, completing farm implements and machinery. The Cooker hotel which stood in the way of the fire with only a short break between it and Markstad's warehouse, was protected but saved from being destroyed by the precipitation of a basket ball game. It was desperately cold with a high wind and that the building was saved was a miracle.

Blazed on Ball

The fire started in the Veterans hall as near as can be learned from the stage. There was a dance and play the evening before and the stage was covered with matting and paraphernalia used by the amateur players and it is believed some one dropped a cigarette butt and that it smouldered there until it broke out.

When the fire was discovered it had already made considerable progress and in about an hour and a half had swept along the street until it was stricken by the east of Markstad's store and the effective work done on the Cooker Hotel. The absence of the fire was so rapid that little or nothing was saved from any of the buildings. Head lived in the store premises and succeeded in saving a few household effects, but nothing of [illegible] was stocked with a very large line of hardware. A few coats of paint matter was also destroyed.

Estimate of Losses

Owing to the telephone office being burnt out it was impossible to get particulars to outside points until the afternoon, when communications were re-established. The losses are as follows:

Veterans' Hall $3,000 partially covered, thanks Head, $1,000 partially covered by insurance. Bank premises $7,000 insured for $5,000. Charles J. Markstad, $7,000, partially covered by insurance, probably $3,000.

The Veterans' hall was owned by the Elk Point branch of the G. W. V. A. and was held in trust for them by a board of five trustees. It was only place for entertainment and [illegible] gatherings in Elk Point. The branch will re-build as soon as they can complete arrangements to do so.

In addition to the main business of the village was the bank and the post office. Hood and Markstad's premises were also destroyed. The bank will be open temporarily to-day [illegible] and will probably be moved Monday and re-established [illegible]

USEFUL FOR OVER 500 PURPOSES

Gillett's Lye can be used for so many purposes that their enumeration here would be impossible. For example, Gillett's Lye can be used for making soap, in washing dishes, also as a disinfectant. For softening hard water. As a means of removing grease and smoke stains. These are only a few of its many uses, but they serve to indicate what has made Gillett's Lye such a general household utility to-day.

Has Lonely Job

Bird Lover Spends Time in Hut on Shetland Islands

Probably the loneliest occupation in Great Britain is that of Harry Hardison, who every spring goes out to an isolated hut on the island of Hermaness, north of the Shetlands.

He is the watcher of the birds under the Royal Society for the protection of Birds. For fifteen years he has filled the post for the society, staying in the hut, which faces the wild Atlantic, from spring until autumn, but altogether he has been keeping his annual visit for 33 years.

In his tiny shanty, the watcher has done admirable work in preventing the destruction of bird life by wild hunters and egg collectors.

Infant Mortality

Many Children Die in Early Stages of Life

Out of every 1,000 children born alive in Canada (except Quebec) during September last, 109 died before reaching the age of twelve months. The total deaths of children under one year was 1,495, as against 1,931, or a rate of 133 per 1,000 births in September, 1920. Of the 1,495 infant deaths in September, 1921, 24 per cent. died in the first week of life.

Appetite Good, Gained 20 lbs.

Could Not Feel Better

From a nervous wreck this man was restored to health, strength and happiness

He tells his own story in this letter

Mr. Ralph A. Roberts, Laverna, Sask., writes

"In 1917 I had lost all appetite, failed 25 pounds in weight and was very nervous and shaky and in fact grew to all kinds of nervous troubles. I had suffered from constipation, which kept getting worse until I was far becoming a total wreck. Doctors and four drugs were prescribed to my grave at the age of 39.

"Then I read about people being restored by Dr Chase's Medicine. I also took some of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and Kidney-Liver Pills. I found that my bowels were restored to natural movement each day and that my appetite was no more. I had a good night's rest and feel better. I shall always be grateful for these benefits."

HIGH SCHOOL LIT. NOTES

Friday, Feb 17—The Glee Club put on a very pleasing programme—to some. The debate "Resolved that all nominations should be abolished" Thomas Rideweed and Bennie Philpot (Grade 8) on the affirmative side and Louis Min and Gladys Swanson (grade 10) on the negative As would be expected reached was much to their satisfaction and displeasure of Grade 8. VERMILION WINS BIG SIX HOCKEY LEAGUE 5 GOALS TO 2

Vermilion's budding young hockey stars are the champions of the Big Six hockey league, which carries with it the handsome trophy donated by Col. Cain president of the league, by virtue of hard fought victory over their fellow citizens. While the Aggies admirably defended the Westerners at the Arena last night on Friday evening before one of the largest crowds that has ever jammed [illegible] into the rink, between 700 and 800 people, witnessed the tussle The Vermilion puck chasers won the coveted honors with a score for the two game series of 5 to 2.

Vermilion has a good idea of the calibre of Two more evenly matched teams would be hard to see, as the athletes fought valiantly from zero to zero after the [illegible] of the game, when Referee Shilling, [illegible] the whistle and gives warning on a forward pass on Sunday next. Feb 21 [illegible] the centre of the house. The Vermilion boys were well supported by a record [illegible] of enthusiasm [illegible] and there was more noise [illegible] heard at the Arena on Friday night. The game was clean, or the most part, the way and few cases an important contest.

The Display of Refereeing

It was the best handled game of the season on local ice Harold Bee on the referee's was in charge of activities and he looks just as good as he did a year ago when he was raised to official and envelopes by those who have seen him officiating in the senior amateur games in Edmonton. He might have missed a few things but for the most part his decisions were excellent. It was a difficult game to handle too, and a less expert armed official would have had a hard time.

First Period

The Aggies did the greater part of the pressing in the first period and were rewarded for same with a dash to make of which has settled great deal on until this year. The Farmers had the fire, two shots to goal which were easily brushed aside by Powers as it was close on to eight minutes before there was a respite [illegible] blood going to the Farmers [illegible] a pass from [illegible] in front of the opposition goal and securing the first goals. Powers [illegible] a shot which [illegible] in front of the opposition goal and [illegible] the first counter. It was a brilliant play With twelve minutes left the husky Farmers tried hard for another [illegible] were unable to beat the [illegible] as the invaders were playing a four and five man defence in the last two minutes of this period. The period closed to Powers Pld [illegible] the heavy left winger on the Farmers' line-up, gave a splendid exhibition of stick handling in this [illegible].

Second Period

In the second period, the Schiller-ites had the Vegreville crew backed up on their own goal for the greater part of the play Seldom did the visitors get the rubber on past mid-ice and once Holland in the Farmers [illegible] to centre to Murphy who [illegible] rained on to single home shots during the twenty minutes The centre and third tribe rallied in fine form at centre on Eddie Pye [illegible] Vegreville's fighting custodian and it was only his marvelous work that saved the day for the town's athletes [illegible] he turn aside Vermilion's [illegible] that no scoring took place in this [illegible] had nine shots to stop and one of the same at the rate of two per minute Eddie was unbeatable [illegible] to be of this chapter Fedorak registered a tally in the frame set it was not allowed by referee Denton Beaubert and C. Barr starred for the Farmers in the closing minutes of the [illegible].

Third Period

The [illegible] opened on the third and it was not long before the first [illegible] of the game, the terrific [illegible] in the last preceding periods [illegible] the Vermilion was defended [illegible] and [illegible] Vermilion [illegible] Vegreville [illegible] the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

A RETRACTION

The Standard is called upon to make a retraction this week in an item which was published in good faith in the last issue of the paper The duty is a pleasant one for it brings to life, as far as our readers are concerned, one whose death was reported, namely, the Rev. W. F. Allen of Innisfail. The information supplied the Standard came from a most reliable, source and was in the possession of many before given publication. However, Mr. Robt McGee of town has just received a letter from Mr. Allen himself, in which he states that he is very much alive, and the problem bothering him the most just now is how to answer the many kind letters received at the home following the reported demise.

TROPHIES WENT OUT OF TOWN

VERMILION 'SPIEL WAS BROUGHT TO SUCCESSFUL CONCLUSION SATURDAY

A. L. Horton, of Vegreville, Won the Grand Challenge—Stewart Rae and McClung Win Cups

A. L. Horton, the veteran curler of Vegreville, captured the Grand Challenge Cup in the local bonspiel which closed Saturday night, defeating A. A Stewart of North Battleford by the close margin of two points. It was a nip and tuck battle and the finish was exciting with Horton counting in the 11th and 12th ends. Jack Ewing of Manaville, who skipped a compart rink, carried off third prize, while Telford of the local club, landed in fourth place.

The Alberta Hotel cup went to Stewart of North Battleford, who defeated Dr. Smith, of Vermilion. Horton took third place while the fourth prize goes to Moxley of Lloydminster.

R. W. McClung, of Edmonton, won the Vermilion Hotel cup after an exciting battle with Dr. Heaslip of Manaville. It was anybody's game until the rinks were coming home when the Edmonton curler nosed into the lead. Pickle, of Maidstone, and Oldley, of Vermilion, captured third and fourth places respectively.

Jack Rae, the other Edmonton entry, defeated McKinnon of Manaville, in a close game and won the Blue Ribbon Cup. R A. Smith of Vermilion, was third and Joseph McKone another local entry, was fourth.

The Grand Aggregate ended in a tie between Horton, of Vegreville, and Stewart North Battleford, each having won eight games and lost one. The North Battleford rink won the jewelry, however ,on the flip of a coin. Dr Holt, of Lloydminster, carried off the very hard luck prize

Mayor Morrison presented the prizes on behalf of the Vermilion Curling Club and the winners, in expressing their thanks adjudged the 'spiel to be one of the most successful and one of the most enjoyable they had ever attended

CLAYSMORE

(From our own Correspondent)

We wish to extend our sympathy to Jas. Horn and young son in the loss of wife and mother. Mrs. Horn died in Manaville Hospital on Feb. 28th.

Well, we are not going to say much about that hockey game last Friday night, because you were all there and saw for yourselves. But aren't those farmer boys some hockey players. It was lucky Vegreville had six net guardians or there is no telling how many scores the Farmers would have made. Besides if the Farmers' protest is sustained, we may have the pleasure of seeing another game.

We see that the citizens of Vermilion have organized a "what shall we call it" coalition committee, for the purpose of trying to improve on the post office site. We are wondering why the Progressives were not represented on this committee as we are of the opinion that there are many Progressives just as much ashamed of the present post office location as any other class of citizen in Vermilion.

Our guess is that if the present prices of blacksmith work continue, there will be less blacksmiths in the future. Lots of farmers doing their own work in that line right now.

The Poultry Show as an advertising medium, is all to the good. One exhibitor claims to have sold forty dollars worth of breeding birds since that date.

Elections in Melberta resulted in the old council being returned.

Why are modern dresses like a barbed wire feige? Why, because they protect the property without obstructing the view. (We don't think Mayor Graves is responsible for this one.)

HOME GONE UP IN SMOKE

Residence of Walter Smith, Dewberry, Burned to Ground

Mrs. and Mrs. Walter Smith of Dewberry were the victims of a fire on Thursday afternoon, Feb. 23rd, which entirely destroyed their house and rendered them homeless.

Mrs. Smith was alone in the house, and on hearing a crackling noise, looked about and saw to her dismay that the roof was burning all about the stove pipe. She called for help, hoping her husband and son, who were working in a wood about half a mile away, might hear or might see the smoke. In the meantime she hastily gathered some clothing, bedclothes and a few household articles which she could collect. By the time the men returned the fire had made too much progress to save anything else. Much sympathy is felt for Mr. and Mrs. Smith and family, who are well-known and respected in the neighborhood, having lived here for fifteen years. We hope the sympathy may take the form of prompt and practical assistance.

[illegible] LAW

Results of seed germination test, at the School of Agriculture would indicate that oats in general are low in germinating power this spring, and every farmer should make special effort to determine the germinability of his seed supply.

Some samples having tested as low as 1 per cent. show that the oat seed supply needs to be looked into. Every farmer can test his own seed by counting out 100 seeds and putting them between moistened blotting papers. Keep moistened for from 4 to 8 days and count the number that germinate, which will give the germinating percentage.

The seed may also be put into soil or sand about ½ inch below the surface and the soil kept moistened, with luke warm water. In either case the seeds should be kept in a warm room during the time that the test is being made. This is important and every farmer should determine the quality of his seed before planting thereby saving what might turn out to be a big loss.

FARM WANTED

TROPHIES WENT OUT OF TOWN

VERMILION 'SPIEL WAS BROUGHT TO SUCCESSFUL CONCLUSION SATURDAY

A. L. Horton, of Vegreville, Won the Grand Challenge—Stewart Rae and McClung Win Cups

A. L. Horton, the veteran curler of Vegreville, captured the Grand Challenge Cup in the local bonspiel which closed Saturday night, defeating A. A Stewart of North Battleford by the close margin of two points. It was a nip and tuck battle and the finish was exciting with Horton counting in the 11th and 12th ends. Jack Ewing of Mannville, who skipped a compact rink, carried off third prize, while Telford of the local club, landed in fourth place.

The Alberta Hotel cup went to Stewart of North Battleford, who defeated Dr. Smith, of Vermilion. Horton took third place while the fourth prize goes to Moxley of Lloydminster.

R. W. McClung, of Edmonton, won the Vermilion Hotel cup after an exciting battle with Dr. Heaslip of Mannville. It was anybody's game until the rinks were coming home when the Edmonton curler nosed into the lead. Pickle, of Maidstone, and Gidley, of Vermilion, captured third and fourth places respectively.

Jack Rae, the other Edmonton entry, defeated McKinnon of Mannville, in a close game and won the Blue Ribbon Cup. R.A. Smith of Vermilion, was third and Joseph McKone another local entry, was fourth.

The Grand Aggregate ended in a tie between Horton, of Vegreville, and Stewart, North Battleford, each having won eight games and lost one. The North Battleford rink won the jewelry, however on the flip of a coin. Dr. Holt, of Lloydminster, carried off the very hard luck prize.

Mayor Morrison presented the prizes on behalf of the Vermilion Curling Club and the winners, in expressing their thanks adjudged the 'spiel to be one of the most successful and one of the most enjoyable they had ever attended.

The personnel of the winning rinks follows:

Grand Challenge

A. L. Horton, skip; T. Casson, H. Barker, and C. Freeman

Alberta Hotel

A. A. Stewart, skip; H. Richardson and J. McClinton, and R.M. Stewart.

Vermilion Hotel

R. W. McClung, skip; J. Moir, H. Laidlaw, and H. Nicil.

Blue Ribbon

Jack Rae, skip; H. Deeton, C. T. Meggs, and R. L. Hoar.

ELAVEMORE

(From our own Correspondent)

We wish to extend our sympathy to Jas. Horn and young son in the loss of wife and mother, Mrs. Horn died in Mannville Hospital on Feb. 23th.

Well, we are not going to say much about that hockey game last Friday night, because you were all there and saw for yourselves. But aren't those farmer boys some hockey players. It was lucky Vegreville had six net guardians or there is no telling how many scores the Farmers would have made. Besides if the Farmers' protest is sustained, we may have the pleasure of seeing another game.

We see that the citizens of Vermilion have organized a "what shall we call it" coalition committee, for the purpose of trying to improve on the post office site. We are wondering why the Progressives were not represented on this committee as we are of the opinion that there are many Progressives just as much ashamed of the present post office location as any other class of citizen in Vermilion.

Our opinion is that if the present prices of blacksmith work continue, there will be less blacksmiths in the future. Lots of farmers doing their own work in that line right now.

The Poultry Show as an advertising medium, is all to the good. One exhibitor claims to have sold forty dollars worth of breeding birds since that date.

Elections in Meiberta resulted in the old council being returned.

Why are modern dresses like a barbed wire fence? Why, because they protect the property without obstructing the view. (We don't think Mayor Graves is responsible for this one.)

HOME GONE UP IN SMOKE

Residence of Walter Smith, Dewberry, Burned to Ground

Mrs. and Mrs. Walter Smith of Dewberry were the victims of a fire on Thursday afternoon, Feb. 23rd, which entirely destroyed their house and rendered them homeless.

Mrs. Smith was alone in the house, and on hearing a crackling noise, looked about and saw to her dismay that the roof was burning all about the stove-pipe. She called for help, hoping her husband and son, who were working in a wood about half a mile away, might hear or might see the smoke. In the meantime she hastily gathered some clothing, bedclothes and a few household articles which she could collect. By the time the men returned the fire had made too much progress to save anything else. Much sympathy is felt for Mr. and Mrs. Smith and family, who are well-known and respected in the neighborhood, having lived here for fifteen years. We hope the sympathy may take the form of prompt and practical assistance.

CRUCIAL TEST ON THURSDAY NIGHT

About about seven o'clock Thursday night today Arrations of the Big Five hockey league will toss "Thin Lizzie" back on the shelf, and throw Rutherford's "Thirty Ways to Milk a Cow" into the corner.

They will don sweaters, protect themselves with pucks and white ribbons, powder their noses and dig up the Maurette Royal think. Thursday night is one of the big nights in Vermilion sporting circles, so far as hockey is concerned. The Farmers and Vegetville were ordained to play a sudden death game to decide the Big Six league championship title, on neutral ice March 9th, in what should prove one of the most interesting games of the hockey season.

The Vegreville team will be intact with one exception, that of Con Bissett their star defence man, who was the cause of the series being replayed, as the referee decided that he was ineligible. Even in the loss of Bissett the westerners still have a formidable and husky outfit, and there is no getting away from the fact that the Vegreville aggregation are a tough bunch to get the better of. Their last two games proved this beyond a doubt.

But there's a lot of confidence in the Farmers' camp yet, in spite of the fact that the Vegreville setteria won the series at home and home games last month.

As the Tankerites fully expected that the protest, which they entered immediately after the game on Friday night February 24th, would be sustained, they have been practising hard. Manager Tucker stated on Wednesday that his men were all in the pink of condition and eager for the fray.

The town is practically hockey mad. There was great rejoicing when word reached town that the series was or would be played on neutral ice. Interest in the game has never been so keen since the inception of the old timer. Agnarians and their supporters are confident of victory.

John Selkirk now occupies his new premises on Main Street, just east of M Weber & Sons' general Store.

The Road To Success

ROSY CHEEKED HEALTHY WOMEN

Know the Full Value of Rich, Red Blood

Robust, healthy, red-cheeked women seldom ponder over the cause of their good health. They are full of mind and body in such that they can rise above the causes that bring melancholy and brooding. It is the woman with weak, watery blood who is thrown into the depths of despair by the sufferings that grow so great in the imagination that it seems as if the least scream to relieve her feelings

Mrs. Wenzel's health changed when her blood becomes thin and weak. Her stomach is disordered and all appetite vanishes. The nerves are shattered, sleep is broken and irregular and does not refresh the body. Day by day she grows paler, and the cheeks gradually and gives further evidence that the blood is poverty. Any story to every woman who has grown pale and weak, and in this condition Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will be found of great benefit, because they actually make new, rich blood. To have a full set of work to do besides taking care of my little one, and I felt that my health I enjoy it, and I can truthfully thank Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills can be obtained through any medicine dealer, or may be had by mail, post paid, at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

An express train has been beaten by twelve minutes by an auto which raced it over a distance of 11 miles.

HOW SIMPS THE PRAISES OF DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

Saskatchewan Man Who Has Found New Health and Gained Twenty Pounds in Weight Recommends Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Wahner, Sask. (Special) Simon Gawish, a well known and respected resident here is a warm friend of Dodd's Kidney Pills. He has tried them and found them effective.

"I am more than thankful that I was led to use Dodd's Kidney Pills for my kidneys and backache. I have gained twenty pounds in weight.

"Now I am very thankful to say I have no more backache and I recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills to everybody."

That Mr. Gawish's trouble came from the kidneys is evidenced by the relief he got from Dodd's Kidney Pills. They are purely and simply a Kidney remedy. They build and strengthen the kidneys and put them in shape to drive all the impurities out of the blood. Sound kidneys mean pure blood and good health.

Ask your neighbors if Dodd's Kidney Pills do not make sound kidneys

Alberta Good Roads

Good Roads Board Will Have Supervision Over Work

Under the terms of a Highway Bill that is to be introduced into the Alberta Legislature at the present session, a good roads board will be formed consisting of a highways commissioner, the deputy minister of public works and three other members to be appointed by the government. It will be the duty of this board to see that road building is standardized according to the best modern methods and that the construction is properly supervised. The roads are to be classed as main highways, leading to local roads and relocation roads.

Catarrhal Conditions

Catarrh is a local disease greatly influenced by constitutional conditions. Therefore, a constitutional treatment, HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE, is taken internally and acts through the Blood on the Mucous Surfaces. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years. It is composed of some of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing Catarrh. Send for testimonials, free.

Western Provinces Show Increase in Sheep

Pure-Bred Animals Were Sold to Farmers Last Year

To encourage farmers in Saskatchewan to raise more sheep, upwards of 1,600 grade ewes and over one hundred pure-bred rams were sold to farmers in the province last year by the Provincial Department of Agriculture. During 1921 the three western provinces showed an increase in the number of sheep, up two per cent. in Alberta and Prince Edward Island, while the four central provinces reported decreases.

Traces of many diseases still prevalent to-day were found in mummies 3,000 years old.

Life of Sir Wilfrid Laurier

Authorized Biography of a Great Statesman and Fascinating Personality

In "Life and Letters of Sir Wilfrid Laurier," by Oscar Douglas Skelton (2 vols. Tornado). There has been added a most valuable contribution to the literature of Canada. So many people historical and biographical works have a strong appeal, and there is a peculiar fascination in the life story of this remarkable Canadian. Sir Wilfrid Laurier was perhaps the greatest statesman that Canada has produced, and in any event one of the most alluring personalities. The book tells us that he was born at St. Lin, a little village north of Montreal, on Nov. 20, 1841. Then follows in detail the story of his early life, his student days and ambitions. After studying law and entering the legal profession it was a short and natural step to the commencement of the fulfillment of his political aspirations. Very interesting is the history of his earlier political struggles and even in those days he showed promise of becoming prominent in the public life of Canada. One wonders that such a concrete and complete history of the long political life of the "Liberal Chieftain" could be crowded into two volumes. Most of the important letters and papers covering the period from the time he entered on his political life until its close are given in the appendix. Not the least interesting are the number of illustrations, including a number of pictures photographs which have never before been published. Mr. Skelton has produced a work which will provide Canadians with a better understanding of one who was a faith ful servant of his country, and a high standing figure in the political history of the British Dominions.

Furs From Far North

Trappers in Northern Alberta Have Successful Season

One of the most effective terms known on the market is Miller's Worm Powders. They will not only clear the stomach and bowels of worms, but will prove a very serviceable medicine for children in regulating the intestinal system and maintaining it in a healthy condition. There is nothing in their composition that will injure the most delicate stomach when directions are followed, and they can be given to children in the full assurance that they will utterly destroy all worms.

Mother! Open Child's Bowels With California Fig Syrup

Your little one will love the "fruity" taste of "California Fig Syrup" even if constipated, bilious, irritable, feverish, sick or full of cold. A tasteless dose clears the liver and bowels in a few hours and you can see for yourself how thoroughly it works all the sour, bile, and undigested food out of the bowels and you have a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers keep "California Fig Syrup" handy. They know a few spoonsful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get a worthless imitation.

MISS NELLIE COLLINS

"I have been thankful a thousand times that I took Tanlac when I did. It is simply wonderful the way it has benefited me," said Miss Nellie Collins 1220 Connecticut Ave., Bridgeport, Conn.

"About nineteen months ago my appetite began to fail and I seemed to be going into a decline. Nothing agreed with me and my nerves were keyed up to such a high pitch I was awfully afraid they would snap in two.

"But Tanlac has brought about a wonderful change in my condition. My appetite is almost ravenous, my digestion is perfect and I feel as well and strong as I ever did in my life. I never dreamed there was as grand a medicine as Tanlac in the world."

THE TRAGEDY OF ARMENIA

STARVATION AND RUIN ON EVERY SIDE

The tragedy of Armenia might be called the subject of a touching address given at the Presbyterian church Sunday evening by Capt. McKendrick, secretary for Alberta of the Armenian Relief Fund. Capt. McKendrick after serving overseas was appointed a member of the commission that went to Armenia to investigate the condition of affairs in that country. What Capt. McKendrick told the congregation was what he had seen himself or else knew had amply verified, it was the case of starvation and ruin on every side. The scenes of wretchedness and misery were unparalleled in human history, the persecutions by the Turks was one of colossal ferocity and brutality. From a population of several millions, there were now only about two millions, the rest having been slaughtered or died of starvation. At Angora, 30,000 women were driven by soldiers over a precipice and at another city several thousand children were driven up to the top of a hill and then there to where the Turkish soldiers stood on guard below. 70,000 old men and women left Baker on foot to Malatia, a distance of three hundred miles, in order to get food from the British army, only to find when the remnant arrived there that the troops had retired to Bagdad, 200 miles further. They went there, but only 6,000 reached Bagdad. The road from Baker to Bagdad is strewn with the human bones, bleaching in the desert sun.

The Kurdish soldiers made sport of slaying children with the points of their bayonets. Young girls were carried by the thousands into the Turkish harems where they had inflicted upon them all the open bestial propensities of those human brutes. The Canadian mission alone was now caring for over 100,000 young girls that had been rescued from those harems and of over 100,000 children in over 420 orphanages. Food was needed to keep those soldiers alive. There were thousands upon thousands more who could not be taken in. The call for food was urgent and the speaker hoped Vermilion would respond to the call and contribute its quota of grain for those starving children. The farmers were asked to bring in any kind of grain and the elevators would take care of it for them. The need is urgent.

BACK TO SOMERSET FOR ISRAEL RICH

Hamilton, March 13—Carrying out his pledge to deport immigrants who are brought here to work on farms and who fail to do so, the dominion government is deporting Israel Rich, brought to Canada. He worked three days and claims that the farmer wanted him to work from hours a day. He refused and now the government is sending him, his wife and six children back to their old home in Somerset, England.

Making Speech Visible

Principle of New Invention is Similar to Phonograph

A wonderful new invention called the Literagraph enables one to make accurate tracings upon permanent records of actual vibrations of sounds in articulated speech. The instrument is worked by motive power. When a room is filled with the sound of vibrations, and each different sound causes vibrations of a different shape. In the presence of the Literagraph a person saying "Ah" will have a wavy line, a "bubble" will have another shape. The principle is the same as that of the phonograph, but instead of delicate fingers to record the vibrations of speech are employed a number of these styli, each of which is set to record a different sound. It is claimed that with this invention mathematical formulæ will be possible to read and translate, as it were, the unknown tongue of the record.

Canadian Wool Sold

The Canadian Transport Co. West Coaster last year sold four million pounds of wool principally all grown in Canadian ranges. This is considered by Canadian growers a record as market for wool products, and in addition to the wool sold on this shipment there is a considerable amount of wool in warehouses awaiting a better demand and rising price.

Making Bread At Home

BY LORETTO C. LYNCH

An Acknowledged Expert in All Matters Pertaining to Household Management

Too many young housekeepers will attempt to make most anything or rept bread. Yet the making of a couple of loaves of bread is far less complicated than the making of even a simple cake.

Suppose you try to make a couple of loaves. You will want two tin loaf pans. These will cost about fifteen cents each. You will like to have a large mixing bowl and the usual half pint measuring cup and standard tea and tablespoons.

In using yeast follow directions thereafter that yeast is a plant. In order to live and grow it requires a good air, heat moisture. Like the mushroom it requires no light. In growing yeast gives off bubbles of gas and this gas makes the bread rise. If too hot boiling water is used or yeast instead of the lukewarm water the recipe calls for the yeast will be killed and the bread will not rise. And once killed it will not make the bread rise. To make two loaves of bread, first put into the mixing bowl put one level teaspoon of salt the same quantity of sugar and half a tablespoon of lard or butter. Pour half a cupful of boiling water over these ingredients.

When the butter or lard has melted add a cake or compressed yeast (a tablespoonful of some variety of dry yeast) that is powered. Then add about a cupful of lukewarm water. Stir well and then add flour. Two cups should be enough at first. Then add more flour, a little at a time, until the dough is stiff enough to knead. It will be impossible to add the entire quantity of flour called for in the recipe at the first mixing. Save enough to make a better half of the dough will be required for kneading in after the dough is set to rise.

Now the making of the dough for a second and then place it back in the mixing bowl. Set the bowl in a cool place or warm water and place a clean cloth over it. Let rise either over night or about seven hours during the day. Then remove dough from bowl and place on well floured pastry board. Cut it in two parts and put these in about half an hour. Bake in a hot oven about forty-five minutes—testing the loaves frequently so that they may brown evenly. Greasing over the top of the loaf before baking will give it that nice desired crisp brown crust.

The first mixing takes about two hours—after one has had a little practice, and the second kneading and shaping takes about five minutes.

VERMILION WINS BIG SIX

Vegreville is Defeated 2-1 on Neutral Ice at Manville

Playing an ironclad defensive game and taking advantage of the lack of stopping ability displayed by Vegreville, Vermilion last night won the sudden death game on neutral ice at Manville. The score was 3-1.

By this victory the Vermilion team won the championship of the Big Six Hockey League and the handsome trophy donated by President Craig.

Lineups Appeared

The Vegreville boys had a slight edge of the play as an attacking organization but time and time again their efforts broke like waves against a rocky coast. When they did bore through their shots were either weak or wild.

Several times Vegreville pressed so hard it looked critical for the Vermilion players, but the orange and black clad team kept the goal well protected and in turn staged dazzling rushes to the Vegreville end of the ice.

Conditions for a championship were not the best; the ice was soft and sticky, the elusive rubber having a tendency to roll, which robbed both teams of a great deal of effectiveness (combination was hampered by the tangle-foot surface. The boys did not appear to be able to time their passes and many fine efforts went for naught as a consequence. In this respect the losers seemed to be suffering the brunt of ill-luck, quite a number of their exchanges in the Vermilion goal area going wide.

Both teams had big delegations of rooters present, when the puck was faced off and the wildly enthusiastic fans kept up a continual clamor until the last goost was sounded. The Farmers are a well-balanced team and play brilliant hockey. Speed seems to be the middle name of every member of the versatile aggregation and they tied up the ice leaving the back-check ing fraternity of the forwards on the opposition far behind. They also have the necessary physical condition to exhibit plenty of action.

While the Vegreville boys were decisively defeated and even outclassed they played a nice game of hockey, they clashed on the ice with a team which was well groomed and were forced to perform at their best. Rest was one of the outstanding features of the game, his stick handling was beautiful and with C. Barr and Fuller played remarkably good hockey. Powers, Baxter and Charlebois acclimated for the losing team Jim Ivy officiated and handled the game in an excellent manner.

The teams lined up as follows

Vegreville	Position	Vermilion
Powers	goal	Holland
Latiman	defence	McKinnon
Charlebois	defence	B. Barr
Baxter	centre	Pilkie
Stewart	forward	Searle
Long	forward	Brodrick

Is The Climate Changing?

Cold Spells Diminished More in Length than Severity

The other day, in conversation with an old timer who has known the west intimately since 1878, and, beside, is a man of observant habit, who always led an open air life, the subject of climate came up. Mr. H. Rideout, of Kenora, followed railway construction for many years before settling down by the Lake of the Woods. He is now the owner of the tract of land in the north-west of the town, known as "The Rideout estate," which was acquired originally by his brother whom it will be remembered finally settled and swelly ally died in Beausejour, Manitoba.

Ever since he arrived in Kenora or rather Rat Portage, as it then was, Mr. Rideout has been an attentive observer of the weather, especially the weather of winter in the olden days, when ten thirdson's Bay post stood on the spot where the mighty lake discharges a part of its waters into the Arctic ocean by the river which bears its name, and the reason of which the mercury, or rather the spirit, drops just as low as it ever did, but the weather we have had this winter have seemingly given place to days of minus temperatures.

But there is nothing new under the sun, new. The rabbit skins Mr. Rideout recollects was related to minus degrees of frost, but the fact remains the intense cold lasted for several weeks without a cessation, but there was no "zero weather" such as accumulated seemed to be more the precipitation of heavy frost spicules during the night than ordinary good fashion. He recollects that it was almost impossible to make a good fire hauling reading in this exceedingly light, fleecy stuff.

The Indians, one and all, prefer fuel and woodland dwellers, assert that the country is drying up, that lakes are shrinking, sloughs becoming farm land, and summer rains not abundant. Mr. Rideout is inclined to the same opinion; at least, he remembers one summer many years ago when there was almost continuous rain and crops ripened imperfectly.

These observations of an old time student of western weather are of particular interest, because geologists and other high brow people are attempting to forecast the probable date of the arrival of the next cold snap on the Glacial Period. It is not understood as to the cause of these undoubtable drops of tempera- ture would fall on several volumes of our most eminent and truth-worthy authorities who, moreover, has had an opportunity of studying the strictly- graphical records placed by nature on file in the Hudson's Bay region, stated recently that it might be 10,000 or 12,000 years since the last of the ice cap melted. Suppose this to be a fairly correct estimate and the late lamented Dr. Croll's calculations do furnishable, we must be about halfway between two cold snaps. In another ten or twelve thousand years the axis of the Pole will probably point in the spot it pointed to 22,500 years previously, when the hairy mammoth and the cave bears were having the time of their lives, and any human beings dwelling north of the Sahara were of tragicpride habit and greatly on the watch to evade the predatory beasts of forest and field.

Now there is no evident, though possibly obscure, connection between such observations as our western pioneers have made and these profound questionings. Is the cold gradually advancing? Are the "barren lands" extending? Is the northern limit of trees being pressed ever southward? In fact, is the day approaching when we ought, in satisfaction of the dismal time coming, to dispose of our Palm Beach suits and summer underwear, and begin to lay in a stock of rubber clothing, and train ourselves to rush dazed, composed chiefly of such heat-giving substances as cereal bullock and starchy flour bear meat?—C. A. B. in Manitoba Free Press

Hadn't Arrived Yet

In a certain village church in Fargland it is the custom of the vicar to await the arrival of the squire before he begins the service. On one occasion, the vicar being absent, his place was taken by a substitute, who started the service promptly at 11 o'clock leading off with: "When the wicked man—"

"Hush!" interrupted the verger, in a piercing whisper; "he isn't here yet."

Feeding Stuffs Found to be Impure

Farmers and Others Should be Careful in Purchasing Stock Food

Microscopanation and fraud in the compounding of certain stock foods has been clearly demonstrated by examination under the microscope, according to the Food Commissioner of the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa. A product that was offered for sale as barley meal at $4 a bag, was found to actually contain no barley whatever; the mixture consisted of ground corn, sorghum, bean meal and ground oat hulls. Another class of food called Feed Flour that retailed at $4.50 a bag, was found to contain ground rice hulls, pulverized oat hulls, with some sorghum and corn. What was named Oil Cake consisted largely of ground cocoa shells, with a little linseed meal and barley flour. To the hand eye it was practically impossible to determine that any of these products were imitations of genuine articles, but the microscope at these discoveries prove that it was high time certain attention was being paid to the adulteration of stock. Feeding Stuffs Act which has been entrusted to the branch above referred to, Dairy Commissioner, provides for the inspection of which there may be reasonable grounds for suspicion, and for the analysis of samples by corresponding with the owners.

Age Old Advice

Wise Counsel Found in Best of World's Books

In the most wonderful of all books, the Bible, a book that is treated with derision by many, is to be found much wise counsel on the subject of reading. Of the many of replies were received in Dr. Hamilton's Day Post sent out a little while ago in answer to the question "Is reading a benefit or a disadvantage?" the following Psalm trappers were still in the majority. Many of these dogs and were not stunted out till the fall. Another factor replied that strange silence was the symptom of which resembled distemper, was the dogs in his vicinity, and that he would not allow their purchase. Another wired that it was a matter for extreme- ly thin and with a and were beginning to be hungry and poor travelling conditions

FINE PROGRAMME FOR SPRING SHOW AT EDMONTON

The Edmonton Spring Live Stock Show management announces that excursion rates have been secured on all railways for this event, which will be held April 10th to 15th, with the Spring Doll Sale on the 10th and 11th. A very interesting programme has been arranged for the entertainment of spectators in addition to the show horse classes "Credential," owned in Vancouver, and the highest jumping horse on the American continent, with a record of 7 feet 8½ inches, will be present in contests with local horses and those of the Alberta Provincial Police. Each man bringing his horse which will have been in his possession for at least 30 days, is entitled to one free admission to the grounds on which the show will be held. Arrangements are also being made for all cattle to be on the ground ready for distribution to those entitled for same. Manager W. J. Stark, Edmonton, will be glad to hear from those contemplating attending this Show.

An Old Hospital

St. Bartholomew's, London, Arranging for Celebration of 900th

Three hundred and fifty years before Columbus discovered America, St. Bartholomew's Hospital, London, had been established, said Lord Brentford, who is now hard at work on the celebration of the 450th anniversary of the hospital. A man who has been in the public eye for years, and his lordship, might himself have been in later life a patient of the institution. It is now proposed that the celebrations should take place in the spring of 1923, and that there should be a historical exhibition, religious services and a pageant.

India Must Choose

Government Has to Protect Citizens Or Resign to Ghandi

The non-co-operators have placed one issue and one only before the country. It is the choice between the rule of law and the chose of no law whatever. It has been there could be any hesitation in the action of the Government. They must either put down the policy of Mr Ghandi and Mr Das, there is no other alter native whatsoever. There is no middle course before the people of India that is between the ordered evolution of the Indian constitution and revolution. That the ... and irre... vocable nature of this choice is completely understood is unfortunately not the case.—Times of India.

Larger Army Needed in India

British Troops and Indian Cavalry Have Been Reduced

Gen Lord Henry R. Rawlinson commander-in-chief of the British troops in India, explained the military situation to English and Indian journalists at Delhi, and gave his reasons for the necessity of having sufficient strength both for the frontier and internal defence Gen Rawlinson declared that the tribesmen, if they combined, could raise some 120,000 splendid fighters. He said the British troops had been decreased and the Indian cavalry reduced from 40 to 21 regiments

Poor Man's Palace

The Home Has Greater Value than Can be Expressed in Monetary Terms

A city or house is pleasing to the eye and a joy to the mind When neighbor meets neighbor in fellowship and friendship when all personal interest unwholesome becomes public affairs, there is nothing on this earth that pays greater dividends than the keen friendly rivalry of different families working to outdo each other in beautifying their home and surroundings The home never fails to respond in proportion to the thrift and industry exerted in its embellishment

The home and its association are so inseparable that the building, which we call home, is sacred, in our affection The home is the unit of society, and the foundation of Christianity and civilization It is the poor man's palace where love reigns supreme as well as the rich man's mansion A home represents value, interests and influences in the community It has far greater value than it is possible to express in monetary terms.

Headaches Gone

Perhaps you can imagine what the means to one who had suffered severely with headaches for ten years.

Read about it in this letter.

Mrs Tena A Smith, Country Harbor Cross Roads, N S., writes:

"I feel that if anyone can recommend Dr Chase's medicine I certainly can. I suffered for ten years from severe headaches, and although I took all kinds of medicine for same I never received relief at the time I became very nervous and run down and could not sleep or rest. I became a slave to drug habit. Medicine, too, which I was told him she had done me good. What he had done ...twould.

India Must Choose

Government Has to Protect Citizens Or Resign to Ghandi

The non-co-operators have placed one issue and one only before the country. It is the choice between the rule of law and the chose of no law whatever. It has been, there could be any hesitation in the action of the Government. They must either put down the policy of Mr Ghandi and Mr Das, there is no other alter native whatsoever. There is no middle course before the people of India that is between the ordered evolution of the Indian constitution and revolution. That the ... and irre... vocable nature of this choice is completely understood is unfortunately not the case.—Times of India.

VERMILION FOOTBALL ASSOCIATION ORGANIZE FOR SEASON '22

There are certain times in the evolutionary history of athletics as well as in every other line when a recruderescence is in order. The meeting of the Vermilion Brits football team held last night in the Standard office to reorganize for the season of 1922 is a portent of something grand. In the first place the meeting has been held at the proper time. It is no use in waiting until about a week before the opening game to organize. Last night's meeting showed that the Vermilion football people are right on the job. It also shows that the public are going to be sold just what is in store for them in the playing scene, and it any district has anything better to promise or fulfill than the Brits of Vermilion, then a new era in sport is due to appear at once.

There was a big attendance at the meeting. That in itself is somewhat of a portent, but when one scans the list of goodly men and true who have been chosen in the various positions to steer Vermilion to victory, it is then that the enthusiastic fans know that a machine really serious is being situated for the road of football. The town of Vermilion has always been very fortunate in having a real classy football team. The Brits Football Club of last year is intact with one exception, that of Jimmy Duncan, who played outside left last season but in Harry Scott who will fill this position on the team the Brits have a capable player. The members of the team have grasped the style of play very quickly, and have shown a keen interest in their play and seem to keep the game clean. This speaks volumes for what has been accomplished both by the players and officials, and means that the game is not yet dead by a long way, though many wanted to believe this before the meeting was held on Monday night.

Robert A. Smith, manager of the Brits club who is an old and experienced player has been selected to coach his team in the finer points of the game

During the closing weeks of last season, the Brits had a real speedy club. This season they start where they left off.

The team is calling a meeting at an early date to discuss the advisability of forming a football league for 1922 to comprise the following [illegible] along the C.N.R. line from Lloydminster, Manville and Vermilion, with the inclusion of three rural districts namely, Wellsdale, Rosenroll and Silverdale.

Officers for the coming season were elected as follows:

Hon. Pres. — C. Reid, Vermilion
President — R. A. Smith
Manager and coach — R. A. Smith
Secy. Treas. — V.H. Fisher
Executive Committee — E. Adams, Harry Scott and C. Porter.

Directors and Trustees are the rights selected for practices at the Agricultural grounds.

Upon a ballot being taken it was decided that the uniforms this year be green jerseys with white bands over the shoulders to match the Vermilion and white shorts. The outfit complete will cost an average of between nine and seventy dollars

Miss Maggie had declined to go to the fashion to new Mr. Hatch, of Mrs. Hatch.

Miss Maggie stopped her with

"Flora, I have never seen you so happy. I have never been so glad in my life. I have never been so glad in my life. I have never been so glad in my life."

Well, then, I don't think it would have hurt you any to show him a little attention. He'd think you didn't like him, or—or are you afraid something when—"

F. F. Pardee and Gustav Boyer Will Fill Vacancies

F. F. Pardee, former Liberal member of parliament for West Lambton, and Gustav Boyer, re-elected on Dec. 6 last as member for Vaudreuil-Soulanges riding of Quebec, have been summoned to the senate, it was officially announced.

Senator Pardee fills the vacancy caused by the death of the late Senator Milne, and Senator Boyer that created by the death of the late Senator Arthur Boyer. These two appointments bring the senate more nearly to full strength and reduce the Conservative majority in the senate by two, the late Senator Milne having been appointed by the Borden Conservative government, while the late Senator Boyer was a Liberal.

TRYING TO RUB OUT YOUR RHEUMATISM

It Can't Be Done—The Trouble Must be Treated Through the Blood

The pain of rheumatism is sometimes relieved rub out. Every out-[illegible] but after all [illegible] Rheumatism has its seat in the blood and therefore must be treated through the blood and then pains will disappear together. Rheumatism is in the blood—in poor watery blood. Sometimes a damp cold settles the aches and pains, but it is the condition of the blood that is at fault, and only by correcting that condition can the pains be driven out and the rheumatic poison be thrown off. This is what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills do. They make new, rich blood that reaches every part of the body, driving out the rheumatic poison. Mrs. [illegible] Ont., is one of many who have proved the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for rheumatism. She says: "I was a terrible sufferer from rheumatism for years. I tried many remedies, but with indifferent success. I had about concluded that there was no help for me, and my misery seemed to be getting worse. I was suffering from an attack a severe one, when I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I sent for a box and by the time I had taken them I felt a change for the better. I got three more boxes, and when I had taken them my pain was all gone, and I was feeling better in every way. If you suffer from rheumatism I strongly advise a trial of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These Pills are sold by all medicine dealers or will be sent by mail, post paid, at 50c a box or six boxes for $2.50 from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

He Would Reduce

Somebody said to Dill the other day "What made the tower of Pisa lean?" and Dill said if he knew he'd reduce it.

Internal parasites in the shape of worms in the stomach and bowels of children sap their vitality and retard physical development. They keep the child in a constant state of unrest and if not attended to, endanger life. Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator will remove them promptly, safely and surely. Buy it and be convinced.

Why He Asked

"Me, do we keep a hen any place?" "Why, no, my son. Why do you ask that?"

"I heard pa tell the new maid he would take her out eggs-actly when he sent the old hen away for the summer."—Boston Transcript.

DISTRESS IN THE THROAT CAUSED GREAT ANXIETY

Not an uncommon experience, was that of Mrs. H. S. Wilmot, of Minto, N.B. "Many remedies failed, still spasmodic results were found in 'Catarrhozone.' I have been a great sufferer from Bronchial Trouble and Catarrh. On many days, I would hawk and suffer great distress in my throat. I used all kinds of medicines but didn't get permanent relief till I used Catarrhozone. It strengthened my throat, stopped my cough, and made me well. Try Catarrhozone yourself—see what wonders it works on a bad throat, or colds, catarrh, bronchitis. Different from the old way, breathe and breathe Catarrhozone. Woman Aviator Has Given up Flying

Ruth Law Carried First Bag of Mail to Philippines

Ruth Law, most famous of woman aviators, is through. Ten years of airplane flights and air circus stunts throughout the United States and in other lands have given her all the fame she wants. Now she will be just Mrs. Charles Oliver, a wife.

It was Rodman Law, her noted daredevil brother of movie fame, who attracted Ruth Law to aviation. She began preparations in 1911 and in 1912 made her first flight, in one of the old machines which look the driver's seat in front of the motor, unprotected from the elements.

For four years she appeared in exhibition flights none of shorter duration than 25 miles. Then she sprang into fame with a sensational flight from Chicago to New York, breaking the American cross country record and non-stop flight record. She flew from Chicago to Hinghampton, N.Y., on the first leg of her journey, a distance of 590 miles. Her time from Chicago to New York was 8 hours 12.5 minutes.

During the war she tried every means to get into the army air service without success. Then she went to France and sought to enter the French air service, but the French could not be persuaded that air battles should be fought by a woman.

In 1919, Miss Law went to Japan. The Aero Club of Japan offered her a ruby for each time she looped the loop over Tokio. She brought back 24 rubies. She has instructed the Philippine air mail service, carrying the first bag of mail to Manila.

Miss Law seemed to lack nerves. She has even stood upon the top of an airplane, driven by another, while the machine looped the loop and performed [illegible] Chevrolet in Toronto in 1918, flying just above the race track, as that famous automobile driver set the pace below.

Miss Law says she never had an accident.

Earth Getting Warmer

Professor Says Western Ontario Will Be Duty of Canada

Within a third of a century speaking, London may become a centre of North America, from which long range radio will be operated across the sand-heaped wastes of an American Sahara Desert, which will cover what now are large areas in the United States. This [illegible] presented by Prof J. W. Howell, head department of geology in Western University, who [illegible] earth is growing hot.

He [illegible] a [illegible] period before will happen [illegible] the world is now just recovering from a long continued glacial period and will soon be enjoying again an [illegible] climate in some [illegible] that [illegible] may be grown in [illegible] and the famous Indian corn belt will, with in a few hundred years [illegible] be found in what is now known as the wilds of Labrador.

He pictures as a possibility the United States as a vast desert, in which will be buried [illegible] Atlantic seaboard [illegible] small [illegible] shine fringe on the [illegible] the [illegible] ocean, as is now the case [illegible] north coast of Africa [illegible] Lake Michigan [illegible] Chicago, all these will be deserted and crumbling ruins of former greatness, as described by archaeologists or [illegible] by desert tribes. The last survivors of the race evolved from the great American melting pot.

On the other hand Canada will be the land of promise. Hudson Bay will be one of the great commercial seas of the globe. Wheat fields will be lined with thriving ports and seaside resorts. Western Ontario will be the Italy of this tropical land. Orange and lemon trees will supplant the Niagara fruit belt and spread from Hamilton to Windsor.

Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator will drive worms from the system without injury to the child, because its action, while [illegible] effective, is mild.

Gouin Says Views On Tariff Have Not Changed In Twenty Years

Ottawa.—It was an eagerly expectant and again a crowded House which heard Mr Lomer Gouin, minister of Justice. No member of the Liberal administration has aroused more interest than the former premier of Quebec. He has already been attacked by the leaders alike of the official Opposition and the Progressives.

Mr. Meighen, Mr Lomer himself observed in the House, "has taken pleasure, particular pleasure, in dealing with the 'master of the administration.'"

"The Liberal party," Mr Lomer shortly added, "has now once more the final chief is the Prime Minister of Canada."

Debate on the address had been [illegible] a torpid course. But, immediately Mr Lomer Gouin arose, [illegible] and House filled rapidly. In the Speaker's left, interest in the speech was especially keen. For [illegible] Gouin is particularly [illegible] by fellow Liberals every word. Their [illegible] Liberal cheers again and again during the speech, as Mr Lomer reviewed [illegible] the intention of the Government to give public ownership of railways a fair trial, a sentiment which found [illegible] in the Liberal applause. There were those on the Government side, Mr Lomer was audible, who did [illegible] not believe state ownership to be either practical or profitable. But Mr Lomer's [illegible] could not understand why Mr. Meighen should be suspicious of the good faith of the Government or any of its members.

Mr Meighen—Mr Lomer observed [illegible] a Machine Made [illegible] of [illegible] Mr Lomer—Oh, the city of Montreal and [illegible] the premier of Quebec. It is a good [illegible] for a good boy. But—Mr Lomer's tone was [illegible] tone—he will take no opportunity to learn. Mr Meighen [illegible] was defeated by the big majority of Montreal. The power that defeated [illegible] was the will of the people.

On the tariff, Mr Lomer declared that [illegible] for the last 15 years, he favored the Laurier Fielding policy in the general election he sold his electors that, if returned to power, Liberals would remain true to that policy.

Backache

Backache is the outstanding symptom of kidney disease. Women often make the mistake of attributing the cause and other to look the derangement of the kidneys until serious developments have made it difficult to obtain permanent relief

This letter points to a treatment which has been thoroughly tried and proven so effective in the great majority of cases that you cannot afford to overlook it when cause arises for its use

Mrs. Albert Brunet, R.R No 1, Ottawa, Ont., writes

"I have used Dr. Chase's Kidney Liver Pills for the past two months, having been afflicted with kidney trouble. I used two dozen medicine previous to this, without any good results. A friend told me to try Chase's Kidney Liver Pills, and the second box made me feel a good deal better. I have now used about six or eight boxes, and am completely relieved."

"Ghost" Runs to Earth

Mystery of Haunted House in Nova Scotia is Solved

Halifax.—"The ghost were produced by the physical means of the hands of the girl of the family (Mary Ellen), as shown by marks left in the building.

She was not, however, morally culpable owing to having been in an altered state of consciousness. There is the added possibility, supported by a body of evidence, in other quarters, that this altered state was brought about by a discarnate intelligence. This is a theoretical possibility, whereas the external facts seem certain. The experiences at Harold Whidden's (Halifax newspaperman sent to investigate the story of the ghosts'), and F. O. Carroll (a Halifax private detective), were parallels of a supernormal character wholly [illegible] to [illegible] "One [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] may have been owing to a psychological cause which is perfectly natural though as yet imperfectly normal."

Dr. Walter Franklin Prince, director of the American Society of Psychological Research, so summed up the results of his investigation into the Ellen and other mysterious happenings which drove Alex. Macdonald and his family from their home at Tatamagouche Mills, Antigonish County, during the winter.

GIVES ITS APPROVAL AND SUPPORT

H. E. Spence, M.P., has sent the Standard the following resolution, which speaks for itself:

"WHEREAS the Canadian Committee of the "Save the Children Fund" operating under the direction of Col Herbert J. Mackie, with the Government approval, for the purpose of supplying food and clothing to the millions of starving children in Russia is a work deserving the most favorable consideration:

"AND WHEREAS there is the fullest assurance from British and other authorities that relief supplied from Canada through this agency for the victims of the famine will be safely delivered and efficiently distributed through a co-operative arrangement with the United British Relief Organization:

"BE IT RESOLVED that the National Progressive Party of Canada, as represented in the House of Commons give its most hearty approval, support and recommendation to this work, and commend it to the favourable consideration of the Canadian people."

TERM EXHIBIT DRAWS MANY VISITORS

The term exhibit of the work of the students of the Vermilion school of agriculture was held Saturday at the college rooms and was visited by a large number of people. The exhibit which comprised work by the classes in domestic science sewing and manual training was highly creditable and evoked much praise from the visitors. The sewing classes showed wearing apparel from simple every house dress to evening gowns, the students displaying much skill and perfection with the needle. The domestic science classes showed different kinds of canned fruit recently done up cakes and other edibles suitable for the manual training room were exhibited models of all kinds of furniture and woodwork generally. This department is under J. K. McKee, while the domestic arts are in charge of Miss Scott and the sewing classes by Miss Gowell. Visitors expressed that those exhibits have been equally interesting each year. It is intended next term to have will be organized an agricultural exhibit for those who are for different reasons unable to attend the college. It will be open to all students and ex-students of the school. Those who are for different reasons unable to attend the college. It will be open to all students and ex-students of the school.

"I only wish he'd marry her and—and get it over," sighed Jane Elizabeth.

"Jane!" cried Miss Flora.

"Well, I do wish they would. She's good enough for him, brilliant, sensible! Lucy Maude—good enough for anybody!"

"Of course she is, child!" laughed Miss Flora. "Maudie's a rattling fine girl. I wonder why she doesn't call her a rattling saint," smiled Jane.

"I don't know much about that."

Radio Phone May Reach Lumber Camp

"Pauses in Woods" to Keep in Touch With World

To private rooms, spring beds, electric cables, steam heat, electric lights, bath and showers and electric operated laundries, claimed for lumber camps in the north woods of Wisconsin and Michigan, new engineering marvels, probably will be added soon, the radio phone.

In this event, not considering the business importance of this equipment, the separate camps of the enormously rafted "palaces of the woods" will be treated to concerts and news bulletins which are broadcasted from various stations each evening.

Lumberjacks are watching developments in wireless with a great deal of interest and they anticipate highly favorable results when the service is extended into the forest.

Instrument Measures Speed of Locomotive

Possible to Keep Efficient Check on Engine Driver

Much of the improvement of the locomotive which has been achieved recently is due to the very accurate measurement of performance. Some years ago a high speed recorder was developed. This was the first device of its kind to be made. Although the instrument is much too complicated for a short description it is so robust and so well designed that only three parts require lubrication more frequently than is needed for ordinary enclosed clock mechanism.

Limit Immigration

A proposal has been submitted to the Legislative Council, Jamaica, which would prohibit Chinese and any alien who has not considered independence of the United States for five years, from entering the island. The bill also provides that any person who has been convicted of a felony in any part of the British Empire shall be liable to deportation from Jamaica.

WEAK HEART

NERVES BADLY SHATTERED

Many a woman who should be strong and healthy, full of life and energy is kept by the miseries of ill health.

Some disease or constitutional disturbance has left the nerves in the condition so much that the heart, impoverished blood and a weakened condition of the whole system.

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS

How To Roast Meats

BY LORETTO C. LYNCH

An Acknowledged Expert in All Matters Pertaining to Household Management

The little bride surveyed the large piece of meat the beef boy embodies in his hand and then looked around for the first company dinner it was to become lordly piece of beef, well nourished with fat. The butcher also should cook it one hour or five she was at a loss to know.

Of course, one should never attempt to have for a company dinner something she has never tried to cook before, but the bride had not thought, nor was she sighing for. And he cause the last happened to many housekeepers. I want to give some practical advice which may help all young housekeepers, which may help all young brides who are about to begin housekeeping.

Be thoroughly acquainted with the meat you are buying. Don't be afraid to ask questions. Ask the butcher to show you the different cuts of meat, and learn where they come from on the animal. Then you will know what you are getting when you buy.

Meat should be dusted over with flour and rubbed and placed on the greased rack of the roasting pan. If the pan has a rack, or on the grease pad pan bridge. A little flour may be sprinkled into the bottom of the pan also, a level teaspoon of salt should be put into the bottom of the pan and the pan placed in a hot oven.

When the flour has browned to a light brown, or a golden brown, add a cup or more of boiling water, depending upon the size of the pan. Baste the meat with the meat juices, the fat and the browned flour, will later be the main ingredients of the gravy. This should be dipped over the meat about every fifteen minutes until the roast is done, unless one has a self basting roaster. In this case, as the flour has browned, the water will be poured over the roast, and basting can goes on automatically.

Some folks like a half clove or garlic placed in the pan with roast beef, while others like a cut onion. A few grains of nutmeg is delicious over lamb or mutton.

In figuring the time to roast beef one should know the weight at least approximately. If one knows that beef care allow about fifteen minutes to the pound. For roast beef need lamb, allow twenty minutes to the pound, and for well done beef allow twenty-five minutes to the pound.

After the first fifteen or twenty minutes the heat of the oven may be reduced. Frequent basting is necessary to prevent charring. Of course, one should choose only the tender cuts from the used muscles for this method of cooking. If is very useful indeed to attempt to cook tough meat in this manner.

Lamb and mutton, as well as pork and veal, should always be cooked so as to be well done. Therefore, for these allow the maximum length of time to the pound.

Handle Most Grain

Port William and Port Arthur Still Maintain Position at Top of List

In a report recently issued showing the receipts of the handling of the various kind of grain at the different North American centres during the crop year 1921 it is shown that the ports of Port William and Port Arthur still maintain its place at the top of the list for wheat with the total of 261,490 bushels. Buffalo, Minneapolis, St. Paul and Kansas City follow in the order as named, with Duluth, New York and Chicago some distance behind in the handling of oats Port William Port Arthur holds second place as in the previous year, with 82,729,000 bushels. Port William Port Arthur handled 51,000,000 bushels, Duffalo, Minneapolis St. Paul and Milwaukee following in order. In the handling of barley, Port William Port Arthur takes second place with 12,857,172 bushels. Minneapolis St. Paul handling the list by a large margin, two-bits more, Milwaukee, Buffalo and Chicago following in order.

World's Largest Body of Feldspar

The largest and purest body of feldspar known today is located in Portland township, within 25 miles of Ottawa, according to a statement at the convention of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy. The deposit was discovered late in 1920, was put on an operating basis shortly after, and exploitation had shown that of the material handled 99.5 per cent. was feldspar. The material is of an exceptionally high grade and locates a considerable portion on the United States market.

ROYAL YEAST CAKES

Product of Canada

It was known many years ago that yeast is an excellent thing for the many ills that result from disordered stomach or run down blood condition. Lately eminent scientists have been investigating the matter thoroughly and their conclusions point to the fact that the beneficial effect of yeast has not been overrated. The yeast treatment is very simple and economical - and altogether harmless.

Before each meal eat a Royal Yeast Cake, or take a cake dissolved in water or fruit juices. The scientific investigators say that the curative elements in Royal Yeast are the vitamines and nucleine which it contains. It is certainly well worth a fair trial by those who suffer from any of the ailments mentioned above.

The Submarine Evil

Almost Useless Except for Attacks on Merchant Shipping

If we are to build submarines and even more submarines than before the war, naval competition will be perpetuated in a new and dangerous form. Nor can we regard the reprieveidea as that case which have been accepted at Washington as a sufficient safeguard against their future misuse. The restrictions are of importance and we do not doubt that they have been adopted with sincerity by, but such rules have been made before and they broken by nations run frenzied with imminent defeat. Experience has proved that submarines are almost useless except for attacks on merchant shipping, and if we are really determined to rule out such attacks from among the more hideous possibilities of warfare there is only one way to do it and that is to scrap the submarine. Abraham Lincoln's Advice

With the approach of Spring and a revival of business activity following a Winter characterized by much unemployment and the necessity for the distribution of relief on a large scale by Governments, municipalities and charitable organizations there is added much reason for impending strikes and industrial disturbances. In Canada and the United States threaten a walk out to enforce their demand for a six hour day and a five-day week week while the engineering and other trades in Great Britain are also preparing to extreme measures.

It would naturally have been thought that, instead of creating conditions which mean idleness, not only for those going out on strike, but for countless thousands engaged in other trades which are dependent upon a plentiful supply of coal and instead of striving for less work and employment the leaders of the past year would have sought all men to start themselves to create more work in order that with the employment of all and renewed activity their trade be better times and a larger measure of prosperity for all.

However it would appear that the deliberate teaching of paid agitators, that a reduction in working hours and days below a reasonable limit must for ever prevail, which has a large following among many of the [illegible]. The theory that the world must have a certain quantity of [illegible] and that [illegible] on a [illegible] must be employed to make up the required total, is a fallacy theory. GENERAL MEETING OF G.W.V.A.

The general meeting of the Local G.W.V.A. was held in the Memorial Hall, Wednesday, April 5th. General business was conducted and initiation of two new members Comrade Wells and Comrade Hancock, these being the first members to be initiated under the new ritual. At the close of the meeting the members of the Ladies Auxiliary served refreshments, following which a pleasant duty was performed in the presentation of a set of Club Chinaware to Mr. and Mrs. J. Selkirk by the members of the Auxiliary and G.W.V.A., in recognition of their valuable services of the past two years as caretaker and secretary of the Club Rooms. The vice-commander, J. Witherspoon, in a short address before the presentation, referred to Mr. Selkirk's physical condition which it is necessary for him to resign his position as caretaker. The presence of these two popular workers will be greatly missed around the Club. Mr. and Mrs. Selkirk replied in an able manner although they have taken up quarters at Mr. Selkirk still retains the position of secretary to the G.W.V.A.

THE STANDARD

VERMILION, ALTA, APRIL 5, 1922.

Important provisions in the new Tax Sale Relief Act, just passed by the Legislature, which provide for extension of time for redemption of certain lands from tax sales, are called to the attention of residents of the municipalities. Under this new act, the time for redemption of all lands included in the corporate limits of towns and villages has been extended until May 1st of this year. In this connection the secretary-treasurer of a town or village or municipality is required to publish a notice to this effect twice in a publication in the district in which such a property is situated in the district, and to call every case to the fact that time of redemption as in arrears has been extended to May 1st. In the case of farm lands which were included in the 1920 tax sale, the time for redemption is extended until next November 1st and they proceed in the manner laid down in the new act. In the case of cities the same procedure applies as in the case of towns and villages.

The death of C. O. Wright, member of the Legislature for Ribstone, took place Tuesday at midnight, shortly after the session had prorogued. He had been ill with pneumonia for more than a week. The funeral took place at Ingbenden. Mr Wright's home, the people and other Members of the Members being in attendance. Mr. Wright's death now makes three vacancies on the Legislature, the others being that of Whitford, formerly represented by A. S. Shandro, and Mr. Sutherland, formerly represented by Hon. Charles Stewart.

The Alberta government stallions, Lloyd, the Clydesdale Masterpiece, and the Percheron "Jule" which were purchased some years ago for breeding purposes, will be sold by public auction at the Edmonton Exhibition grounds, during the spring show, on Thursday, April 13th at 2 P. M.

LIVE STOCK MARKET IN FEBRUARY

There was a marked decline in the average prices of live stock in Canada in the month of February this year compared with the quotations for the same month last year, but there appears to have been a jobbing trade returns of the Dominion Live Stock Branch, to have been somewhat of a check to the market. At the five principal markets in the country, namely, Montreal Winnipeg Toronto, Calgary and Edmonton the receipts this year and last year, in February were respectively cattle, 21,832 and 21,764; calves, 3,250 and 6,916; hogs 80,146 and 69,671 and sheep 10,173 and 11,146 the larger number in each case being for this year. The average decline this year in prices per hundredweight or February compared with the same month last year at the five markets was: cattle $1.82; calves $2.25; hogs $2.00, and sheep $1.65.

The Kidneys

The office man and the outdoor worker suffer alike from derangements of the kidneys.

Backaches and headaches are among the symptoms. In some cases Bright's disease soon develops, others suffer from High blood pressure and Lumbago or the sciatics sets in.

In order to forestall painful and fatal disease prompt action should be taken at the first sign of trouble.

Mr. A. D. MacKinnon, Kirkwood, Inverness county, N.S., writes:

"I am happy to announce Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills have cured me of kidney trouble after I had suffered for a long time. I now feel as well as ever I was. I am nearly always recommending Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills to my friends, as I know they will do as much for them as they have done for me."

The Boy Who Started to Town With a Hundred Dollars

The advice they gave him for getting on in the world was simple and familiar enough: "Keep what you have, and build on it. Be careful what you do and it will grow into more."

It's a safe rule with money or health, but a good many overlook the rule with health, until they have lost what they had. Then it's hard to get a new supply.

Postum is a splendid help in saving health from the very common loss through the drug elements of tea and coffee—whose effects in the form of stimulation are followed by the natural reaction of depression.

Thousands of people have come to see for themselves that it will be as careful of their health as they are of their dollars—users of Postum. They find it a delicious cereal beverage—delightful drink, with any meal, and it's free from any disturbing element.

You can begin with Postum to-day, with an order to your grocer. The road to health is a good road for anybody to follow. "Save what you have, and build on it," is sound policy for everybody.

THE CREAM BUYING STATIONS

Elimination of cream buying stations, as provided for in the amend ments to the Dairymen's Act passed at the recent session, will not prevent farmers or creameries maintaining agents at local points to look after the shipment of cream. This is the statement made by officials of the Agricultural Department, after consultation with the officials of the Attorney-General's Department.

The attorney-general's department has interpreted "cream buying stations" to mean in the sphere of the act, stations for the stapling, grading, weighing and testing of cream, and that the elimination of these stations will be insofar as these services also are concerned and that there is nothing in the new legislation to prevent farmers, either individually or co-operatively or the creameries themselves, maintaining someone at local points to look after cream shipments, so long as they are kept in proper condition and get away on the trains at the proper time. This was one of the difficulties which those opposed to the elimination of cream stations saw in the proposed new system, that it would mean that cream shippers would have no system of caring for cream at shipping points. But this difficulty has now been overcome.

The great object behind the new movement is to clear the channel between the producer of high grade cream and the market for high grade butter, in other words, to see that the farmer who takes the trouble to get the quality in his cream—and no person else can get it there—gets the benefit of his effort by being able to reach the highest market available. This will be accomplished chiefly by the fact that cream now will be graded by disinterested government graders at central points. The old system of cream buying stations was estimated to have cost the industry $250,000 annually. It is estimated that the re-stacked service at local points under the new amendments, should not cost more than $50,000. In addition to this the government has appropriated $10,000 for government grading, which makes a total of $60,000 or approximately $190,000 less. If these figures are ultimately borne out, it means a saving to the industry of $150,000.

Furthermore, the dairy commissioner is confident that the new improvement in quality during the first year of the new system will reach the value of $150,000. This improvement in quality won't increase and be cumulative year post to year, and swell the amount of revenue to the industry and in doing it the security and building up quality market for Alberta butter. It is pointed out by the Dairy Commissioner that "even in the year 1917 the percentage of unsalable" or high grade butter made in the department had fallen to 7.2 per cent and 7.5 per cent in 1921 as a consequent increase in quality in high grade butter. In 1917 No. 1 butter had reached the highest percentage of quality in the form of butter in this province. The grade has been of course in the quality the cream. It is pointed out that 7855 shipments in 1921, 50 per cent showed more or less quality cream, so that the reasons it is of greater importance each year to encourage the production of quality products in accordance with the farmer and producer. The purpose of both Alberta and Manitoba has shown that there is room for the cream buying station, if located in a market for quality cream, the quality of butter, and with ... grain experience in the business they have been in demand in ... provinces for a return to the old ...

Assets And Liabilities

The immediate need of any man engaged in business making an accurate statement of his assets and liabilities is universally recognized. It is essential that such a statement be revised from time to time and kept up to date and the latest statement compared with previous ones in order to determine whether financial improvement is being effected, or in the reverse is true.

Such a statement is of far importance to the business man in all his dealings with his bank and with his creditors. Without such a statement a bank will not make loans, nor can a man establish a satisfactory rating for himself.

In determining the financial standing of a man by such a statement, which is regarded as the most important, his assets or his liabilities? It appears to be generally believed that a man's financial standing is revealed by his assets. But it is not so. Of course, his assets have a bearing on the subject but it is his liabilities which more clearly indicate a man's financial standing.

Liabilities can only be ascertained by a realization of assets. Assets, on the other hand may exist frequently do in the process of realization. A statement of assets therefore usually represents something of greater value than is actually possessed and allowance must be made for this. Liabilities, however, are generally fixed quite accurately, too, because a man's liability may be on an indirect character and consequent on something which may never happen. But it may happen, and must therefore be taken into account.

The outstanding difficulty in Western Canada today is not that the average farmer's assets are not good but that his liabilities are too great, that he cannot realize on his assets in the present time except at enormous sacrifice, his liabilities have accumulated and are not now actually pressing.

One lesson to be learned from the experience of the past few years is the importance of preserving one's credit. To preserve credit is such a man as being rated rather than beloved with too much credit. A man may be tempted not to be discharged regardless of ability to realize on assets. For example, a farmer may be persuaded against his better judgment to buy an automobile, and quite innocently, too, because a man may have no

From personal interviews and con versations with big business men rail way men, bankers, grain dealers and others and real estate men Editor Porter, who covers journals and also all the commercial men in the city made a trip to the western and northern sections investigate Brad ford's trade territory. He found the trade territory in a very satisfactory condition and the people are in a position to undertake business. He says there are many encouragements the people of Bradford have to look forward to. The crops are in good shape all of the farmers seem to be optimistic and there is a good deal of building going on.

The Indian National Railway and other railways are rapidly pushing their lines into homesteading districts. Editor Porter visited the central states to all parts of the Canadian Lakes and Canadian Rockies and found that in addition to increasing numbers of settlers coming from the United States, there is a large immigration of Canadians returning to their old homes in the Dominion. It was the general opinion of business men that the Canadian people would be better off financially if they would remain in the country instead of going to the United States. Many of the Canadians who had gone to the United States to make their fortunes were returning to Canada and were going into the wheat belt and other districts where they will purchase farms and engage in farming. Editor Porter says that the Canadian people should be encouraged to remain in the country instead of going to the United States. He says that the Canadian people have the best country in the world and that they should remain in the country instead of going to the United States. MEMBERS HELD MEETING

The members of The Mikado cast held a meeting in the Court Room on Monday evening, April 10th with practically a full attendance. The financial statement, as presented by Mr. Jas Walker in the last issue of The Standard was carefully analyzed by them, and was found to be duly approved of and accepted by the members.

Before the conclusion of the meeting several of the company paid such tribute to the ability of Mr. Alford who has done much toward the advancement of the musical talent of Vermilion and who has so freely given his time and services for the welfare of the town and community. A letter from Mr. Dean seconded by Mr. Thos Watts expressing absolute confidence in Mr. Alford was then read and received by the company. Mr. W. T. Crain in a most pleasing speech called on the members to rendered a hearty vote of thanks for his untiring efforts in the production and direction of "The Mikado."

MEMORIAL SERVICES, FIFTH ANNIVERSARY OF THE BATTLE OF VIMY RIDGE

Large Congregation Present at Theatre Sunday Afternoon

The fifth anniversary of the battle of Vimy Ridge was commemorated by a special memorial service held at 2 o'clock Sunday, April 9th in the Colonial Theatre. There was a large congregation present from the town and country, many coming from forty and fifty miles distant. The services were conducted by Rural Dean Ed wards assisted by Rev. J. H. Smith, Methodist minister and Rev. Jones. The service was of a most impressive nature.

A large united choir led in the singing of several hymns selected for the occasion, these were printed in the programs which everyone present given a copy.

The Rural Dean took for his text, Let Your Light So Shine Before Men" from which he delivered a most powerful, hopeful and touching address. An eloquent tribute was paid to the memory of those who had made the supreme sacrifice in the great war during the fateful day of April 9th, 1917. During the service the names of all those who fell in the war from Vermilion and district, were read by the preacher, the congregation standing with bowed heads.

It is desired to express thanks to Mr. Pilkie for the use of the theatre, Mr. Erford for playing the ladies and Mr. Jones of the choir, and the Odd fellows for the use of furniture.

The offertory amounted to $42.65, in addition to $6.50 for the printing of four hundred hymn sheets. The balance of $26.15 was turned over to the local G. W. V. A. for their Sick Fund.

COMMUNICATION

To the Editor,
The Standard,
Dear Sir,

Last Monday, (April 10th), I had occasion to call a meeting of the "Mikado" company. A report of that meeting I believe is being sent to you for publication. I shall feel obliged if you will also give space to the enclosed copy of the remarks with which I opened the meeting, as I think it may help to clear the atmosphere a little and also make the path easier for any future production on a similar kind. My remarks were as follows:

Ladies and Gentlemen, I wish to preface the business of this meeting with a few remarks on the history of "The Mikado" and how it came to be produced in Vermilion. Some of you were present on a number of occasions during the past year, when I have requested one to say something in the operatic line, either a comic opera or a musical comedy. From time to time I talked the matter over with several local musicians, notably Mr Albert West, and eventually he and I decided that it would be a good idea to stake something of the kind, and to invite public interest to do so, with the object of forming or reforming a real live Operatic Society, something that would be to the credit to the town. I subsequently approached a number of people in Mikado for our first venture. Now, I am glad to say, we have had numerous to say opening remarks, because they have all been most hearty, and of just what I say later.

First of all, I want it absolutely understood that "The Mikado" WAS NOT GOT UP FOR MAKING OR PRINTING. From the outset I realized that such undertakings as these are risky and that the expenses would total a very considerable sum. My first concern was to be produced successfully, and secondly to be only concerned in making the production a financial and artistic success. However, we have had a profit, and I am pleased to be a surprise of funds after expenses have been paid, and the debts cleared off. That any surplus cash should be in the hands of a fund to be called the Operatic Society, which we hoped to form, and that the Operatic Society must have something to fall back upon, it is a very necessary thing. Later on these plans were finalized at a meeting on 22nd inst. After refreshments had come round, I proposed the toast of "The Queen" the first H. A. Edwards and Mrs. Edwards, and I am glad to say that there was no to the Armenian Relief Fund, responded to this, although I emphasized the fact that my surplus would hardly be small, in fact, it was doubtful if there would be any surplus. Mrs Edwards understood this, and with the help of the Ladies would be well not to advertise it in the aid of anything. I told Mr Edwards, however, that he could rely on any surplus being given to the Relief Fund, and in this respect no harm was done to anybody, as you will all remember that when I asked you to take part in the production I did not request you to give your services to the Armenian Relief Fund. I simply said to you, "I am going to put on 'The Mikado,' will you help me?" and you all consented. Will on the 4th of April, I want to say that I adopted the same attitude towards the Relief Fund, in that I also supplied goods for the benefit of the Relief Society of Canada, to give the goods for nothing, or even to pay for it, as I did in the case of the charity. I just explained that I was producing "The Mikado" for pleasure to their more) indies and that I would be pleased to have payment of the sum.

I did not originally intend to say anything about the way I did it even to mention to the gentlemen but as I have been the subject of much criticism, I have had the opportunity of saying a few words on it, and briefly, I gave 42 hours, or say time, which is, roughly speaking, 7 hours per week. The individual and general rehearsals, and those of us who had principal parts will remember how I had to come to my studio in town and there, in fact, between you and me, you had all my available piano time. Now I am a professional musician and if I had been engaged professionally I should have charged at least $1.50 an hour, but I gave this time. I also underestimated the principal parts. I did not do this because I thought I could do a say I have also supplied the music for the whole thing without charge. I also re-organized and re-trained the orchestra and I am pleased

To Help Livestock Industry

Dominion and Provincial Departments of Agriculture Will Work Together

Winnipeg.—Announcement was made here today that the Dominion and provincial departments of agriculture in Western Canada and Dominion experimental farms in Western Canada have entered into an agreement whereby the Dominion experimental farms will co-operate with the provincial departments of agriculture in the encouragement of the livestock industry in Western Canada.

As a result of the agreement there will be established at Lacombe, Alta., a Dominion experimental station, and at Scott, Sask., a Dominion experimental substation. The livestock industries of Western Canada and Dominion experimental farms and stations will co-operate generally.

In summarized form, these agencies and pronouncements are as follows:

Co-operation between the Dominion and provincial departments of agriculture.

Negotiations with Great Britain and U. S. A. for opening of markets for surplus Canadian cattle.—Federal department of agriculture.

Weekly trading in distributing stations of both Provincial departments of agriculture and co-operation of federal department.

Deboarding.—Provincial department of agriculture and agricultural institutes.

Short shipping days to reduce shrinkage. Largely through local organizations, railways and railways.

Feeding and transit rules.—Federal department of agriculture.

Feeding.—Provincial department and local cattle associations.

Slaughter and sale of public cattle. —All federal and provincial agencies.

Uniform work respecting production costs and qualities.—Federal department of agriculture.

A co-operative attempt is to be immediately undertaken by the federal department of agriculture, the agricultural departments of each of the four western provinces and all agricultural institutions as well as stock associations for the purpose of placing the live-stock industry of Western Canada on a permanent and paying basis.

Federal Government Disposes of Land in the West

From September 1, 1905, to December 31, 1921, the Federal Government sold [illegible] acres of farm land in Saskatchewan for $18,619,107, an average price of three dollars an acre, and school lands in the same province with an acreage of 1,457,376 for $26,967,316. In Alberta during the same period the Government sold 2,241,219 acres for $11,773,264, also at an average price of three dollars an acre, and 686,982 acres of school lands for $13,961,899. The money collected from the sale of school lands is held in trust for the provinces.

Canada's Need of Population

The Duke of Devonshire, former governor general of Canada, address ing the Rotary Club of Sheffield at a club luncheon, dwelt on Canada's need of population. He expressed the hope that it was conceded that the development of the Dominion and its direction should be in the hands of British people, whether born in the old Country or Canada."

Only Four Passengers Killed Out of Over Fifty-one Million Carried In Year

Of more than 51 million passengers carried on Canadian railways during the year ending December 31, 1921, only four were killed and 210 injured, according to statistics contained in the annual report of the Board of Railway Commissioners for Canada, tabled in the House. The total number of passengers carried during the year was 51,318,622. A total of 158,172 employees were engaged in railroad work during that period, and of this number 21 were killed and 1,744 injured.

There were a total of 1,431 accidents on railways during the year ending June 30, 1921, and 1,602 persons were killed and 2,135 injured, as compared with 2,902 accidents covering 3514 killed and 2,332 injured for the previous twelve months.

Of the 146 persons, other than employees or passengers killed during the year 1921 in railway accidents, 24 were trespassers, 8 per cent. were killed passing the repeat states, and of 24 others injured, 91 persons, or 36 per cent. were trespassers.

Applications to the board during the year numbered 2,661 and orders issued in the name period 1,156.

An Amazing Watch

Has Four Dials and Runs for Thirty Hours

One of the most remarkable watches in the world was recently constructed by a leading British firm. The front dial of the watch, upon which ordinary time is indicated, rarries four small dials. One of these shows the days of the week and the date of the month. The other forms a perpetual calendar, indicating the first, second, third and leap years. The 3 dial indicates the phases of the moon and No 4 acts as a recording chronometer, showing seconds, minutes, seconds and fifths of seconds. There is also an indicator and pointer which shows at a glance how far present the watch is wound up. The main dial also carries a further 1 and 24 hour dial, the former on the left and outer end. This hand shows the position of the sun before or after noon time. The 24 hour dial registers hours and the quarters and repeats the hours, quarters and minutes at time desired. The back of the case of the watch there is a dial showing the interval day of 24 hours. It also carries a star chart or planisphere to point on the chart corresponding to the hour. There is set at the centre of this dial and the exposed portion of the chart reveals the portion of the sky visible in the latitude in which the watch is used. The mechanism of the watch are arranged in three tiers and are fitted throughout with diamond and ruby jewels. The watch runs for 30 hours with one winding. It was constructed to order and cost one thousand guineas.

Business on the Mend

Rise in Price of Wheat Creates a Better Feeling

There is a decided note of optimism becoming apparent throughout Western Canada.

The immediate cause of the better feeling is the sharp recovery in the price of wheat. To nothing will Western Canada react more quickly, or more wisely, than it does in a general way at all. The natural born pessimist, of course, says that the rise in the price of wheat is due to unpaid and temporary causes, and that the improvement visible as its effect cannot be expected to continue.

The price of wheat may be to some small extent a premature or temporary phenomenon, but it is nevertheless part of a general process observable in every field of basic production the world over, and already causing its reflection upon railway business and shipping and finance, even if it has not reached the more subsidiary and dependent industries.

Our prosperity here rests directly upon basic production and its necessary transportation and distributing facilities. We feel the pulse of improvement first and others may take it from us that perceptible improvement is on the way, rather than that we should take it from them that it is an access of fever or a mere flush because they are still in the dumps.—The Winnipeg Tribune.

Leather for Kid Gloves

Goats Kept in France Specialty for Glove Making

French kid gloves are famous all over the world, and in the mountains of the Pyrenees goats are kept chiefly for glove making. It is the skins of these kids that are used, not only for the full-grown goats—hence the name, kid.

There is quite an art in getting the skin of the correct texture, for it must be soft and delicate, and free from all blemishes. To protect their coat, the kids are shut allowed to roam at their own sweet will over the mountains and are left to feed themselves as the flocks of goats usually do. If they eat grass their skin contains; so they are kept closely penned, and given special food. Confining them also prevents them from scratching or brushing their skins, and so destroying their value.

The best condition is reached when the kids are a few months old; then they are then killed, and the hides sent away to be tanned and prepared for glove making.

No Dragging Competition

The annual road drag competition conducted under the auspices of the Saskatchewan Department of Highways has been abandoned and no competitions will be held this year. H. S. Carpenter, deputy minister of highways, states that in the opinion of the Government, the object of these competitions, namely to obtain into intelligent use of the drag has been accomplished and that this can be being taken on as summary measures.

Mrs. Llewellyn Was Discouraged Over Her Health, Says Husband

"My wife is the very picture of health now and she tells me she never felt better in her life. We certainly believe in Tanlac at our house," said Arthur Llewellyn, 620 Alexander Ave., Winnipeg, Man.

"My wife had been in failing health for so long that I was very much alarmed about her, especially since the many things she had tried failed to do her any good. She even spent some time in the country, but this also failed to help her and she came home utterly discouraged. I don't believe anybody ever had a worse or more stubborn case of stomach trouble than she did.

"Tanlac certainly was what she needed and she hadn't been taking it long before she was on the road to recovery. It not only has toned up her stomach so that she eats whatever she wants, but she has the color of health in her cheeks now and appears to be as strong and healthy as anyone could wish to be."

The WISHING FAIRY by Corinne

An Answer to Several Letters.

Do you remember when I told you about the time Mr Real traveled and traveled to reach the End of the Earth? It took him twice as long as it would have taken anyone else because, as he has no feet, he crawled walk, but has to waddle on his knees and the tail flappers.

I have had several letters from readers asking what the difference is between Neals, Wairus and Sea Lions

To begin with, there are two kinds of Seals—the Hair Seal and the Fur Seal, and it is this latter one that is so persistently hunted for its beautiful, valuable fur. The Hair Seal differs from the Fur Seal in that it has no fur, and so far as its looks are concerned, in having no thick coating of fur under the long outer hair the Sea Lions, which are very large, are often wrongly called Seals, though the Sea Lion is a hair-seal, while the Sea Bear is a fur-seal belonging to a specifically different group. In spite of their large size, the Sea Lions are timid creatures, easily led and as easily driven even by such trivial means as threatening them with waving flags and sprinkling them with water. They are hunted for their oil and other body products, and not for fur.

As for Walrus, though related to the great Seal family they are very different, being bulkier in form and extremely clumsy. While young they are clother in faded brown fur, but, losing this as they grow, the older ones are almost naked. Their greatest pride lies in a pair of enormous ivory tusks, while, strange to say, the tusks of the female are much longer than those of the male. They dig with them, rear and sometimes, though rarely, overset seaweed, and these are used as well for climbing over the ice covered rocks and as weapons of defence.

The whole Seal family is distantly related to the Bear. As far as their life habits are concerned, Seals, Sea Lions and Walrus live very much the same way. Perhaps you remember what Mr Real told Stella long long ago when he went in one boy with the wish tucked away in his old Seal heart to be very brave. Do you remember his reason?

Well, I'll tell you. Mr Real then said to the little Wishing Fairy: "We old family Seals keep our wives (for we have more than ones) on those frozen grounds, and there is a lot of crazy young boy Seals who would like to make trouble, because they haven't sense enough to do anything else suddenly come along. They are so full of spirits that they change all our games and quiet into a perfect riot and fly in break up our families, and we old fellows

Pups, as he called them, and Walrus are called have a big hard babyhood, for, oddly enough, instead of instinctively talking to their young tutelary honor, they have to be severely taught to swim by their mothers and may actually drown before learning how. There is nothing gentle in these calamitous lessons! The backward and stupid are left to shift for themselves or die

Hon. Chas. Dunning Forms New Cabinet In Saskatchewan

Regina.—Hon. W. M. Martin held a conference with His Honor H. W. Newlands, and recommended that Hon. Chas. A. Dunning be called upon to form the new Government, necessitated by Mr Martin's resignation. Mr. Dunning was then called upon by His Honor to undertake this duty. After the new cabinet had been sworn in, the portfolios were announced as follow:

Hon. C. A. Dunning (Moose Jaw County), Premier, President of Council, Provincial Treasurer and Minister of Railways.

Hon. A. P. McNab (Saskatoon City), Minister of Public Works and Minister of Telephones.

Hon. S. J. Latta (Last Mountain), Minister of Education and Minister in charge of the Bureau of Publications and the King's Printers Office.

Hon. C. M. Hamilton (Weyburn), Minister of Agriculture and Minister of Municipal Affairs.

Hon. J. A. Cross (Regina City), Attorney-General and Minister in charge of the Bureau of Child Protection.

Hon. J. G. Gardiner (North Qu'Appelle), Minister of Highways and Minister in charge of the Bureau of Labor and Industries.

Hon. J. M. Uhrich (Heathern), Provincial Secretary and Minister in charge of the Bureau of Public Health.

The realignment of portfolios among the old members gives Mr. Hamilton two important departments, agriculture and municipal affairs.

Mr. Dunning in addition to being premier and president of council will retain his former portfolio of provincial treasurer and adds to that the department of railways. Mr. Gardiner held by Mr Martin since the retirement of Mr. Newlands.

Mr. Latta continues as minister of education and will supervise the bureau of publications and the office of King's printer. Mr. Cross remains in charge of the last two branches of work for some time, though the publications branch does not become a bureau until May 1, under the act passed at the last session of the House.

HON. CHAS. DUNNING, Premier of Saskatchewan

The important office of attorney-general held by Mr. Martin passes over to one of the new members of the Government, Col. J. A. Cross, of Regina City, who will also have charge of the work of supervising the newly-created bureau of child protection. Hitherto, the two bureaus of publications, the latter does not become effective until May 1.

Hon. J. G. Gardiner, another new member of the Government, succeeds Hon. Chas. Dunning as minister of highways, and takes over from Mr. Dunning supervision of the bureau of labor and industries.

The provincial secretaryship, which has been given to the third new member, J. M. Uhrich, of Heathern, was formerly held by Hon. W. C. Knowles, and upon the latter's death in the service, including the post of the Eaton Memorial Church, Rev. C. A. B. Williams.

Celebrate Canada Week

New York.—The Kiwanis Club of New York celebrated the internation al Kiwanis Club United States Canada week in a luncheon held with large and representative attendance. The object of the week is to promote friendship and goodwill by the exchanging of each other. Everyone present was supplied with a booklet descriptive of Canada.

Only Formal Notice to France About Payments

London.—The British note to France concerning interest on France's debt to Great Britain, it was authoritatively explained, was not an actual demand for payment of interest but a formal notice that the three years' suspension of interest having expired, Great Britain resumes freedom of further action. Certain countries, it was said, notably Italy and Rumania, were promised two months' notice on any required cash payments, and as Great Britain starts payment to the United States in October, it became necessary that notice should be given

German Tax Scheme Approved

Finance Minister Says Burden Imposed is Without Parallel

Berlin.—"No nation ever wrote its action indelibly in the sands of time as its statute books as does Germany now that the Reichstag has given its final approval to the Government tax scheme," said the finance minister, Andreas Hermes, to the deputies, in thanking them after the conclusion of the third reading of the measures which approves a compulsory loan, of one billion gold marks and the imposition of which automatically makes effective fourteen major tax laws.

Herr Hermes declared the tax burden imposed on the German people was without parallel in history and would demonstrate to the world that the German people were prepared to assume the financial obligations grow ing out of the last war.

The taxation laws, which received the Reichstag's final approval have been in the making for more than a year, yet hardly anyone in Germany possesses even a superficial knowledge of the extent to which the individual is affected directly or indirectly by the taxation scheme which the financial experts have devised in an attempt to discover previously unknown for sources of revenue.

Druggists Kept Busy With Liquor Sales

Manitoba Stores Sell 810,983 Gallons Since Prohibition Came in Force

Winnipeg.—A total of 1,211,461 prescriptions have been issued and 810,983 gallons of liquor sold through drug stores in Manitoba since prohibition came into force, according to information tabled in the Legislature last week by Hon. Thos. Johnson attorney general.

The number of prescriptions issued during the first year was 500,000 and the amount of liquor sold 300,000 gallons. The number of prescriptions issued during the second year was 711,461 and the amount of liquor sold 510,983 gallons. The number of prescriptions issued during the third year was 711,461 and the amount of liquor sold 510,983 gallons. The number of prescriptions issued during the fourth year was 711,461 and the amount of liquor sold 510,983 gallons. The number of prescriptions issued during the fifth year was 711,461 and the amount of liquor sold 510,983 gallons. The number of prescriptions issued during the sixth year was 711,461 and the amount of liquor sold 510,983 gallons. The number of prescriptions issued during the seventh year was 711,461 and the amount of liquor sold 510,983 gallons. The number of prescriptions issued during the eighth year was 711,461 and the amount of liquor sold 510,983 gallons. The number of prescriptions issued during the ninth year was 711,461 and the amount of liquor sold 510,983 gallons. The number of prescriptions issued during the tenth year was 711,461 and the amount of liquor sold 510,983 gallons.

Has Faith in Future

King George Says People Will Overcome Present Conditions

London.—I am strong in my faith that the patience and energy of the people, combined with a spirit of confidence and good fellowship among all classes will overcome the distressing conditions which have prevailed in the past years."

This is the text of a message which His Majesty the King sent to the Associated Chambers of Commerce at its meeting here.

Right Hon. Stanley Baldwin, president of the Board of Trade, announced that the coal trade had been put on an economic basis and that in the past months had regained an export trade which no man thought possible a short time ago.

Angora Accepts Peace Terms

Constantinople.—The Turkish Nationalist Government at Angora has accepted with reservations the armistice propositions recently made by the Allies, it is stated, the reservations have been informed.

Milk Famine in London

Believe Supply Held Up On Account of Price

London.—There is a milk famine in London and it is believed to be the result of the recent reduction in price subsequence to 3½pence per quart. It is thought the farmers are holding up the supply, as they complain of the large margin between the price they receive for milk and the retail prices. Sir Arthur Griffith Boscawen, minister of agriculture, questioned in the House of Commons on the matter, admitted that the situation was serious but said he was unable to fix or control milk prices.

Report Was Exaggerated

London.—Winston Churchill, the colonial secretary, stated in the House of Commons, that the steamer Upton which was seized off the Irish coast last week by raiders, who stowed away in boxes in her between piers, contained not more than £3,000 rounds of ammunition. The vessel originally was believed to have carried 50,000 rounds.

Mounted Police To Be Excluded From Scope Of Military Organization

Ottawa.—After further discussion in the House of Commons the national defence army [illegible] committee stage in the House and stands for third reading. An important amendment excludes the Royal Canadian Mounted Police from the scope of the bill and the new department will, therefore, comprise the militia, naval and air forces.

When the bill was last before the House, objection was made to the inclusion of the Royal Canadian Police on the ground that it was essentially a civil organization. Hon. George P. Graham, minister in charge of the bill, himself moved the amendment and it was carried without objection. Another amendment made affects the superannuation allowance of officers to be retired. The original bill authorizes the Government in such cases to add from one to three years to the actual term of service. An amendment reduced the years which they may be added to from one to two years.

Plans for the retention of experienced and highly trained military officers were made in the course of the committee discussion.

When the clause providing for the inclusion of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police in the amalgamation of departments came up, Hon. Mr. Graham stated that there appeared to be a difference of opinion in the House as to whether this department should be included. He was not inclined to combat the view that is should not be taken in the Royal Mounted Police, but he warned the House that it would be impossible to effect as great economies through amalgamation if this department was excluded. He was aware that many members were of the opinion that the Mounted Police forces should be greatly decreased and confined to the unorganized territories, but he questioned whether police work could be left to the provinces at present.

Pay Last Tributes To Sir John C. Eaton

Public Demonstration of Mourning is Witnessed in Toronto

Toronto.—All classes of the community from statesmen and laborers to legislators and members of the press, rallied to pay last tributes of respect to the memory of Sir John C. Eaton, whose body was laid to rest in the family mausoleum, a stately structure of Scottish granite in Holy Mount Pleasant Cemetery here. Representatives of the Federal Parliament, the Ontario Legislature, the city council, the military, the judiciary, the universities, the banks, Y.M.C.A. and practically all religious denominations attended the funeral service in the Timothy Eaton Memorial Methodist Church, and followed the remains to the cemetery.

Tomorrow the estate will be opened with the will, which is expected to contain a number of bequests to charitable institutions, among which the Methodist Church, the Y.M.C.A. and the Eaton Memorial Church are mentioned.

Alberta Breeders Also Urge Reciprocal Trade With States

Calgary, Alta.—At the annual meeting of the Alberta Cattle Breeders' Association resolutions were passed urging the Dominion Government to open negotiations with the United States with a view to the removal of the embargo on cattle.

It is especially asked that pending the removal of the embargo arrangements be made for shipment of Alberta fat cattle to Montana for sale in terior points in Great Britain under a permit system, thus making it possible to get the Canadian beef offered to the British consumer.

The association went on record as in favor or the dehorning of all commercial cattle.

Transportation problems took up considerable attention at the hands of the cattle breeders. A resolution was passed asking for further reduction in rail and ocean transportation costs.

Another request went to the railway companies asking that through mileage rates be allowed feeders who wish to ship stocker cattle and sheep into feeding areas for a 120 day period and then send them on to market.

VINY RIDGE
VICTORY RECALLED
ANNIVERSARY SUNDAY OF MEMORABLE BATTLE

Canada's glorious part in the great battle of Vimy Ridge, the most successful offensive staged on the Western front to that date, was recalled in many cities and towns in the Dominion on April 9th, the fifth anniversary thereof. The thrill that went through this country when the cables flashed the news of the taking of Vimy Ridge by the Canadian Corps has not been forgotten. It will continue to be a source of pride and gratification as long as the history of the war is remembered, and that will be as long as Dominion Day has a place in the hearts and thoughts of men.

LLOYDMINSTER NEWS ITEM

The "Old Timers" of Lloydminster district, with special reference to the "All British Colony" which migrated to Western Canada in 1903, will hold a re-union on Monday, May 1st, 1922. It will be remembered that in 1903 a party of British emigrants came to Western Canada detraining at Strathcona before the C.N.R. was continued on. This party trekked some 200 miles by an wagon, etc, to a point on the prairie now known as Lloydminster (so named after the then Rev. Geo. E. Lloyd, now Bishop of Saskatchewan). The members of the original party, who are still a very considerable factor in Lloydminster and district, intend celebrating their 19th year in Canada. This will also be made the occasion of a reception to the Right Reverend Bishop Lloyd of Saskatchewan. The local committee will be pleased to receive names of those intending to be present, as early date so as to enable them to know how many to cater for. A small admission fee will have to be charged to cover some nominal expenses. Address, J. Gordon Reg. Lloydminster Saskatchewan.

World Record for Daily Newspaper

London Daily Mirror Claims Achievement for Royal Wedding Number

The Daily Mirror claims to have broken all daily newspaper records when it published 2,935,871 copies of its Royal Wedding Number, which it believes to be a world daily newspaper record. There were two Daily Mirror souvenir numbers—the Princess Mary Number, of Tuesday, and the Royal Wedding Number, of Wednesday. Of the Princess Mary number 2,154,000 copies were printed—no output which is believed to exceed anything yet done in the history of the Daily Mirror or its contemporaries. The record was broken within twenty-four hours by the issue of over three millions of the Wedding Number. Mechanically, it was a tour de force for the eight pages of wedding pictures went to press four hours ahead of the rest of the paper, and the Royal Wedding Number, of Wednesday. Fatal Street Accidents in Britain

Official figures just published show that there were 2,815 fatal accidents to pedestrians caused by vehicles in the United Kingdom last year, and also 2,547 fatal accidents which did not prove fatal to pedestrians, but which resulted in injuries sufficiently serious to necessitate their removal to hospital. The number of persons killed was 3,000 or 61,000. In London there were 773 fatal street accidents last year and 22,647 that were not fatal.

YOUNG WOMEN WHO SUFFER

Letter Points Way Towards Relief—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Toronto, Ontario.—"I suffered from the time I was a schoolgirl until I was married. I tried every medicine with pain in my left side and with cramps, grew worse each year until I was all run down. I was so bad at times that I was unfit for work. I tried several doctors and many medicines and was finally relieved by a short time. Some of the doctors wanted to have an operation but my father objected. Finally I turned to your medicine, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and how thankful I am that I tried it. I am relieved from pain and cramps and feel as if it has saved my life. You may use my letter to help other women as I am glad to recommend the medicine."—Miss H. A. UNSIGHTLY PIMPLES AND FACE ERUPTIONS

In the Spring Men, People Need a Tonic Medicine

Now at the period when the blood is out of order is the principal unsightly eruptions and eczema that come frequently with the change from winter to spring. They prove that the long indoor life of winter has its effect upon the blood, and that a tonic medicine is needed to put it right. Indeed, there are few people who do not need a tonic at this season. Had blood does not merely show itself in disfiguring eruptions, but this same condition is due attacks of rheumatism and lumbago, the sharp stabbing pains of sciatica and neuralgia; loss of appetite and a desire to be constipation. You cannot get rid of these troubles by the use of mere purgative pills—you need a tonic, and a tonic only, and among all medicines there is none can rival Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for their tonic, blood-improving, nerve-restoring powers. Every dose of this medicine helps make new, rich blood which drives out impurities, stimulates every organ and brings a feeling of new health and vigor to weak, tired, ailing men, women and children. If you are not well, give this medicine a trial and see how quickly it will restore the appetite, revive drooping spirits and fill your veins with new, health-giving blood.

You can get these pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

ROYAL YEAST CAKES

Canadian Made

As a health builder, Royal Yeast is gaining in popularity every day. It is good - not a medicine. It supplies the vitamins which the diet may lack. Royal Yeast is highly beneficial in cases where the system seems "run down". Royal Yeast is the richest known source of vitamines, and when taken into the system acts as a corrective agent. Royal Yeast Cakes are recommended for their purity and wholesomeness. It is the purest, the most convenient and economical yeast on the market.

Two to four Royal Yeast Cakes a day will work wonders. A full day's supply can easily be prepared at one time by using one glass luke warm water and teaspoon sugar to each yeast cake. Allow to stand over night in moderately warm room. In the morning stir well and pour off liquid. Place in refrigerator or other cool place and drink at intervals as desired throughout the day.

Ideas That Coin Money

Big Fortunes Have Been Made from Small Inventions

A Baltimore man named Palmer was the inventor of the cap for soda water bottles which made him a millionaire. He carried the patent in his pocket for six years before he succeeded in getting it on the market.

Another man made a rich man of a penniless boy. When the invention was to be opened it was necessary to strike the top of the can and it required a chisel. Edison ordered ten millions as an experiment and the idea worked so well that the inventor made a big fortune.

It was a man named Heatin who devised the little metal snaps which holds on boot buttons, and he made a fortune out of his idea, while another huge pile accrued to the man who first thought of cumbining a lead pencil with which to write and a piece of rubber to erase what was written.

The difference between the old straight and the newer rakish hat pin made a fortune for the man who noticed that his wife shed her hat pins as she walked about the house. Another fortune resulted to the man who made a little blob on the points of hairpins in order that they should not "prick."

A new kind of glove fastener made another man rich, and a sleeve link which could be put in and removed more easily than others made its inventor a present of an income of $60,000 a year.

The man who invented the little dress fastener with a bump to replace the old hook-and-eye accumulated a vast fortune.

Early Almanacs

Almanacs became prevalent during the Fifteenth Century. The first almanac to be printed in Germany was the Kalendarium Naum, 1460 either being Regiomontanus. The Almanac was issued three years—1471, 1494 and 1513, was sold for 10 crowns gold, and circulated throughout Germany, Germania, Bal Hungary and Scandinavia. Englands first almanac was by Shirwood, Kalendar with figures and prognostications, 1497. Each month a quaint poem.

Changed Attitude Of France Towards Russia Is Noted At Genoa

Genoa.—Delegates from several countries represented at the economic conference remark informally upon what seems to them a changed attitude on the part of France toward Russia. They declare that Louis Barthou head of the French delegation appears to be especially cordial and conciliatory in his manner toward George Tchitcherin leader of the Russian group in public meetings. They interpret this as indicating that France is now disposed to go as far as possible towards reaching an understanding with Russia.

Nikolai Lenine, chief physician will come to Genoa to replace George Tchitcherin as head of the Russian delegation when the negotiations of the economic conference reach the proper stage says the newspaper Secolo. The newspaper adds that an apartment is being prepared for the Premier Poincare of France at the Villa Pagano, and he is expected here soon.

The meeting of the commission on Russia has been postponed until tomorrow, M. Tchitcherin awaiting instructions from M. Lenine, at Moscow, with whom he is in direct communication.

London.—The reported intention of David Lloyd George, the British premier, to propose at Genoa a pact of understanding that no nation shall attack another is featured in two or three of the London newspapers.

However plausible the plan may be framed, says the Daily News, "it is bound to be more spectacular than real."

Mr. Lloyd George has declared that the conference, before it can usefully discuss disarmament, must create a peaceful atmosphere by settling the causes of disagreements which lead to war. He might have done so to avoid the risk of a clash. Each commander agreed to punish the offender of his people.

The case of Lieutenant Ingouville-Williams, of Lisburn, Armagh will go to Privy Council for leave to appeal. His mother was overtaken on the road by a motor car. Both failed to satisfactorily answer questions put to him by the occupants of the car, who took him into the machine and drove off. Afterwards the boy was found fatally injured, placed him in a ditch and dred a volley at him. Kells was the coroner's verdict returned and taken to the infirmary in Armagh.

Objection to Wheat Board

Montreal.—The establishment of a Government Wheat Board will kill the flour milling industry in Canada, declared General A. E. Labelle, president of the St. Lawrence Flour Milling Company, Limited addressing the Chamber of Commerce here. He asked the chamber to adopt a resolution protesting against the Government meddling with wheat prices. The chamber approved of the resolution in principle and the secretary was directed to frame the official resolution which will be forwarded to the Government.

A building on Spadina Avenue near the public school public library has been purchased for the purpose. The children's library will have a reference department for the use of school children.

Britain Again Leads In Ship Construction

Orders in Hand Total Over Two Million Tons

New York.—With world shipbuilding rapidly reverting to the prewar scale, Great Britain has resumed her great lead over the other countries of the world in the construction of ships of all classes. At the same time the United States, despite its great agitation for increasing merchant marine power, has fallen behind.

This is disclosed by a statement issued here by Lloyds. It shows that the shipyards of the United Kingdom have orders in hand totalling over 2,000,000 gross tons, more than before the war. The United States yards have orders in hand on only 1,256,000 tons, a decrease of about 10 per cent from the figures for July, 1914. All other countries than the United States and Great Britain with the exception of Germany for which no authentic figures are available, now have under construction about double the pre-war construction aggregate for these nations. The figures showing the shipbuilding activities of the world in hand like a state of inactivity of the load held by Britain. They are: United States, 1,256,266 tons; United Kingdom, 2,225,995 tons, all other countries, 1,503,574 tons.

The British Government announced Lloyds' figures now have added new under construction or about to be laid down on January 1, 1922.

Lord Curzon's Note Pleases United States

Britain Recognizes Reimbursement Claim for Army in Germany

Washington.—Secretary Hughes received from Ambassador Harvey in London a note from Lord Curzon, Foreign Secretary, which stated the contentment of Great Britain would not in any circumstances seek to question the rights of the United States in its claims for payment of costs of the American army of occupation in Germany. Secretary Hughes later transmitted a note Ambassador Harvey, in which the British view on the matter was given. His gratification was held to be in better and expressing hope that no disharmony would arise between the States and Great Britain in the future.

Arbuckle Acquitted

San Francisco.—The jury in the second trial of Roscoe Arbuckle, film comedian, charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of Miss Virginia Rappe, movie picture actress, returned a verdict of acquittal at 10:30 o'clock this morning. The defendant was deeply affected by the announcement and wept openly. The verdict was read by Foreman Overell, a rich oil refiner. The jury was out only one minute. The court having warned against demonstrations, Arbuckle's friends in the court room restrained their joy. Arbuckle's counsel shook hands with the jurors after the verdict was announced.

THE STANDARD
VERMILION, ALTA. APRIL 19, 1922

We have much pleasure in publishing the letter from Mr. H. Alexander of the W. P. P. which appears on another page. The matter dealt with is an important one. In the recent pronouncement the Mission to Conquer" the first act was entirely ruined by the return of the arrival who proved to a man the whole way through. This is bad and should be remedied.

MANY AMERICAN FARMERS TO SETTLE IN WESTERN CANADA THIS YEAR

Thousands of American farmers will settle in Western Canada this year, according to Col. H. C. Peyton, who has returned from a visit to the United States, where he addressed many meetings of farmers. Mr. Peyton is interested in immigration, but I do not intend to let that interest prevent me from telling the truth. I am not going to say that there is no danger in the United States at present, because there is danger there in the unsettled condition of labor and some great agricultural states, which the Canadian public have drawn no distinction between ours. Holders of these both prized lands must have from fifteen to twenty-five per cent profit on their investment, or they are not going to make room for their investments in new lands. Land at $25 per bushel and not as fine would not be a taker now selling for even at present prices. Prices include have got to move. There are no cheap farm lands or homestead propositions today in the Western States. Tenants have some money farm equipment and money land ready to work. Of all European grazing office I found from forty to fifty hitters enquiry daily being received and an average of a dozen personal calls daily from farmers who want to go north. Many have already started. Railways are making one-way round trip rates to Canada for the first time in years which helps the movement in a helpful manner. I also went to investigate conditions. Mr. Porter believes that to ensure the rate of immigration now in the Prairie Provinces there must be co-operation and community spirit. Cliffs must be formed to meet these settlers and display sympathetic interest in assisting them located satisfactorily on the land. Agents can get them here, but it is up to the Western Canadians to help make these new arrivals satisfied after getting here.

The makers of the settlers from the south according to information received, will locate on the lands of the Canadian National Railways in the central and northern sections of the Prairie Provinces.

THE PROGRESSIVES IN PARLIAMENT

Ottawa, April 15.—The Canada Wheat Board and the Minister of Railways question went on the open floor in the National Railways during the week. You have resigned the situation of the House of Commons during the last week. In both the Progressives are keenly interested, for the former has as much to do with the marketing of the grain crop, while with the railways come also the question of freight rates.

The House adopted the recommendations of the committee on Agriculture that the scope of the enquiry be widened so as to include consideration of the "monetary pool," and almost all other proposals for the marketing of grain. But it went back the recommendation that the constitutionality of the Wheat Board should be referred to the supreme court. Although only the committee recommended that the question be referred to the supreme court, the House by a vote of 100 to 50 decided to refer the matter to the Supreme Court of Canada.

The Premier made it plain that he desired a speedy and satisfactory settlement of the question as could be had by the Parliamentary committee, irrespective of politics, repeated talk of fetching the Wheat Board, the head of the meeting indicating a sincere desire to secure the best solution of the problem. How long it will take for the opinion of the law officers of the Crown is not known but the Progressives will see that there is no delay.

The statement made by the Minister of Railways showed that the negotiations conducted between the Government and the railways for the purpose of securing reductions in the rates on the Crow's Nest Pass agreement had failed to accomplish anything. The railways took the position that the uncertainty of the general rate situation, together with the fact that the suspension of the Crow's Nest Pass agreement rates amounts to an end in July, did not warrant them agreeing to reduction. The Government has decided to ask the House to appoint a special committee to examine into the question and take such evidence as it will deem fit with respect thereto.

As between the conclusion of the statement by the Minister of Railways and between the adjournment there was little or no time for discussion of the proposals, for those most affected, the Progressives expressed themselves thereon. The course of the members however is quite clear, and it may be taken for granted that they will fight hard against any proposal to suspend for a longer period the conditions of the Crow's Nest Pass agreement insofar as it relates to rates.

This is one of the most important subjects Parliament has to consider, and it is fortunate that the interests of the farming community are so well represented in the House. Both the speeches of the Progressives in the House and the presentation of the case for the Wheat Board made by the farmers' organizations before the Committee on Agriculture have shown that the interests of the farmers are in good hands.

Parliament does not reassemble until April 19th, after which the remainder of the session will be crowded with important matters in which agriculture is vitally concerned.

MODERN TOURISTS CAMPS TO BE ERECTED IN JASPER NATIONAL PARK

A modern tourist camp, commanding a wonderful view of all the prominent mountain peaks, is now under construction—at the shores of beautiful Lake Beauvert—in Jasper National Park.

Here are a few details

Now camp will open June 15 to September 15 1922.

It will consist of several lodges which will be up-to-date in every particular, having running water, electric light sanitary arrangements, etc.

Each building will have four bedrooms (with double or single beds) sitting room and there will be accommodation for 75 guests.

There is also being erected a central lounge building with open fire place and installation of rustic design and requisite to the comfort of guests. A dancing pavilion is already located on the site.

The erection of these lodges will greatly meet the increasing demand for accomodation at Jasper Park. That the tourist tide will flow through the Jasper Park gateway to and from the Pacific Coast, this season is manifest as it has been the desire of American and Canadian tourists to visit this wonderland—Jasper National Park—when first class accomodation was provided

"FROM BEHIND THE SCENES"
To the Editor the Standard.
Dear Sir:

May I crave the indulgence of a little of your space in order to make an appeal to the courtesy and consideration of the theatre-going public.

Vermilion has a bad name among performers, owing to the invariable practice on the part of Vermilion audiences of being late. Now sir, it is the essence of bad manners to be late for ordinary social engagements. If you are invited to supper at a lady's house you would consider it most discourteous to keep the lady waiting for half an hour or more. The inconvenience and inconvenience is no less when instead of keeping one lady waiting, it is a question of keeping several ladies and gentlemen waiting.

In the recent production of "Nothing But The Truth", although we expressly asked the audience to be in their seats at the time the curtain was advertised to rise, and although every member of the company was ready and waiting to begin, we were delayed for quarter of an hour, because the audience had not arrived. In the same way with The Mikado, the entire company of 30 performers were made up and ready to begin, but were kept waiting for over half an hour by the late arrival of the audience who hardly began to arrive till after the advertised moment of commencement.

Not only are these long waits trying to the nerves, which one is beyond to standing for, especially in the case of new performers) and therefore liable to seriously prejudice the success of the piece, but are hard on the members of the cast in another way, viz., making them necessarily late getting home. When the play is through the audience can go straight home, but as the performers have a number of things to be done, and packed up which all take time, and I dare say it is only to much the same as any the more pleasant when one is tired and spent, that had it not been for the audience's inevitability, they would all have been finished and done some time ago.

I believe the Vermilion Theatre Public need only to have these things pointed out to them, to remedy what is at present a most unfair state of affairs. I do not think they wish to show either discourtesy or to put their hardship upon those trying to entertain and amuse them. The fact remains that by the present habit of unpunctuality they do both these things.

May I ask that in future if they really appreciate the efforts, they will encourage us by being on the spot before the curtain is advertised to rise. This will help us to start the performance in the best of form and spirits and will save us from being kept out of our beds much longer than is necessary.

Thanking you, I remain,
Yours obediently yours,
H. Alexander

GLAYSMORE
(From our own Correspondent)

This district was represented at the Edmonton Spring Show by Glaysmore exhibitors, and as usual they upheld the reputation of the district for the production of good beef cattle in the fall feeding competition Gracie Williams won third place in a class of over forty entries; Lyle Robinson seventh; Norman Williams, tenth place and Dale Williams sixteenth place Grace also won the gold watch donated by Jackson Bros for the girl or lady handling Shorthorn cattle. Dale Williams also won third place with his car lot of five steers, 1000 lbs and under. G. C. Thompson won third place with each of his entries in the class for single steers of 1019 and 1020. Altogether we consider the exhibitors are to be congratulated on the fine showing made.

Mrs C. Nisbitt, who has been visiting her daughter in Edmonton most of the winter, returned to Glaysmore last week

Five good shorthorn bulls were purchased in Edmonton and brought to the Vermilion district last week.

Visitors from this district to the show last week were: B. H. Winters, W. M. Steele, W. D. Williams and D. A. McLaren.

We are sorry to learn the weather shows no evidence with the coal dealers this spring.

BOARD OF TRADE DRIVE FOR MEMBERS

Through the attendance at the monthly meeting of the Vermilion Board of Trade held Monday evening in the Veteran's Club Rooms, was disappointing in regard to numbers it was permeated with a real live spirit of action. Matters discussed were of the utmost importance not only to the town but the rural districts as well. A splendid talk on the importance of rural centre and their marketing points.

A letter received from R. C. W. Leitch nomination agent of the Canadian Railways Edmonton, to the effect that he could not attend necessitating a change in the program on the night. Mr. Leitch however, will be available later on. The first matter dealt with was the adoption of by-laws free of taxable ship patents $50 for local boys men and $100 to locks and country members. The meeting was enthusiastic for the inauguration of a Membership Drive and the following gentlemen were named by President Baines as captains Messrs. J.D. Rapp K.C. chairman, Jos Galdeau, F.C. Long, W. P. Nellis and J.A. Kirkpatrick. The canvas will take place with all speed and it is confidently expected to bring the board enrollment up to the hundred mark.

In view of the fact that cooperated action has been taken by the Canadian Railways to bring in farmers and others to the West and that they are asking boards of trades to collect public organizations in the various towns and cities where they go to the fact of obtaining their share of the heavy letter and other expected from now on Pwas deemed advisable to [illegible] a committee of Messrs [illegible] to look after the matter and see that the best type of farmers and others and the town and district [illegible] presented to them [illegible] part to [illegible] place in the town, and especially [illegible] Join the Board of Trade and boost the District, or Town.

Cure For Hard Times

Business conditions in Canada are not good at the present time, and, while this Dominion is probably in better shape than most countries, that in itself is poor consolation. Instead of endeavoring to find excuses for present conditions, the chief business of every individual citizen should be to find a remedy and effect an improvement. And the hopeful feature of the situation is that an improvement is particularly necessary, what Governments, Banks and big financial and industrial corporations can or may not, do. Betterments will be the result of the activities of the

Somebody made the remark a short time ago that hard times had come. This is challenged by one of the most widely travelled and best informed men in Western Canada who says that the person making such a remark was in error, and that he should have said: "Hard times have gone." We are not so sure that even this is the correct way of putting it. Rather we would say that less ready people are acting on the assumption that hard times have come.

There is only one remedy for the existing economic ills from which all are suffering, and that is work. Not work by a few, but work by all. Not a minimum of work, but the full maximum of work of which one is capable. Not work as it is advocated by the six-to-eight hour day, five days a week, agitators but work as understood by the twelve-to-fourteen six days shalt thou labor"—that is a hard, honest day's work.

A financial man who recently made an extended trip throughout Western Canada, and who is in a position to know what he was talking about, was asked by the writer the same question as is being asked by Gordon Waldie, "What are the banks going to do?" "What are the banks going to do?" replied the financier, "Why, the banks are going to do? But in order to do that they must have business to do. There is no use in the banks going to do anything unless there is business to be done. There is no use in the banks going to do anything unless there is business to be done. There is no use in the banks going to do anything unless there is business to be done

The dominion government has not collated a loan in New York of $100,000,000 to meet maturing obligations. The issue will at 97½. Apart from Pingland with 7 years' issue of 1917 loan due December 1st next, the government owes the banks on treasury bills $125,000,000. It is expected a further loan will be floated this fall.

It is quite expected that government grants, both federal and provincial, to fairs are about to come under the pruning hook. Recently in the dominion house in comments Hon. Mr. Motherwell, minister of agriculture and of late established that the government got the best returns from the grants made to fairs that from any other expended and that if he had more money he would be no grants. The provincial government is reducing fair grants by regulations limiting the amount of the value a society can get. Public opinion will be expected to assist with the action taken. If it can be shown that a large percentage of the grants is spent in competition in the form of prizes it is time the time is to discontinue or reduce the grants or at least change the conditions governing it. Fairs have a value as educational institutions and as a means of bringing the people together socially, and a grant to help them along in this respect is justifiable, but the money should be spent locally and not to help travelling exhibitions which have been practically subsidized to be a great help to the fairs and a stumbling block to fairs to get together and compare their stock.

It is a debatable point as to the good arising from the holding of a small one day fair where exhibits are in part sold at 1c a.m. and permitted to be removed at 5 p.m. If the wealth is to be all unfavorable attendance is of little small and as a very large per centage of the one day fairs have no exhibits of the stock exhibits and often the unsuitable and unprotected grounds is a cause of getting stock the poorest. Awards are frequently made making the best of undifferent conditions at the time. This paper is entirely in favor of fairs where the whole of a small country fair would be aided by the large the fairs, but in our day fairs of the development might warrant, held at some central point to defined fair as to have each be no question as to the great benefit resulting from such a system, not a grant to the same.

OVER 1,400 DIVORCE CASES TO BE HEARD IN LONDON COURTS
Number Set for Hearing at Present Sessions Shows An Increase

London, April 20—In connection with the sittings of the law courts which will open next Tuesday a notable feature is that there is not a jury case entered. The downward trend of jury cases has been in progress since the war While the war was on there were difficulties in empanelling juries and this resulted in rules being introduced enabling the courts to dispense with juries except when absolutely necessary

Over 1,400 divorce cases have been entered for trial at the coming sittings, this being an increase over the usual number and an additional judge will assist in this division.

*We call special attention at this time to the Page Canadian Hand-Power Mikter, which mikes two cows at a time The busy season is self hand when many a farmer will be too busy to milk cows, and, as in former years, will just put the cows in the farm and turn them out. This spells good cows and throws away good money The outlook for dairying is not rosier at this time to come, and the industry is in crowding rapidly all over the West. It is the future. Why not solve the labor question permanently by buying one of these special machines, which besides milking cows, has many other inventions in every particular The price is only $175.00 and no machine on the market with the features and [illegible] no rotter, the busy farmer in the busy season Terms arranged if no cash [illegible] pay cash, in fact the money the machine saves you pays for it over and over again—H Bowman & Co. Nick Hawryluk Faces Serious Charge

Nick Hawryluk of Slawa was [illegible] Provincial Police on Monday charged with having in his possession a barn belonging to his brother Henry Hawryluk. The accused was given a preliminary hearing before Magistrate Pibble on Wednesday and committed for trial, Mr. Elliott appearing for him and Mr. Morrison for the prosecution. The fire was noticed by Mrs. Hawryluk about 12 o'clock in the night but having been set in the roof which was of straw it was impossible for them to save the building. There was a team of horses and two or three head of cattle in the barn at the time. These they rescued but the two hogs, several chickens, harness and a lot of straw. The building was 30 feet long by 25 wide and was valued at $600. Another and still more serious charge against Nick Hawryluk is expected to be laid against him when his dwelling house with all the contents was completely destroyed. Hawryluk and his wife left their house about 2 o'clock in the afternoon to visit the preliminary hearing of the charge preferred by his brother but before Nick Hawryluk 9 and 10 in the evening, the eldest daughter a girl of about 12 years of age, noticed that a building used as a granary was on fire. As it was quite near the house the sparks caught the finished roof of the dwelling and it was soon in flames. All the little girl could do was to rouse the younger children one by one from the [illegible] and [illegible] to [illegible] house and place them in another part [illegible] Hawryluk's son-in-law who they were discovered by one of the neighbors. The children came from 4 months old to 12 years and are now without clothes. Everything in the house was destroyed and the family have nothing left except the clothes they had on at the time. The fire to the granary was of an incendiary origin and the police are investigating.

HOW TO INCREASE YOUR APPETITE

Science has made wonderful strides in recent years, especially in determining food values. One of the most far-reaching recent discoveries deals with the important part Vitamines play in general health.

Those suffering from Malnutrition, Nervousness, Skin Troubles, Sallow Complexion and Lack of Weight are usually deficient in Vitamines. This is due to the fact that many of the Vitamine bearing portions of food are discarded or the Vitamine destroyed in the process of preparation.

To those suffering from any of the above troubles, we recommend Nyal Vitamine Tablets which contain Yeast in concentrated form, and other Vitamines in combination with Iron. Nyal Vitamine Tablets will increase your appetite, build up the nervous system, and put on firm, healthy flesh. Try them and be convinced. Price $1.00 at

IS YOUR NOSE PLUGGED? HAVE YOU CATARRH?

If Subject to Colds, Here is Real Good Advice

Mr. R. Cheney, 208 Richmond St. Chatham, Ont., writes:

"I was troubled with nasal catarrh and dropping in the throat for about fifteen years. I tried many remedies but got no relief. I saw Catarrhozone advertised and thought I would try it. I got a small outfit and before I had used it all I was relieved. I have used Catarrhozone ever since and can recommend it to all sufferers from Catarrh. I have also used it for Sore Throat and Bronchitis and it has never failed to relieve me."

Catarrhozone is sold by druggists everywhere. Large size lasts two months, price $1.00. Small size 50c. Sample size 25c. Poor substitutes are sometimes offered. Insist on getting Catarrhozone.

TELLS DYSPEPTICS WHAT TO EAT

Avoid Indigestion, Sour Acid Stomach, Heartburn, Gas and Stomach Misery

Indigestion and practically all forms of stomach misery are caused by an excess of acid in the stomach. Instead of using medicine to neutralize this acid, which only gives temporary relief, you should get at the cause of the trouble and overcome it. Eat slowly, chew your food thoroughly and drink a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of Bisurated Magnesia after meals. This will neutralize the acid, relieve the gas, sweeten the breath and prevent its further formation. The moment you do this the whole cause of the trouble and the most serious health and healthfully without need of pepsin pills or artificial digestants.

Get a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia from any reliable druggist and use for either powder or tablets. If nervous from acid indigestion, dilute a teaspoonful in a little water and drink the bisurated form is not a laxative. Try this and see for yourself what you want at your next meal and see if this isn't the best advice you ever had on what to eat.

Fur Farming

Western Farmer Can Handle a Few Pairs of Foxes to Advantage

In the following article is shown why the western provinces are especially adapted for fur farming especially the raising of silver black foxes.

I will now give further evidence to show why this is correct. At the present time with uncertain crops in the west and the low market for cattle and horses the people are going in for some other forms of ranching, and I think a lot of them from time to time will go into fox ranching and will be looking for good foundation stock which in time will develop into a large demand for breeders, for when the prospective rancher gets them the possibilities of this industry he will see that he can handle a few pairs on his farm with little or comparatively no expense as he can care for them himself and he raises most of the food that they require. When these facts are more widely known the man with the registered pair to sell will not have to look for a market, as visitors will be waiting for him, and as he will have a few foxes that are registered with the Canadian National Records and with other good records behind them, he will be able to sell at a high price. That the prospective rancher will want to start with. In my next letter I will go into the matter of work and profit, and conclude my "Dr W G Church Inquiry Department for Silver Black Foxes."

No Appetite

Nervous exhaustion leads to distaste for food. The nerves of the stomach are weak, digestion fails and one becomes generally upset and out of sorts.

The secret of complete restoration is in getting the nervous system fully built up.

Mrs R Cheney, 208 Richmond St Chatham, Ont. writes:

"I was troubled with indigestion and nervousness for about two years. I could not eat anything without distress. I had no appetite and was losing flesh rapidly. I was induced to try Dr Chase's Nerve Food and before I had used all of one box I felt relief. I have used six boxes in all and am now in perfect health. I have recommended Dr Chase's Nerve Food to many friends and will always speak a good word for it."

Starting the Car

When Everything Else Fails You Can Try This

To start the engine of a car after the self-starter has broken wrong and the crank handle is not available, jack up the rear wheels and then shift them by hand. Set the spark and throttle levers on the steering wheel, and by turning the rear wheels, the engine will become active. Do not take hold of the spokes when turning the wheels around on the tire, because there is danger of getting the hands caught when the wheels start to revolve.

Mrs. Fowler Gains Twenty Five Pounds

Esteemed Winnipeg Woman Is The Very Picture Of Health Since Taking Tanlac, Declares Husband.

"I've got every reason to be satisfied with Tanlac, for it has restored my wife's health and she has actually gained twenty five pounds in weight," said George J. Fowler, of 621 Cathedral Ave., Winnipeg, Man.

"About three years ago she had a bad attack of dyspepsia. Her food would lie like a lump of lead in her stomach and the gas that formed finally made her heart pain terribly. She was very weak and thin and got worse as the months went by. Final ly her health broke down completely.

"But when she started on Tanlac, the way she picked up was astonishing. In a few days she had regained her strength, and is the very picture of health now. We both have the greatest faith in Tanlac, and recommend it wherever we get a chance."

Spend $1,570,000 on Roads and Bridges in Saskatchewan

According to announcement made by J. Gardiner Saskatchewan Minister of Highways approximately $1,570,000 will be spent on roads and large capital bridges in the province this season. The Legislature voted $2,000,932 at the last session for public improvements.

This expenditure will be supplemented as follows: Roads constructed under the Federal aid scheme, $900,000; large steel and concrete bridges, $120,000; main market roads, $350,000.

It is estimated that a sum of $120,000 will be required for large bridges of permanent type viz. reinforced concrete bridges of arch or beam type or steel trusses on concrete foundations. These bridges will be located on main lines of travel carrying some market cairns.

About $900,000 will be required to complete the contracts entered into last season, and those contracts which will be called for this spring for the construction of provincial highways under the Federal aid scheme.

Bitter Exchanges Feature Meeting Of The Dail Eireann

Dublin.—Machine guns have been added to the defenses of the four courts building in Dublin, which was occupied by irregulars some time ago, and the occupants threaten to burn the place if any attempt is made to expel them by force.

Inquiry regarding the safety of certain valuable documents elicited the reply that so long as the garrison was not molested these papers would not be injured.

The Provisional Government has announced that the whole work of the public record office has been held up on account of occupation of the building. People of Irish birth all over the world have had constant recourse to this office for evidence concerning old age pensions, insurance and other matters.

Bitter exchanges between Arthur Griffith, president of the Dail Eireann, and Eamonn de Valera, the republican leader, more intense than any heretofore, marked the proceedings of the Dail Eireann. Charges and counter-charges as to responsibility for the present disorders characterized the debate, and Mr. Griffith, in a strong attack, endeavored to show that De Valera, while professing Irish republicanism, was willing to compromise.

At one point, describing how on De Valera's return from America, he had entered into negotiations with the British, Griffith declared:

"When I went to London, De Valera asked me to get him out of the straight jacket of the republic."

This lead to an angry scene. Mr. de Valera exclaimed, "I deny it. It is a falsehood," while his supporters shouted at Griffith, who retorted, "I won't be intimidated by any gunmen here."

The Dail Eireann president refused to withdraw and asked how many speeches De Valera was to be allowed to make.

Mr. de Valera replied, "One for every lie."

Finally, it was agreed that correspondence leading to the Irish negotiations should be published and Mr. de Valera remarked, "It shall be done before the elections and before the people are fooled."

Mr. Griffith declared that in the last fortnight an attempt had been made against the life of Michael Collins. This was greeted with derision laughter in some quarters. He further declared that in the current issue of The Republic of Ireland, a paper edited by an Englishman, Erskine Childers, there appeared an article which alluded to the "assassination of the London delegates." Reference by Mr. Griffith to Childers' services to England provoked angry protests from Childers, and Mr. Griffith withdrew.

Russia Practically Ceases Production

Berlin.—Vanishing transport facilities, dwindling coal stocks and the transfer of privately owned business to communistic control have almost killed Russian production, Boris Stankel, a Russian engineer, told a meeting of German metal merchants here. The situation is such, he said, that it would be impossible to revive production by ordinary methods. He emphasized the differences in the mental outlook of the Russians and the people of Western Europe, adding that the latter in their efforts to open up Russia needed to proceed with extreme caution.

...on and what atmosphere is being prepared and basic soils to say to these people, to the Englishman, to the Irish and his backers, that if they think they are going to prevent the Irish people from expressing their views on this treaty they won't be able to do so."

India's Wheat Crop Shows Big Increase

Over Three Million Bushels Harvested ...According to Estimate

Ottawa.—A cablegram received by the Department of Agriculture here from the International Institute of Agriculture, states that the first official estimate of the early harvested wheat crop of India is 72,000,000 bushels against 358,169,000 bushels last year, and 380,850,000 bushels the average of the five previous years. The pre-war average production of India 1909 to 1913, was 350,000,000 bushels. The condition of winter cereals on the first of April was very good in Bulgaria, Average in Germany and Italy and fair in France.

Lloyd George Dwells On Political Dangers That Confront Europe

Genoa.—Premier Lloyd George has drawn an alarmist picture of Europe in addressing the British and United States press representatives he declared that the object at Genoa was to clear up the political differences which were full of menace. He compared Europe to seething cauldron, which like the earth's crust, was seeking a proper level. This signal would see full of perils. He emphasized that Europe must take every menace of hunger. Russia which could be equipped by an...nary ... must

"The world must recognize the fact," the Premier said, "that Russia and Germany combined contain over two-thirds of the people of Europe. Their sales will be heard and the Rhine-German treaty is the first warning of it."

As proof of the danger, he cited the fact that there was no frontier line from the Baltic to the Black Sea, including the Danubian, Galician, Polish and Lithuanian frontiers which had been accepted.

"I wish America were here," Mr. Lloyd George exclaimed. "Some people think we want the United States for some selfish purpose. This is not true. We want America because she exercises a peculiar authority; her very aloofness gives her the right to speak.

"America could exercise an influence no other country could command. She could come here free and disentangled, and, with the prestige which comes from her independent position, she would come with the voice of peace.

"But America is not here; so Europe must do her best to solve the problems in her own way."

Mr. Lloyd George gave it as his opinion that the disintegration of Europe would affect the entire world, including the United States. He was amazed at people who listened to propagandists declaring Europe today is prosperous unless the United States ...ments ... arranging a part ... that if not in his ... with in the world ... Europe would again welter in blood. "We triumph in the war," he said, "but our triumph will not last for ever. If our victory develops into oppression, vengeance will follow, just as Germany's action which started this war, was followed by vengeance.

"I want to see just and equitable and show strength; we must realize that Europe is not on good terms and, that unless we are acting which we must deal with. We had hoped that the end of the Great War meant the end of brute force, but unless Europe's problems are solved there is no assurance that force has given way to right."

May Float Loan Within Canada

Possibility that Government Will Make Another Domestic Loan Issue

Ottawa.—The possibility of the last Government loan being floated in Canada was foreshadowed in a report made by Hon. W. S. Fielding, Minister of Finance, to a deputation representing the Bond Dealers' Association of Canada, which waited on him for the purpose of considering the question of further issue of loans.

The recent financing in New York has supplied the present needs of the Government and it is understood that there will be no immediate further borrowing.

Mr. Fielding intimated however that the question of getting of the Government were large, that at no distant day further borrowing would be necessary and that his opinion was that then the conditions would be such as to permit the floating on a domestic loan.

Few Persons Killed In Tokio Earthquake

Official Report Says Shock Lasted for Thirty Minutes

Tokio.—A heavy earth shock occurred in Tokio at 5 o'clock this morning. Few persons and considerable damage was done to buildings in the city and their contents.

The earthquake was preceded by an eruption of Mount Asama Yama, about miles northwest of Tokio, which broke out with a loud report pouring forth volumes of ash stones and smoke. No serious damage was caused by the eruption. There were many escapes of the barrowest kind from collapsing chimneys and walls. The earth shock was one of the most severe experienced here in a long period. Only one person was killed.

Archduke Ferdinand's Yacht

Canadian Government Has for Sale Yacht Once Owned by Duke Who Was Assassinated

Halifax.—The Admiralty, former yacht of Archduke Ferdinand of Austria, whose assassination precipitated the war, is being offered for sale by the Department of Naval Service here. HOW TO INCREASE YOUR APPETITE

Science has made wonderful strides in recent years, especially in determining food values. One of the most far-reaching recent discoveries deals with the important part Vitamines play in general health.

Those suffering from Malnutrition, Nervousness, Skin Troubles, Sallow Complexion and Lack of Weight are usually deficient in Vitamines. This is due to the fact that many of the Vitamine bearing portions of food are discarded or the Vitamine destroyed in the process of preparation.

To those suffering from any of the above troubles, we recommend Nyal Vitamine Tablets which contain Yeast in concentrated form, and other Vitamines in combination with Iron. Nyal Vitamine Tablets will increase your appetite, build up the nervous system, and put on firm, healthy flesh Try them and be convinced. Price $1.00 at

Everybody is doing it—Cleaning Up.

The "clean-up" germ has not been isolated yet and the result is that the whole town has got the contagion.

From the view point of cleanliness, you won't be able to identify the old town by Saturday night—Lots to be done yet though.

Some of the transformations wrought throughout the town already in the big clean up campaign are simply marvelous—some lanes that have been barricaded for the past decade have now the appearance of city boulevards.

Indications all point to the fact, (which we have always known) that Vermilion possesses citizens of the right type. The only thing needed was a few pends to get them started but my, what a pain they can strike

The Methodist Church, Vermilion

It might be of interest to many to know something about the work and standing of this church during the year ending April 30th. Rev. M. L. Wright has given good service during the last four years, he has not only performed good kind acts for his own people but for many others as well. This is possibly the first time that all the financial obligations are being met at the close of the financial year, so that the next pastor will have no old debts to face. The Conference, knowing the condition of the cause here, will no doubt send a good man.

PRIZES LARGELY INCREASED FOR ANNUAL SPORTS DAY

Everything Points To A Big Day Of Interesting Events

At a meeting Tuesday night of the Athletic Association, President Carl was made a report on the possible amount of revenue likely to be available for the annual day of sports on for Wednesday June 7th. Following this the report of the chairman of each branch of sports was received and appointments made. The result of the meeting is that larger events have been made for both the baseball and football tournaments with the addition of a third prize. A junior baseball tournament was added to the programme with three prizes viz. $15 $10 and $5. The senior baseball prizes were set as follows $125 $75 and $50. Football $50 $30 and $20. Twenty-five dollars was granted for basket-ball, first and second prizes $15 and $10, and $5 for the various athletic events. Arrangements are being made for the band for the day and at night a big old time dance is to be held.

It was decided to erect a grand stand on the baseball grounds with a seating capacity of five hundred for the comfort and convenience of spectators, this will be much appreciated by the crowds who crowded over one another in an effort to follow the big games last year.

Altogether the prospects are looking very favorable indeed for the greatest and biggest sports day in the annals of Vermilion

Commencing Monday night and continuing throughout all day Tuesday, a steady and continuous rain fell throughout the entire district tributary to Vermilion. The moisture is assured and the crop prospects were never better. Grain is up everywhere and growth will be in evidence. Practically all moisture received to date the area now seeded to wheat will greatly surpass any previous season and the total area sown considerably larger.

PLOWING MATCHES

Keen interest is being shown in the annual plowing matches to be held in each of the several agricultural societies. Considerable enquiry has been made by the department of agriculture as to the dates on which agricultural societies in the province are proposing to hold matches in May and June. No address by Prof. McCready, of the college of agriculture, Edmonton, on plowing matches has been printed by the department in pamphlet form and a number of dates have been fixed. Secretaries of agricultural societies intending to hold plowing matches during the past years are Lavoie, Vermilion and Edgerton. Others who propose a match this year, to be held on May 24th. For those years the plowing match has been a big attraction at local fairs in Manitoba and Saskatchewan. The prize list provided by the department of agriculture is 50 per cent of the entry fees paid out in prizes with a limit of $20.00.

A MISSION OF MERCY

The Canadian Committee of the Save the Children Fund has received cables with the utmost promptness in response to the appeal. This is indeed quite a splendid example of the worthy object which it would be inhuman to refuse support while there are still children to be saved. Children to be saved from starvation, children to be saved from the debased population which has now all that Canada could possibly do, and will be sufficient to relieve all its natural distress. But it is encouraging and very patriotic conduct that is being displayed.

The children-aid of the people in Canada to their fellows is not by any means the only thing they have subscribed more liberally to. Other objects should remember that a few good Canadian dollars will supply the bare necessities of life to a few children which is all that the Russian people can expect until such time as they brought out of chaos and the civil country gets back to its normal condition.

Subscriptions to funds are contracted chiefly with the salvation of the little ones and those who are not sexually responsible for the condition of their country. The responsibility for the war is brought at the doors should not be laid against the children who send your dollars on a real mission to carry. Send your subscription to the Canadian Red Cross Treasurer, Canadian Committee of the Save the Children Fund or send it through your local organization or bank.

BACK TO NORMAL
—And Then Some!—

By H. Rosoman, Vermilion.

"As you were!" our sergeant used to bawl, and we had to "return to normal" and go through the whole move most again. Well, we got the time in, but I cannot say that we were any "forwarder." The average person today is happier for "conditions to return to normal," but some of us have feelings of revolt. Normal isn't good enough. When we look back to normal times, that is to say the years prior to the war, we most people like was to a certain relative) expressed himself: "one damned horrid grind." Shall we be contented with that? "Nothing doing!" say I, and many another echoes the sentiment. "Nothing do-ing!" It has the pendulum swings back this time it must BIG a "swing"—a "whale of a swing"—a record break etc. We must not let far beyond "normal" and attain a condition of peace and prosperity such as the world has not yet been experienced.

The condition of peace and prosperity is no dream. It is already manifesting itself in our midst. In less come unobserved, "like a thief in the night." But it is here! Numbers of individuals are discovering their power within themselves, and have used it to demonstrate their own prosperity. For want of a better name it is called "spiritual power." It is something invisible, subtle, elusive. But it is a power transcending everything yet known. In fact, by its use a man can make for himself a new world,—a world of peace and prosperity, health and harmony, and continued satisfaction and joy.

There is the millennium dawning in individuals. It has already arrived for some. For millions more it is close at hand. "In the fullness of time" the little leaven will have "leavened the whole lump." In the meantime you can help your share of your own new world, your own millennial dawn by putting in your boost that the "I" of you, the one in the first quarter of you, the "I AM," is spiritual. It is the part of you which we are told is made in the "image and likeness of God." In fact the statement "we are the children of the Most High" is literally true. "I" of you possesses all of God's qualities "just as a pail of water possesses all the qualities of an ocean full."

This is the condition however concerning the age of spiritual power, and it is inexhaustible. You must realize this power in your own soul first. This is the condition. No one can do it for you. Thus as each individual attains spiritual consciousness he begins to realize that he is a "member of the body of Christ," and the truth is that the earth man is still not "come but most have begun" to realize what it is to be a member of the body of Christ. Each individual must come more gradually as to the measure of his faith.

The world in all its greatness is by the negative law. We are needing and we are receiving. One is reaching another. We are now in the most forging period. The time is ripe, when appearances to the contrary, we have always thought of as the millennium it is coming as fast as it can.

That is what I call Back to Normal. Isn't good enough. We must look for and demand better. We must look for the best fullness of life for ourselves, which we have been struggling through the ages. For we are now at the immergence of dawn, the hour of the Kingdom of spirit, and we begin to get anything better than the world is striving to get back to its war conditions. Ignorance of the unexpected prosperity on peace which is coming. Instead of the human race. There is a great deal of suffering coming for a time and it appears worse until let's get ready, take cheer.

Don't Forget Wednesday, June 21st for a big day's sport.

CLAYSMORE
(From our own Correspondent)

Another million dollar rain this week, and you won't have to wait no long for it either

Mr and Mrs. Wm Oliver of Portage la Prairie, Man., along with Master Charlie, are visiting with Mr and Mrs G. C. Dunsmore on their way home from wintering in Victoria B. C.

We are sorry to report the death of John Eade, at Lamont Hospital on Tuesday last

W. M. Steele went to Edmonton in company with W. E. Sutton on Tuesday last, on business for the Agricultural society.

Editorially the Moose Jaw Farmer claiming to be independent says he has no use for the wheat board in operation and that thousands of farmers in Saskatchewan are of the same opinion. What we want to know is where he gets this independent stuff as we never heard a word from him until it was pretty clearly demonstrated that the old political parties were opposed to it.

An Ottawa correspondent reports the Ross movement was saved on two divisions lately, once by the mercy of God and the Conservative party and once by the mercy of God and the Progressives. Well, they better be careful, cause one of these times the Lord or someone else is going to lay down on that mercy stuff as far as Wee Willie is concerned.

The Claysmore U. F. W. A. will meet at the home of Mrs. W. D. Will lams on Thursday, 18th May.

Several times that we have come to town this spring we got the impression that the blacksmiths were having their shops photographed, except the staff all standing in the door, wearing an eager expectant look. But on making a closer inspection we found that they were on's leaning for work. Yes! it seems to us that we hands a prospect of nothing in your boost that the "I" of you, the one in the first quarter of you, the "I AM," is spiritual. It is the part of you which we are told is made in the "image and likeness of God." In fact the statement "we are the children of the Most High" is literally true. "I" of you possesses all of God's qualities "just as a pail of water possesses all the qualities of an ocean full."

Why Castoria?

YEARS ago Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups were the remedies in common use for Infants and Children; Castor Oil so nauseating as to be almost impossible and the others all containing Opium in one form or another, but so disguised as to make them pleasant to the taste, yet really to stupify the child and give the appearance of relief from pain.

It required years of research to find a purely vegetable combination that would take the place of these disagreeable, unpleasant and vicious remedies that from habit had become almost universal. This was the inception of, and the reason for, the introduction of Fletcher's Castoria, and for over 30 years it has proven its worth, received the praise of Physicians everywhere and become a household word among mothers.

A remedy ESPECIALLY prepared for Infants and Children and no mother would think of giving to her baby a remedy that she would use for herself without consulting a physician.

Children Cry For Fletcher's CASTORIA

Have You Tried It?

Everybody has read the above headline; how many believe it? Have you a little-one in the home, and has that dear little mite when his stomach was not just right felt the comforts that come with the use of Fletcher's Castoria? You have heard the cry of pain. Have you heard them cry for Fletcher's Castoria? Try It.

Just help baby out of its trouble tomorrow with a teaspoon of Castoria. Watch the difference in the tone of the cry, the look in the eye, the wiggle in the tiny fingers. The transformation is complete from pain to pleasure. Try It.

You'll find a wonderful lot of information about Baby in the booklet that is wrapped around every bottle of Fletcher's Castoria.

I'm So Tired

Fatigue is the result of poisons in the blood. So when the kidneys fail to purify the blood some of the poisons remain and cause headaches and persistent tired feelings and pains in the back.

Neglected kidney troubles lead to years of suffering from rheumatism or develop into such fatal ailments as Bright's disease.

The kidney action is promptly corrected by use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills — the best known regulator of kidneys, liver and bowels.

Mr. John Ireland, RR No 2, King, Ont., writes:

"I was a great sufferer from severe headaches and pains in the small of my back, and was obliging me to lay off work. I got Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and after using two boxes I was entirely relieved. I have not had a pain or headache since, and I can recommend Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills to any one suffering as I was."

Times Have Changed

Do not remember the old adage about the best wine was kept to the last? Well, times have changed and certain foods require to be served at the beginning of the meal instead of the end. Yes replied Farmer Corntassel, I'm a traditionalist now. When we have company we always have pie at the beginning of the meal instead of the end. Many unexpected guests are welcomed by Mrs. Corntassel, as a result of her thoughtfulness in keeping a supply of Bell-ans Hot Tablets on hand. The First Talking Machine

The inventor was overjoyed. She cried, "I've got it at last!" and danced around the room.

Then she stopped and thought. "But what am I going to do with it?" she asked herself.

It is certainly a strange thing that the first person to invent a phonograph and a talking machine should be a woman and girl quite ignorant of the practical intentions of the machine.

Then she began to think back over the years and remembered that her husband was always complaining that she talked too much. Already my friends have invented many useful things, and I am sure I can do it. Already my friends have invented many useful things, and I am sure I can do it. I have to have a machine that will talk for me when I am not there. I will make it talk to my husband when I am not there. I will make it talk to my husband when I am not there. I will make it talk to my husband when I am not there.

Vermilion's Big Athletic Sports Day Wednesday June 7th

What about your Horse Bills for this season.—rush them in.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Wallington, who for the past four years have been in the Mountain district at Pole Creek, returned to Vermilion during the week. Mr. Wallington sold out his blacksmith business at that point and has bought a farm in the Wildmere district where they are again locating.

"Crain's Big Gramophone Contest closes the end of May—pay your work the hard for votes." Someone will win one of those splendid machines. "Why not you?"

Leon Goodwin left on Monday last for Edmonton, Alta., on a business trip. The family are remaining in Vermilion until July.

A dance will be held at Oliphant school on Friday evening May 12th. Good music. Lunch counter. No admission charge but a collection is to be taken to defray expenses.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Rudout of Edmonton are on Ld Newgate St. Lloydminster, who left the old country on the Scandinavia April 1st, on a tour of the United States and Canada are reported in Vermilion on Tuesday May 9th when they will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Easton. Arriving in New York on April 15th Mr. and Mrs. Rudout toured south to Los Angeles and then made the journey up to Vancouver by the coast route. Vancouver they are now en route across Canada, and will spend a few days in Toronto and Edmonton before arriving at Vermilion.

W. M. Sinclair representing the Agricultural Society was in Edmonton on Tuesday interviewing the Minister of Agriculture with reference to the classification of the Vermilion Fair Mr. Sinclair was also booked by the Minister to have placed the Fair at this point in "C" class with a maximum grant of $1,000 per year. In this connection Mr. Sinclair also had a conference with the Minister of Public Works and Provincial Secretary. As such result all the buildings will be repaired and put in good condition. No such result could be accomplished last year by a deputation of the Agricultural Society, all of which goes to show that the Government does not favor contracts with the Agricultural Societies and that the Fair is not to be a permanent institution. The Minister of Agriculture has promised that the Fair will be held in Vermilion for the next three years and that the grant will be increased to $1,000 per year. The minister pointed out that the Fair could be placed in "B" class with a maximum grant of $1,500 per year if the Society would agree to give the matter a couple of years more trial.

Messrs. J. Eastman and J. J. Hogan of Lindbergh were in town on Monday last. Mr. Hogan is a keen contestant for Crain's Great Gramophone Contest. Mr. Eastman was also in town on Saturday last. Mr. Eastman was also in town on Saturday last. Mr. Eastman was also in town on Saturday last.

The Ladies' Aid of the Knox Presbyterian church will hold a Sale of Home Cooking and Tea in Carlson's Drug Store on May 20 from 2 to 6 o'clock in the afternoon.

J. A. Brand who recently came up from the Medicine Hat district to handle the Watkins' remedies has had such good success from his territory that he is about to return to his farm down there. Two snow falls and a hot rain has played sad storms a call for him and he says 12c acres in crop to fall will be too much for him to handle. He says he is advertising his outfit for sale. Mr. Brand happens to be one of the farmers in the Lethbridge district. Hatfield, the rainmaker was operating last season. The impression seemed to have gone abroad through the papers that Hatfield had delivered the goods. Mr. Brand says: "The Hatfield stuff is a fake." He (Mr. Brand) says he had discussed the matter with a number of people who had in said sixty dollars to the district to produce rain, all to no avail. Crops are

The Vermilion Centre School Board were the recipients of a very useful and appreciate gift to the school library last week Mr. H. Percy Long, who has been secretary-treasurer of the district for the past ten years, marked the occasion by presenting the Board with Wilson Cumulative Loose Leaf Encyclopedia in ten volumes (one for with coupons covering annual renewals for the next ten years. This loose leaf encyclopedia is one of the latest inventions in books of the nature, for by the coupon system all the recent inventions or discoveries in any field are annually written up and new insert leaves forwarded to replace obsolete data—thus making the work as new and up to date at the end of twenty years as it is now. The board thanked Mr. Long for his generosity on behalf of the ratepayers and citizens generally. Mayor Morrison's years ago gave a Parkman's History of the Makers of Canada and soon after added the Chadd's Book of Knowledge to the library. The school library is now composed of ten volumes and is augmented each year by a grant made by the educational department Edmonton

DOUBTS RESOURCES OF IMMEDIATE BENEFIT

PREMIER GREENFIELD MAKES STATEMENT FOLLOWING CONFERENCE

The following is part of a statement given out by Premier Green, field regarding the natural resources question in so far as they affect this province

The first important point of difference arose from the insistence of certain members of the dominion government that no consideration whatever should be given to alienation or dealings with the natural resources prior to 1908, it being argued that at that time a settlement had been reached behind which we should not go. The importance of this question to the province may be gathered by a reference to one item, viz. lands alienated for railway purposes. Of a total of 13,041,739 acres granted from within the present provincial boundaries as subsidies for railway construction 10,503,505 acres were alienated a few years prior to 1908. Of this amount approximately 8,100,000 acres were granted for railway construction entirely outside of the provinces. Had the first petition for provincial autonomy been granted in 1908 we would now clearly be entitled to some consideration for these lands, in view of the fact that these lands were selected throughout the Province and carried with the patents all mineral rights, it becomes of considerable importance that any negotiations for the return of the resources should not be limited to the period since 1905 and we felt obliged to make a good five claim for compensation for these lands at least

The second difficulty arises from the fact that there is very little knowledge of the real benefit to be derived by the transfer of the resources. There seems to be a general exaggerated idea, not only of the wealth in coal, resources, but in all of the immediate benefit to be derived by the province from their acquisition. The result is an impression on the part of some to ask superficial that past dealings with resources should be considered at all and the insistence that we should be limited to the use of the remaining resources without any compensation whatever in as resources hitherto alienated.

The future obtained from the department of the last for the year 1919-20 which may be taken as a fair average year show receipts under the following heads: Lands $1,000,000; timber $1,000,000; mines and minerals $1,000,000; parks $1,000,000; Dominion lands $1,000,000; total $5,000,000. Of this amount approximately $1,000,000 is derived from the sale of coal lands, $1,000,000 from timber dues, $1,000,000 from mines and minerals, $1,000,000 from parks, $1,000,000 from Dominion lands, $1,000,000 from total $5,000,000.

Omitting as being purely dominion matters all Debt of a Province, Expenditure for civil government, Surveys of land salaries surveys and protection of timber there will remain in these four items an expenditure of $1,000,000 against a revenue of $1,000,000, or a balance sum which is less than 1 per cent of the total. Of this amount should be able to administer it in a business manner economically, a considerable proportion of which would be made up by demands for development work and the consequent increase of population. Even if the service as this is very doubtful if, for a number of years the province would be in a better position by the acquisition of the resources than it is with the present subsidy.

An eminent statesman recently remarked the other day that in spite of the war [illegible] Britain has increased [illegible]

He asked me whether I thought the country could support them all, and I replied in the negative, suggesting that emigration is the only remedy. I think it is clear that our surplus is among unemployed and not the real workers needed by the community.

A Vegetable Octopus

South American Plant Crushes Life From Human Beings

A plant found in South America—a kind of vegetable octopus—has been known to kill human beings. Two specimens was found by a naturalist near Lake Titicaca. This man attracted by the agonized howling of his dog, found the animal "enveloped in a perfect network of fine, rope-like tissues and fibers," and it was only by great difficulty that he got them away.

Whilst freeing the dog he felt "the fibers cut like sinuous living fingers on his hands," and it required all his strength to free himself from the grip of the plant. Both man and dog were blistered and bloodstained by the attack of this "land octopus."

The "cannibal tree" of Australia, which embodies an enormous pine apple—some nine or ten feet high, with a fringe of huge, strong leaves at the top—has the reputation of being able to crush the life out of a human being—the leaves closing on him like the tentacles of a huge body.

The "telegraph plant"—a native of India—has tremendous electrical power. Each leaf is composed of three leaflets, the largest of which stretches out to the sun during the day, but closes at night, while the two smaller ones move in curious round and round, by means of jerking motions.

Severe shocks have been experienced by unsuspecting people who have investigated the rhythmic "perpetual motion" of the leaflets, and it is conceivable that, to anyone with a weak heart such shocks might prove fatal.

Grazing Leases Altered

Information has been received in reference to amendments to the grazing leases from the Timber and Grazing Lands Branch at Ottawa, in regard to an Order in Council dated March 12th and applicable to Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and the Peace River tract. According to the document, provision is made for the renewal of grazing leases now in existence having less than five years to run, for the payment of rental at the rate of two cents per acre per annum. This compensation for improvements left by lessees on his lease hold. The four years cancellation is eliminated.

Worms Have Largest Eating Ship

The largest eating ship afloat is a French five-master, La France, a steel hulk of 5,852 tons burden which carries 30 sails and a crew of 54. Her best fair weather run is 323 knots in 24 hours, though she has logged as much as 421 knots in a hurricane. Not many steam freighters could better those figures.

War Base at Suez Has Been Dismantled

Was One of Greatest Centres During World War

What was once considered the greatest military dump in the world, 32 kilometers, the British army base on the east side of the Suez Canal, has now almost entirely reverted to the wilderness of sand and silence whence it rose.

By passing marks the demise of one of the most important war baby's nullity [illegible]

In 1914, 12 Kantara was merely the name of a "place" on the Suez Canal, 15 kilometers by train from Port Said. With the beginning of the Palestine campaign, the transformation began. Immense encampments and army service corps detachment mapped out a town.

There were erected enclosures for cattle, horses, mules, donkeys, fodder, for great guns and small timber carts. Later there appeared enclosures for prisoners and the miscellany of cafes, moving contractors huts, officers' quarters and barracks that made up a great war centre.

When the armistice was signed 12 Kantara's stores included quantities of every appurtenance of war. Its [illegible] Contractors rushed in and secured great bargains gradually the vast accumulation melted, until recently the Disposals Board finished it up, and the site was handed over to the Egyptian Labor Corps—a deindustrial, empty hulk.

Mrs. Edmonds Makes Gain Of Fifteen Pounds

"I Honestly Believe Tanlac Saved Her Life," Declares Husband in Remarkable Statement Praising Master Medicine.

"The way Tanlac has restored my wife's health and built her up makes me one of the happiest men in Canada," said Wm. A. Edmonds, 239 King Edward st., Winnipeg.

"Two years ago her health began failing and she suffered terribly from indigestion gas on the stomach and heart palpitation. Her head would back pained her continually and she had nervous spells when she would shake like a leaf. Finally her strength left her entirely and she was confined to bed for three solid days.

"Everything possible was done for her and almost as a last resort, I had her begin Tanlac. After taking it awhile she began to improve, and today her health is fully restored. She has built up splendidly in health, has also gained fifteen pounds in weight. I honestly believe Tanlac saved her life, and I am more than grateful."

America Spends Almost as Much on Cosmetics as on Education

"The American people spend annually $750,000,000 for face powder, cosmetics and preparations and $1,000,000,000 for education," that is, the latter is figured on the basis of the amount America spends annually for face powder and other cosmetics. It is almost as much as she spends for her entire education system. Looks as if America thought about as much of the outside of her head as of the inside. And as a matter of astonishing fact, the amount actually spent by America for face paint annually exceeds all she pays for the salaries of the teachers of all the high schools in the country to get something into the heads of pupils in between times while they are getting the paint on the surface.

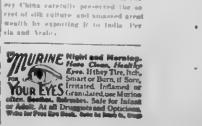
Which embodies an enormous pine apple—some nine or ten feet high, with a fringe of huge, strong leaves at the top—has the reputation of being able to crush the life out of a human being—the leaves closing on him like the tentacles of a huge body.

The "telegraph plant"—a native of India—has tremendous electrical power. Each leaf is composed of three leaflets, the largest of which stretches out to the sun during the day, but closes at night, while the two smaller ones move in curious round and round, by means of jerking motions.

Severe shocks have been experienced by unsuspecting people who have investigated the rhythmic "perpetual motion" of the leaflets, and it is conceivable that, to anyone with a weak heart such shocks might prove fatal.

CORNS

Lift Off with Fingers



Doesn't hurt a bit! Drop a little "Freezone" on an aching corn. Instantly that corn stops hurting, then shortly it "dries up" and you lift it off with fingers. Truly!

Your druggist sells a tiny bottle of "Freezone" for a few cents sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes and the callus bunions, without pain or irritation.

The Wishing Fairy

Pinuse and the Lost Hermit Crab

Last week's story told you of Pinuse's many efforts to lose that an inch of water amongst the rocks between the lake and the sea, and of his great enjoyment in watching the pursuits of Hermit Crabs and other living creatures as it subsided. Each of one particular crab that having lost his shell (Pinuse mistakes supply having taken it away) was hurrying around trying to find another one through theft or murder or any way possible.

Have you ever been among the rocks when the tide was going out and watched the tiny creatures left there by the receding sea. I have learned what great fun it is.

I have played for hours on the beach, until the morning tide has sent me home and have been held prisoner by the rocks by the incoming tide and regained my freedom by swimming. Sometimes I have had a good time and sometimes not quite so good.

In the pool where Pinuse lived I have spent many happy hours. I even fixed up caves and playing caves in it, and I used to shut all of them would reach a certain point first. Reply Of Russia Considered As Basis For Further Negotiations

Alberta's Natural Resources Question

Edmonton—Alberta's campaign for the recovery and control of its natural resources will be continued along lines to be submitted at once to the Executive Council of Provincial Government, with the chances in favor of this province having to seek terms on a somewhat different basis from the other prairie provinces because the situation is different in the case of Alberta from that in either Saskatchewan or Manitoba, whether or not any definite settlement of the question can be put through the Dominion House at the present session is not yet certain, but at the moment the prospects in that direction are not as bright as might be desired.

Population Possibilities

Only 2', People Per Square Mile in Canada

The United Kingdom has 234 people to the square mile. Canada has two and a half. The average for the Empire is a little less than six per square mile.

Outside of the United Kingdom, New Zealand shows the most dense population with 11.7 to the square mile. Canada has had even half the density of population which New England has it would give her 10,000,000 more Australia would have 16,000,000. The possibilities of increased population tend to show that even though the centres of population and influence will shift from outside Great Britain to some of her overseas dominions.—From the Farmers' Sun.

Toronto Woman Gives Credit to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Toronto Ontario.—"I suffered with irregular periods, was weak and run down, could not eat and had headaches. The worst symptoms were dragging down pains so bad sometimes thought would go crazy. tried I seemed to be doing nothing. I was in this condition for two or three years and could not work. I tried all kinds of medicines and had been treated by physicians but received no benefit. Finally one of your booklets was left inclosed to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I received the best results from it and now I have been able to get to work and am like a new woman. I have recommended your Vegetable Compound to my friends and if those facts will help some poor woman, use them as you please.—Mrs. J. F. Pryor, 267, King St., West, Toronto, Ontario.

Various forms of female weakness many times make work almost impossible. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been made of woman over these troubles.

How Colonel Saved Seemingly Hopeless Situation at Valcartier

"Someone has tampered with the water supply," "We have no water supply, and four thousand men are arriving tomorrow."

This was the message brought to headquarters at five o'clock in the afternoon of one of those strenuous days that marking the building of Valcartier camp in August, 1914.

The situation seemed hopeless. There was an opportunity to get the stolen portion of the pumps under a delay of three days. Headquarters went to bed that night face to face with a water famine, and thousands of troops due to arrive in the next few hours.

When the camp awoke water was flowing freely from all the taps and outlets. That evening saw the river, was a fine engineer, is now city of the city of Quebec.

Col. William McBain, one of the staff had rushed to Quebec city, secured civic authority for the removal at the big fire fighters, and on a special train delivered it to Valcartier and connected it up to the water system while the camp slept.

Just another little reason why Canada was able in so short a time to send a million dollars of real fighters

Oldest Tree in England

What is in all probability England's oldest oak tree stands by the Long Water in Hampton Court Park. It is under the special care of the keepers of the park and is said to be a thousand years old. Its trunk, two feet from the ground measures 17 feet in circumference. It is hollow and affords standing room inside for a dozen persons.

Could Hardly Move A Muscle For Ten Days

Winnipeg Man Was In Misery Day And Night From Rheumatism Before He Began Taking Tanlac. Hasn't A Twinge Left.

"When I started taking Tanlac I was almost down and out but now I'm strong enough to do any kind of work," said Joseph A. Hughes, 1316 Magnus Ave., Winnipeg.

"Some time ago I had a severe attack of rheumatism and for ten days I could hardly move, much less get out of bed. When I got up I was so weak and in such pain I just could hobble around. My back hurt continually and my arms and feet ached all the time. I had headaches so bad I could hardly see, could get but little sleep and was in misery day and night.

"But today I am well and strong and it's all due to Tanlac. I haven't an ache or pain in my body, feel fine all the time, while I'm up to 147 pounds in weight. I prize Tanlac above all other medicines."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

Big Game Resources

Hunting Licenses Could be Made Source of Revenue

The comparatively large revenue that could be derived from the big game in the province through the issuing of licenses for hunting is indicated by the large revenue derived annually by the province of New Brunswick which has only a small portion of the big game that is found in Alberta. R. C. W. Lett, colonization agent of the Canadian Pacific Railway, recently received a statement from that province which shows that the revenue derived from issuing the shooting licenses in that province last year was $60 000 for big game alone. In all 12 115 big game licenses were issued, of this number 553 were issued to people from outside of the province. It is estimated that the game hunters that came to the province of New Brunswick to shoot big game spent $150,000.

In Alberta there is much more game, both in number and variety than New Brunswick ever had, and a source of revenue the big game had been practically overlooked.

Lady Astor Delivers A Notable Address At Meeting Held In Ottawa

Ottawa.—In all respects the most brilliant event of its kind there has been in Ottawa in a long time was the meeting here addressed by Lady Astor, first woman member of the British Parliament. Apart from Lady Astor's address on public questions, the affair took somewhat the form of a reception to the British American woman who has become one of the most prominent of her sex by the world—a reception that was meant to honor her for her distinguished efforts and leadership in public affairs and at the same time to evince to her the warmth of Canadian feeling for her, arising from her kindness and generosity when wounded and sick Canadian soldiers during the war.

The Prime Minister, Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, was chairman at a luncheon at which Lady Astor on behalf of Canada and Canadian Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, leader of the opposition, conveyed to her the gratitude of the capital and the country for her visit, while Hon. Dr. H. H. Beland voiced the esteem and affection in which she is held by French Canadians.

Discussing at the outset her work for Canadian soldiers, Lady Astor said hundreds of English worked as hard as she and hundreds more envied her opportunity. From the part played by Canada women in the war she pointed out the new-found womanhood of the race would remember the debt they owed England for the battle she fought and won at Ypres. She said she herself loved Canada for the sacrifice Canada had made in her turn at Mons for things that Canada held dear.

Declaring that Canadian women in the recent election, as much as in the war at any, she said that English women had a better opportunity for service and all lived up to it. [illegible]

Oriental Problem for Whole of Canada

Victoria.—That the Oriental question is one for the whole of Canada to solve, and that the menace of the Oriental is one for the Dominion and not British Columbia alone, was the assertion of Attorney General A. M. Manson, at a dinner given here by the Advisory Board of the Provincial Retail Merchants' Association. "The Oriental is not possible as a permanent citizen in British Columbia," declared the Attorney-General, who stated that the visit to British Columbia this summer of prominent members of the Federal Cabinet might be instrumental in remedying conditions.

No, not all," he qualified. "Some people in England were disappointing the war and the people who wrote diaries—well, they wrote diaries. Your point England by the people who wrote diaries during the war.

Lady Astor said that women's rights as a force in politics would rob public life of some of its evil, not all, but much of it. Referring to the attitude of Americans to Europe she said that those who said that America was not in the League of Nations did not know, because he belonged to [illegible] Americans were [illegible] that [illegible] when they said it." FOR SERVICE — Canadian National Railways — FOR COMFORT

LETTER FROM HAIL INSURANCE BOARD.

Dear Editor

The newspaper reports of the last annual meeting of the Hail Insurance District, held in Calgary in March last appear in very incorrect impression of the financial condition of the Hail Insurance District the report was to the effect that the Board would have to reduce its liabilities before it could resume business. Another stated that the assets of the district would have to be increased $1,000,000. Both these statements are entirely incorrect and very misleading.

The ability to resume business was never thought of much less discussed, for the very excellent reason that business has not been suspended nor is there any necessity or intention of suspending. The damage by hail in 1921 was almost double the average of the last three years and 50 per cent greater than the previous 18th record made in 1916. In spite of the record breaking amount of losses the Municipal Hail Insurance plan continued without a hitch and is sure to stay.

The actual deficit for last year was $251,152.96. This deficit was paid for out of the surplus of the previous years and will have no effect upon the rate to be set this year. This year's rate will depend on the amount of losses for this year, and on that alone.

I have taken the liberty to write you this letter because some of your readers, on account of the unfavorable impression they had received, might think it was not safe to insure with this year under the municipal plan.

The Board wishes to assure every reader of this paper that the necessary credit for this years' business has already been arranged for, and the Board is better prepared than ever to give their usual fair adjustment of losses and prompt payment of awards. They hope to be able to do even a little better this year than in previous years.

Yours truly,
THE HAIL INSURANCE BOARD
E. H. Malcolm Manager

CLAVSMORE
(From our own Correspondent)

W. D. Williams has sold the Clyde Stallion Sir Capulet to W. M. Steele. This horse has been in the district some time and has always been noted as a sire of prize winning colts.

New Mr. Williams has purchased the Clyde colt Scotland's Maker 253 from John Laing of Black Falls, Alta. This is a remarkably good colt sired by Scotland Major, who was champion at the Edmonton Spring Show in 1921. His dam is Lady Gilchrist who has several championships to her credit. Claymore is to be congratulated on having these two fine sires in the district.

Down in Manitoba the Assiniboine river has flooded over in the farm lands and destroyed thousands of acres of grain. We are glad to say in Alberta and we don't expect to see the Vermilion river flood out the farmers for some time yet.

Political circles at Regina before Dec. 6th, 1921: "Vote for Motherwell and the Wheat Board"

Motherwell in the house at Ottawa on May 12th, 1922: "You have no right to ask the government to create a monopoly. I have always been opposed to a compulsory wheat board."

Motherwell is a member at one of the grand (?) old political parties.

We went to town last week to see "A Little Bit of Luck" put on by the Wainwright Dramatic Club and can tell the world it was a pretty good show. Mr. W. Washburn as Betty gave a remarkable presentation and in the full scene especially her acting was really ludicrous. W. J. Hunting as Col. Harrington took his part to perfection and "I am blowed" if P. G. Cross as Johnny has ever deserving of equal praise. Miss M. Hunter as Marie the Indian girl was easy to perform and we can blame Lizzy in Hafferty or any other Irishman for telling in love with her. Altogether we consider Mr. Dunsmore to be to be congratulated on having such talented talent to help with his first production. And we can assure you that hearing Mrs. Dunsmore sing solos was by no means the least of our entertainment that evening.

We never did believe in sending an old time politician to represent the Progressives in parliament and since the hour the Hon. Geo. has pulled in regard to the Agriculture fairs we are confirmed in our belief.

Excellent Entertainment By Kindergarteners

A Picnic Troupe of which the actors ranged from three to nine ots made a most excellent entertainment on Thursday last week, under the direction of Mrs. Sedlington. The children were entirely unselfconscious, and seemed thoroughly to enjoy themselves. The songs and recitations were admirably rendered and the whole scene was extremely effective and pay. The energy of the drilling and dancing was especially commendable. It would be invidious to pick out any particular Pierrot or Pierrette for any special performance where all were so good that each such or must necessarily have remembered her child the best but from an outsider's point of view perhaps a special bouquet might be handed on the conspicuous member of the troupe who actually performed Master Jim Walker. The middle-aged heart of the reporter went positively pit-a-pat at his encoring of the graceful and petite Miss Gilbert, Mrs. Walker and the Rev. H.A. Edwards made the only grown up items in the entertainment and were thoroughly enjoyed. The evening ended with the children in some charming tableaux which seemed that it is possible for kindergarteners at least to keep absolutely and entirely still. Mrs. Dadington is to be greatly congratulated as a teacher.

"Judge I don't know what to do like!"
"I swore to tell the truth."
"Well!"
"But every time I try to tell it some lawyer objects."

Play A Big Success
Wainwright Amateur Troupe Play To Large Vermilion Audience

A Little Bit o' Luck" Was the title of a three act drama presented at the Colonial Theatre last Friday evening by the Wainwright Dramatic Club under the direction of R. G. Dunsmore the author of the play, and a former resident of Vermilion but who now resides in Wainwright. The story of the play runs between Edmonton and the Peace River country. Jack Wright resides on Col Harrington of the Royal Mounted and in the great education relative leaves for England after the war and settles in the Peace River country in order to live in the unbounded open and more particularly to get away from an "arranged" marriage with the Colonel's ward the proposed of which was to unite the property with Harrington's. Jack meets Betty Fraser in the same land district, her whole marriage is kept secret especially from Jack puts up at an Edmonton hotel where he runs into one of the most unsavoury characters in the province and is found murdered. Jack returns to Peace River and is followed closely by Betty and Colonel and his secretary. The peace river investigation of the murder leads to an unusual trial for the hotel keeper in connection being a little found in the room. Jack and Betty had previously met on the train and Betty had given Jack a box with Lucy Hafferty (Clark's fellow laborer) to pass Betty's intended while the latter is in the Jack's opposed housekeeper Larry meanwhile is shot by a rattlesnake and carried back to health by an Indian girl. Jack is the brother of her type Marie defends him the mystery of the shooting and the description of the man who set him with that of the one to whom Jack reported the knife which figured in the murder case. The play led to a

Watch Your Brain

Take care of your brain. It is the most wonderful part of your body, and yet you take more care of every other organ. You exercise your limbs. You develop your muscles. You worry about your business. But you seldom bother about your brain. For example, you allow poisonous thoughts to enter it, as if the brain could thrive on poison. You would die rather than swallow a plot of cholera germs, but you permit deadly thoughts to injure the beautiful mechanism of your brain. COULDN'T DO HOUSEWORK. HEART WAS SO BAD

Nature intended women to be strong, healthy and happy instead of sick and suffering. But how can a woman be strong when she has to drag herself around day after day with a bad back, dizzy spells, headaches, nervousness and sleepless nights? Such women become downhearted and are sure they are sick and serious. Backache, dizziness and that tired feeling are quite natural symptoms of female weakness.

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS are the best remedy to use as they act on the heart and nerves and bring the weakness right to the root.

Mrs. David Bergeron, Lonsdale, N.S., writes:—"As I was troubled with a weak heart for months, even years, I am writing to tell you what your great remedy, Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, has done for me.

"My heart was so bad at night I could not sleep, I would take smothering spells and was so weak I could not do my housework. I tried two doctors but got no relief. I noticed an advertisement in the paper about Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and sent for a box. Before I had taken them I felt much better. I continued taking them and now I am strong and well. I recommend Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills to all weak women."

When thinking of Scotch we are very apt to make mistakes. We model Scotch whisky on the light and delicate Irish product. Scotch is a full-bodied liquor and is two thirds heavier than Irish and contains twice the amount of fat. It ripens and mellows with phenomenal slowness. Ordinary Scotch whisky is not fit to drink under seven years. Many brands are not at their best until they are fifteen years old. Buchanan's Black & White Scotch is a blend of the finest Scotch whiskies, each of which has been matured for at least seven years in wood. Buchanan's Black & White Scotch is a perfect whisky. Its age is guaranteed.

"Fingerprints" of a Cow's Nose

New Method of Identification of the Bovine Family

According to a statement issued by the Minister of Agriculture, Hon. Mr. Motherwell, "Fingerprints" of cows have been used by William F. Peterson, superintendent of the official testing herds of the State, and moose prints are as infallible as fingerprints, and that every registered cow should be so registered. The chairman of the International Association of Identification and editor of the Police Journal, published in Chicago, in connection with favorable comment on Mr. Peterson's method, says:

"I have come to the conclusion that every cow's nose print is unique. I have compared the nose prints of a number of cows and found no two alike, even in the case of twins. Each print is as distinctive as the human finger print. I have also compared prints taken from the same cow at different times, and find that they are identical. I am convinced that the cow's nose print will be found to be a most valuable means of identification."

GREAT DAY OF SPORT ASSURED

Big Entry List In For All Events

As the day of the Vermilion Athletic Association sports (June 7) approaches, the committee of their success becomes more and more a reality and everyone who visits the town on that date can rest assured that they will witness one of the best days of sport ever put on in the town. Reports from all committees are of a most optimistic nature and show nothing has been left undone to make the day a round of thorough enjoyment for everyone.

President Carlson is confident that the entries will overshadow all previous records and Secretary Brimacombe has received entries both from baseball tournament and football from all the leading teams along the line and outside districts. While well contested and part of the athletic events are drawing contestants from a wider field on this occasion and three especially for Vermilion's Marathon—"Mayor Morrison's Cup"—are in from the exhibition here of luminous. The cup goes to Walmright last sports day, but locals are training hard so that the trophy may be retained at Vermilion.

Junior Baseball and Girls Basketball tournaments are also on the list. The Citizen's Band will furnish music for the day and a big old-time dance is billed for the evening in the Albert Hall. Refreshment booth on the grounds all day.

Draws for the various tournaments are to be made at 9 a.m. and play commences immediately thereafter. The athletic events start at 2 o'clock sharp. Don't fail to come into town on Wednesday next, June 7th for the time of your life.

Hon. George Hoadley, minister of agriculture for Alberta will introduce a resolution on the demonstration farm question in this province. He believes farmers should gather on their own farms as much as their local supply as possible and rent out the rest to neighbors who they already have positive their own fruit. Legislatures will be introduced along with small fruits to be grown on the farms.

GRAND STAMPEDE TO BE HELD IN BUFFALO COULEE

Elaborate Preparations Made For This Event—Scheduled For June 14th

Manville, May 26.—Plans are now announced for holding of a stamp pede in Buffalo Coulee eight miles south of Manville. In the past the people from Manville have had to go to Lone Rock Creek to see a stamp ede but this year there will be one at home. There is to be a big prize list and cowboys from all over the province are expected to compete. There will be horse races, bucking contests, roping steers, etc. A free tent is being made and everything is being done to make the affair in excellent shape for the stampede on June 14th.

CLAYSMORE
(From our own Correspondent)

Mr. Gatewell from the University of Alberta gave a very interesting and instructive lecture on Evolution, at Claysmore last Friday evening.

Mr and Mrs. G. C. Dunsmore and family in company with F. F. Lowe and Carman, motored to Wainwright last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Dunsmore of Keeyaus, Man. who have spent the past winter with R.G. Dunsmore at Wainwright are now visiting Mr. and Mrs G. C. Dunsmore at the homestead at Claysmore.

Fieldings tariff reductions are not intended to benefit the western farmer but to catch votes in the East. Fielding has taken his first step out of political life to our guess.

The way President Beattie of the C. F. P. talks about rate reductions it is evident that he still considers the C. F. P. owns the government. We think he knows what he is talking about.

We object to a woman being called a "skirt." This is too much of an observation these days.

ROYAL YEAST CAKES

It was known many years ago that yeast is an excellent thing for the many ills that result from disordered stomach or run-down blood condition. Lately eminent scientists have been investigating the matter thoroughly and their conclusions point to the fact that the beneficial effect of yeast has not been overrated. The yeast treatment is very simple and economical - and altogether harmless.

Before each meal eat a Royal Yeast Cake, or take a cake dissolved in water or fruit juices. The scientific investigators say that the curative elements in Royal Yeast are the vitamines and nuclein which it contains. It is certainly well worth a fair trial by those who suffer from any of the ailments mentioned above.

"APPEARANCES OR REALITIES. WHICH?"

(By Melbourne I. Johnson)

It may be a religion, and yet only possess the form and outward show, which attended the ancient worship of the Greek and Roman gods, but according to the life teachings of Jesus Christ Christianity or the new Divine way, is something infinitely more than rites and ceremonies. In the individual life it may be said to be a substantial, simplified principle which seek admission into our whole being, either to mind and soul or neverness of the and that more abundantly.

The one question which presents itself to us upon the threshold of that which is deep and the strength of our moral character and next to it the question of personal purity. The church of to-day is certainly in the throes of a moral crisis. Appearances or Realities, Which?

We, also, are prone to that fastery, the reason for which is a failure to realize it. Lacking the inherited ability or the acquisitive and spiritual nature of the individual and universal instinct which has led men toward God in worship has given place to fashion and a love for pleasure, until to-day, until worship is compellingly one that admires the beautiful in nature and man rather than the Creator of both. Kitchen worship is supplanted by the drawing room and the Sabbath day is spent in the automobile or on the golf links. Where is the worship of God? Where is the love for Him? Where is the desire to exalt Him? Where is the desire to exalt Him? Where is the desire to exalt

Nervous Breakdown

The extreme depression and discouragement which comes over one at times is the most alarming symptom of nervous exhaustion.

This letter is a message of hope to all who find themselves in this unfortunate condition.

Mrs Geo. T. Trigley, Albert, N.B. —

A friend visited me one of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and really wonder at the good healing it has done before I had used two boxes I felt much better and after I had used four boxes I was entirely cured. I was quite run down in health, had no appetite, was nervous and could not sleep. I am pleased to recommend Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to all who suffer as I do.

The WISHING FAIRY Carnine

Stella Tells Her Brownies a Story.

ELL, as a make believe story-fairy, dear," female begged the Wishing Fairy one day when she and the three Brownies were grouped around her in the warm sunshine, and make it be true.

"What shall it be about?" she asked with a smile

"Oh, tell about a mermaid Fairy—Anything you know to think of. A black swan." Which for some unexplained reason had the first thing that popped into his mind.

"Very, well," laughed Stella, at the same time thinking hard. "A black swan it shall be—mermaids, or rather, two of them.

There was a long pause, while the little Fairy collected her thoughts and the four Brownies wriggled around and arranged themselves in comfortable positions. At last she began

"Once upon a time," she said, "there lived a very wicked Prince in an enormous castle which was completely surrounded by a moat.

"What's a moat?" interrupted Brownie Bill.

"A deep water filled ditch. It encircled the castle cutting it off from the mainland. A drawbridge was let down from the gate of the castle when ever anyone wished to leave or enter it. In order that no one could escape, the wicked Prince had the drawbridge drawn every night. Lonesome? Oh! you should say Humph. Well to get back to the story. The Prince was so wicked that was in consequence had a wife. The Princess Fay who was just as bad as he which is saying a lot.

Goodness exclaimed Kitty-cat. How were they bad? What did they do?

There was nothing in it, was not whatever they wouldn't do. Starts observed Jack. And, well, I suppose, Fairy, from nothing, were they? Well the castle Princess Fay would show all kindness and hospitality and give hospitality of food and drink and when the unsuspecting and grateful guest was asleep Father Cat in the middle of the night would fall and rob him and thank his lucky in a deep sleep.

"One day an old man, lean and worn, who had ridden for many miles by horse to the castle. They both offered him every kindness, and he thanked them and told them that his ass contained the most wonderful thing in the world. He also added that to the one receiving he would reveal them in a way they did not expect. They planned at one another as to which of them would be receiving for him, and left him for the night. After several hours, when they felt sure he was sound asleep they crept into his room and

Seed Oats from Alberta

Half a Million Bushels of Seed Oats Shipped from Alberta During Past Year

The sales of northern grown seeds has long been known to seedsmen, and is gradually coming home to farmers generally. This is shown by the growing demand for seed grains from the prairie provinces for use elsewhere. It has just been announced by officials of the Dominion Seed Branch that about half a million bushels of seed oats were shipped out of Alberta during the past year. The Provincial Department of Agriculture is planning an extensive campaign for the encouragement of seed produc tion

Peace Between North And South Ireland Is Still Distant

Dublin Although Eamonn de Valera in a statement to the press expressed a desire for peace with Ulster, he made it plain that his views still relied on home to resist interference from the Orange side. Hopes for accommodation between the north and south would seem to be still far off.

Many Northerners who had been appointed delegates to the Sinn Fein convention here were arrested on trains, but several managed to reach Dublin by roundabout ways.

Army units has not yet been reached, but though there still are differences regarding ultimate control both sides are said to agree in approving of Richard J. Mulcahy as Minister of Defence. It was one of the authors of the peace agreement which is about to be generally discussed at London.

The four courts building is still occupied by the dissidents but the customary guards have been removed. Mr. de Valera has visited the four courts and is endeavoring to persuade Rahbon Bulfin of the opposing sections of the army.

Arthur Griffith and Eamonn J. Duggan, delegates to the conference of Irish treaty, have let Dublin for London in response to the invitation of Winston Spencer Churchill, Secretary of State for the Colonies, for a conference on the treaty.

Mr. Griffith and Mr Duggan were accompanied by Minister of Economics J. McGuinne and Legal Advisor Kennedy.

Mr O'Higgins told the newspaper men that Griffith would go to London later if necessary.

Cardinal Logue, primate of all Ireland, made an appeal in an unmistakable from a confirmation at Ardara, accompanied by archbishop O'Donnell and other bishops. It was learned that a private individual was financing the cardinal's expedition. Lord Monaghan speaking of the serious position of British aviation said the end of 1922 would find the French with 226 squadrons compared with British 12.

Estimates Passed Without Debate Ottawa Practically without debate the estimates totaling $11,000,000 for the maintenance of fisheries, $114,610 for steamboat inspection, $242,000 for immigration service; and $90,000 for the forest shipyard.

Duke of Devonshire is Complimentary to People of Dominion

London The Canadian Club of Great Britain on Empire Day entertained the Duke of Devonshire ex Governor-General of Canada at a luncheon which was attended by several many Canadians and ex-Canadians now residing or visiting in London There were present also Archbishop Harney of the United States, Sir Hamar Greenwood Secretary for Ireland Hon E. Stewart Home Secretary and Col L. C. Amery Parliamentarian Secretary to the Board of Admiralty

The Duke presided in the absence of Hon P. C. Larkin who is in Geneva

Responding to the toast in his honor, the Duke said that even the ten months that had passed since he resumed his residence in England had not robbed him of the optimism acquired in Canada. It was easy enough to talk about Canada's natural resources but the marvellous development of the country was equally due to the character of the people and its institutions.

Serious Position Of British Aviation

France Will Have — 226 Squadrons Against Britain's 12

London Major W. T. Blake, of the Air Force, and Captain Norman Macmillan, who on the death of Sir Ross Smith took over the latter's plan to circumnavigate the world, were entertained at luncheon in London by the Daily News Lord Montagu, of Beaulieu presiding. It was announced that a private individual was financing the cruise expedition. Lord Monaghan speaking of the serious position of British aviation said the end of 1922 would find the French with 226 squadrons compared with British 12

To Discuss Waterway Project

U.S. Notches Canada that it Would Like to Open Negotiations

New York The United States administration has notified Canada that it wishes to open negotiations for the construction of the St. Lawrence-Great Lakes ship it and as soon as possible a Washington correspondent of the Tribune says. The correspondent says he is told that this request has been made and to the Ottawa Government by Sir Auckland Geddes British ambassador in Washington at the request of the Government of Great Britain.

This is the latest step in the efforts of this project so vital to many great lake ports. Work on the Welland Canal which is a canalization of the Welland River between Port Colborne and Thorold, Ont., is now in progress and it is on this section of the waterway that the obstacles to navigation are said to be the most serious. It is expected that the work will be completed by 1925.

Dollar Bond Issue at 98.70

Winnipeg, May 30—At a price of 98.70 the Manitoba government today sold a million dollar bond issue to the Dominion Securities Corporation. The proceeds are to be used to finance the work of the Manitoba Farm Loans Association, which has an overdraft of $405,000 and which has pending approved applications for loans amount ing to $150,000. The issue is in three year, five per cent bonds

The issue of $2,851,000 sold yesterday at the same price to the Dominion Securities Corporation was in three year bonds also, not thirty year bonds as was stated.

The Bluebird Club will hold a Tea and Sale at the home of Mrs J.W.G Morrison on Saturday, June 3rd from 2.30 to 6 o'clock.

JULY 2-8 CHAUTAUQUAS

Dominion Chautauquas will be in Vermilion July 3-4-5-6-7-8. A preliminary meeting of the guarantors was held on Saturday last in the Baptist church at which Mr W. S. Cash was elected President and Mr A. A. Crooks Secretary-Treasurer. There are 78 guarantors who are ready to do all possible to make it a great success. Composed on the business men of Vermilion and farmers of the surrounding district. Three principal committees were at work and Advertising Committee composed of C. K. P. Cooper, M.G. Himsworth, J.H. Bell and J. J. Cuford, the Committee to arrange place for selling tickets A. A. Crooks, H. B. Jones, H.N. Stephens and Rev. J. H. Smith; the Grounds Committee W. H. Wells, W. M. Sloan, J. Tully and J. A. Wherry.

Miss O'Neill the advance organizer was present for the purpose of giving any information required. These chautauquas are noted for one thing is the high standard and educative character of their programs. The Program this year appears to be an exceptional merit in these regards. The season tickets cost for 12 performances are most reasonable and these have within the means of everyone. Adult season tickets are $5.00 and children under 12 $2.00. All the sessions will be held under canvas in a central place in the town. Watch for advertisements and buy tickets from Citizens.

TELLS HOW CATARRH IS DESTROYED QUICKLY

Catarrh sufferers must know that trouble, or can a cure be had? In many instances the medicine fails to relieve. Breathing is difficult due to the fumes and air passages. The mucous membranes and the general system are affected. Whether you have had catarrh for months or years, it is destroyed quickly by the healing, soothing vapors of Catarrhozone. Its breathed through the mouth and nostrils, it reaches every part of the diseased surface. Germs are killed, mucous membranes are healed, and the whole system is built up. Catarrhozone is guaranteed to relieve in ten minutes. Complete outfit, including inhaler, $1.00; smaller size, 50c; sold everywhere or by mail. Catarrhozone, Kingston, Ont.

MEMORIAL TABLET UNVEILED IN BANK OF COMMERCE

A beautiful bronze tablet bearing the names of twelve young men who served in the great war and who enlisted from the branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce at Vermilion, was unveiled on Saturday afternoon in the general offices of the bank, in the presence of a large gathering of citizens. Major Morrison, in his presidential address in feeling terms to those of them that had paid the supreme sacrifice. They were young men who had life before them, but the call roused them sounding for the defence of their native country. It would be only a few short years until those who had actively and passively to do with the great war would have passed away. It was then the duty to see that the sacrifices of those boys must not be forgotten

R. A. Parrish Organizes Section Of Good Roads Association

The town of Vermilion is supporting the good roads movement in Alberta enthusiastically. R. A. Parrish visited Vermilion Friday night for the purpose of organizing a section and at a small but enthusiastic meeting, held under the auspices of the board of trade it was decided by unanimous vote to form a section of the Edmonton Automobile and Good Roads Association. Every citizen present joined. There are sixteen members in the new section at present and it is expected that this will be soon doubled. Dr. Lloyd came from the south; he addressed the meeting in the afternoon. Officers were elected as follows: President Dr. F. Du Smith, 1st vice-president F. C. Lane, 2nd vice-president Wm. Stobbs, secretary-treasurer Major Morrison, chairman membership committee, A. E. Kaiser, membership committee J. A. Kilpatrick and Harold Stone.

Exceptional Opportunity Offered for Visiting Pacific Coast

The Canadian National Railways are arranging a personally conducted tour from Winnipeg to the Pacific Coast, leaving Winnipeg on June 30th, at 11:30 p.m., the train will connect with a G.T.P. steamer, from Prince Rupert on July 6th. Stops will be made at the following points: Fort Fraser, Prince George, Kamloops, Mount Watts, Edmonton Jasper, Mt. Robson, Prince George, Kitwanga, Terrace, Prince Rupert, Vancouver, Victoria and Seattle. There will be made available a choice of routes for the return trip. Let us get in touch with you at once. The Canadian National Railways, or any Passenger Agent, will be glad to give you any information you may require with regard to this tour. Tickets are made to Winnipeg and return. The arrangements make a delightful trip, and will be carried out in the most comfort and the most economical manner.

At the Railway Crossing

Trains Get You Going, Coming and Standing Still

Railroad crossings are places where automobile drivers turn around and visit with the people on the back seat. They frequently become good misers by this process. Sometimes it is hard to distinguish one from another after the train has gone by. The driver is always easy to pick out. He is the one with his face turned away from the railroad track.

Most people are of the opinion that the railway causes the railroad trucks. That is not so. The railroad track always crosses the high way. Some railroad trucks run four abreast. Their percentage of hits is higher than the single-track variety. It gets them three ways—going, coming and standing still.

Aviator Establishes Endurance Record

Flew from London to Paris Twice in One Day

Captain E. D. C. Horne who is piloting one of the new D.H. 21 "ex" passes on the London Paris airway succeeded in establishing a new endurance record in commercial aviation. Leaving the London air station at 7 o'clock on Thursday morning Captain Horne flew to Paris in 3.22 minutes. After half an hour's rest he flies back to London arriving there at 11.51 — performing a hattrick, then he was in the air again and in the same machine at 12.45 p.m. and alighted at Paris at 2.58 p.m. spending only 22 minutes on the ground at Paris he returned to London at 5.10 p.m.

Within 11 hours Captain Horne piloted the same aeroplane 1,000 miles (in flying time being 5 hours 32 minutes). It is the first time that one pilot has flown to Paris and back twice in the same day.

The previous best performance was that of Captain Jacques de Sesmaisons on the day in the French Grand Prix in 1920 flew from London to Paris in the morning back to London again after luncheon and then back to Paris once more before dark.

Where Settlers Come From

A statement compiled by the Department of Immigration and Colonization shows that for the month of April 2,248 Immigrants entered Canada from the United States and 2,750 from other sources. Of the settlers from the United States, the state of Michigan contributed the largest number, were from Arizona and North Carolina, with one each.

Says Empire Must Retain Sea Power

Lord Lee Gives His Opinion on Maintaining Navy

A number of prominent people have sent messages to the special June number of the Empire Mail. Lord Lee, First Lord of the Admiralty, has a message saying that in these days of financial pains and economy we must see that it is well to remember the unchanging fact that the security of trade and commerce the safeguarding of food supplies and the very existence of the empire are dependent on the maintenance of sea power and an adequate and efficient navy.

Horticulturists Organize

The Canadian Council of Horticulture has been organized as a result of a meeting held at Ottawa. The council will afford representation for fruit growers, vegetable growers, wholesale fruit and vegetable dealers, florists, gardeners, jam manufacturers and others generally interested in fruits and vegetable production. The first president is Colonel H. L. Roberts, of Grimsby, Ontario, and the secretary-treasurer is L. F. Burrows, Assistant Fruit Commissioner, Ottawa.

Millions Ready for U.S. Interest

British Preparing to Meet Payment Due in Autumn

The Government has completed arrangements to pay during the coming autumn, interest amounting to $125,000,000 on the British debt to the United State. It has not yet been decided whether a special mission will be sent to Washington to discuss the debt with the U.S. Government.

It is stated in British quarters that the feeling in the United States to be directed to favor the negotiations for the funding of the allied debts being somewhat with favor. Britain first, the being the principal debtor. A credit this would be applied for sub-sequent negotiations with other countries.

Appetite Good, Gained 20 lbs.

Could Not Feel Better

From a nervous wreck the man was restored to health, strength and happiness.

He tells his own story in this letter

Mr. Ralph A. Roberts, Loverna, Sask., writes:

In 1927 I had lost all appetite, lacked 25 pounds in weight, became very nervous and shaky and in fact given up all hope of recovery. For some time I had suffered from stomach trouble, but kept getting worse until I was fast becoming a total wreck. Doctors and their drugs were useless and I was given up at age of 37.

Then I read about people being restored by Dr. Chase's Medicines and after five months' use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and Kidney-Liver Pills I found myself restored to normal in every respect and the gain in weight was over 20 pounds. I am now in the best health I have ever enjoyed and cannot say enough in praise of Dr. Chase's Medicines. I feel I owe my restoration to health entirely to them and would be glad to answer any enquiries. Don't send to me personally, but write Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Co., Toronto, Ont., and mention the name of this publication in your letter, and they will be glad to answer your enquiries. Don't send to me personally, but write Dr. A. W. PAINS IN BACK AND SIDES

Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Lindsay, Ontario.—"I used to have very bad backache and often was not able to do my work. I tried many medicines before I began to take yours. I now take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as advertised in the 'Toronto Globe' and find it the best medicine I have ever taken. I have told many friends how I cured my backache and they have also taken it and found relief. You may use my name if you like."—Ernestine Cronin, 37 St. Paul St., Lindsay, Ontario.

To do any kind of work—and you know there is much to be done—is next to impossible if you are suffering from some form of female trouble. If you cannot keep at work or have a pain in your side it may make you nervous and irritable. You may be able to keep up and around but you do not feel good.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a medicine for women. It is especially adapted to relieve the pain, backache, and nervous irritability from which so many women suffer, and restore them to normal health.

BASEBALL TOURNEY

The main feature of the day's programme was the baseball tournament in which Minburn took first money. Two of the teams that signalled their intention of entering the contest failed to put in an appearance. Six teams entered the tournament, Islay, Wainwright, Innisfree, Minburn, Vermilion and Irricana. Vermilion and Minburn took the field on the first evening, the former proved to be a strong and exciting contest as Vermilion had developed a fast traveling aggregation in senior ball. Ogle, Noble, Minburn's working twirler, after getting signed for the Vermilion ballyard on rural duty, is trying his favorite fadeaway and wild pitching proclivities on the Vermilion players, to the tune total nine runs and seven hits.

In honor of Miss Peggy Watson, a bride to be of this month, a miscellaneous shower was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. I. Winters on Tuesday evening by Miss M. Oakley and Miss V. Winters. The guests included the ex members and members of the Girls' Club, namely Mesdames H. P. Long S. Loughlin, A. West, S. Bair, G. Anderson, Misses Dandy, Lipsett, Hughes, Dick, Larson, Witherbee, Putman, Shea, Douglas, Lee, Oakley, Fraser, Glanville.

The living and dining rooms were a profusion of cut flowers. A miniature bride adorned the side table while the tea table was centred with a beautiful silver basket of snapdragons and fern. After the guests had arrived little Claire West dressed as a bride wheeled into the living room a white wagon filled with gifts and covered with flowers which she presented to the bride-to-be, saying in her own inimitable way, "These gifts are for you." After the gifts had been duly admired and the original verses and good wishes accompanying each read, a delightful half hour was spent in helpful suggestions from the ex members. Lunch was then served. Mrs. Oakley pouring the tea and Mrs. Lipsey cutting the ices. The Misses Oakley, Dandy, Oakley and Winters serving. After enjoying a delicious lunch all joined hands and sang "She's a Jolly Good Fellow" then left showering the bride-to-be with good wishes.

VERMILION PLOWING MATCH

Exceptionally Large Number of Contestants

The third annual plowing match held under the auspices of the Vermilion Agricultural association took place Wednesday last on the grounds of the government demonstration farm and was attended by a large gathering of interested spectators. The entry list comprised some fifteen competitors drawn from all parts of the district, showing that the matches are becoming an attractive feature of the interests of the association. The judging was by Prof. Smith Mesdemont of the University of Alberta who is regarded through western Canada as an expert authority on plowing. His markings were close and he left nothing undone to see that each competitor received every point he earned, nothing more and nothing less. The results as announced by him after the close of the match were as follows:

Class 1—Walking plows, 14 inch: 1, Peter McCallum, 73.5; 2, W. H. Will Bros. 72.5; 3, C. Cooper, 71

Class 2—Sulky plows, 16 inch: 1, J. A. Johnstone, 74.5; 2, A. Sherman Cook, 72; 3, A. Lewis, 66

Class 3—Gang plows, 16 inch: 1, John Nazerchuk 86; 2, A. Wharry, 84; 3, Thomas Bird, 77.5; 4, H. Reid, 75.5; 5, C. Sherwin, 73

Class 4—Tractor: 1, A. Pitchbeck; 2, J. J. Hines, 78.5

Best Team: 1, J. Nazerchuk with Gale, pupil; 2, A. Pitchbeck, tractor; 3, C. Barr, team; 4, A. Reynolds, 6 yoke oxen

Best Finish: 1, A. Wharry, team; 2, H. Jupp, team; and A. Pitchbeck, tractor, tied

Complimentary Winners

After the decisions were given, Prof. Smith Mesdemont addressed the gathering on spring plowing. He dealt on such matters as showing where they made mistakes and where they did work creditably. He spoke also on correction on the part of the farmers who needed to improve. It was our privilege to hear Mr. Smith comment on the work done in Vermilion and if we thought we could add a thing over that. The speaker remarked that it was one of the best matches that he had ever seen and that the work done was of a very high order. He said that he was pleased to see that the district was so well represented by such a large number of competitors and that the interest was so keen. He also remarked that the work done in the district was of a very high order and that the competitors were to be congratulated on the showing they had made. He said that he was pleased to see that the human element behind the plows that counted. In other words straight, he said and you will soon learn to do everything else straight. The man who is sloppy in his methods is very apt to be sloppy and careless about everything on his farm. The good plowman marked the successful farmer. This was the first year he said, that the government officially recognized those plowing matches and from now on he saw no reason why the art of good plowing should not be developed all over the province. He sincerely urged the use of 'shimmers.' He regretted that the use of 'sis marrels' device was not more common than it is. He also regretted that there were no boys in the different contests but was assured that they would be found on the list next year. In closing remarked that competitors had very fair and gave no partiality. The continuance of this [illegible] for the district good [illegible] and good ploughmen should [illegible] and this is what was wanted [illegible] as the province.

Secures Bull From Record Making Stock

J. D. Sanborn, Poplar Grove Dairy Farm, recently paid a visit to the Government Demonstration Farm, Stony Plain and looked over the noted herd of Holsteins where records have recently been made that gives them the premier position of the Western provinces. While there he purchased a herd sire, a 13 months old calf, Alcesta Vrouhn Ring 49914. This bull combines strong character, vigorous constitution and good quality with rich breeding. His sire is leaving some valuable calves at the farm; his grandsire sold for $6,000.00 and his dam has just completed a year's milking record with 12,261.8 pounds of milk and nearly 1000 pounds of butter—and a seven day record of 560.4 lbs. milk, 27.23 lbs. butter. The editor had th pleasure of inspecting this splendid animal upon its arrival here and Mr. Sanborn is to be congratulated on his enterprise in bringing such good stock into the district.

U.F.A. PRESIDENT ADDRESSED BIG MEETING

The public meeting addressed by H. W. Wood, president of the United Farmers of Alberta, in the Columbia Theatre Monday, was evening well attended and very appreciative shown the speaker. Jos. Woodruff, Vermilion, presided. Mr. Wood first dealt with the question of the wheat board. They had asked no one (evidently the Dominion government) but we do not get one cent from the federal parliament we will try and get it from the provincial governments. The speaker then went on to deal with the price of grain, stating the primary reason why we were not getting full value for our wheat was the weakness in our marketing system. No one however, could say what the real value of a bushel of wheat was. The law of supply and demand, he said, did not enter into the matter, never did and never would for the reason that the world's supply of wheat and the demand for its consumption remained practically stationary. The great trouble now is that we throw wheat on the market when the demand for it has not developed. When a nation is forced to buy it will give its own price not yours and this is the cause of the drop as soon after our harvest starts. The speaker quoted at length statistics relative to the world's supply and related the effects on the harvester north and south of the equator. From this he discussed the system of selling at the time reason for the slump the system of marketing which prevailed. It was when the price had reached "the bottom of the coulee" that most of our wheat was sold and when the pressure was over the price took an upward trend. He said that if there had been a national system of marketing such as could be controlled by a wheat board a series of ten cents a bushel could have been made on the year's crop which would have meant 25 million dollars placed in to the channels of trade throughout the country. It was simply the case of getting on a wheat until it was needed by the importing nations when they would have to come to us and pay the price we asked but what they would offer. In this and in all he was only urged that the farmers of Alberta should not be intelligent on the marketing of their grain. At Ottawa they appeared to be opposed to a wheat board because the east believed there must be something wrong with anything that the west insisted on getting and again that we are disturbing a well established system of trade. He reiterated that we must have a different system if we are to get full compensation from our agricultural products. If we cannot get a Wheat Board from Ottawa we must from our provincial governments and it must be a permanent board with men appointed by it who are not yet a year or two. He said that as an illustration the Railway Board was an example of duly constituted body. The late Sir Mather was an enterprising man for Sir Carroll was the first Minister of the D. P. R. but he had a monopoly of the coal business. Mr. Mather was an enterprising man and asked by a friend in the east to see as to the coming price of coal. He did so and the Minister of the D. P. R. told him that he would not be interested. Mr. Mather was not discouraged with the attitude of the Minister and went to the Railway Board and got the rates for the coal. The Board was an example of duly constituted body. The late Sir Mather was an enterprising man for Sir Carroll was the first Minister of the D. P. R. but he had a monopoly of the coal business

SYNOD SERVICES

Another Synod has come and gone, the Clergy and Lay Delegates have returned to their various parishes. What created the deepest impression upon those assembled for these Synod days; what provided the greatest inspiration? Incidentally the various business sessions created an impression especially to those whose views of the church had been somewhat "Local" They were enabled to see the Church as a whole; they heard its problems discussed and some solutions offered; but for most the Services on Synod Sunday impressed and inspired them in a way that the routine of the Synod were unable to do When men have been united away in some small town or prairie mission with very little of the aesthetic to assist them in their worship and not even the benefit of numbers, it is indeed a privilege to gather in the beautiful Pro-Cathedral meeting with men from every corner of the Diocese in the quiet early celebration and to take one's part in those other services of such beauty and solemnity

Perhaps the outstanding service of the day was the Ordination service at 11:00 a.m. May I briefly describe it. As the strains of the organ broke the silence in the opening bars of the first hymn, the procession, led by the choir and followed by the clergy and catechists, robed, wended its way down the centre aisle of the Pro-Cathedral At the chancel steps the Clergy separated to allow the Bishop and the officiating clergy to pass through to their respective seats within the chancel. The clergy then filed into the front rows of the Nave reserved for them. The service commenced with the Ordination sermon preached by the Rev. A. Cross, L. Th or Lloydminster It was a thoughtful discourse addressed generally to the clergy and more especially to the candidates At the conclusion of the service the candidate for the Diaconate Mr W. Bird and the candidates for the Priesthood the Revs A. W. Ashley H. Berry, A. H. Nash and A. J. Wright were presented to the Bishop by the Venerable Archdeacon McKay The following the Litany and the Ante Communion office which the Bishop read. Those hear searching questions of the candidates concerning their fitness for the sacred work of the ministry and some of the keeping the questions and answers could fail to reveal their real ordination vows and how truly to new them, and as each candidate knelt before the Bishop to receive the Laying on of Hands and his commission as a minister of God, one recalled the great Commission given to the Apostles "Go ye into all the world and preach the Gospel to every creature" The Communion followed, and after the Ordinands had partaken of the Elements, the Bishop by his thought whose created at that most impressionable time what I think will be a lasting impression on the minds of those ordained by inviting them to administer the Elements to the congregation assembled The impressiveness of the service together with the comeliness of the surroundings and the beauty of the music rendered by the choir and organist will long be remembered

The Synod Service in the evening was not lacking in inspiration and the Synod sermon preached by the Rev J. Jones could not fail to outline those who had the privilege of listening to it.

JULY

My, how time flies—July is here again, and what a busy month it is for most people.

We have been busy for weeks, getting stocks ready —preparing for the demand of our customers. It takes a lot of planning and work to buy for so many people, but we've learned from experience just what will give satisfaction to our customers and what they will need and want in July.

We have also planned to help the Housewife with her job of putting up fruit and vegetables, besides her regular cooking duties, not to mention the coaster wagons, tricycles, and other wheel goods to make the children happy and give them lots of outdoor exercise.

These things have been mentioned to show you that we are on the job and that we are prepared to take care of your July needs satisfactorily.

We also want you to know that prices have been kept down as low as possible. We will be glad to have you come in when you can, even though you may not wish to purchase. It won't do a bit of harm to look through our Store. You're welcome any time.

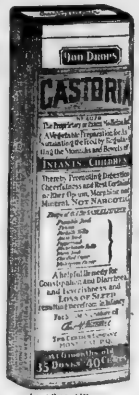
Are You Human?

A little baby. A little child. Don't they appeal to you? Doesn't your heart yearn to pick them up, to cuddle them close to you, to shield them from all harm? sure it does else you're not human. Being human you love them. Their very helplessness makes you reach out in all your strength to aid them. In health there's no fewer so beautiful. In illness there's no night so black.

Save them then. Use every precaution. Take no chance.

When sickness comes, as sickness will, remember it's just a baby, just a child and if the Physician isn't at hand don't try some remedy that you may have around the house for your own use.

Fletcher's Castoria was made especially for babies' ills and you can use it with perfect safety as any doctor will tell you. Keep it in the house.



Children Cry For Fletcher's CASTORIA

A Word About Truth.

"Great is Truth, and mighty above all things." So says the Old Testament, yet it is equally true to-day. Truth shows no favors, fears no enemies.

From the inception of Fletcher's Castoria, Truth has been the watchword, and to the conscientious adherence to this motto in the preparation of Fletcher's Castoria as well as in its advertising is due the secret of its popular demand.

All imitations, all substitutes, all just-as-good preparations lack the element of Truth, lack the righteousness of being, lack all semblance even in the words of those who would deceive.

And you! Mothers, mothers with the fate of the World in your hands, can you be deceived? Certainly not.

Fletcher's Castoria is prepared for Infants and Children. It is distinctly a remedy for the little one. The BABY'S need for a medicine to take the place of Castor Oil, Paregoric and Soothing Syrups was the sole thought that led to its discovery. Never try to correct BABY'S troubles with a medicine that you would use for yourself.

JULY

My, how time flies—July is here again, and what a busy month it is for most people.

We have been busy for weeks, getting stocks ready—preparing for the demand of our customers. It takes a lot of planning and work to buy for so many people, but we've learned from experience just what will give satisfaction to our customers and what they will need and want in July.

We've thought of your home comfort in providing electric Fans, Freezers, Ice Chests, Oil Cookstoves, Screens, Awnings and Hammocks.

We've looked after your camping and vacation needs and we've provided well for the wants of the Motorist, Fisherman and Golfer.

We have also planned to help the Housewife with her job of putting up fruit and vegetables, besides her regular cooking duties, not to mention the country wagons, tricycles, and other wheel goods to make the children happy and give them lots of outdoor exercise.

These things have been mentioned to show you that we are on the job and that we are prepared to take care of your July needs satisfactorily.

We also want you to know that prices have been kept down as low as possible. We will be glad to have you come in when you can, even though you may not wish to purchase. It won't do a bit of harm to look through our Store. You're welcome any time.

U. F. A. DISTRICT CONVENTION

Vermilion, July 6.—The first annual convention of the Vermilion district U. F. A. political organization was held yesterday in the Albert Hall and was attended by about 100 delegates, among whom were a number of ladies. The representatives J. J. Hope president of the association presided. The financial statement for the year was submitted and showed a slight debit. The directors also reported as to their activities during the year. The reports were adopted and the different officials thanked for their services. Considerable time was devoted to a resolution placed before the convention well to stand to the consisting ion under which the association is working. The effect of this resulted a very spirited discussion and which had to do with the enlargement of the basis of delegates to the convention. At present only those members of the U. F. A. who had paid their fees to the political organization were entitled to be named as delegates. The resolution submitted aimed at making every member of the association eligible. The fee to the association had been fixed at $1.00 and this was now limited to 50 cents. He proposed his resolution was referred back to the committee on resolutions two or three hours before it was finally cast into proper shape. It went through by the basis of representation as at present being the fee to U. F. A. which the different locals remit make up in any way it is fixed. A number other matters were made to come from this with the principal one of which was the elimination of the fee of $5.00 per district which is always a large number of delegates to come from the association. The village of Kitscoty pays per year to the association. The vote with respect to the establishment of political funds included an attack on the provincial government because it had appointed a committee to go into the question of the organization of a provincial political party. What was wanted was a non-political organization as a result of which the different locals could make up in any way it desired

DAUGHTER HAD TO HELP MOTHER

How Can Do All Her Housework Alone Because Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her

Jasper, Minn. — "I saw in the paper about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and took it because I was having such pains in my stomach and through my back that I could not do my work. I had tried other medicines, but none did me the good that your Vegetable Compound did. Now I am able to do all my work alone while beter staying at home to do it. I have told a number of friends what it has done for me and give you permission to use my letter as a testimonial."—Mrs. Jessie Peterson, Route 1, Jasper, Minn.

There is no better reason for your trying Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound than this—it has helped other women. So if you suffer from displacements, irregularities, backache, nervousness or are passing through the Change of Life remember this splendid medicine. What it did for Mrs. Peterson it may do for you.

The Vegetable Compound stands upon a foundation of nearly fifty years of service.

Melberta Minutes

Council of M.D of Melberta No. 483 met in the Municipal office, Monday, July 3rd, with all the members present.

Minutes of the preceding meeting were read and approved.

A grant of $100.00 was given to each of the Vermilion and Manville Fairs.

Section 1826-3 having reverted to the Crown, a number of notes against it were cancelled.

It was decided to not take any action in the way of the council protecting itself in the stone-burg foreclosure proceedings.

The Hudson Bay Co., not being willing to take $16.00 per acre for roadway in N.W. 26-50-5, council decided to give them the $22.00 per acre they asked for.

The arrears on S.W. 16-53-7-4, which had accumulated prior to C. Alp filing on it, were cancelled.

Mr. J.N. Rae-Scarlett of Vermilion appeared before the council to see if they would cancel the wild land taxes on S.W. 5, 51-50-7, imposed for the years 1919-20-21. Council did not feel justified in doing so.

The following surveys were asked for: E½ 8-51-7-4; E½ 2-50-8-4; West of 8-51-8-4; Sec. 27-53-8-4, between Secs. 22 & 34-50-8-4; In Sec. 29-50-8-4; change of survey in W½ 14-50-7-4; West of N.W.¼ & S.W.¼ 7-53-7-4; Between Secs. 21 & 22, N.E.¼ & N. W.¼ respectively, 33-7-4; around hill between N.W.¼ sec. 1 and N.E.¼ sec. 2-52-7-4; to take levels of proposed ditch to keep water at present level between secs. 21 & 22-51-7-4.

An additional apportionment of 20 per cent of the current revenue of each division was granted for expenditure on public works, with the exception of Division 1, which was granted 40 per cent.

Pay sheets for $1501.70 and bills for $1045.65 were passed.

A stock by-law was finally drafted and sent to the Minister for approval. The essential features of the by-law are: All domestic animals prohibited from running at large within the municipal district except Horses and mules from Dec. 16th to Nov. 30th; Cattle from May 1st to Oct. 30th and pure bred bulls from July 1st to Sept. 15th.

In the Court of Revision, the following appeals against wild land assessment were allowed: N½ of the N.½ 2-50-8-4, N.W. 7-50-8-4, S.½ 25-50-8-4, which a contract is shown. N.E. 24-50-7-4, S.E. 30-53-8-4, N.W. 22-52-7-4.

Meeting adjourned.

CLAYSMORE
(From our own Correspondent)

Mrs. Getty and son Jimmie from Delia, Alta., are visiting with Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Dunsmore.

Galeric puts one over on Young Canada.—This is a Pooch—One of our prominent young farmers while drawing out stones on his farm found the cross but resisting dull and handling the tool to a fisherman who was passing on his way to town, and whom our friend did not know, told him to get it sharpened at the blacksmiths' Well, to date neither the crow bar or fisherman have been seen in this district. It is rumored that the G.W.V.A. will be asked to investigate.

The Federal Elevator Co have started the erection of a large elevator at Claysmore.

Claysmore school picnic was away below par this year. We are not sure just what was the cause at this, but we are the impression that someone had pulled a bone when the kiddies were changed for their own dressing at their own picnic and paid for by their own district. Now, we don't know who was responsible for this, but we hope that next year someone will use a little more judgment in arranging this picnic.

The U.F.W.A. of Claysmore are going to picnic on July 21st. The U.F.A. voted against the idea for this year, but the ladies being made of sterner stuff, undertook the job themselves.

If you know something good to eat when you get it, go to the Vermilion Hotel

HAY

YOU are advised to cut all hay possible this season in districts where the local market will be only a light crop or no local hay. Prices will be good in Alberta and there will be an excellent market out all the hay you have to sell

WE have been shipping hay for two or three years and we handled immediately after the crop reports. The early market prices here prove the situation of shortage will cause buyers to offer early and the rush of the orders will be earlier than other years. The wise harvest and sell rush will be to remember your attention OUT NOW before you become too busy. Do not let the hay branch, and start well at harvest to three details means— THE PRICE for your hay. We have established market connections and can sell every ton of hay put up within thirty miles of any shipping point on the C.N.R. Get in touch with us

TOTAL NET DEBT OF CANADA NOW $2,397,411,815

Increase of Over $40,000,000 Shown Over June of Last Year

Ottawa, July 7.—The total net debt of Canada on June 30th was $2,397,411,815. This is an increase of $6,791,124 during June and an increase of $40,221,766 since the figures for June 30, 1921 when the net debt stood at $2,248,189,116. The increase during the past month of the present year was small when compared with the increase for June 1921, which were $22,326,167.

The total revenue of the dominion at the end of June was $116,261,781, an increase of nine million dollars over the total revenue at the end of the same month in 1921. The revenue collected during the month of June alone this year was $24,525,463 as compared with $25,107,350 in June 1921. Customs collections show an increase from $27,259,781 at the end of June 1921, to $28,266,622 at the end of last month. During June of U. F. A. Picnic will be held at Lindbrook on the old picnic grounds on the 31st. July. Everybody welcome. A dance will be held in Landon's Hall in the evening.

The picnic for the North Vermilion Church at Campbell Lake, advertised for Thursday, was a great success. The weather was perfect and a record crowd was present. Baseball, tug-o-war, foot races and dancing were among the features which were enjoyed by all especially the children who shouted themselves hoarse in the races. The 100 yard dash was won by Bert Cox, the three legged race by Mrs Cox and Mrs Bell, the sack race by Mrs Lowe and Campbell, the tug-o-war by the latter team. The prizes

Plans to Reduce European Armies

Lord Esher Makes Proposal to Reduce Armies to Reasonable Limits

Plans for the limitation of European armies were submitted to the Disarmament commission of the League of Nations by Lord Esher of England.

Lord Esher's scheme provides that armies be limited to the following figures: France 140000 Poland and Italy 120,000 Great Britain Greece Rumania, Jugo-Slavia, Spain and Czecho-Slovakia, 70,000; and Belgium and Switzerland 50,000.

It is proposed that no apposition army shall exceed one-fourth of the active army of the country concerned, and that no army shall bring the armies of any country up to the strength permitted by the terms of the treaty in less than three years.

The various nations represented on the council of the League of Nations have been invited to express their views on the proposals.

Radio Legislation

Uniformity Regarding Amateur Operators is Sought

With the object of seeking uniformity in the legislation governing the operation of amateur wireless and radio machines telephone officials of the three western provinces are exchanging suggestions preparatory to a conference to be held towards the end of this month. Commissioner John D. Lowry, of the Manitoba department of telephones states:

"It is satisfactory to the Province of Manitoba an outlet to other portions of the province will be undertaken in the near future. My department has taken an option on one of the most modern sets when in Montreal recently.

Powerful Medicine.—The healing properties of Zam-Buk are more concentrated in every bottle of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, forming one of the most beneficial liniments ever offered to the public. Zam-Buk acts instantly as to its power in allaying pain, but it is the healing effect that they owe their health to it. Its wonderful healing is produced by the small pure oil which it sells.

Government Forest Service has Finest Aircraft on Continent

The Ontario Government Forest Service, which has inaugurated at its own expense a special aerial patrol this year, will have in commission the largest and finest aircraft that has yet been seen on this continent. This machine, a Vickers "Viking" amphibian, arrived recently from England. The "Viking" to be used by the Ontario Government is identical with the machine that won first prize of 10,000 pounds sterling in the British Air Ministry tests of September last year. Operations will be centred at Hoodlake, under Captain W. R. Maxwell, who some weeks ago performed a very unique feat of flying in Mount Factory in an aeroplane engine's machine.

It is understood that the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests contemplates making a thorough inventory of the forest resources of the province by means of the most modern method of forest survey. Special aerial cameras will be employed in the work. This will be spread of the laking in 46 lakes. The motor, which is a Rolls-Royce develops 650 horsepower. The range at full speed is 1,000 miles. In 500 miles while at a cruising speed of 90 miles per hour the machine can travel 1,000 miles.

Possibilities Of Commercial Aviation

French Airmen's Average Speed Was 122 Miles an Hour

A feat which foreshadows the wonderful possibilities of commercial aviation has just been accomplished by two French airmen, Lieutenant Batellier and Cartier.

They agreed to race against each other from Paris to Madrid. Both took back by aeroplane, the loser to offer the winner a glass of port.

Lieutenant Cartier won in the six miles hours and 40 minutes, an average speed of eighty to a miles an hour.

Lieutenant Batellier was not much behind. His time was 6 hours 50 minutes, an average speed of 122 miles an hour.

By train the return journey from Madrid to Paris occupies 24 hours.

Drives Asthma Like Magic The immediate help in Dr J D Kellogg's Asthma Remedy seems like magic. Nevertheless it is only a natural result of its direct action on the nerves. Its vapor carries the healing medicine to the inmost recesses of the lungs, breathes aside the trouble and gives relief at once. Dr J D Kellogg's is sold by dealers throughout the land.

Japs Want Canadian Rubber Footwear

Manufacturers Advised a Good Market Awaits Their Products

Japanese buyers are looking to Canada to supply them with rubber footwear for the rainy season. Inquiries have been received by the Department of Trade and Commerce from nearly a score of Japanese import and export firms asking if Canadian manufacturers have any stocks on hand or could manufacture to meet the demand. VERMILION FOOTBALL ELEVEN WIN FROM STELLAVILLE

Score 1 to 0 in Good Game

Maintaining the steady form that has characterized their recent perform ances in football competitions this season Vermilion's select eleven hooked out a well-earned victory last Thursday evening at the athletic grounds at the expense of the fast Stellaville aggregation. The final score was one to nothing. This was the annual meeting of these two old rivals and was a fierce struggle as the score indicates.

As usual a large contingent of football enthusiasts accompanied the invaders to witness the tussle. Both clubs were strengthened by several changes from the teams representing the visitors and the Reds in their former games.

The game, replete with action and featured by the aggressiveness of both teams, was full value for a well-merited win for the Reds, but both sides lost many opportunities of adding to the number of goals. The losers won the toss and the home crew had to play against the sun for the first forty minutes.

Game Opened Quietly

The game left off in mid-field open ed quietly. The weather may have had something to do with this as it was very hot and smothering at this stage in the game. It was not long, however, before it became evident that the spectators were going to see a battle royal and that the Aussies were determined to settle for good the pretensions of the stalwarts from the South.

The winners simply over ran the red shirts in the initial period. Only in the closing stages the reverse was the case the invaders having the best of the exchanges. The Hill for ward line was working hard at all times the Aussies showing more aggressiveness and the stellaville forwards more dangerous finishing power.

During the first frame Eddie Gadbridge the visitors goalie had four shots to handle which the lengthy opposition usually stopped the second time a clever save by Hayden who was thrown the posts for the winners, had practically nothing to do in this period in opposition only tried his one shot which he easily saved. At the interval the teams were level peg going without a goal to either.

The second period opened in rare style. The visitors lashed home in the second half but the Reds again started to put on pressure. The hosts drive now was early in trouble and had the sterling services of the Alpert boys.

Gilbert Scores on Penalty Kick

This was well advanced when the Aussies got their only and decisive goal on a penalty kick, one of the Stellaville defence men having handled the ball in the penalty area Gilbert who continues to show much of his class, no fumble right, took the kick and scored. Knowing the visitors form as the Reds do, it was not to be supposed they would take this reverse lying down and for a time following the entire kick, made things interesting for Vermilion's line to describe which came out of the ordeal very creditably. Defenders and forwards proving invincible.

When the whistle blew for the final it brought to close one of the best games of the season on the home ground and the spectators were fully rewarded for the time spent in the hot, sweltering weather Frank Pomeroy had an easy time in handling the game.

Here is how the teams lined up:
Stellaville—E. Golledge, R. Sinden cut C. Puette, R. Golledge, B. MacNab and W. Tyler; R. Fielding, B. Blandand, R. Chandler, L. Pomeroy, and F. Scott.
Vermilion—Bryden, Urkenden and Mackenzie; Cooper, Brennan and Wenger; Amos, Gilbert, Morland, Graham and Rowebrouth

Stellaville has a strong and well balanced team in every department this year, and gave every indication that they are rounding in top form for their forthcoming scrapping contest with the Vermilion Blue on the 24th of July when these two clubs play an exhibition game at Stellaville in connection with their sixth annual sports picnic. Every man on the losers team played well and opposing them will be to win an ordinary game Stellaville are more confident of reversing the form on the 24th that a close game should be witnessed on this occasion.

The material that has been lined up so far this season by the locals, shows that the Reds will be heard from before the season has progressed far. No numbers of influential dailies are made but the club hope by steady and consistent effort to improve the form to the pest time they kick home with Verneville's last going football which they are now in the hunt for clash of to me I on than three games up to the present this summer which proved to be the most exciting and a fixture by a one goal margin in each instance. The Bills secretary is endeavoring to arrange a game with Verneville to be played here the beginning or next week and if successful it is expected that one of the largest crowds of the year will be on hand to see their pets do battle.

Road Dust in Crank Case More Costly Than Cold Dust

Frequent and Thorough Cleaning of Crank Case Helps to Keep Down Motoring Costs

Manufacturers of motor cars having recognized the necessity of frequent crank case cleaning. The importance of renewing the oil in the crank case every 500 or 1000 miles is emphasized in most of the instruction books issued by motor car manufacturers.

Through the work of motor manufacturing companies and the work of dealers, who have equipped their service to take care of the job, a number of motorists have been induced to have their crank cases cleaned regularly, but there are still far too many motorists who neglect to do so.

Road dust and sand work their way into the crank case to mingle with the oil and small metal particles to form a cutting paste and reduce the efficiency of the motor. Then too the oil in the crank case will, in time, form a gum or coke deposit by the heat and thus lose a great deal of its lubricating value. This dilution is in some cases very rapid, due to faulty carburetor adjustment or mechanical defects.

The use of inferior motor lubricants and poor motor fuels may aggravate the difficulty, but no lubricating oil on the market is proof against coke and over a given clearance which has been made excessive through wear. Neither can any lubricating oil withstand the cutting of a "tissue" or two rich fuel mixture. The remedy lies in cleaning the oil from the crank case thoroughly cleaning the crank case.

It is not merely enough to drain the oil out of the crank case and refill with fresh oil. Dust, grit and metal particles will be found in the bottom and the congealed oil which adheres to the side of the crank case. The presence of these should be left as much pleasure with the lubricating value of the fresh oil as possible. Before refilling the crank case it should be flushed out with a thin grade of oil. There are many objections to the use of coal oil as a flushing oil for the final oil as it is impossible to drain it entirely, and the presence of the final oil as gasoline is almost certain to result in the loss of the crank case. This will show up in the fresh supply as oil and dissolve the lubricating value.

Many dealers have procured their service to deliver right crank case service. Cleaning the oil in cases is a quick, clean and inexpensive job, and is equally better and more economical reliable dealer to have the work done. Motorists should however insist on the work being done in the presence of the motorist and see the proper thing is done.

DEBENTURE DEFAULTS FORCE ALBERTA TO PAY HIGHER INTEREST

Bond Dealer Tells of Disadvantages Alberta and Saskatchewan Are Under Owing to Arrears in Payments—Bond Companies and Municipalities Must Share Blame

(From Market Examiner, Calgary.) Municipal debenture sales in the provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan have to be made at a lower price, higher rate of interest, than do municipalities in other provinces, because municipal payments are in default to a greater extent in these provinces than they are in the older settled portions. Walter L. McKinnon, [illegible] chairman of the municipal administration and finance committee of the Bond Dealers association of Canada, has a long article in a recent issue of the Financial Post on the subject. One might be led to remark that Mr McKinnon's committee is now telling us a lot of things that we already know, but they have also point out that the bond companies which bought these bonds when bonds were in par are much higher with the flesh of prosperity which dazzled the western provinces as were the people in the towns who leased the bonds However both the municipalities and the financiers have said their pieces, and there is no use in abusing the responsibility Mr McKinnon's suggestion is that it would be desirable for the provinces which are the chief sufferers to pay up on the defaulting bonds, and that they would certainly be ahead in the long run on the reduced rates of interest which will have to be paid on current issues.

Mr McKinnon says adjustments have be made in the cost of several [illegible] which have been defaulted. Careful [illegible] has been made and gives the following list of municipalities in default on the payment of principal and interest with the [illegible] date:

In Alberta the towns of Athabasca Bassano Beverly Biggar Bow Island Bowden Calgary Edmonton Edson Innisfail Lethbridge Lloydminster Medicine Hat Okotoks Redcliff Taber Tofield Vegreville Vulcan and Wetaskiwin. In Saskatchewan the cities of Moose Jaw and Saskatoon the towns of Battleford Biggar Canora Estevan Humboldt Melfort Melville Moose Jaw Nipawin Prince Albert Rosetown Shaunavon Swift Current Tisdale Wadena Watrous Weyburn Wilkie Wynyard and Yorkton. In Manitoba Brandon Dauphin Elkhorn Gilbert Plains Hamiota Killarney Minnedosa Neepawa Portage la Prairie Rapid City Rivers Roblin Russell Souris Swan River Virden and Winnipeg Beach.

Special Care of Baby.

That Baby should have a bed of its own all are agreed. Yet it is more reasonable for an infant to sleep with grown-ups than to use a man's medicine in an attempt to regulate the delicate organism of that same infant. Either practice is to be shunned. Neither would be tolerated by specialists in children's diseases.

Your Physician will tell you that Baby's medicine must be prepared with even greater care than Baby's food.

A Baby's stomach when in good health is too often disarranged by improper food. Could you for a moment, then, think of giving to your ailing child anything but a medicine especially prepared for Infants and Children? Don't be deceived.

Make a mental note of this—It is important, Mothers, that you should remember that to function well, the digestive organs of your Baby must receive special care. No Baby is so abnormal that the desired results may be had from the use of medicines primarily prepared for grown-ups.

Encouraging Good Feeling Between Boys of Different Social Status

The Duke of York, second son of the King, is repeating this year the experiment he made last year of what has been called the discouragement of snobbishness. So thoroughly an understanding was then established between boys from Westminster School and boys from a Welsh coal mining village that the Duke has had a similar camp this year, and has with an equal number of boys and leaders from each place assembled at that camp.

EAT! I've been to the Vermilion Hotel and I know.

The Vermilion L. O. L. No. 2676 held its annual church parade on Sunday evening last to the Presbyterian church. Between fifty and sixty Orangemen and ladies paraded, a number of members from the Marville and Minburn Lodges being present. The Rev. Mr. Chilton preached an excellent and forceful sermon taking as his subject "The Bible and its Critics." He especially emphasized the fact that true Protestants must take the Bible as a whole as it is often possible to place a false construction on isolated passages. He commended the Orange Association for its stand on Protestantism, saying that there was a real need for such an avowedly all Protestant organization. He called upon the members to always remember and live up to their obligations and so constitute a real force for good. The Choir also made a special effort to be present, which was appreciated by the Lodge. The solo by Mrs. Wallace was very much enjoyed by all Major W. T. Treach of Mary Lake has sold his half-section dairy farm, the West half of 23-53-7 to S. Hopkins of England and is holding a public auction sale of his herd of pure bred and high grade Holstein cattle together with farm effects and household goods. The sale is dated for Monday, July 31st and posters will be out Saturday giving full particulars.

OVER 2500 ENTRIES IN FOR THE FAIR

SIX CARS OF OUTSIDE EXHIBITS FINE WEATHER PROMISED

Indications point to the annual two days exhibition of the Vermilion Agricultural Society, Thursday and Friday, 27th and 28th being a decided success. Despite changes in the fair regulations which it was thought would react against the number of exhibitors, over 2500 entries have been made and are booked on stock from outside points are coming in. Local stock breeders are again to the front with a good list of entries and with the fine weather prevailing and a list of attractions provided by the directors for both days the attendance should break all records.

In horses Clydes, Percherons, Suffolks and Belgians lead with a strong entry list. Belgian Brothers Bay Lost Schoolfield and Galloway having good entries. Heavy draught and agricultural horses are filled up Shorthorns, Polled Angus, Ayrshires and Holsteins predominate in the cattle entries and among those exhibiting are many well known breeders as J. B. Sanborn, J. E. Curry, C. Barr, N. P. Hall, D. Anderson, Chas. Cox, L. Robinson, W. D. Williams, M. McKinnon and Bishop & Hawksworth. Beef classes are filled. Sheep and swine are fully represented though they will not be as large as last year when there was an exceptionally large show. Jas. A. C. Stewart, D. F. Ganton, R. M. Walden and O. B. Moore are among the exhibitors. Owing to kinds being in the moulting stage and unfit for show purposes poultry will be very light.

The main building display will be good though owing to restrictions by the department in date of manufacture of work, it will not be up to former years. Taking all through the premises for a good Fair, which is a source to general satisfaction

NOTICE G. W. V. A

A general meeting of the Vermilion local of the Great War Veterans' Association will be held in the G. W. V. Rooms on August 4th 1922 at 8 p.m. Every member is requested to attend this meeting as nominations for the ensuing term will be the special order of business.

CANADIAN NATIONAL ADVERTISING CANADA

Capt. J. Milton Stute lecturer in the Canadian National Railways, is now touring the Western Canada for the purpose of securing new material for next season's series of lectures in Europe and the United States and Great Britain. He recently completed a lecture tour in the principal cities of United States in which he brought before American audiences the story of the Dominion of Canada. He has made known the opportunities for farmers and also the class of people needed to take part in the development of the Dominion's natural resources and by a series of fine motion pictures true also attracted the attention of our neighbors to the great National parks and other beauty spots for tourist purposes.

Last February, Capt. Stute returned from Great Britain where during a stay of four months he delivered in the interests of the Canadian National and Grand Trunk Railways, a series of lectures. These were illustrated with colored pictures and were attended by thirsty people. The intense interest shown in his lectures was a factor in determining the action of other organizations to also attempt to create interest in Canada. Capt. Stute's lectures were held in the largest cities in England and Scotland and were fully reported in the metropolitan and provincial press, which declared his pictures to be the finest ever shown in Great Britain from an educational standpoint.

Hon. Geo. Hoadley Minister of Agriculture, and S. G. Carlyle, Live Stock Commissioner, have returned from the States and Eastern Canada. During his trip to Ottawa Mr. Hoadley took up matters of importance with the Dominion government, including the securing of a market fro Alberta cattle, grading of hogs, and the question of letting down the bars by the U. S. for the export of western grass-fed cattle into the States. The question of admitting sales tax on 25 carloads of arsenic brought in by the Alberta government from the U. S. for grasshopper bait, we also taken up. Mr. Hoadley had satisfactory interviews on these questions.

A party of rancher from New Mexico travelling in cars were visitors to the province during the past week or two. It is their intention to take up stock raising next year in the Telfordville district.

There are about forty regrets in the government at the present time who have reached the age of fifty-five under the new superannuation act which is now in effect and which provides a fund for salaries for civil servants after retirement. However the act provides that the government may keep on any of these employees if so desires in the interests of efficiency and this is likely to be done in the case of several. The employees recently suspended from service at the land titles office at Calgary and Edmonton will also come under the provisions of this act, and will be permanently retired under the terms of the pension scheme. The minimum pension to be paid under the scheme is $30 a month

LOCALS

Vermilion's big district Fair Thursday and Friday of this week

Jack Brehm commenced on the Canadian Bank of Commerce staff here Monday

Weather has turned rather hot as and no rains are reported in the district. A heavy downpour would now be most appreciated.

The Music of Instrumental Music will be held August 2nd in one of the rooms of the school on Agricultural Hall. Miss Lucas is announced as president. A fee will be held in the hall. The Music Institute has been in existence several years and has done splendid work in music.

Mrs. Wm. Bell, who has been visiting her daughter Mrs. Jas. Wilson, Vermilion, left Tuesday August 1st for her home at Mill Creek, Ont. Mrs. Bell was accompanied by her granddaughter Miss Wilson, who will visit for a time with friends in Mill Creek.

The Lumberjack Ball, which takes place on July 14th, announced to engage with Miss Lillian Whaldin at that time. Dancing to last from 9 o'clock p.m. Music by Mrs. Parker and Whaldin. The wedding was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents at Mill Creek, Ont., on Tuesday, July 25th. The very best wishes of all Vermilion friends will be extended to Mr. and Mrs. Bell on their return to this city and other happiness.

Mr. W. A. Macrae town is spending in the East at her old home at Beaverton, Ont. She will visit relatives in Toronto and expects to be away for about two months.

Academic writing on the mid-summer departmental examinations are now coming in and the work of checking up results. The reading of papers will commence next week.

The Misses Turner of Elk Point are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Sharp now.

W. W. Pierce, manager of the Ed Pierce Realty Limits Edmonton lost his daughter Helen aged 12 years, by drowning at Sylvan Beach on Sunday afternoon. The family were spending the day at this summer resort when the sad fatality occurred. Mr. Pierce who is well known in Vermilion in connection with the firm's business here and his wife, will have the sympathy of all in their heavy bereavement.

H. Giddey, late of the Nellis Hardware Co., town, is in Saskatoon purchasing stock for the new hardware store he and Frank Harris are opening at Lashburn on August 1.

Brickwork on the new Mackenzie building is making good headway. Operations will now be introduced for the Hynds building which is now ready for the season.

Another big dance and boating bout will be held in Stanley's barn at E. 6-52 on the evening of Friday last, the 11. Ten round bout between Phil Kirkham of Elk Point and Billy Mc[illegible] of Lashburn. Several good fast preliminaries. Fine floor, excellent music. Admission $1 and a round [illegible]. Fine lunch provided.

HERE'S YOUR CHANCE!!!—Many month Auction Sale of 250 Head of Live Stock for Roy Macklin, Breeder. See 5-5-15 south miles east of Vermilion, on Friday, until Tuesday, August 1st. The offering consists of Pure Bred and High Grade Holstein Cattle, Durham or Jersey Stock, Clydesdale Horses, and other valuable farm equipment. Sale starts at 1 p.m. sharp. Lunch will be provided for parties coming from a distance. For further particulars see posters.

The Vermilion District takes the second turn at Hail Insurance in the Province of Alberta. Place your insurance with a reliable company—W. R. Sutton, Agent, Vermilion.

I am requested by the Vermilion Agricultural Society to announce to the business men of the town that they close their stores and offices on Friday the 28th of July from 12 o'clock [illegible] 5 o'clock in order to allow employees to attend the Fair [illegible].

J. W. G. Mowbray, Mayor.

Mrs. Jas MacGinnis who has been visiting her daughter Mrs. Clifford Bowman, Edmonton, has returned home and is accompanied by Mrs. Bowman and little daughter Phyllis.

Sale of Horses, Cattle and Implements Saturday July 29th at Iverson's Corrals. A. M. West Auctioneer.

Constable Wells has intimated to Mr. Stafford that he will give no more warnings to autoists who are contravening the law by driving their cars with the [illegible] speed, and possession is likely to be numerous. It is [illegible] to dash around the streets making [illegible] resembling a battery or machine guns in action and this is not confined to the day only but many nights have been made hideous by law breakers who seem to interpret the passage of scripture "Every man will be a law unto himself" as meaning that they do as they please. The use of "spotlights" is another breach of the law to be rigorously enforced. And while we are at it we might draw attention to what seems to be a lack of knowledge of the rules of the road by quite a number that is when passing a vehicle or car ahead of them they must turn to the left and not turn in ahead until well clear. A note to the wise should be sufficient.

Bloodminster Fair was visited by quite a number from Vermilion who report it a big success. Manville Fair follows Vermilion and takes place on Saturday.

Andrew Law and family left on Monday of this week for Banff by auto, where they will spend a ten days' vacation.

The Vermilion Local of the G.W.V.A. will hold their annual picnic at Jackson Lake on Wednesday August 2nd. A good time is expected.

MY CANADA

The Wishing Fairy Coming

Cubs That Travel on Their Parents' Back.

"WELL what in the world is that?" cried one of the Brownies as, walking to a stream looking for their lost chamber pots, they passed the Get Little Pool towards Stella, the Wishing Fairy, who sat surrounded by her four Brownies.

"How should I know?" laughed Pimple. "But I soon will, for I am going to find out, and I'll make our fat friend yonder drink from our magic pool so as to make him grow a bit smaller. He's too big for my liking."

And away he went, while the others waited.

It seems that the stranger was Mr Black Bear and he had struggled the live-long night to the End of the Earth, with a message for Mr. Bear to Fetch. But he could not find her at home, having a terrible time with three cubs. Little cubs.

But when Bruno, who talked apologetically, "are rascals. They are always ready to play and rushing around in different directions until their poor mother is quite tired out and discouraged. She couldn't even leave them to come here herself, so I told her that I would and I could tell you for her what it was all about and she could herself. However I ought to be able to for I've heard her sigh and grunt often enough and groan about her cubs. I have good ears, you know."

"Then tell it to me" laughed Stella.

"She wants to be able to keep those cubs more quiet . . . to make them . . . and . . . and . . ."

"Oh," said The Wishing Fairy said gently. "When you reach home, Bruno, you had the most fruit for her cubs to scramble up on her back. Then there are lots of nuts there for them to crack. There are few berries and insects . . . and . . . and . . ."

"Mr Bruno" . . . "Mr Bear said Bruno, correcting . . . "Mr Bear would have much more than morning up on your fruit. The Apple run wildly about there and then put their fish . . . and . . . and . . . and

ENGINES AND CARS
AWAIT GRAIN RUSH

Preparations upon a monumental scale for the marketing movement of Western Canada's 1922 grain crop have been made by the Canadian National Railways. Hundreds of additional cars and tens of thousands of bushels more have been put through the Railway's shops at Winnipeg and made in and ready for the greatest harvest effort of the west — and of many years.

This mobilization of equipment has been going on since the beginning of the year with the result that Canadian National Railways are now fully prepared, sailing and even nearer to the business of handling grain [illegible] engines ready for service [illegible] and to end they would [illegible] ultimately 250 miles.

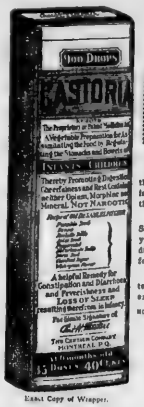
When Baby Complains.

THERE ARE MANY WAYS a baby has of expressing any pain or irregularity or digression from its normal condition of health and happiness. A short sharp cry, a prolonged irritated cry. Restlessness, a constant turning of the head or of the whole body, fretful. In these and other ways a baby tells you there is something wrong. Most mothers know that a disordered stomach, or bowels that do not act naturally are the cause of most of baby's sufferings. A call for the doctor is the first thought, but in the event of any delay there should be ready at hand a safe remedy such as Fletcher's Castoria.

Castoria has been used for baby's ailments for over 30 years and has merited the good will of the family physician in a measure not equaled by any other baby's medicine because of its harmlessness and the good results achieved.

And remember this: Castoria is essentially a baby's remedy and not a cure-all for every member of the family. What might help you is too often dangerous when given to a baby.



Exact Copy of Wrapper.

Children Cry For Fletcher's CASTORIA

Let's Think It Over.

There is such a thing as saying too much on any subject, and the "grand-stand" talker sooner or later becomes a bore. The truth is always welcomed, and the truth reiterated and confirmed is more than welcome—it reaches your innermost soul.

Fletcher's Castoria is all its advertising has claimed for it. Scrutinized by the microscope of public opinion and used for over thirty years it stands without a peer in the hearts of thoughtful, cautious, discerning Mothers. And once used, mother love—there is no substitute for mother love—will scorn to try a "substitute" or a "just-as-good".

Masquerading under many names drugs that are injurious to the tender babe have found their way into some households, but the light of experience soon casts them out. Are they cast out before it is too late?

MOTHERS SHOULD READ THE BOOKLET THAT IS AROUND EVERY BOTTLE OF FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

Offsetting Competition

The thing for the live, busy men of this community to do is their own interests is to advertise faithfully and in make their patrons absolutely interesting and helpful to those whose trade and favor are desired.

The serious competitors of the retailers of this community are the big stores — a big city — those big send out catalogues and live mail-order departments.

The business of a local retailer is competing to for our local trade is unique also. The trade does not "speak up" to us all; the unfriendly buyer remains away and — never believes from this local paper.

— A WORD TO THE PUBLIC —

When you send your money out of this community you encourage great shops and prosperous to a community. Strengthen—not weaken—the merchants of th a community. It will all be returned to you in the form of better service and better values.

LOCALS

Tropical weather has prevailed all week, the heat at times becoming oppressive. There is still an absence of much needed rain.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Dionne of town, are on a visit to the Old Country where they will visit for some little time among relatives.

H. M. Coward of Edmonton, was a visitor to the Pair last week and reported that under prevailing conditions the display was in his opinion excellent.

A. Craig, D. C., Sp. C. Chiropractic specialist recently in Edmonton, has opened an office in the Imperial Block town.

H. T. Taylor of the Sedgewick Sch. staff who with Mrs. Taylor and Miss Hall have been visiting his wife's mother and mother Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Ferguson, Flats, was a caller at the Standard office Monday on his return to Sedgewick. Mrs. Taylor and little daughter are still visiting at the Flats.

W. A. Tallow and family resumed residence here on H. C. last week after a most enjoyable holiday. Trip there was a big thrill for on Vancouver Island while they were there which made them vacate the house for the night. Mars and Vermilionites were seen at the Coast.

A picnic and tea-meeting social will be held at Sunnyside Park school on Friday, August 11th. Good music etc. Admission 50c. Ladies 25c. Ladies bring cakes to those who do not complete a charge is 25c will be made.

Miss R. Miller, Miss Phelps and Master Alex Belt on the Coast last week, spending a week where they will remain for a few weeks. From there they will journey to Kamloops where they will spend Miss Phelps's parents. Miss Miller's parents some time next year.

Mr. Nicholas, of the Vermilion base ball team, Editor Hewson of the "Standard" and Mr. Bowen, of the Vermilion Bowling Club, met in the office of the Standard on Tuesday evening last and organized an Exhibition baseball game between the Vermilion and Wainwright baseball clubs, on the grounds.

The local footballers again played town game last Wednesday at Wainwright with the team of that district. These beat Vermilion with ease, the result of the local playing on Friday evening next week Vermilion.

Wm. Dillon, one of our town lads, is now on his fair mind, will be ready for the Soldier the end of next week. A couple of his friends, Wm. Pell left at the Standard office, when they to be in good air. Billet is the type with which Bill is a staff writer. Mr. Dillon says he is the stand of Bill is not to leave it is good and will return a fair a name to.

Vermilion baseball team went on to Innisfree on Wednesday, part of Block 1 to the aquatic sports was on an distinguished time, to be one of competitors in the one mile race in fast time of 21 minutes quite a large number from here took in the day.

Another big dance and boxing bout will be held in Dillon's Hall, at 8:45 on the evening of Friday, August 11. Ten round bout between Phil Kirkham of Elk Point and Billy Mullen or Landonville. Several good preliminaries. Five floor, stock and hoods. Admission 50 a couple. Ladies free. Five is provided.

On Tuesday evening of last week the members of the LOBA met at the home of Mrs. McNeil on the east of Mr. Metlee and her daughter Evelyn leaving for the Coast. The evening was spent very enjoyably in social intercourse and vocal and instrumental music. Afterwards refreshments were served and the evening closed by singing "Blest be the Tie that Binds" and "O Canada."

READ "THE STANDARD"

The full report of the Departmental Examinations will likely be published in our next week's issue, i.e. for Grades 8, 10, 11 and 12. Grade 11 was published in the city press last Monday. Several students whose names were not in the paper will no doubt secure credit for a number of the subjects the same will apply to Grade 12 which has since been published. For those reasons it is thought advisable to await the complete returns from the department for all grades and print the results at one time.

W. F. Treuch is leaving this Thursday for England where he expects to remain for the next two years. We are sorry to lose him from the district but trust to welcome him back in the not distant future. In the mean time an revoir.

Harry Scott was the successful applicant for the position as caretaker for the East end school at a salary of $30.00 per month.

Boarders will be taken at "The Rest," 1st St. North, west of the High School. Mrs. Martel will continue to accept outside engagements at any time.

Mr. Jas. Pickard of Craig's Dept. Store left on a holiday(?) trip in the Southern part of the province this week. The fact that Jim is accompanied on this motor tour by a Presbyterian minister and Mr. and Mrs. Orford Pickard has started all sorts of matrimony rumors in circulation. It is suggested that as he has been already, on a Bear hunt in the Everglades of Medicine Hat for some time he is now going to make a determined effort to bring home a real live one.

That's how he feels the heat.

Some fifteen cage of fat live stock are billed for shipment from Vermilion to the Winnipeg stock yards Friday. D. L. Kennedy is taking four cars, W. N. Trimble two cars, a number of cars will be in charge of the U.F.A. co-operative shipper J. Gordon Wilson and individual stockmen will be in charge of the rest.

Count de Tayer has been spending a few days in town.

We claim to be a bon country and we read in the Saskatoon Star that Vermilion has just held its 20th Annual Exhibition.

Dr. MacDougall of Lamont was a visitor this Saturday looking for the Dr. Graham of Winnipeg will in future be associated with Dr. Smith and will arrive in about one week's time.

RADIO FANS!—Will make or supply parts also complete sets at reasonable prices. Custom Radio work done. Manufacturer of Radio Sets. Callen's Machine Shop, Vermilion.

Miss Kathleen Ferguson B.A. of Edmonton and Miss Pauline Cain B. of Mundare have been appointed to the High school staff replacing Mr. Fraser and Mr. Flint who resign.

The sale conducted by Auctioneer Courtright on Monday for W. F. Treuch of Mary Lake brought out a large attendance some one hundred and fifty people being present when the first of the offerings was put up. As this was a cash sale, the prices realized for cattle were high, Flint being the highest priced pure bred dairy cow sold, while a very fine grade brought $160 at Bidine at the sale was active throughout, money apparently being plentiful for the right type of dairy stock. The entire offering was disposed of, horses bringing fair figures and all house effects and utensils moving with a ready sale.

Suffered So Her Hair Turned Gray

Husband of Winnipeg Woman Tells About Her Terrible Experience

"I never would have believed any medicine could bring about such a change as Tanlac has done in my wife," said Harry Gray, of 126 Bryce St., Winnipeg, Manitoba.

"For many years she suffered from nervousness and bilious attacks which at times were so violent that I thought I'd lose her two or three times a year. She got to be very thin and as weak as a child. She had terrible headaches and suffered dreadfully that through all these years her hair turned gray. But since Tanlac helped her it's remarkable. She has gained fifteen pounds and is the picture of health. Tanlac is the finest medicine in the world."

A REAL SHOW COMING

Take the Children to See This. Newest and Cleanest of Shows

To those that have reached mature years the coming of the circus means simply that they will have several hours keep enjoyment away from the ordinary run of pleasures. But to the youngsters show day is THE day, a red letter day on occasion long to be remembered. You recall with vivid memory the first time you saw "How you started to walk" How you stared round-eyed at those fierce looking animals. And you remember too don't you how you failed to understand why those elephants had tails in front and back and how father laughed when you asked him about it? Then there was the music of the bands, the wonderful acrobatic feats of the gaily dressed performers, the funny antics of the clowns all making an indelible impression on your childish mind and made it unique you to a real wonderland.

Many another child will experience these enjoyable impressions on Thursday August 17th when the WHEELER BROS. SHOWS will exhibit afternoon and night at Vermilion.

We hope with all our heart that every youngster in the vicinity has the pleasure of seeing this wonderful attraction, rather this collection of attractions. There are many educational features with a large exhibition like the above, the foremost of which in our opinion is that many a child has been awakened to greater achievements through practical things seeing the results obtained by persistent and continued efforts.

Yes we hope that all the little folk around here attend the WHEELER BROS. SHOWS and our sympathies are with the little boy or girl who is compelled to stay at home while their more fortunate associates go to the show and return to relate with child like exaggerations the wonders they have seen.

BORN—At Vermilion Alberta on Thursday July 13th 1922 to Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Bunn a daughter.

J. A. M. Craig and Donald and W. J. MacNab reached home Tuesday completing an auto tour to Edmonton and return. Mrs. Craig who was visiting at the coast returned by train Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Atkinson and H. V. I. Pitt of Vermilion are staying in the Provincial Championship tennis tournament this week in Edmonton. Mr. Atkinson is still undefeated.

Miss Jean Colquhoun of Edmonton is on a visit to her mother Mrs. [illegible] town.

ONLY THREE REPRESENTATIVES OF MUNICIPAL COUNCIL OF THE LATE SEVENTIES ALIVE TO DAY

The death of the late John W. Dunnet marks the passing of another citizen who was a member of the municipal council in the seventies. The deceased served as alderman in 1876-77 and as second Deputy Reeve in 1878. Only three municipal councillors of those years are alive today. Messrs. J. D. Flatrile who represented north ward, R. P. Grant who represented south ward and T. S. Pilkie who represented east ward.

Keep Your Tools Sharp

Recently there came into the hands of the writer of this column a copy of a circular letter, evidently to be handed to the farm hand interviewed on his move from 75,000 acre of land in Western Canada. This little circular contained one or two paragraphs which deserve much wider circulation than merely to the unfortunate individual to whom it was addressed. In section to quote it here:

"I stopped into a blacksmith shop one day and the blacksmith told me his ambition was to close his shop and quit. The answer who owns the shop has had it for fifteen years and this is the first time it has ever been at upwood. I told him he said that it was just average and his only crop for a long time had been weeds. You have been renting it and now around for years and it has been only a pollard. His move from [illegible] to another and his reason for quitting was that he was not making a living. Now, as you suppose I have no use for a blacksmith shop, but I am interested in you and I want to help you if I can. I suppose you have a good many idle hours and in addition to your regular farming you could do a little blacksmithing for your neighbors. Why don't you get a few tools and start in? I will be the manufacturers are unjust and are [illegible] to be [illegible] to [illegible] a [illegible] a [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

VERMILION, ALTA. AUG. 16, 1922.

THE GOVERNMENT'S CONVERSION SCHEME

The attention of the holders of the five and a half per cent war loan bonds maturing December 1 1922 is invited to a offer of the Minister of Finance to convert the loan on the following terms: Canadian loan bonds now held by the subscribers may be exchanged for bonds of the new issue bearing interest at the rate of five per cent per annum, and the exchange will be made at par. Application for conversion may be made to any bank in Canada. The conversion privilege will be limited to the period between September 1st and December 1st 1922.

The object of the Government in making this offer is to enable the holders of the present war loan bonds maturing December 1 1922 to convert their holdings into a long term security at a fair rate of interest without the necessity of finding the money to pay off the loan when it matures. The Government is also desirous of giving the holders of the present war loan bonds the opportunity of converting their holdings into a security which will be able to stand on its own merits in the open market, and which will not necessarily be affected by any future financial operations which the Government may undertake. The new bonds will be issued in denominations of $50, $100, $500 and $1,000.

The Government is not asking for any new money, but is merely offering to the holders of the present war loan bonds the opportunity of converting their holdings into a long term security at a fair rate of interest without the necessity of finding the money to pay off the loan when it matures. No Immediate Sign Of Settlement Of The Railway Wage Dispute

Montreal Hall sloganeers throughout the Dominion are on the scrap heap as a result of the attempt of Canadian railways to cut their wages on an average of seven cents an hour. Frank McKenna, Vice-President of Division No 4, Railway Employees' Department, American Federation of Labor told the Conciliation Board.

Again the tall executives opened the day's skirmishing in a statement by George Hodge, Assistant General Manager of C P R eastern lines, to the effect that Canadian employees were in a better position than those of workers in the U S

In a sharp retort the union representatives not only denied that statement but charged the railways with planning the impossible of balancing their budgets higher than the question of justice to human beings.

The union heads asked that the railways produce their budget to support their claim that a wage slash was necessary to the railways as an interest and later the laborites suggested their point by declaring that while the railways wanted to cut the wages they were not cutting the numbers of the operating or executive staffs nor had the dividends been cut

Ottawa The Canadian National Railways have agreed to suspend the wage reduction in the case of a man who was a clerk and other members of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway employees until after the Board of Conciliation now investigating this dispute has made its report it was announced by A E Cliffe, assistant to the general manager

Mr Cliffe stated that the new proposals, in accordance with the agreement, would be made out as soon as possible The concession was made subject to a reservation that it would not prejudice the submission of the company that the reduction should be dated back to July 26. President A B Mosher of the brotherhood was not agreeable, and the case presented Mr Mosher claimed that as the company had proposed a reduction that it should justify it. However when Mr Cribg objected that the application for the board had been made by the brotherhood, Mr. Mosher consented, in view of the concession of the company in regard to the suspension of the wage cut, not to press the point, and opened the case for the employees.

Mr. Mosher based his argument on the insufficiency of the proposed wage to provide a "minimum health and decent standard of living" He also declared that the board had before it the broader question as to whether or not the Government railways intended to proceed along lines of industrial peace to the mutual advantage of the system.

Mr. Mosher was assisted among others, in the presentation of the case, by R D Duke Winnipeg and C H Winslow Calgary

The board is presided over by F T Costello Alexandria Ont., Howard S Ross, K C. Montreal representing the employees, and George D Kelley Ottawa the company

Forest Fires Spread Havoc

Duluth, Minn.—Ten known dead, hundreds of persons homeless, at least two towns wiped out and a dozen others in imminent danger, was the apparent toll of a series of forest fires which swept Northeastern Minnesota, causing the worst conflagration since 1918, when 400 persons lost their lives. All the fires are said to have resulted from snapping peat beds which were whipped into raging conflagrations by a strong wind and spread to nearby forests.

Cattle Men Appeal Against Tariff Duties

Claim High Rates Hurting Trade Between U.S. and Canada

Washington Believing they will be greatly harmed by the emergency tariff duties on cattle and the cattle duties proposed in the new tariff bill which Canada's cattle growers have sent individual letters to more than 1,000 cattle men in the United States asking them to write their Congressmen and Senators protesting against the proposed duties. Representatives of the Canadian Live Stock Association appeared before the Senate Finance Committee. Hon. Wm. Wood, Minister of Agriculture for Nova Scotia, and other members of the Canadian Government have been here for several days to protest against the proposed duties. Mr. Wood declared that the Canadian cattle men show the high rates in the United States farmers and ranchers have increased the cost of cattle production to the point where it is impossible to export to the United States. Mr. Wood declared that the new duties would be prohibitive.

Mr Cliffe stated that the new proposals, in accordance with the agreement, would be made out as soon as possible The concession was made subject to a reservation that it would not prejudice the submission of the company that the reduction should be dated back to July 26. President A B Mosher of the brotherhood was not agreeable, and the case presented Mr Mosher claimed that as the company had proposed a reduction that it should justify it. Great Moments in a Great Picture

The last day together

They sat at the table in the restaurant where they had danced together so often, and knew that this afternoon together was their last. They had been gossips of the sort no woman can resist. Small wonder they were distrait. They would have been more than could they have foreseen the end of the affair which is so prominent a part of

Practical Rainmaking

BY H. ROSOMAN, VERMILION, Alta.

A sufficient rainfall is the most serious matter with which agriculturists are confronted in the great part of the prairie provinces Many scientists have studied the matter with a more or less practical standpoint and have discussed weather control impossible. Individuals have invented processes for rain-making and have taken the good money from credulous farmers Who were in desperate circumstances for sufficient moisture to enable them to obtain crops on their farms Last year, one district in Alberta raised a ran [illegible] Rain-maker to pay him [illegible] for rain'

Headache

Recurring headaches usually come from an exhaustion of the nervous system, and they do not disappear until the vigor of the nerve cells is restored by such up building treatment as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

Temporary relief by use of powders is often obtained at an enormous expense to the nervous system and the general health.

Mrs. W. J. Pease, Nassau St. Cobourg, Ont., writes:

"My nerves became run down and I suffered greatly from a nervous headache. This was so severe that I would have to bind a shawl tightly around my head so that I could get my work done. A friend advised the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and after taking the first box I found quite an improvement in my condition. I continued using them and I had taken about seven boxes I was strengthened and built up in every way, so that I was able to do my housework and attend to my family duties. I can recommend Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to all suffering women as the best medicine I have ever used."

Some More Truths.

WOULD you use a steam shovel to move a pebble? Certainly not. Implements are built according to the work they have to do.

Would you use a grown-up's remedy for your baby's ills? Certainly not. Remedies are prepared according to the work THEY have to do.

All this is preliminary to reminding you that Fletcher's Castoria was sought out, found and is prepared solely as a remedy for Infants and Children. And let this be a warning against Substitutes, Counterfeits and the Just-as-good stuff that may be all right for you in all your strength, but dangerous for the little babe.

All the mother-love that lies within your heart cries out to you: Be true to Baby. And being true to Baby you will keep in the house remedies specially prepared for babies as you would a baby's food, hairbrush, toothbrush or sponge.

Canadian Cattle Prices in Britain

Cattle from Canada Command High Prices in British Markets

While Irish beasts still retains its position in the British market, Irish cattle do not seem to be doing as well probably owing to the diminished area of the country. The Dominion Live Stock Branch reported Irish steers selling at from 139 shillings to 142 shillings the long hundredweight, Danish at from 116 to 124 shillings, Canadian at from 126 to 140 shillings and United States at from 115 to 120 shillings. On the other hand Canadian cattle commanded as high as 16c a pound live weight, and Irish at from 10½ to 12½c. Prime Scotch ranged at from 16½ to 17½c.

Regarding wool the Livestock Branch reports said the spring fair was being maintained and that a keen interest was being shown in western products.

Saskatchewan's Agricultural Production

Total Value of Production for 1921 Was $444,937,073

The total value of agricultural production in Saskatchewan in 1921 was $444,937,073, according to a report made yesterday by the provincial department of agriculture. The principal crops were: Wheat, 213,045,036 bushels, valued at $213,045,036; oats, 276,000,000 bushels, valued at $82,800,000; barley, 42,000,000 bushels, valued at $21,000,000; flax, 2,000,000 bushels, valued at $4,000,000; rye, 1,000,000 bushels, valued at $1,000,000. The total area seeded to crops in 1921 was 19,000,000 acres, which created a record in number and value being: 1,179,305 horses; 1,642,322 cattle; 1,102,000 sheep; and 432,716 swine, in the province. The total amount of wheat produced in the province in 1921 was 201,542,483 bushels from 13 million acres, the greatest of any season in the province's history with the single exception of 1917.

Farming Second Industry in B.C.

Production of the Forest Lands With a Good Margin

Agriculture, with a production of $48,742,994, was the second industry in British Columbia, in 1921, according to a report issued by Hon. E. Bar row, Minister of Agriculture. The production shows a shrinkage of 13.96 per cent in value from the preceding year, owing to decreased values.

Forest products lead the province with a value of $64,870,000 while mineral production had a value of $28,666,641 for the same period. The total crop for 1921 was the largest on record, its value to the province being $6,553,000, an increase of 15 per cent over the value of the 1920 crop. In dairy products there was an increase of 446,553 pounds of butter, while egg production increased 1,500,677 dozen.

The area planted to fodder crops was 6,553 acres more than in 1920 but the total value was $1,000,132 less owing to the low value of the hay crop. The honey production was 500,074 pounds, valued at $39,981, against 667,391 for the previous year.

GOOD INTEREST AND ABSOLUTE SECURITY

A liberal rate of interest with absolute security is the attractive offer made by the Minister of Finance to investors in the Canadian victory bonds now being issued, maturing December 1, 1927. Transfer is not made in order to secure a premium, but only in the best form of the bond to suit the purchaser. Payment may be made in cash or by accepted bearing interest. Bonds and other bail per cent will be exchanged on new bonds bearing 5½ per cent of interest. See the advertisement of the Minister of Finance.

In connection with the Canadian Government's policy to seek wider markets for the products of the Dominion, the Department of Agriculture has given an order to South Africa to investigate the possibilities of that part of the world for establishing a market for Canadian pure bred cattle. The agent will receive special attention from the Argentine Republic Board and European Canadian trade agents are also making investigations in the matter.

"If I had the option of giving my boy a million dollars or an education to train and develop him physically, intellectually and morally, bring out all his latent powers and enable him to face the world fearlessly as an individual, I would chose to give him the education and the cultural development." - Hon. WHEAT FROM WEST GRADING HIGH AT INSPECTION POINT

Of 274 Cars Inspected 94 Per Cent Given No. 1 Northern

Ottawa, Aug. 24.—The grade of 1922 wheat which has thus far reached the head of the lakes for inspection was better than the average this year, it was stated by travellers from the west arriving in Ottawa with in the last day or two. In one case it was stated that of 274 cars of Manitoba wheat inspected at Port William on Friday last, 91 per cent of it was found to be entitled to the highest grade. This was Manitoba wheat, none of the Saskatchewan crop having yet reached the market.

Unless the western farmers experience unforeseen losses through reduction in the price for their wheat the outlook for them this fall is said to be better than for some years.

NINTH FORTNIGHTLY CROP REPORT

Issued by Publicity Commissioner, Department of Agriculture, Edmonton August 28th, 1922

Harvesting of Alberta's crop is proceeding at the most part, under ideal weather conditions, although rain has interfered to a certain extent in some districts. Practically all of the rye has been cut and from 50 to 75 per cent of the wheat. Harvesting of this crop will be completed by September 15th. A great deal of the oats is being cut for seed Cutting of the second crop of alfalfa in the southern part of the province is practically completed and the yield has been fairly good.

Since the last report was issued by the department heavy showers of rain have occurred in several districts, particularly in the central and northern areas. These rains threatened for a time to delay the ripening of the later grain to a point where damage from frost was likely. For the most part, however, the weather has been clear and warm, and the damage from frost it is anticipated will be very small.

No further estimates of yields will be made until some of the actual threshing returns have been received by the department. The indications are that the yields will average up somewhat better than was anticipated early in the season, except in central and northern districts particularly, late rains have improved the grain to such an extent that estimates of yields are now more optimistic. The feed situation has also been considerably improved.

Flax acreage reported in the province this year is small. The acreage of oats threshed will be reduced from the fact that much of this crop has been cut for feed.

Damage from hail has been slight over the province as a whole this season. The most serious storm was that which occurred a week ago in the territory from Wetaskiwin eastward to Wainwright. Several farms in this territory were hit by three hails while suffered losses estimated at from 5 to 15 per cent of the crop.

In Alberta a large part of the Peace district Alberta is opening up a vast area on the Edmonton, Dunvegan and Peace River line, east of that town. The road seem to be worked in nearly four feet thick.

E. M. Walbridge of the Calgary Grain Exchange says that there is not in Alberta will produce 25 bushels

Quick action is the only hope when kidney disease appears

There are a whole train of dreadful pains and fatal accidents which soon follow any neglect to get the kidneys right. Among others are backache, lumbago, Bright's disease, hardening of the arteries and high blood pressure

In Dr Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills you will find a treatment which is both quick and thorough

Mr C F. Raynes, Lindale, Alta., writes:

"I was a great sufferer from kidney disease and have had to leave my farm. A friend of mine recommended me to Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and after using two boxes I felt better, so I continued and used five boxes. By this time I felt as well and strong as ever, and am glad to recommend Dr Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills to anyone suffering as I did."

SAFETY FIRST

"Safety First" is a good maxim in most things but particularly so in relation to the investment of money. The rich can afford to speculate and to take the risks attendant on high rates of interest. Those whose means are moderate must be careful to see that there is absolute security in their investments. For such people there is no other form of investment which takes such a high rank, combining the absolute security with liberal interest, as the bonds of the Dominion or Canada Holders of Dominion bonds receive five and a half per cent. but until December 1 1922, can re-invest their money at the same rate of interest by exchanging the old bonds for new ones ranking for either five years or ten years, as the bondholder may prefer. Arrangements for carrying out this exchange can be made through all the chartered banks.

"GRADE VIII FOR EVERY CHILD"

For the past year I have been studying the problems of education in Alberta, and my conclusion is, that while we have a good school system, we are not getting from it the results we should. Many children leave school before they have Grade VIII. This is due largely to irregularity in attendance and a failure on the part of the public in general to take an interest in the children and encourage them in their work. If the handicap under which these children, who drop out, start life were recognized for the calamity it really is, this situation would be remedied at once.

I appeal to the Press of this Province, to every fraternal organization, to the labor organizations, to the Clergy of all the Churches, to the U. F. A., to the women's organizations, to the business men's clubs, to the teaching and other professions, to every parent and to every good citizen, to join in such a campaign for better education through regular attendance at school as will, in a few years, make possible for the people on the great plains of the south, the beautiful park province of the west, the wonderful province of Alberta a fuller richer, more a humbler and more satisfying life. "Grade VIII for every Child" must be our first objective. It can be reached if we will but use what we've got"

HON. PERLEY BAKER.

TRADERS MUST TRADE.
(Edmonton Bulletin)

The boom of 1906 to 1912 was based on the idea that Edmonton was a city of destiny and that nothing could prevent its success. Most of us have since had irrefutable information that this idea was a mistake. It is time that we awoke from our trance accepted the reality and took means to overcome adverse conditions. A city is built on the business that the energy and enterprise of its citizens can bring to it. History is full of instances [illegible] established by hard work, depending on strategic advantage and taxy instead of on aggressive business methods as the way of success. A trading city that refuses to trade is heading in the wrong direction.

Liquor Spotters Beaten

Story of Attack on Two Men is Told in Regina

BADLY PUMMELED

Regina, Sask., Sept. 6.—The story of a terrific beating alleged to have been administered to Steve Thompson and William Leslie, enforcement officers with the Saskatchewan liquor commission at Fort Qu'Appelle Saturday night was told in the coroner's court today by a man who claims to have been a eye-witness of the affair.

An officer of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police is said to have led the attack on the liquor spotters.

More than two score men of the R. C. M. P. were at Fort Qu'Appelle under Inspector Proby for the week end. They staged a special program Saturday, musical rides and other stunts being included, winding up with a dance in the evening. Thompson and Leslie, according to the story, arrived in Fort Qu'Appelle Friday night. Their arrival became noised around and they were warned to leave town. They drove off in a car and Saturday evening were called late in the evening when the R. C. M. P. returned. The news of their return soon spread through the town and the corner where they drove to was soon the centre of a jostling crowd.

It is stated that the officer in charge of the escort riders again and again warned the enforcement officers to leave the town or they would find themselves in trouble.

Finally big Steve Thompson is alleged to have said that he would leave in a few minutes but that he would like to get a "cold bottle" for himself. The words "get a drink" is said to have started a fight. It is claimed Thompson was beaten by an officer of the R. C. M. P. It is claimed further that no more than one person touched either Thompson or Leslie at one time.

With Thompson laid out at the corner of the square, it is alleged Leslie was approached and asked to show his badge. Another fight started then and Leslie got his trimming. Pressure is said while the fights were going on the tires of the car Leslie and Thompson were driving were punctured in many places by spectators.

The end came when Leslie, still dazed, was hauled into his car and his hands placed on the steering wheel and the car started for him

Milling Industry A Big Asset To Vermilion

W. R. Wiebe Has Had Mill Completely Remodelled - Whole System Changed

Flow Sheet Prepared and Work Carried Out By James Nunmay, Mill Expert

The Vermilion Grist Mills established here in 1910 have ever since they became operative, been recognized as probably the town's greatest asset and a boon to the community at large. Erected by Messrs. Wiebe & Son, of Lanthan, Sask., the sole interests passed in 1913 to the present owner, W. R. Wiebe, and the high standard of the flour manufactured soon won its enviable reputation, the trade of the mill reaching out to other towns and districts to which constant and heavy shipments of the products of the mill were made. From time to time modern milling improvements were installed by the proprietor at considerable cost and no expense has been spared to keep the industry abreast of the times. Two months ago a story was made in this paper that Mr. James Nunmay, mill expert with a continental reputation, had been engaged to remodel the Vermilion mills, the work is now about completed and the immensity of the task can only be grasped by those who may have visited the mill while remodelling was under way. The mill will be in full operation by Monday.

The interior layouts of flour mills are based on what are known as "Flow Sheets," such a sheet was prepared by Mr Nunmay to give the very best results for the local mill. Mr. Nunmay's flow sheets appear in the Advertiser Miller, published in Chicago as the biggest milling industries on the American continent and in engaging his services, Mr. Wiebe was only prompted by one desire and that was to make his mill entirely modern to the minutest detail and such changes effected as to not only increase fertilities but to better the standard of the flour production. There is no doubt but that the ends aimed at will be accomplished.

The Standard had the pleasure of visiting the mill this week and in conversing with Mr Nunmay who kindly took the editor for an educational tour from basement to the fourth floor and the mill has been remodelled right through and in so doing a different arrangement in the wheat cleaning system was carried out. One of the greatest assets in the milling business is to have "CLEAN WHEAT" For the tempering of the wheat there are three large bins with run of thirty-six bushels, the capacity of the mill. The wheat in first class order for milling and improves its condition in many ways—such as strength and test or to flour The capacity of the mill is increased from 150 barrels per day to 175 barrels, of flour that will have no superior in the country

The basement contains the elevators, boots, line shafts and drive pulleys, flour, bran and shorts packers and purker for cream of wheat, also a Carter Disc Separator. In the last mentioned machine it is impossible for anything except WHEAT to pass through and grain enters it for the third cleaning This separator is the most recent invention of the kind for mill equipment and was patented less than two years ago. It does its work in a marvelous manner and the cost of $850.00 is small when compared with the results achieved in only pure wheat and wheat alone passing through to the next step in the process of manufacture of the highest standard of flour. On the second floor are situated five double stands of 9x24 rolls and a Double Purifier. These as well a large warehouse wheat separator and milling wheat separator. A Combination Feed Governor and Wheat Heater regulates the feed of the mill so as to produce an even grade of flour and to handle each machine to properly fed. Passing to the third floor, here are Purifiers and Dust Collectors from the same, also exhaust fan and exhaust collectors from rolls, and the Alsopp Process Oil machine for setting and purifying flour. —this, it might be said in passing, is one of the most up-to-date machines on the market today. On the fourth floor we find two large Wheat Scourers and dust collectors attached, also temporizal apparatus; one large 16 section planalifter for bolting which handles the stock very gently, two Little Wonder flour dressing machines one bran duster one shorts duster and elevator heads complete the equipment

This gives us the most modern mill in Canada today, and in the hands of its first class miller, the highest results are assured Our mill is now in shape to render a service to editors Users of Wheat, Graham Flour, Whole Wheat Flour and Cream of Wheat The leading brands of flour manufactured are: Marquis Patty and XXXX Thesewith Feed Flour, Bran and Shorts cover the bill of fare provided by the mill

From the brief outline given it is seen that the whole system of the mill has been changed and it has involved a very heavy outlay on the part of Mr Wiebe, whose one desire throughout has been to maintain the high reputation already established by his products

Make sure that however good you may be you have faults, that however dull you may be, you can find out what they are, and that however slight they may be, you would better make some patient effort to get rid of them."

It is always well to remember the power of kindness

All For His Children

This Man Might Be Able to Settle Germany's War Debt

A writer in a German newspaper has been estimating the income of that notorious magnate, Hugo Stinnes. Before the war it was reported that his private wealth amounted to 71 millions—gold marks, of course. His fortune today is more difficult to estimate because it is scattered over many countries in numerous companies. But financial circles, who study these things with much interest, say that he is now worth 31 thousand millions gold. He has therefore quadrupled his wealth during the war and since. In paper, that fortune equals the dizzy figure of 87,000,000,000, so that Hugo Stinnes is a millionaire in paper marks 2,000 times over. Auberi recently who he worked night and day helping his children, he remarked: "It is for my children." He has two sons and a daughter.—Montreal Gazette.

Fort Ste. Marie II, Christian Island

Active steps are being taken this summer by the Canadian National Parks Branch to put in a state of preservation the ruins of the Jesuit Fort on Christian Island, at the southeast corner of Georgian bay. These ruins represent the second Jesuit mission of Ste Marie (1649-1650) and besides being a relic of one of the two oldest stone fortifications in North America are silent witnesses to one of the most tragic episodes in early Canadian history.

In 1629 the Jesuit missionaries to the Hurons built their first stone fortress on the mainland not far from the present town of Penetanguishene, Ont., on the river Wye, as protection from the terrible Iroquois. This fort served as their headquarters for the scene of missions which they had founded in that district for the benefit of the Hurons.

Owing to the persecution of the Iroquois the Jesuits burned this fort in 1649 and migrated with the Huron community to Christian Island where with the assistance of the Indians they built another stone fort which was known as Fort Ste Marie II. The Huron village which grew up around the military fort was protected with redoubts which served to cover and shield it from attack.

In the autumn of 1649 some 8,000 Hurons and about 50 priests and assistants lived in the winter with such scant provisions that before the spring arrived most of the Huron people had perished from starvation and disease. They had stored quantities of Indian corn and smoked fish for winter use but the supply was painfully insufficient with the result that among only 300 of the Hurons were able to join the Jesuits in their melancholy journey to Quebec.

It is the intention of the Canadian National Parks Branch to clear drifts and fence the ruins and to place a suitable memorial on the site recounting the fact that here the Huron nation made its last futile stand against the Iroquois enemy. The story of Fort Ste. Marie II is one of the most pathetic and heroic in the early history of Canada and in the annals of missionary endeavor.

AGRICULTURAL SCHOOLS

Arrangements have been made by the department of agriculture to transport students from the Vermilion and Wetaskiwin districts to and from the schools of agriculture at Olds, Claresholm or Raymond. The four schools to be in operation this year are Olds, Claresholm, Raymond and Vermilion. The classes will commence October 31. Information or consultation will be provided on all of Olds, Claresholm and Raymond schools.
